THE WINCHESTER AMBULANCE.

Unit Contributed by Winchester People at French Front.

We present this week a photograph of the "Winchester Ambulance" at the French front in the European battlefield. This ambulance was purchased by popular subscription in this town through the efforts of Messrs. C. N. (Jack) Eaton and Charles C. Rogers, 2nd, last summer. Owing to the sinkings by submarines it was not possible to secure an ambulance at the time anticipated, although the two men sailed in August for France, to drive it.

Not being able to secure the ambulance they enlisted in the French transportation service and drove amunition and supply trucks at the front for a period. Mr. Rogers was obliged to return some time ago on account of poor health, but Mr. Easton served his time out, and when upon the arrival of the American troops and the reorganizing of the transport system, he tinished his term of enlistment and returned, arriving a week or so ago.

The day he left Paris he was able to take the above picture of the Winchester ambulance before cleaving. On account of the taking over of the American Field Ambulance Section by the government he was unable to drive the car.

The car is suitably marked by a brass plate which may be discerned just under the word "service." The picture was taken Nov. 20th.

CONSERVATION OF COAL.

The supply of coal on hand at the present time in the coal yards in Winchester is very limited. For this reason the Fuel Committee have asked the coal dealers of Winchester to sell not more than one-half ton of coal to any one person. They have also placed coal cards in the hands of each dealer, and everyone desiring to purchase coal must sign one of these cards saying how much coal they have on hand and how long it will last. These cards must then be left with the dealers where they will be placed on file so that they can be inspected by the Fuel Committee at any time. In this way the Committee hope to make a more equitable distribution of the coal now on hand, or that may be subsequently received by them.

"TRIUMPH OF FORCE IN HISTORY."

At the Unitarian Church Sunday morning the Minister, Joel H. Metcalf, will preach on what History has to say about the triumph of physical force in the past and what bearing it has on the problem of evil in the world.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

The Board of Health report the following cases of contagious diseases for the week ending Jan. 2: Measles 2, chicken pox 1.

EPHRAIM B. STILLINGS.

Ephraim Bailey Stillings, a former resident of this town, well known to many Winchester people, died at his home, No. 23 Arthur street, Somerville, on Sunday. He was in his 72d year.

Mr. Stillings was born in Somersworth, N. H. He came to this State when a boy and at the outbreak of the Civil War was living in Holyoke. He enlisted in 1862 when but a few months over 16 years of age in Co. B, 46th Mass. Infantry. A year later he re-enlisted in Co. A, 2d Mass. Heavy Artillery, serving until 1865 and taking part with his regiment in all its engagements.

On coming to Boston he associated himself with the printing house of E. B. Stillings & Co., of which he was the senior partner. Later he was with the Griffith-Stillings Press, 368 Congress street, Boston, from which he retired a year ago.

He was prominent in Grand Army circles and joined the organization 37 years ago, being mustered into Post 7. He later secured a transfer to A. D. Weld Post 148 of this town and afterward was a member of Post 113 of Boston.

He was also prominent in Masonic circles and was a member of William Parkman Lodge of this town, Woburn Royal Arch Chapter, St. Bernard Commandery, K. T., Boston; Lafayette Lodge of Perfection and Giles F. Yates Council, Princes of Jerusalem.

Mr. Stillings came to Winchester and made his home in 1871, returning to Boston following the great fire which burned out his business about five years later. He is survived by one daughter, Miss Marie L. Stillings of Mt. Pleasant street, this town.

The funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at the chapel of the Massachusetts Cremation Society at Forest Hills. Rev. Edward A. Horton officiated and members of Edward W. Kinsley Post, 113, performed the G. A. R. ritual at the close of the service. The ashes were taken to Somersworth, N. H.

FRANK D. BRACKETT.

Frank Dona Brackett, son of the late Edward A. and Amanda F. Brackett, died suddenly Wednesday night at his home, No. 129 Washington street. He retired as usual and was found during the night dead on his bed. He was in his 72d year.

Mr. Brackett was born in Winchester in a house standing on the site of Dr. C. N. P. Mead's present residence. That section was then known as South Woburn. He received his early education in the district schools and at the outbreak of the Civil War enlisted in the Navy, being present on the U. S. S. Rhode Island at the taking of New Orleans.

Upon the close of the war he studied dentistry under Dr. Bartlett and later took a three year course at a dental college in Rome, Italy. Following this he practiced for a number of years at Chelsea. Being obliged to give up the practice of dentistry owing to failing eyesight he became a master mechanic, and for 17 years worked in Worcester. For the past few years he had been in the employ of the American Hide & Leather Co. of Woburn.

He married Hannah Beebe of New Hampshire, who died three years ago, and is survived by one brother, Walter F. Brackett of Stoneham, and two sisters, Mrs. Bessie R. Parker of Goffstown, N. H., and Mrs. Lena R. Wellington of this town.

The funeral services will be held from the residence, No. 129 Washington street, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be conducted by Rev. Joel H. Metcalf of the Unitarian Church. The burial will be in the family lot at Wildwood Cemetery.

MICHAEL YOUNG.

Michael Young, well known to many older residents of this town, where he had resided since the Civil War, died at his home on Washington street Wednesday, after an illness of several weeks. He was 75 years of age. Mr. Young was a native of Ireland and on coming to America settled in Winchester on Washington street near St. Mary's Church, where he had since resided. His wife, who was Catherine McKenna of this town, died about nine years ago, and since that time he had made his home with his two nieces, the Misses Annie and Bridget Young.

High mass will be celebrated at St. Mary's Church this Friday morning at nine o'clock and the remains will be buried in Calvary Cemetery, East Woburn.

SPECIAL AID SOCIETY.

Miss Parr to Speak of Her Large Experiences.

There will be a meeting of the Special Aid Society Monday Jan. 7, at 10:30, in the Town Hall.

Miss Esta Mae Barr will be the speaker. Miss Barr has had considerable experience in lecture work and is now waiting the summons to go to France. Of pleasing personality and a ready speaker she will surely have some messsage of worth to give us before going to her wider field of service.

There is an urgent call for the Hospital Comfort Bags, the supply falling far short of the demand. London Headquarters call for 150,000 every month. They are among the first articles needed when the soldiers are brought in from the field. As a place to keep personal belongings, such as letters, handkerchiefs, soap and toothbrush, pipes, pencils and pads they are invaluable and greatly prized by the boys.

There will be a sample bag at the Special Aid Room. They are easily and quickly made and the ladies are urged to pledge themselves to make a certain number to be delivered regularly each month.

The Finance Committee is going to raise money to buy wool to be knit into garments for Winchester boys. As wool distributed by the Red Cross must be returned to that society, to be sent out through its own channels, it is important that relatives and friends of Winchester boys going into service should be able at any time to obtain wool for individual calls.

The rent and lighting of the Special Aid Room having been so generously contributed, all funds donated or solicited will be used for wool, pajama suits, kits, comfort bags and incidental expenses. The Special Aid Society is fortunate in having for chairman of the knitting committee Mrs. Claude Crafts, through whom we are able to buy wool at reduced rates.

The town has been divided into districts to be canvassed by the members of the finance committee.

The names of these ladies are:—
Mrs. Stillman P. Williams, Chairman
Mrs. Sylvester Taylor
Mrs. William E. Beggs
Miss Mabel Vinton

AS A WAR MEASURE.

There are few of America's national legislators left who profess to believe that insuring the right of self-government to women is not timely during a war to insure the rights of self-government to the world. There a few American cellators left who still maintain that the right of self-government for one-half the American people is a minor, a negligible object at a time when self-government for Europe is holding attention.

Meantime, country by country, Europe is recognizing Woman Suffrage as a war measure and has either put it into effect or is insuring the facilities for putting it into effect by parliamentary procedure. Count on the list since the war began, England, Canada, Russia France, Italy, Iceland— and now Hungary!

Why is America so laggard?
The Woman Citizen.

THE RUSSIAN SUBSTITUTE FOR WAR.

Mr. Parker will take up some of the extraordinary news now coming from Russia at the Sunday afternoon lecture at the Church of the Epiphany at five o'clock.

The attitude of the Russian representatives who are in charge of the present negotiative cannot be explained on the simple theory that they are in receipt of large sums of German money. They are not acting the part of bribed men.

The Russians in power are the exponents of a new theory of the proper relations of human beings with one another. They are not in entire agreement with any of the great nations of the earth. How to win the Russians is the problem for both sides. But the Russians are not inactive. They are pushing an offensive of ideas in every fighting country. Each government is now concerned how to meet the Russian substitute for war.

PROF. CURRIER RESIGNS.

Prof. Charles F. A. Currier tendered his resignation as a member of the Town Planning Board to Town Clerk George H. Carter yesterday. Prof. Currier has served the town as a member of the School Board in previous years and has always taken an active interest in town affairs.

UNION SERVICES TO SAVE COAL.

January 3, 1918.

To the Churches of Winchester:

In view of the shortage of coal at the present time and the uncertainty concerning the supply in the future, the Committee on Public Safety request the several churches in the town to consider very carefully the wisdom of holding all church services in some one church building and closing all the others until we are sure of a sufficient supply of coal to keep the homes of our people warm.

The coal now in the churches which are to be closed could be distributed about the town as necessity seemed to demand.

Sincerely yours,
Lewis Parkhurst,
Chairman Committee on Public Safety.

MR. SUTER TO PREACH.

The Rev. John W. Suter, the first rector of the Epiphany, will preach at the 11 o'clock service on Sunday. For several months the minister in charge of the parish has been trying to arrange to have Mr. Suter occupy the pulpit on a Sunday morning, but Mr. Suter's previous engagements have made it impossible for him to come until now.

It is especially fitting to have him next Sunday for that is the Feast of the Epiphany, the name-day of the parish. Even when Mr. Suter found himself obliged to resign from the rectorship the parish was unwilling to give him up and elected him Rector Honorarius. His many friends in Winchester will welcome the opportunity of again seeing and hearing him.

WATERFIELD LODGE ELECTS OFFICERS.

Waterfield Lodge, I. O. O. F., held its annual meeting Monday evening in its rooms on Mt. Vernon street and elected the following officers: Newton F. Powers, NG; Harry L. Mitton, VG; Warren F. Foster, RS; J. Albert Hersey, FS, and Theodore W. Hartlev, T. At the meeting Friday of the Victoria Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F., Carrie M. Armstrong was elected WG; Marion Gilman, RS; Azalia Higgins, FS, and Josephine E. Arnold, T. The joint installation of officers is expected to take place Jan. 14.

CALUMET TO HOUSE RELIEF WORKERS.

At a meeting of the board of governors of the Calumet Club last night it was unanimously voted to extend the use of its club house to various organizations and societies for war relief and thus aid in the conservation of coal and money. The Club has for some time provided room for some of the organizations, and it will now take care of the Red Cross, Surgical Dressings, Special Aid and other societies. In view of the use being made of the Club it is reported that its coal supply will be continued for the present.

ZERO WEATHER.

Protracted Cold Causes Much Inconvenience.

In common with all this section Winchester has suffered during the week just with one of the severest cold spells in recent years. Commencing last Friday the temperature took a decided and sudden drop, remaining for the most part below the zero mark since. Thursday of last week was a cold day as December days go, but Friday proved quite mild. Late in the afternoon however the mercury began to drop so fast that the average householder could hardly keep pace with it, and on Saturday morning zero weather prevailed.

The temperature at the centre by the glass on the north side of the gatemen's house read as follows: Saturday 5 below, Sunday 20 below, Monday 8 below, Tuesday 8 below, Wednesday 4 below, yesterday 2 below. Other parts of the town varied as usual several degrees, the coldest being reported as 27 below at North Winchester on Sunday morning.

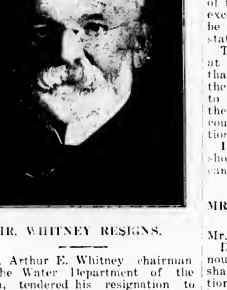

In accordance with the temperature water pipes all over town froze solid. The plumbers had more calls than they could attend to, and many people have been obliged to get along the best way they could. In some instances pipes were thawed out only to freeze again almost immediately.

Many suffered from the cold, although the number in this town has been probably much less than in other places. Nevertheless the number who shivered without actual suffering was many.

The intense cold has caused many cracks to open in the streets and sidewalks all over the town, in many instances the cracks appearing accompanied by loud cracking sounds. This will probably cause considerable repairing to be done in the sprinter.

The fire denartment was kept busy answering alarms, but fortunately none were serious. For the most part they were caused by thawing out frozen pipes and by defective chimneys. The worst freeze on reported was at the Whitney Mill, when a sprinkler pipe on the top floor froze and burst early Monday morning. The damage, however, was not great although a part of the mill received a good wetting.

The coal shortage is being felt severely and already many families are short. It is reported that the Calumet Club may be closed owing to lack of fuel and that steps are being considered to close the Baptist and Methodist churches, the two congregations uniting in meeting at the Congregational church.

MR. WHITNEY RESIGNS.

Mr. Arthur E. Whitney chairman of the Water Department of the Town, tendered his resignation to that board on Monday. Mr. Whitney has had a serious illness and feels that his health will not permit his continuing in office. No action has been taken yet towards filling the vacancy.

STATEMENT BY MR. JEWETT.

Winchester, Mass., January 2, 1918.
Editor of the Star:

The STAR of December 21st stated editorially that the present members of the Board of Selectmen, with the exception of Mr. Laraway, would not be candidates for re-election. This statement requires amplification.

The government work on which I am at present engaged is so exacting that it would be impossible to give the time necessary to properly attend to the duties of a Selectman, and therefore under present conditions, I could not be a candidate for re-election.

If my connection with that work should cease I probably would be a candidate for re-election.

E. K. Jewett.

MR. METCALF WILL NOT RUN.

Mr. T. P. Wilson, Winchester,

Dear Sir: I would like to announce through the STAR that I shall not be a candidate for re-election to the Board of Selectmen. I have found that more time is demanded than I can afford to take from my business.

Yours truly,
R. B. Metcalf.

The roll-off for the month of December was held on the alleys of the Calumet Club Saturday night being won by Sewall E. Newman, who rolled from the lowest rating of the twelve men engaged. A GENEROUS NEW YEAR'S GIFT.

One of the most enterprising business establishments in Greater Boston—our own home institution, the Winchester Laundry Company, of which we are justly proud—presented on New Years Day a U. S. Government Thrift Stamp Book together with a 25c thrift stamp to each of its 100 employees—to encourage this class of war savings.

It is expected that there will be considerable rivalry to see who will fill the book and thereby become first of the Winchester Laundry Company's employees to acquire a War Savings Certificate Stamp.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

Nothing can cause greater anguish of heart than the death of a girl in her teens. Rest is for lives worn out, deserted, dreary, and which have no brightness left for death to spoil. Men yearn for rest, when power and passion wasted have left to memory nothing but regret. How many of Winchester's daughters sleep in the grave while the best pleasures of life, all untasted, had scarce approached their rosy lips?

"Her child-like eyes still lacked their crowning sweetness,
Her form was ripening to more perfect grace.
She died, with the pathetic incompleteness
Of beauty's promise on her pallid face.
What undeveloped gifts, what powers untested,
Perchance with her have passed away from the earth;
What gems of thought in that young brain arrested
May never grow and quicken into birth!
She knew not love who might have loved so truly,
Though love's dreams stirred her fancy, faint and fleet;
Her soul's etheral wings were building newly,
Her woman's heart had scarce begun to beat."

We have drank of the sweets of life and we have drank the bitter, too. There are men and women here in Winchester whose experiences have been such that death to them would almost seem a boon. But why, to a girl in her teens, for whom glad life were a great deal fitter should darkness come before the day had reached mid-day?

No answer save the echo of our weeping
Which from the woodland is heard,
Where, in Springtime, ruthless storm-winds sweeping,
Have slain the unborn flower and new pledged bird!

Lilies may grow from the mire. Out of the awful chaos in Europe we are learning the principles of service and sacrifice. As beastial as some phases of this war have been we have drawn and have still to draw a lesson of those Christian principles that since the beginning of time have made for the betterment of struggling humanity. The basis of the Christian religion is Sacrifice and Service. "Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friends," says the Great Preacher. We are the friends of the soldier who goes out from Winchester to serve his country, who sacrifices his life if need be, who is the soldier of sacrifice and service. Mary E. Walter has truly written:

"Out of this war we are learning that Christ principle of brotherhood. Many a fellow in the trenches, fighting to make the world safe for democracy, to save your home and mine, is an humble, hard-working boy, whom you and I, in our conceit, might not care to know. Yet there he is, entrenched in the mud and the cold and the rain, ready to die if need be that the truth may live. When he comes home let us shake his hand, thank him in all humbleness, and regard him henceforth in the spirit of brotherhood.

"Out of this war we will learn the futility of hatred. In a sermon preached recently I heard these words: "A nation is running amuck, obsessed by monstrous delusions. To restore that nation to protect the innocent from its madness, we have been obliged to resort to force. Let us use all force necessary, but let us keep hearts and conscience free from the sin of hatred. And when we have broken the evil principle that must be broken, may we generously help to heal the wounds that for the security of humanity and the safety of civilization we are forced to inflict.

"Out of this war we will learn the fruitlessness of vain-glory, which opposes the spirit of brotherhood and humbleness that Christ taught. The Kaiser's blasphemous mouthing of the name of God has shown us there are no favored few to rule the world.

"Out of this war, horrible as it is, let us accept our lesson, that in the future we may hold the closer to that teaching which would have averted war had the whole world practiced it in unison."

Did you ever take count of the men and women right here in Winchester who have acquired the pernicious habit of "Me and Mine?" The very next time you have a talk with a friend just make a mental note of your conversation. See how many times you mention yourself, your family, your possessions, and your point of view. The very best individual talks too much about himself. There is nothing indicative of either good breeding or bad breeding to being egotistical. The bad breeding all comes in on forcing our egotism on others. Sometimes Winchesterites who can not really be said to be especially egotistical acquire the habit of talking about themselves and their own concerns to a degree that is amazing.

Writing under the heading, "Myself and I, And Mine and My," a writer in the Philadelphia Bulletin, and among other things:

"A newcomer in the neighborhood makes an enormous mistake in talking about her own foible. If you talk about members of your family who are known to your listeners your egotism is not so great. But if you talk about persons who are unknown, and whose only possible source of interest is the fact that they are related to you, you seem to be guilty of extremely tiresome egotism.

"Some persons, fearful of making a timely comment, come out with one of two platitudes that you must expect to hear. 'As we breakfasted this morning at breakfast,' 'No,' he said, 'you know,' he never has time for much breakfast and he seldom has time to say anything, for it is all that my daughter and I can do to get him off in time for the office—'Nellie,' he said, 'I think it is going to snow.'"

Women even more than men like to drag their entire family into every conversation they have with other women. If they discuss the war, they quote a half dozen members of their family, and if they discuss food economy they are pretty sure to drag into the conversation a full account of just how much sugar each member of the family takes in his coffee and on his cereal every morning.

"It is extremely courteous, and sure to make you popular, to make a point of being always more willing to hear another's judgement than to express your own. The mother who is more ready to hear the clever sayings of another's child than to tell her own is rare, but she is both well bred and wise."

The Spectator agrees that it is undoubtedly true that a single life is not without its advantages for some. There are young men here in Winchester, as there are young women, to whom married life would be unsuitable and unwise. It is an inexcusable sin for any young man of hereditary ill health or deformity to assume marriage, and to such a single one, life has advantages, even though it holds out few pleasures. But that young man who is possessed with every bodily and mental equipment, and marries not, fails in one of the most palpable duties of life. He deprives himself of life's most refined and exalted pleasures, of some of its strongest incentives to virtues and activity, and sets an example of unworthy imitation.

Nothing has, or should have a greater refining and moralizing influence to a young man than marriage. If he remains unmarried, he lays himself open to alluring vices that have no place in his eye or mind when his attentions and affections are centered upon a devoted wife. Marriage changes the current of a man's feelings, and gives him a center for his thoughts, his affections and his acts. It renders him more wise and is an incentive to put forth his best exertions to attain position in business and social life. If marriage, in some instances within our knowledge, has seemed to be but a hinderance to certain success, the countless instances that not be forgotten where it has proved to be the incentive which has called forth the best part of a man's nature, roused him from selfish apathy and inspired in him those generous principles and high resolves which have helped to develop him into a character known, loved and honored by all within the sphere of its influence.

SUPT. NORTHROP'S SON JOINS 8th REGIMENT.

Harry C. Northrop, son of Supt. and Mrs. Edwin N. Northrop of the Boys' Club, formerly a master at the Winchester High School, until recently business secretary at Camp Greene, Charlotte, N. C., for the Y. M. C. A., and for a time acting camp secretary, has enlisted in the Eighth Massachusetts Infantry.

He has been assigned to the headquarter's company of that regiment. One of the first duties to which he was assigned was to attend school. He is enrolled at the training school of the 51st Depot brigade for non-commissioned officers. Mr. Northrop, writing home, says:

"Here I am back in school again—what do you think of that? Reveille sounds at 6.15 and it means quick work to get dressed for roll call. Then back to the tent until breakfast at 6.45. Classes start at 8.45. Dinner at 12. Classes again at 1.30 until 4.30. Supper at 4.45. Retreat at 5.30, and then I am free to do as I please until taps at 11 o'clock.

"Classes include map reading, infantry drill, regulations, military courtesy, calisthenics, voice culture, use of instruments, bayonet practice, signal work, military hygieue, etc.

"So far I have not had anything disagreeable to do and have dropped into tent life without any trouble."

Mr. Northrop is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and for the past two years was in charge of the commercial department of the Winchester High School. He left Winchester last June to enter the Y. M. C. A. war work. Earlier in the season he passed the Boston school examinations, receiving a master's certificate. The certificate is good until 1923.

THOMPSON—LOWTHER.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of William L. Thompson of Winchester and A. Beatrice Lowther of Boston. Mrs. Thompson is well known to Fall River people, her former residence and frequent visits there having given her an extended acquaintance. During her residence there, she was active in religious, educational, club and social life. During the past ten years, Mrs. Thompson has lived in Boston and conducted a general brokerage, insurance and real estate business there. She is also a special commissioner of the Commonwealth.

Mr. Thompson is interested in market gardening and is president of the Union Gear Company of Boston. They are to live at the bridegroom's place in Winchester, "Ringe Crest." Mrs. Thompson has long been known as a collector of antiques and curios, and it seems fitting that she should preside over this old homestead, in which bullets were moulded in 1776 for the Colonials, and which stands on land granted to the family by Kings Grant in 1638.

Mrs. Thompson's only son, Henry Lowther, is serving "with the colors."

Two enemies to game birds have made their appearance here, one being the goshawk and the other the butcher bird. Both are a menace to bird life and an effort is being made to arouse interest in exterminating them. The goshawk preys on game birds and several of these bird have been killed in towns nearby. The butcher bird preys on small birds and has already done considerable damage.

UNION SERVICES.

The Protestant Churches through their pastors have arranged for a series of special meetings from Monday to Friday night inclusive of next week. These meetings are an outgrowth of the special meetings held by a smaller group of churches in the previous years during the Week of Prayer. It seemed wise this year to widen the scope of the meetings and all the churches were invited to participate. The following program will be followed, the services being all held in the Baptist Church.

General Topic: "The Church Universal."

Monday: "The Meaning of the Church." Speaker, Rev. J. H. Metcalf.

Tuesday: "The Mission of the Church." Speaker, Rev. W. H. Smith.

Wednesday: "The Method of the Church." Speaker, Rev. C. H. Davis.

Thursday: "The Master of the Church." Speaker, Rev. H. E. Hodge.

Friday: "The Mobilization of the Church." Speaker, Rev. H. J. Chidley.

The meetings begin at 7.45 p. m. The public is most cordially invited to share in them. It is hoped that the series will result in a closer spirit of Christian fellowship.

WORK.

The law of nature is, that a certain quantity of work is necessary to produce a certain quanity of good of any kind whatever. If you want knowledge, you must toil for it; if food, you must toil for it; and if pleasure, you must toil for it.
Ruskin.

"If I Only Had Time."

Do you remember what Balzac says? "Behind every human action there lies a labyrinth of determining causes of which God reserves to himself the right of final judgment." The next time the phrase, "if I only had the time," springs to your lips, don't let it escape! Bite it off, strangle it, swallow it. Open your mental investment ledger and figure up.—Exchange.

The Farmer's Wife.

In the Woman's Home Companion is an article by a farmer's wife, who says:

"Given a good husband and good health, there's no one in the world who needs pity less than the farmer's wife. She has a rich and resourceful life if she will make it so, and she usually does. She is the most independent woman on earth of panics and money stringencies and things of that sort. Her family simply can't go hungry. There'll always be potatoes and turnips down in the cellar and meat in the smokehouse, to say the least. She always has eggs and chickens and milk. She can take a bushel of wheat to the mill and get it ground for 10 cents. She can draw on her storeroom for fruit and sweets, and her table is supplied. When the mechanic is out of work his family must stop eating or live on charity, but it isn't so in the farmer's family. Capital and labor have got to do some mighty hard grinding before they grind the farmer."

Sunken Craft Around New York.

The shores of Greater New York are almost surrounded with hulks. For instance, an old navy schooner, the Sarah, is embedded in the land at Nineteenth street, East river. At Ninety-sixth street and East river, underneath the large power house, lie the bones of three or more old coasting schooners and sloops. Alongside the rubber works in College Point are the remains of the schooner William Morrell, bulk-headed in and covered up with refuse. At Rockaway Point the bones of the schooner Ella Deeves and other small schooners can be found two blocks inland, sanded up. Just below Midland Beach can be found the remains of the old sloop Jane. Over near Whale creek, Greenpoint, can be found the skeleton of the schooner Michael C. Collins. Riker's island is surrounded with the remains of scows and sailing craft of years ago.—New York World.

Wrong Quarry.

With a whirl sweep the wind tore round a sudden corner and removed the hat from the head of a respectable and nearsighted citizen who chanced to be passing.

Peering wildly round, the man thought he saw his hat in a yard behind a high fence. Hastily climbing over, he started to chase it, but each time he thought he had caught it, it got yet another move on.

Then a woman's angry voice broke on his ears.

"What are you doing there?" she demanded shrilly.

He explained mildly that he was only trying to retrieve his hat, where upon the woman said, in wonder:

"Your hat? Well, I don't know where it is, but that's our little black hen you're chasing?"—London Mail.

Elephant Threnodies.

The natives of certain portions of south central Africa look on the death of an elephant as an event. They attach an almost religious aspect to it. "As soon as the animal stalked is stretched on the ground the hunters climb upon the huge, warm body and there perform a dance, gesticulating and shaking their guns, accompanied by a sort of litany, in which they extol the animal and his qualities, his strength, his size, his cunning; then they praise the skill of the hunter, his prompt eye, his accurate shot. And this song is just murmured, as if they were afraid that if they raised their voices they would attract the curse of the spirit which has just left the animal and is still floating around him."

He Knew Shakespeare.

This country possesses many interesting relics pointing back to the time of the immortal bard Shakespeare. A reminder which should not be overlooked is this epitaph found over a grave in Fredericksburg, Va.:

"Here lies Edward Heblon, a medical and surgical practitioner, the friend and companion of William Shakespeare of Avon. He died after a short illness, in the year of our Lord 1618, in the seventieth year of his age."—New York Sun.

Wise In His Way.

The doctor had gone, and the wife was having her turn.

"Why did you tell him you abhorred smoking, never took a drink, had little use for motoring and didn't care for meat?" she asked.

"Because," chuckled the husband, "if he had discovered what I like best the chances are that is what he would have told me to give up."—Puck.

No Difficulty.

Phillips Brooks once gave a new version of the Jonah story to a wondering skeptic, who said he doubted whether a whale's throat was large enough to swallow Jonah. "There was no difficulty," said the bishop. "Jonah was one of the minor prophets."

Science and Philanthropy.

"Think of the lives science saves."

"It all depends on whether your scientist is working with medicines or high explosives."—Washington Star.

Hard Luck.

Binks—Was the loss on Brown's dwelling total? Jinks—Yes, the neighbors saved six umbrellas, but recognized them all."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Her Class.

"So that's your wife, eh? Trim little craft, isn't she?"

"Hush! Not so loud. She's a dreadnaught."—Baltimore American.

Man is not the creature of circumstances: circumstances are the creatures of men.—Disraeli.

TREMONT TEMPLE.

"Our Navy," the Prizma natural color motion pictures showing much of the activities of the forces at work on the upbuilding of the naval arm of our war service, is proving one of the most attractive of film productions that has been seen in Boston this season. It combines its drawing energy from sveral sources. To miss seeing these pictures is to forego one of the keenest pleasures imagained, and for those who have relatives or friends in the naval service it will be inestimable benefit in that they will see how the men are trained and treated and find pleasures aboard ship. During this engagement all persons wearing a United States military or naval uniform will not have to pay the war tax. There are two performances daily, at 2.15 and 8.15 p. m., and seats are reserved at popular prices.

PARK SQUARE THEATRE.

"Upstairs and Down" perseveres on its merry way at the Park Square Theatre, Boston, still secure in the position of being the best hit of the current season. This is because of the care which the authors have exercised in the molding of their story. One is quite of a new variety to the stage, being a girl whose wilfulness and disregard for the result of her actions provided she obtains what she desires cause her to be termed "the Baby Vampire." And she does create a heap of mischief by her indiscretions, though by the fact that they shock many spectators general condemnation must not result. Through the long cast there is not a player who fails to fit his or her role perfectly, again emphasizing the worth of the phrase, "a typical Morosco cast," for to Oliver Morosco goes the credit in this regard. He has made for the comedy a notable production. There are matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays, and mail orders will be carefully filled if accompanied by stamped and addressed envelope and there is enclosed the necessary 10 per cent War Tax.

MODERN THEATRE.

Week after week there is presented at the Modern Theatre, Boston, notable bills of photoplays that for distinction cannot find comparison in any other theatre in New England. The week of January 7th there will be shown for the first time the latest motion picture with the beautiful Elsie Ferguson as star, "Rose of the World." This is an adaptation for the screen from the famous story by Agnes and Edgerton Castle. On the same bill throughout the week there will also be shown "Jules of the Strong Heart," picturing George Behan. It is the story of a happy-go-lucky French Canadian woodsman. It is announced as a photoplay which will appeal through the heart and thrill through the senses. There will also be shown shorter releases, a comedy and New Pictures. A fine program is offered every Sunday evening from 7 to 10.30 without a repeat.

Being Respectable.

To be respectable implies a multitude of little observances, from the strict keeping of Sunday down to the careful tying of a cravat.—Victor Hugo.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers of Hall's Catarrh Cure that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Preserves in the cold closet in the cellar got hit rather hard by the excessive cold of last Saturday night.

The next national loan will be known as the "Third Liberty Loan." The loan will be some time after Feb. 1st, and the amount has not yet been decided upon.

Last Sunday and Monday it was impossible to heat comfortably the average dwelling house. Eighteen degrees below zero Sunday morning and eight below Monday morning was somewhat of a record.

The Winchester Red Cross states that it will welcome any of the local societies in the use of its rooms on Mt. Vernon street and thus aid in the conservation of coal. It has not decided to open rooms at the Calumet Club as otherwise stated.

The week of Feb. 4 has been set aside by the Department of Justice for registration of the half-million unnaturalized Germans in the continental United States by police and postmasters in pursuance of President Wilson's alien enemy proclamation directing this action as a means of minimizing the danger from enemy sympathizers in the United States.

There was need evidently for the Congressional investigation in the war activities. An officer said that at the present way things were going, it would take seventy-four years for Uncle Sam to have a sufficient force of men in the fighting line in France. Procrastination, hobbies and bickering are responsible in great measure for the lengthened delays.

The prophets of the past summer were false prophets. Advice was freely given: "Do not buy your coal now, it will be cheap and plentiful." The summer sun was warm and the winter cold was far away. The wise followed their own judgement and filled the empty bin. The foolish obeyed the mandate of the prophets and now are enjoying the heat of the kerosene stove and wondering what the plumber's bill will be after he has thawed out the frozen pipes. —[Charlestown Enterprise.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS DOING THEIR BIT.

Weekday Coal Consumption in the Winchester Church Greatly Reduced.

It was announced in First Church of Christ, Scientist, Winchester, at last Wednesday evening's testimonial meeting, that with the purpose of helping as far as possible to relieve the coal situation in the community, the heating of the church edifice, except on Wednesdays and Sundays, would be discontinued until further notice. Heretofore the church building has always been heated daily through the winter months for the comfort of attendants at and visitors to the Reading Room and Loan Library.

This action was taken notwithstanding that sufficient supply of coal was on hand and assured to meet all requirments.

Sunday morning services and Wednesday evening testimonial meetings will be held as usual. Ample arrangements have been made for carrying on the activities of the Reading Room pending the return of normal fuel conditions.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING.

The Board met at 7.30, all present.

Water and Sewer Board: A letter was received from A. E. Whitney of the Water and Sewer Board stating that owing to a long continued illness and in accordance with the positive orders of his physicians he resigns as a member of the Winchester Water and Sewer Board, resignation to take place at once.

Department of Justice, Washington D. C.: A letter was received from T. W. Gregory, Attorney General, Department of Justice, Washington, D. C., in regard to the registration of German alien enemies. This matter was referred to the Police Committee as the letter stated that it was the opinion of the department that the registration could best be handled by the various Police Departments in the cities and towns throughout the country.

Calumet Road, Building Line: A petition was received signed by Charles C. Rogers and six others for on both sides of Calumet Road line on both sides of Calumet Road from Fletcher Street to Cambridge Street, the distance of said line from the street line to be determined after a public notice and hearing.

TRIP TO HANOVER.

A group of Winchester people enjoyed a most delightful outing trip to Hanover, N. H., over the week-end and New Year's Day. The party left Boston by private pullman early Saturday morning and found the thermometer registered 20 degrees below zero when they arrived at Hanover Inn in the afternoon. It remained between 18 and 35 degrees below during their stay, but everyone had prepared for Arctic weather, and as the sun was bright and the air clear and dry one and all enjoyed the snow-shoeing, skiing, and tobogganing without the slightest discomfort. At the Inn steam heat and crackling fireplaces made one forget the cold outside. Monday afternoon the party made a tour of inspection of the Dartmouth College buildings and were especially interested and full of neighborly pride on going through the beautiful Parkhurst building, given to the College by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Parkhurst as a memorial to their son. New Year's day was made a particularly festive occasion, when it became known that it was the birthday of one of the party, Mr. Newton Shultis. During the day at unexpected moments he was presented with suitable gifts and a beautiful birthday cake was a feature of the New Year's dinner. Dr. Chas. H. Tozier was in charge of the party, and his clever management and genial personality kept everyone comfortable and happy.

In the party were Dr. and Mrs. Chas H. Tozier, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Atwood, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Ogden, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Tilden, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Luce, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Shultis, all of Winchester. Also Mr. William Underhill, the Misses Underhill, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bartlett of Newton, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Upham of Malden.

THE BONDS ON STOCK EXCHANGE.

The daily quotations of Liberty Loan Bonds on the New York Stock Exchange below par do not present any real loss for those holders of Liberty Loan Bonds who do not need to sell them. The figures do mean a very small loss for those who find themselves compelled for one reason or another to sell; but those who hold on to their bonds have one of the best investments in the world—safe, free to a great extent from taxation, and bringing in an absolutely certain income. The loss to them is purely imaginary, a paper loss not a real one.

Secretary McAdoo, in a speech before the Liberty Loan conference in Washington, December 10, made the statement that, while sufficiently legally competent evidence was not in hand to warrant conviction before a jury, yet enough was known morally to convince a man of understanding that the hand of the Kaiser was at work in bringing about sales of Liberty Bonds and depressing their price on the exchange. This is added proof that the loss indicated by the difference between par and the stock exchange prices is fictitious and not real.

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT.

A musical entertainment for the benefit of a wool fund will be given in the Town Hall next Saturday evening at eight o'clock by the choir of the Church of the Epiphany, under the direction of J. Albert Wilson, Choirmaster. Some very interesting musical numbers will be sung by the choir of men and boys, and they will be assisted by Miss Annette Symmes, entertainer; Miss Blanche M. Speer, soprano, and by a string quartette; Miss Wingate, 1st violin; Miss Chase, 2d violin; Miss Blaikie, viola, and Mr. Bicknell, 'cello.

WINCHESTER'S ENLISTMENTS.

Additions to Roll of Honor of Local Enlistments.

So far as can be ascertained there is no complete record of the list of Winchester men who are enlisted in the various branches of the Army and Navy, or who are serving abroad as ambulance drivers or in various hospital units. The STAR has a card file of all such men who are serving in the conduct of the war, compiled as complete as possible from all information received at this office, but realizes that this list contains many omissions.

The list as filed has been printed for the past two weeks. The following names have been received and added during the past week:

Smith, Lowell R.,
Flying Cadet, Park Field,
Millington, Tenn.
Shaughnessy, Peter J.,
Naval Reserves.

Wednesday evening meeting, 7.45.

SUPPOSE YOU WERE THEY.

When a living, breathing human victim of injustice knocks very often at your front door, sometimes as often as twice a day, you are pretty near the Hun class if you sit back in your soft comfort and refuse to be interested.

How much do you know about those fine fellows who serve you in b'izzard or sizzard in rain or sunshine, in hail, in sleet, between the lighting flashes, the letter carriers? You see them, at this season of the year, working for into the night under loads that would stagger a horse. Does it ever strike you that they are your employes, doing your work under your pay? Does it ever strike you that if great injustice is being done these faithful fellows, it's because of your indifference, your absorption in self?

The foregoing is awaken you to the fact that the postal workers, your employes, are asking an increase of pay from you, in a bill presented in your congress. How have you been treating them?

You have given them one increase in 40 years—just ten years ago, when a dollar would go twice as far as it does now, as you well know. Their minimum wage is $2.22 per day, the maximum $2.33, or much less than you'd have to pay to get ordinary ditch-diggers. And, at that, your postal employes have to work, on the average, nine years to get that maximum.

While your postal employe is off duty through illness he is also off the payroll. You grant him no pension. You make him buy his own uniform, the cost of which has advanced 50 per cent, since you gave him that raise, ten years ago. You make him work long hours of overtime, but pay him the regular hourly wage for it. You work him so much nights that he has to sacrifice his social life with family and friends. When he has loyally stuck to the job for say, 40 years and become unfitted for anything else, you "turn him out to grass," himself, exclusively to find the grass.

That's the way you've been treating your postoffice clerks and letter carries. And, last year, your postoffice department returned you a net surplus of $5,827,236.07!

Moreover in the last session of your congress you raised the pay of all government employes except those of your unpaid, profit-making postoffice department.

Now don't you try to dodge the responsibility! Don't try to satisfy yourself by saying that it's up to congress! It is your congress. The shame and injustice of the thing are resting right on your doorstep. It is your congress, your money, your employes, nobody else's, and so the whole responsibility is yours. Write to your congressman and senators and urge that they increase the pay of your faithful postal employes, with your money so as to give them a wage commensurate with the value of their service according to present day standards. COPLEY THEATRE.

The play for the third week of the Repertory Season of the Henry Jewett Players at the Copley Theatre will be "The Land of Promise," a drama of varied life and characters.

The action of "The Land of Promise" opens in a London drawing room, and then changes at the beginning of the second act and for the remainder of the play to the Canadian wilds of Manitoba. Its heroine is a high-spirited young Englishwoman named Nora March. She has plenty of self-confidence, and being unable to find employment in England to suit her, she goes out to join her brother in Canada. The contrast between her life at home and the primitive existence she encounters gives the dramatist excellent opportunity for a series of finely conceived and executed dramatic episodes. But Nora March is a plucky girl, and in the end she makes her way to success and happiness.

The production of "The Land of Promise" at the Copley Theatre will be its first representation in history by a repertory company. It will be acted by the entire ensemble of the Henry Jewett players under the direction of Mr. Jewett.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The annual meeting of the Winchester Union will be held Friday, Jan. 11th, at three o'clock, in the Vestry of the First Congregational church. In addition to the annual reports and the election of officers for the coming year the president for Middlesex County, Dr. N. Louise Rand, of West Newton, will give an address, dealing especially with the possibilities of our work during the coming year. Dr. Rand is serving her first year as county president and is the second only to hold that office, Mrs. Abby G. Rolfe of Concord having held that position from the very beginning of the county work.

Dr. Rand has been doing some exceptionally good work among the young people of the North End of Boston where a flourishing Y. P. B. is changing conditions not a little. She is a good speaker and will have something worth while to say, so it is hoped there may be a good attendance.

It is also hoped as many as possible will bring or send their contributions for the Ayer work so the Union may start clear on the task for 1918. It may also be well to remind the members that dues are due at the annual meeting.

So much stress has been laid of late on the work for the soldiers and sailors that people may not realize that the W. C. T. U. is still carrying forward its usual work along other lines. The Flower Mission has been preparing and sending out to the poor and ill, quantities of provisions and delicacies contributed by the members of the unions throughout the State. The Boston headquarters are at 15A Beacon street, where a corps of busy workers meet to arrange and distribute the comforts and luxuries for Christmas cheer.

The Frances E. Willard Settlement had a succession of celebrations to give each of its clubs and classes a tree and entertainment. Candy was not plentiful this year but as one little girl said, "It is helping the soldiers and we must do it," meaning the giving up the longed for treat with a good grace. At both the boarding home and Llewsac Lodge Christmas Day was the time for the special celebrations planned to make the day happy for those in residence. The Harriet Tubman Home, another institution helped by the W. C. T. U., was also the scene of a pleasa entertainment. War work means more than making comfort bags it means keeping up the courage of those who are left behiad.

GRANGE NOTES.

An important meeting of Winchester Grange will be held Tuesday evening, Jan. 8th.

The regular meeting of Middlesex-Essex Pomona Grange, No. 28, P. of H., was held at Lyceum Hall Monday evening. New officers for 1918 were elected. Harry G. Turner of North Reading for Master. Members were present from Melrose, Stoneham, Woburn, Everett, Medford, Reading and North Reading. Visitors were present from Somerville.

The enclosed motion was unanimously adopted:

Moved by Whitfield Tuck at this regular meeting of Middlesex-Essex Pomona Grange, No. 28, P. of H.:

That the members of this Pomona do all they possibly can to secure the adoption of the national prohibition amendment by urging our Representatives and Senators to vote for it at the next meeting of our Legislature.

This was passed unanimously.

Winchester, Jan. 1, 1918.

Editor of the Star:

Dear Sir: I have this day sent a copy of this enclosed vote to Gov. McCall with this request:

Dear Governor: I respectfully ask that you in your message to the Legislature on the 3rd inst. ask and urge the Legislature to pass the prohibition amendment that Massachusetts may be one of the first to do so, and thereby stand for the greatest reform before our country today.

Whitfield Tuck.

MRS. HERRON AT THE HEAD OF CAMBRIDGE FOOD CONSERVATION BUREAU.

The city of Cambridge is to take its place among the ranks of the food conservationists. A conservation bureau, maintained jointly by the City Government and the Federal Government, will be opened in the Board of Trade Building, Central square, Jan. 2. The object of the bureau is to educate Cambridge people in the problems of food conservation and bring them into closer touch with the food administration.

Money sufficient to defray the expenses of the bureau until April, the end of the city's fiscal year, has been appropriated by the city. The food administration has appointed Mrs. Katherine W. Herron of Winchester as the head of the bureau.

Mrs. Herron is a member of the State Food Conservation Committee and president of the New England Home Economics Association. She will direct the work in cooperation with the Women's Food Conservation Committee, a sub-committee of the Cambridge Public Safety Committee. Mrs. Walter S. Burke, who has been active in food conservation work in Cambridge, is chairman of the committee.

According to the present plans the work of the bureau will be for the most part educational. There will be a permanent exhibit at the headquarters and other exhibits will be conducted throughout the city. Classes in economic cookery will be conducted in the school buildings as part of the work of the school centers. Most of the centers have already organized classes in domestic science.

Food substitutes will be one of the most important subjects and the first exhibits will be sugar substitutes.

Thought Irving Couldn't Act.

Edwin Booth told one story of Irving that revealed a tragedy in that gifted man's life. One day, as they were sitting in Booth's room in the theater, the latter was handed a letter. Irving casually remarked that he recognized the handwriting. Booth offered it to him and asked him if he cared to read it. Fortunately the Englishman declined. Mr. Booth opened it and read the following from Mrs. Henry Irving:

Dear Mr. Booth—Can you spare me a box? I should like to have my sons see what good acting is.

During my first season with Booth quite by accident I found myself in a boarding house in San Francisco kept by a very sweet, quaint, old English lady who was an aunt of Henry Irving's, and she told me that Mrs. Irving had been known to occupy a box at her husband's performances and ostentatiously read a newspaper during the performance.—Edwin M. Royle in Harper's Magazine.

Magic Italian Lakes.

Every one knows how beautiful the Italian lakes are and how luxuriant is the vegetation on their banks. This is due to a large extent to the heat absorbed in summer by the water, stored up and given out slowly in cold weather.

A calculation has been made by a scientist named Vercelli. He estimates that Lake Como has an area of 136 square kilometers and an average depth of about 600 feet. In some places the depth is twice that.

During midsummer this mass of water absorbs each bright day an amount of heat equal to that produced by burning 31,000 tons of coal. This storing up of heat goes on from the end of February until the water reaches its highest temperature in August.

From that time on the water gives out heat to the surrounding stones until spring comes again, so that it is no wonder that this region is a floral paradise.—Pittsburgh Press.

Science in the Home.

Home is the halfway house between earth and heaven. As such it needs the practical and the ideal, both combined, more than any other human institution. The earth side of a home must be absolutely practical, and the heaven side must be absolutely ideal if the home is to be a home.

There is more need for science in the home than for science anywhere else. Not because science is the most important thing in the home, but because the most neglected thing is always the most important. The average home is a conglomeration of guesswork, patchwork and overwork. The guesswork is the fault of the man, the overwork of the woman, the patchwork of them both. A little science in advance would prevent most of the trouble.—Independent.

Cats—Up.

"Sarah," said her mistress during the dinner hour, "will you go down to the basement and get the catsup?"

Sarah departed, and a few minutes later the family heard a great shooing and scampering of feet. Shortly after Sarah came breathlessly into the dining room and said to her astonished mistress, "They're up, mum."

"What are up?"

"The cats, mum."—Youth's Companion.

Her Argument.

"Going to drop your cooking lessons right in the middle of the course? Why, I heard you got a proposal of marriage on the strength of going to cooking school."

"I did. And now that I am going to be married, what's the use of bothering any further about cooking lessons?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Genius.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

The Mouth and the Brush.

A toothbrush must be scalded or disinfected with an antiseptic wash and air dried whenever used, otherwise it will become a menace to health. Toothbrushes must not be kept where they are exposed to dust and dirt; neither should the brushes used by each member of the family stand in the same receptacle, as the germs of disease may be transmitted from one brush to another.

As the majority of diseases find their way into the human system through the mouth and nose and the mouth is the more common entrance, it is of the utmost importance to keep the mouth and teeth perfectly clean. If the teeth are brushed carefully and the mouth and teeth rinsed three times a day with nothing but plain water, a great deal will be done to keep off sickness. Not every one can buy antiseptic washes and powders, but every one can procure clean water and a daily water is antiseptic and better to keep the mouth clean and free from dangerous germs of disease.

THE INCOME TAX.

Advice to be given at Town Hall, Jan. 9th.

Every inhabitant of Massachusetts, that filed an income tax return last year, received a New Year's present through the mails, from the State's Income Tax Department. The present consisted of a reminder that another return is now due, and it was accompanied by the necessary blanks for complying with the requirements of the law.

The new blanks have been revised so that they are more intelligible and the consolidation of the business return with the individual will materially simplify the process.

In the interest of expedition and efficiency which has become so necessary in meeting the demands of the present great crisis the Commonwealth is requesting that those obliged to make a return do so as quickly as possible.

The task which the income tax department has on its hands is a Herculean one and by a prompt filing of your return you will "do your bit," in enabling the department to do its work at the lowest possible expense.

Persons making returns have until March 1st, to file before laying themselves liable to any penalty, but the necessity for expedition in making it must be obvious to everybody.

Last year the department sent representatives to many cities and towns throughout the State to advise and instruct the taxpayers how to comply with the law. It is the purpose of the department this year to widen the scope of its activities along these lines and a representative will be at the Town Hall in this town on Wednesday, the 9th, from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m., where returns will be received, advice given, and the signature acknowledged without expense to the taxpayer.

The attention of the citizens of Middlesex County is called to the removal of the Cambridge office from 580 Massachusetts avenue to the Harvard Trust Company Building, Central Square, 689 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge.

To many, this office is just as accessible as the State House. This paper can assure its readers that owing to the large crowd at the State House more personal attention can be given to the taxpayers at the District office, in Cambridge or Lowell.

WHY THE BOY SCOUTS?

Many people who are more or less interested in the Boy Scouts, do not know that this world-wide organization works toward a definite object,—they do not generally know that behind the weekly meetings, drills, hikes, and camps, lies a real, deep-seated purpose.

In the first place, one must realize that our Boy Scout organization is not something confined to Winchester, nor to Greater Boston, nor yet to the United States. The Scout, idea, as we know it today was conceived in England by Lieutenant-General Sir Robert S. S. Baden-Powell. In this country the movement first took form when a group of well-known men became, on February 8, 1910, a corporation with the title, "The Boy Scouts of America."

The purpose thse men had in mind is best described in section two of a bill incorporating this organization, approved by Congress in June, 1916. This section reads in part as follows: "the purpose of this corporation shall be to promote through organization, and cooperation with other agencies, the ability of boys to do things for themselves and others, to train them in scout craft, and to teach them patriotism, courage, self-reliance, and kindred virtues, using the methods which are now in common use by boy scouts."

The list of officers of the National Council and Executive Board follows: Honorary President, Woodrow Wilson; Honorary Vice Presidents, William H. Taft, Theodore Roosevelt, Daniel C. Beard; President, Colin H. Livingstone, Washington; National Scout Commissioner, Daniel C. Beard; Treasurer, George D. Pratt, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The way the Boy Scouts aided in "putting over" the first and second Liberty Loans, the Y. M. C. A. Fund, and, in fact, all the things they have done to help win the war, are now matters of history. The writer saw one little chap making his rounds in behalf of the second Liberty Loan, on a dark, stormy night, with the rain coming down in torrents. He was drenched to the skin; the water squirted out of his shoes at every step; little rivulets of water ran off of his sodden hat; but he wore a broad grin, and refused to quit until he had made all his calls for that evening. That is the stuff of which Boy Scouts are made.

The four troops in Winchester are in fine condition today. Winchester is a part of the fifth district, which holds first place for the largest number of Boy Scouts in proportion to its population. Winchester's most urgent need is Scoutmasters,—efficient men who can properly direct the boys in their work.

Robert C. Barr,
Assistant District Commissioner, Boy Scouts of America.

Looked on Cross With Horror.

The cross was the emblem of a slave's death and a murderer's punishment and was naturally looked upon by the Jew with horror. After the celebrated vision of Constantine, that ruler ordered to be made a cross of gold and gems such as he had seen and the "tree of cursing and shame sat upon sceptres and was engraved and signed on the foreheads of kings."

Some Abbreviations.

Viz., oz., cwt., dwt., qr., a/c.

Do you know why we write these everyday signs and what their origins are? Viz. is derived from the first two letters of the Latin word "videlicet," meaning "namely." The z is a corruption of an ancient sign something like a 3 that, in the middle ages, was always placed at the end of an abbreviated word to mark its incompletion.

In course of time this sign became z. The same applies to oz., our abbreviation for ounce.

The letters lb., standing for pounds in weight, are the first and third letters of the Latin word "libræ." Cwt. (hundredweight) and dwt. (pennyweight) are also abbreviations of Latin words. The c is the Latin numeral for a hundred; the d the initial letter of denarius (penny), and the wt. is short for the word weight.

A/c stands for "account current," the stroke only being put to separate the letters. The qr. stands for "ad.," the Latin word for "at" or "to."—London Standard.

Recipe For a Flower Garden.

Take twenty square yards of sand and pebbles, stir in sufficient clay to make a compact water tight mass, ram down hard and score the surface with a rake. Add carefully ten packets of seeds of the most magnificent flower known that will grow anywhere and under any conditions, throwing up a continuous succession of enormous flower trusses from March to November, each petal five inches across and of the richest and most glowing tints. This is the commonest of all flowers and will be found listed on any page of any florist's catalogue. Sow the whole out to rise, keeping it moist and warm. After allowing the mass to rise four months sprinkle red spiders and green aphides plentifully over the top and soak well with tears. The net result may be preserved in a small bottle of alcohol for future reference.—Philadelphia North American.

Shakespearean Humor.

McKean Buchanan, a California tragedian in the olden days, was noted for the roaring style in which he played Shakespearean characters, also for his fondness for litigation and for never paying his lawyers. J. Gordon Eastman was posted as to this last peculiarity of the "great Shakespearean delineator," as he styled himself, and when Buchanan, filled with wrath at an adverse criticism in a city paper, determined to sue the editor, burst into the lawyer's office and said, "Sir, I wish to retain you." the man of the law replied, "Awfully sorry, Mr. Buchanan, but I am retained on the other side." Buchanan replied: "The other side! What other side? Who has retained you against me?" The attorney replied, "Shakespeare's ghost." And the interview closed.—Los Angeles Times.

A Famous Opal.

The most famous opal in history was that which was worn in a ring by the Roman senator Nonius in the day of the triumvirate. Its size equaled that of a medium sized hazelnut, yet its beauty and brilliancy rendered it a marvel among the dilettanti of Rome, especially when it was known that the goldsmiths and money changers had set its value at $1,000,000. Mark Antony made overtures to Nonius for its purchase, intending, it is thought, to present it to Cleopatra, but the senator refused to part with it and for fear that it would be taken from him by sheer force sought safety in flight. Here history loses all trace of this famous gem, there being no record of its transference from Nonius to any of his family.

An Empire Sold at Auction.

The Roman empire was once sold to the highest bidder. On the death of Pertinax in 193 the Praetorian guards put up the empire for sale by auction and after an animated competition between Sulpicius and Julian it was knocked down to the latter for 6,250 drachmas. The Romans held auctions of various kinds, the proceedings being much the same in all cases. The auctio sub hasta, which was a sale of plunder, was held under a spear stuck in the ground. The magister auctionis, or auctioneer, was chosen from among the argentarii, or money changers, and his assistants were the cashiers.

Shop Talk.

"The great trouble nowadays," began the curbstone philosopher, "is that no man is satisfied with his job."

"My job soots me," interrupted the chimney sweep.

"And I'm stuck on mine," yelled the tar spreader from the adjoining roof.

Whereupon the orator turned his theme from economics to preparedness.—Puck.

His Experience.

"Pa," said the boy, looking up from his book, "what does a man's better half mean?"

"Usually, my son," replied his father from behind the evening paper, "she means exactly what she says."—Philadelphia Press.

That's So.

"But suppose a foreign foe should attack New York?"

"We've got the trenches ready. Our streets are always torn up."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Ruinous.

"What ruined your business?"

"Advertising."

"How?"

"I let it all be done by my competitors."—Spokane Review.

"WHY WE ARE AT WAR."

The youth of the United States is to be informed as to what the war means, why we are at war and what would be the result should Germany win, through a campaign of instruction to be carried out under the direction of the Commissioner of education at Washington, D. C., through the medium of pamphlets issued by the committee of public information to every school in the United States. These pamphlets cover such subjects as "The President's War Message," "The Government of Germany," "How the War Came to America," "American Loyalty," "A War of Self Defense," "Conquest and Kultur," "The nation in Arms," and others the list of which is being added to from time to time and which set forth facts in relation to the great war which every person in the United States should be familiar with. Much good must come from this educational campaign.

Town Steeped in History.

Tarragona, Spain, contains about 20,000 inhabitants, and possesses a lively trade in wines, nuts, fruits and oil. Martial and Pliny celebrated its sunny clime, and its wine, which in their day vied with the Falernian, but the full-bodied wines produced there today are used to give to port a healthier hue. The monks who were evicted from France a few years ago continue in this town their secret process of making the Grande Chartreuse, but, contrary to popular belief, Tarragon vinegar is not a product of Tarragona, Spain. On the whole, no visitor to Spain should neglect a visit to this wonderful old citadel, with its cyclopean walls and doorways, ruined windows, ancient chapels, cathedral and ruins, steeped in the history of a dozen races.

USING UP THE HOG

Not Even a Hair of Him Is Wasted by the Big Packers.

GOOD PROFIT IN THE OFFAL.

It Yields as Great a Financial Return as Do the Main Food Products of the Carcass—How the Various Parts of the Animal Are Utilized.

There is a use for everything that is removed from a hog. After years of experimenting packers have reduced their business to such a system that they realize as much profit from the offal as they do from the main carcass.

The meat of a hog is from 70 to 80 per cent of the live weight. The 20 to 30 per cent that is classed as offal makes the money for the packers. Exclusive of condemnations by government inspectors, about 17 per cent of each carcass is lost at various stages of dressing and by evaporation in processing and curing, so that really only about 60 per cent actually goes into cuts to be retailed to the consumer. The various cuts—hams, bacon, loins, spareribs and pork shoulders—are the main products.

Among the edible byproducts is pepsin, which is derived from the stomach of the hog. The liver is used for food as it is taken from the body, and it is also made into liver sausage. Brains are prepared in many ways. Tongues find their way into the making of canned and pickled meats. Hearts are used in sausage.

Tails, snouts and ears are rich in gelatin or glue, but most of them are sold for boiling with kraut and other vegetables and are much in favor with lovers of boiled meals. Kidneys enter into the fresh meat trade or when the supply is too large are frozen or canned.

Neutral is a specially prepared lard, largely used abroad, and in this country an important ingredient in the manufacture of oleomargarine. Lard proper is not commonly called a byproduct of the hog, it is one of the primary products. About 15 per cent of the average hog goes into the making of lard. The demand for lard has increased greatly during the past few years. It is now used commonly in cooking in place of butter. Part of the lard is further processed into lard oil and stearine, the former used as a lubricant and for illuminating purposes, the latter entering into the manufacture of lard compounds, chewing gum, soft candles, fancy toilet soaps and other toilet preparations.

Small quantities of blood are used in the making of blood puddings, but most of it is dried and ground into blood meal, a popular ration with poultry raisers as well as a feed for calves that are being fed on skimmilk.

Stomachs are used as sausage containers, the lining first being removed and used as a source of pepsin. The "black" or early intestines of the hog are carefully cleaned, processed and made into chitterlings, an inexpensive food that is fried like oysters, much in favor with colored people.

Seven per cent of the weight of the hog is represented in nonedible byproducts in the raw state, which are afterward manufactured into glue, soap, glycerin, blood meal, tankage, curled hair and fertilizer. In the finished state these products represent about 4½ per cent of the hog's weight, the balance being lost in evaporation.

The rinds from skinned hams and bacon, as well as the back skin of the hog, are saved. Pigskin is used in athletic goods.

Hair enters into many lines of manufacture. A large part is used in the making of brushes, and the finer the bristle the higher priced brush is produced. It is also curled and used for upholstering.

The waste waters are evaporated to a thick brown wax known as "stick" because of its adhesive properties. It is used in the manufacture of fertilizer, as it has a high nitrogen content.

Bones are used in making phosphates for baking powder and other compounds. They are also ground into poultry feed, and a large tonnage finds its way into the fertilizer trade. Bones are also burned for charcoal for use in the purification of sirups in the manufacture of sugar. Bone ash is used in making crucibles for glass-making and metal refining.

Tankage is a bone and tissue substance that is taken from the tanks after the different parts are rendered for grease. It is used chiefly in stock and poultry feed.—Joseph M. Carroll in Country Gentleman.

The Bunko Game.

"You can't fool all the people all the time."

ROMANCE OF COAL.

Some of the Products This Complex Material Yields to Man.

Coal seems to be rather an uninteresting thing. Who would imagine that the great, ugly black lumps could afford any one a subject worthy of study? And yet this same coal has given civilization many of its greatest possessions. The beautiful pink scarfs worn by women are colored with dyes that come from coal. The gas used to illuminate and to heat our homes is a product of the distillation of coal. Valuable chemicals, such as benzine, naphthalene and toluene, are coal products.

The tar used in paving streets and protecting roofs from rain is also a byproduct of the commercial treatment of coal, and finally aniline, the basis of aniline dyes and coloring materials, is one of the valuable chemicals contained in coal.

Coal is indeed one of the most complex materials to be found in all nature. To learn what it is we must go back to the dim, geological ages. The luxuriant vegetation of these past times, untrammeled by human feet and uncut by human hands, year after year grew, bloomed, faded and decayed, forming deep beds of rotted, woody fiber.

By degrees certain gases, such as hydrogen and oxygen, were partly lost from the mass of vegetable material. Pressure and heat converted this material into what we know as coal.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

MOUNTAIN CLIMBING.

Joys That Come In Reaching the Peak and Getting Back to Camp.

A great deal has been written by mountaineers about the joys of climbing, says Walter Prichard Eaton in Harper's Magazine. The joys of climbing are often a good deal like those of heavy dumbbell exercises. In Glacier park you want to sing the joys of coming back to camp in the afternoon and loafing on a bed of balsam boughs, with your tent flap open wide to the view of lupines and violets in the meadow and distant snow capped peaks beyond. You want to sing the joys of fragrant food and steaming tea, of twilight slowly gathering as though so fair a day were reluctant to depart.

To ascend a peak, to see the tumbled world at its feet, to sit again in camp tired and warmed with food, to hear with one ear the camp cook telling bear stories, with the other the birdlike calls of the ground squirrels, to smell the resinous wood smoke and the balsams, to catch now and then the tinkle of little ice water brooks from the snowfields, to watch the sunset blush on Heaven's peak and the stars come slowly out above the battlements of the divide—well, that is, I fear, to spoil you for any other life.

The little ice water brooks sing a siren song in the uplands starred with violets, and woe to him whose ears have heard! He can never be quite happy again east of the Great Divide.

An Aged Gander.

The birds that live to a great age are comparatively few. Gulls have been known to reach forty years, parrots frequently live eighty years and swans nearly as long. Ravens and owls usually die somewhat younger, but there is good reason to believe that eagles and falcons sometimes live more than a hundred years. Of barnyard fowls ducks and geese live longest. D. MacLachlan of Islay, Scotland, writes to the Field that he has a gander that is now sixty-six years old. For forty-five years it belonged to the proprietor of a hotel at Bridgend, Scotland. Twenty-one years ago the father-in-law of the present owner bought it. Mr. MacLachlan says that the gander looks as well and as young and seems as active as it ever did. There is no doubt about its age.

Her Adopted Name.

They were discussing the peculiarities of names, and Blobton suddenly said:

"By the way, Cox, your wife's got a queer name, hasn't she—Dutty? Where did she get that name Dutty?"

"Oh, she adopted it," replied Mr. Cox. "She claims that every married woman's middle name is Duty, because she is either being done or neglected."—London Mail.

Explained.

"I know a man who is very successful in business, and yet all his customers know his talk about his goods is chiefly hot air."

"How does he manage to fool them then?"

"He doesn't. He deals in furnaces."—Baltimore American.

Sheer Idolatry.

"Gadspur has a little white hen that lays an egg every day."

"I guess he's proud of that kind."

"Proud is not the name for it. Why, man, he has had a phonographic record made of her cackle."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The Cithern.

The cithern, a musical instrument resembling the guitar, mentioned in I Maccabees, v, 54, abandoned by the Children's was probably introduced into Palestine by the Hebrews after their return from the Babylonian captivity.

THE K. OF C. PLAY.

The big event of the New Year's season will be the three-act farce entitled "The Arrival of Kitty" to be staged in the Town Hall, Winchester, on Tuesday evening, Jan. 15th, by the Knights of Columbus. The cast is made up as follows:

Kitty, a professional actress
Miss Katherine Trainor
Aunt Jan (hobby, matrimony)
Miss Mary Kelley
Niece Miss Florence McCarthy
Maid Miss Madeline Reardon
Mr. Winkler, the wealthy uncle
Mr. Henry Maguire
Bobby Baxter and a bogus Kitty
Mr. Bonnie Mathews
Benjamin Moore
Dr. James O'Connor
Hotel Porter Mr. Phil Savage
Bell-boy Mr. Chas. Harrold

The opening scene centers around "Tranquility Cure Hotel" in the heart of the Catskill Mountains. The summer season opens and the hotel keeper, sick and unable to attend to business, throws himself on the mercy of the porter. The unscrupulous portor agrees to manage things for a modest rake-off of ten percent of the proceeds. For a rake-off of two percent the bell-boy agrees to stand in with the porter. These two worthys join forces to fleece the on-coming tide of guests Their get-rich-quick plans promise to cure tranquility no matter how deeply rooted that disease may be. The first victim to arrive is a cantankerous bachelor named Winkler, accompanied by his niece and her maid, and a very frivolous Aunt Jane.

Things begin to happen when Winkler finds himself taxed to the tune of fifty dollars a day, and queerer things happen when Booby Baxter, masquerading as the giddy young actress—Kitty, worms his way into the affections of the old bach and gets him to propose. Aunt Jane also strikes out hard for matrimony, and gets all tangled up in a matrimonial agency. By offering a prize in money, she succeeds in gaining the affections of one very much in need of funds, Benjamin Moore. The arrival of the real "Kitty" on the scene in the third act does not seem to mend matters much or make for the peace of mind of any of the guests, thus making the hotel live up to its reputation of being a cure for tranquility.

This farce had a record run of 2000 nights on the professional stage, and is a scream from start to finish. It promises to eclipse anything that the K. of C.—noted for their dramatic efforts—have ever staged, and 'tis expected that an overflowing house will reward them. Mr. Harrold, the director, has placed each member of the cast in the environment best suited to his or her talents, and is laboring to bring each and all up to a state of perfection equal to that of professionals. Taken as a whole, "The Arrival of Kitty" is well worth the price of admission.

No Clue.

"Did that Englishman drop anything?" whispered the political spy. "No," replied his assistant, "nothing but his h's."

Faith.

"Does she believe in the efficacy of prayer?" "She certainly does. She always says 'em before she looks under the bed at night."

The Massachusetts Woman's Christian Temperance Union ratification and membership banquet will be held at Ford Hall, Boston, Jan. 15, at 6 p. m. Informal reception at 5.30 p. m. It is to be hoped that the members of that and many workers of the Union of Winchester and also of the Missionary Society, will be present to listen to a grand can be obtained from Mrs. G. H. Hamilton. Remember that all others are always invited.

WAR'S HORRORS.

Former Winchester Woman Describes Terrible Scenes.

My dear Mrs. Eaton:

At last I have arrived in this war-stricken country, and it all seems so strange and so terrible to me, after knowing France as well as I did in the days of Peace and Plenty. My trip over on the Rochambeau was delightful the first 5 days, and after eleven in crossing, I have made up for it on the ninth, when were chased by two submarines. Our captain sent out an S. O. S. wireless call for help, and almost out of nowhere came three torpedo boat destroyers. They convoyed us until just outside of the mouth of the Gironde River. At the time of the call for help we all were ordered on deck, with our life belts on, the boats were swaying from the davits, and we were each assigned a place. We stayed on deck two nights with our clothes on, at the Captains orders.

At the mouth of the river we were transferred to a transport—told it was a five hour sale to Bordeaux, but it proved to be 8½ hours instead. It was pouring rain, no cover over this boat, no seats, only our hand baggage to sit on. It was a sorry looking crowd that disembarked at 10.30 in black, dreary, muddy, Bordeaux. I felt at the time it was all very hard, but since reaching here, and witnessing all the terrible suffering and privations of the Reforme's and the Mutiles, and their poor families, my first experience seems like a huge joke.

I only wish I had the gift of conveying to the people of America the immense amount of work there is to be done over here, and the sad part of it all is, there is no money to do things with. I have already given nearly all my own clothes away and every cent I could spare, and now when I see my poor wounded, suffering for a bit of bread or a bag of coal, or milk for a sick child, I just cry myself sick at my awful helplessness. Coal is $80.00 a ton. There is no white bread here, only war bread, and that is rationed out by a card system, issued to each family by the Commisaire of Police. There is absolutely no sugar, or milk or crackers anywhere and winter is setting in on these homeless starved creatures. I find myself thinking a hundred times a day, I wonder if God has forgotten these are his children. One of my boys only 20 years old has had his whole face shot away, only one eye and a little hole up near his ear, through which he must feed himself with liquid food, through a tube all the rest of his life. I wish God would take him, as he is very poor, but his body is unharmed and he has splendid vitality. Another one has his lower jaw blown away, he too, feeds through a tube as his tongue, and all his teeth, are gone. Another has part of his head blown away and both legs gone, and another both eyes and forehead blown away, etc., etc., ad infinitum. You know I am not connected with the Red Cross, or any organization, that pays salaries, or is all bound up by red tape. When a man, or his family, need help, it is a crime to make them wait for investigations etc., and pay some one to do it. Why not give that man the money spent on investigation and do without the investigator. Raymond and I are both volunteers, paying all our own expenses, giving all we have, and our lives if need be, as our little contribution for Peace and Liberty and America. We can not do more, and yet that does not seem enough, the need over here is so urgent we must have more help from those who stay at home. We need more, and more, and then more, and where are we going to get it. I know the ladies of The Fortnightly are doing quite a little, but urge them to do more. I have lost all my pride now, I am begging for my poor Blesses. My wounded, mutilated boys.

If you could only know the gratitude in their hearts for even a smile and a friendly pat, when you haven't a sou in your purse to give them! My eyes are constantly blinded with tears at my inability to do more. If any one feels inclined to send me anything no matter how small, it will go direct to lessen some poor fellow's burden.

We can't give them back their legs, or their eyes, or their faces, or arms, but we can clothe them, and feed them and their wives and little ones and mothers. So ask for me dear, please, at your club, let it be individual and acknowledged as such, and let their hearts tell them what to do. It is Xmas time, but not for us over here. Yet I hope another year will see us all united in Peace and Harmony. With love to all in the club, where I served as corresponding secretary, for so many years, and wishing them all a Merry Xmas and Happy New Year I am

Lovingly yours,
Eugenie E. Young.

HON. ROBERT LUCE TO SPEAK.

The Unitarian Men's Club have secured Hon. Robert Luce as their speaker for Friday evening, Jan. 18. Members may invite their friends. The subject is the Constitutional Convention and the event should be of much interest.

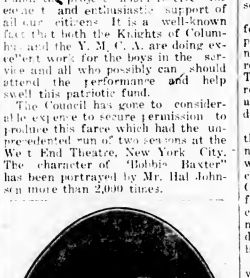

"THE ARRIVAL OF KITTY."

"Do Your Bit" and Besides See a Good Play.

The residents of Winchester and vicinity will be afforded another chance of "doing their bit" in an enjoyable way by being present at the "Arrival of Kitty" next Tuesday evening, January 15th in the Town Hall.

Inasmuch as the proceeds will be devoted to the K. of C. National War Fund, this project should receive the earnest and enthusiastic support of all our citizens. It is a well-known fact that both the Knights of Columbus and the Y. M. C. A. are doing excellent work for the boys in the service and all who possibly can, should attend the performance and help swell this patriotic fund.

The Council has gone to considerable expense to secure permission to produce this farce which had the unprecedented run of two seasons at the West End Theatre, New York City. The character of "Bobbie Baxter" has been portrayed by Mr. Hal Johnson more than 2,000 times.

CHAS. J. HARROLD

Under the expert supervision of Mr. Charles J. Harrold Winchester's popular and well known director, the cast has made remarkable progress within the last few weeks and the farce promises to be one of the best ever produced in this town. Mr. Harrold is optimistic over the prospect and feels confident that the joint efforts of coach and cast will be crowned with success.

Old time play-goers will have the opportunity of seeing Mr. Harrold celebrate his 31st. anniversary on the amateur stage in Winchester on this occasion, when he will play the part of "Sam, the colored porter."

HENRY J. MAGUIRE

The cast of characters is as follows:

Willi m Winkler Henry J. Maguire
Bobbie Baxter Bernard F. Mathews, Jr.
Benjamin More Dr. James H. O'Connor
Ting, a Bell boy Philip S. Savage
Aunt Jane, Winkler's sister Mary J. Kelley
Jane, Winkler's niece Florence McCarthy
Susette, Aunt Jane's maid Madeline Reardon
Sam, a colored porter Charles J. Harrold
Kitty, a young actress Katherine M. Trainor

Tickets may be obtained from members of the committee or at the door on the night of the show. Dancing will follow the performance.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

Most people think of the peace conference which will end the war as a group of diplomats sitting around a table. That this may be the culmination of peace negotiations is probable, but it will not be the beginning because the exchange views which shall end the war has already begun.

In his lecture at the Epiphany on Sunday at five, Mr. Packer will show why it is reasonable to believe that the war has entered on its final stage. The situation has cleared sufficiently to see how and on what terms peace is likely to come.

Although America must keep on fighting as hard as possible for the present there are many indications that the end will come this year that the world will be restored to a condition in which the lives of people will be turned back into old channels and the soldiers and sailors will be brought home again.

BOWLING ACTIVITIES.

Married and Single Ladies Will Prove Championship.

Bowling activities at the Calumet Club during the next few weeks will prove most interesting.. In addition to the regular mixed tourgament being rolled three nights each week, special matches have been arranged by the committee in charge under the direction of Chairman John C. Kerrison and Barton K. Stephenson.

Of much interest in these special features will be the match between picked teams from the single and married ladies of the Club to be rolled on Tuesday evening Jan. 22nd. The rivalry is said to be intense already, and a close and hard fought match is to be anticipated, which will doubtless draw a large attendance.

Another event is that scheduled for this Saturday—Jan. 12th. This is announced as a special tournament, with prizes for winners in three classes, all rolling under handicap. Class I consists of bowlers rated from 87 to 95, class II, 80 to 86, and class III, up to 79. The tournament promises lots of fun and will doubtless be largely entered by the bowlers.

The success of the recently closed winter tournament has resulted in numerous requests for another similar series of matches, and the committee has therefore decided to open a similar tournament on or about the 21st. Entry cards are out now and entries must be returned by Jan 15th. This tournament will be for five men teams and will be handicapped.

HOSPITAL AID DAY.

Saturday, January 12th will be Hospital Aid Day for the Winchester Hospital and the Committee urge every one to give as generously as possible. We know there are many demands for war and war relief, but in our much giving we should remember that our home activities and charities must be supported, a fact many are forgetting in the urgent and vital needs of the times. Our Hospital, which is fully paid for is a credit to both the town and the townspeople who have built it and has already proven its need and its efficiency and not one of us knows when it may be needed for war relief purposes. It is the duty and privilege of the people of Winchester to help toward its support. We are not asking for large sums, but if each one will do what they can, a goodly amount will be realized. Please have your envelopes ready when the collector calls.

Chairman of Finance Committee,
Mrs. W. I. Palmer,
Mrs. F. N. Kerr,

AN APPEAL.

Those who attended the interesting concert given by the Sedalia Club on the evening of Nov. 27, when so much interest in the Alice Freeman Palmer Memorial School of Sedalia, N. C., was expressed by them in the generous contribution they made, will be most sorry to hear of a great misfortune that has come to the school, in the form of a fire, that has destroyed one of its best buildings. In this building was stored all the food that had been so laboriously raised last summer, and preserved for winter use. The entire loss is estimated at about $7,000

Mrs. Brown, the principal, who has labored so unceasingly for the school, the last sixteen years, is feeling, as a friend writes, much depressed and discouraged. Her friends at the North, however, are rallying to her help, and are asking contributions from the many towns in which she has made the work of the school known. Here in our own town, the Ladies' Friendly Society, of the Unitarian Church, has already voted to contribute fifty dollars, and if any other society or any individuals feel that they can make any contribution, however small, it will be most gratefully received, if sent to either of two good friends of the school, Rev. Howard J. Chidley or Rev. Joel H. Metcalf.

TRAINS DISCONTINUED HERE.

Winchester will be but slightly affected by the discontinuance and changes in train service as announced this week to go into effect Jan. 20th in view of the coal shortage. While many trains on the B. & M. system have been announced as subject to discontinuance and change, only three affect us.

These train are as follows: 5.46 p. m. outward and 6.00 a. m. inward discontinued. 6.26 p. m. inward will probably be about 10 minutes earlier, although no definite time has yet been stated.

Several other trains passing through Winchester will be discontinued, but as none of these stop, our service will not be affected by their removal.

MISS MATHEWS SHOWERED.

Friends of Miss Marie M. Mathews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Mathews of Lincoln street, surprised her on Tuesday evening at her home and showered her with a profusion of silver, cut glass and linen in observance of her coming marriage to Mr. Frank Merrill of Arlington on the 16th. About 45 friends were present. The evening was pleasantly passed with singing, games and refreshments.

AFTERMATH OF COLD SNAP.

Many Water Pipes Froze Causing Great Inconvenience.

The extreme cold spell, probably the most prolonged and coldest in recent years, broke last Saturday, when the temperature again assumed normal conditions for this season of the year. The week of cold, however, caused conditions which have not yet been all remedied, and the town water department is still busy thawing out street mains which have been frozen.

Fortunately for us, Winchester has been bountifully supplied with coal in comparison with surrounding places, and while many householders ran low, all were able to secure enough to keep enough fires going to prevent any real suffering.

The greatest suffering was caused by water pipes freezing. The town water department has had a list of about 200 freeze-ups in house connections thus far and more are coming in daily. The department has rendered prompt and efficient service, however, and the houses are being thawed out as fast as the men can work. The intense cold froze the pipes in the ground. The work of thawing is being carried out by coils in the pipes and by the Edison thawing apparatus.

The schools closed an extra week, which was very fortunate on account of the cold, as it is doubtful if the attendance would have been anywhere near normal. All the schools were opened on Monday except the Washington and Rumford, which were opened on Wednesday.

The scheme of closing the school buildings and allowing the fires to go out proved an economy, not only in saving of coal, but in money as well. Considerable damage was done by the extreme cold, but this was more than offset by the economy. About $700 was saved by the closing and about $300 worth of damage was done, thus saving the Town $400. All of the water connections to the schools except the high were frozen and it was necessary to thaw them out.

Surrounding places suffered much worse than Winchester with their school buildings where fires were kept in some places thousands of dollars worth of damage being done. Winchester schools have sufficient coal and it has not been felt wise to prolong the recent vacation, as if this is done it will be necessary to keep school until into July.

A light rain on Monday covered the streets with smooth ice, making by far the worst walking of the winter thus far, but thawing conditions on Tuesday rapidly bettered these conditions.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Miss Mary E. Robinson, teaching at the Wadleigh School, is out on account of illness. Her place is being filled by Miss Lilla Hellburg of Stoneham.

Miss Florence M. Fisher, teaching at the Chapin School, is out owing to the severe illness of her mother. Miss Helen A. Sweeney of the third grade at the Chapin is filling Miss Fisher's position and Mrs. Dennis F. Foley of Stone avenue is taking Miss Sweeney's place.

Miss Jennie M. Wood, principal of the Gifford school, who has been absent from her duties for some time owing to poor health, is now at her home at Newcastle, Me.

The experiment of closing the school buildings and drawing the fires during the Christmas vacation has been successful, and less damage has been done than would have probably have been the case had the buildings been kept heated during the cold spell ensuing. While all the water connections froze with the exception of that to the High School, and some extra expense was incurred by the necessity of draining the water service and sprinklers, Winchester escaped with decidedly less damage than any of the surrounding places.

All schools opened Monday except the Washington and Rumford, which opened on Wednesday. The schools have a sufficient supply to last through the winter it is thought. It is estimated that over 500 tons of coal were saved by the closing.

The fifth grade scholars at the Wyman School have completed an ambulance robe. The children each knit six inch squares which when pieced together made the robe.

It has been voted to introduce sewing sloyd into the fifth grades of the schools, with special reference to Red Cross work.

FORMER TEACHER CONGRATULATED.

Miss Elizabeth Marston, dean of Winchester's public School teachers, who taught in the town schools for two generations, observed her 75th birthday at her home on Winthrop street Saturday. She received congratulatory letters from the School Committee, the Superintendent of Schools and many teachers, besides a handsome gift of flowers from the teachers' Club. Many of her old pupils also sent their congratulations.

Not Much Difference.

WINCHESTER RED CROSS.

The Winchester Red Cross Branch has taken rooms in the White Block on Mt. Vernon street and the same will be open daily from 10 to 4 o'clock, except Saturday when they will be open from 10 to 1 o'clock.

All those who want to do their "bit" and are interested in what the Red Cross stands for are invited to take part in the work at the rooms where a cordial welcome awaits them. Now is the time to help, for no one can do too much or make too great a sacrifice for those in our country's service.

Those having old kid gloves are asked to bring them to the rooms as they can be used in lining the vests, and so making them warm for our boys at Ayer.

Fred Joy,
Chairman.

1. Bring their own scissors.
2. Do not have to belong to the Red Cross in order to help with the work in the Red Cross rooms.
3. Aprons and caps will be loaned in cases where it is necessary.
4. Will those who can help with the work evenings please register their names at the rooms and the evening or evenings they could help.
5. Anybody wishing to take a course in Surgical Dressings please send in their names. The course of 7 lessons, 2 hours at a time, will be given here at the rooms and cost $1.00. MR. CLARK WILL NOT RUN AGAIN.

Dear Mr. Wilson.

Will you please announce in the "STAR" that I will not be a candidate for Selectman in the spring.

Through the courtesy of our chairman nine has been a very minor task. Notwithstanding this I am heartily tired of the work and feel that this flight into politics (?) has been sufficient to satisfy any ambition I shall ever have for such honors.

Yours very truly,
Rufus L. Clark.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

It should be the aim of every Winchesterite to think well, for here is the starting point of morals.

The world's greatest poet—and he never heard of German Kultur—tells us that "crabbed age and youth cannot live together." That is true. But suppose that age is not "crabbed" and that youth has something of that wisdom that we think of as belonging to "the young aged cherubins?" Under such conditions there does seem to be a possibility of a sympathetic understanding. Nothing is more charming though there is a pathos in it—than the suggestion of maturity in youth, while old men and women with young hearts and youthful credulity and innocence have been a blessing to all who come in contact with them. Winchester would be a sad community indeed without the young who realized that they were one day to be old, or the old who never failed to remember that they were once young, and were able to make allowances for youth.

The trouble is that we think of old and young as constituting separate claims, and we fall into that error because we so often fail to realize the unity of life. There are at least capacities of youth and age in every human soul. We are all going to be old unless we die young—while those who are old can always renew their youth by living their lives over again in retrospect. It is well for every Winchesterite to limit his speculations on this subject, as far as he can, to himself. No matter how young he is, he may think of himself as potentially old, and even when old he can, if he will, keep a youthful heart. This youth and age may be brought into a real harmony and unity. And there may be the wisdom of age and the joy of youth in the same life. There is nothing fanciful about such a synthesis as this. On the contrary, it is only as it is made that life can be understood. We can think less of the old man and the young man as distinct personalities, and more of both as tenanting the same body. Only thus is is possible to establish points of contact with the life that surges all about us, and to get the benefit of that education that is the product of such contact. Life—and not simply old or young life—is the greatest study in which a man can engage.

When a Winchesterite reaches a certain age—what it must be left for each individual to decide—he ought to live in the consciousness that he is one day to be old. Thinking this life will take on a certain dignity that it never in his eyes had before. Those who have not forgotten their Thackeray, and unhappy are they if they have—will recall that Beatrix Esmond said that she expected to go to balls and parties, and continue to play cards till she was 100 years old. Her ambition was realized—only she did not live to be a hundred. But the dull frivolities of her youth never relaxed their hold on her. It was of men and women of this type that Pope was thinking when he wrote:

See how the world its veterans rewards!
A youth of frolics, an old age of cards.

There is nothing more horrible than the prolongation into old age of a vain and silly youth. The result is to rob life of its dignity and sacredness, and to make old age something to be despised rather than honored. But this tragic fate can be avoided only by those Winchesterites who look somewhat ahead, and then from the vantage point thus gained, review their lives in the light of experience, either actual or imagined. Only in this is a happy old age possible. Macbeth missed the blessing, but he described it thus:

And that which should accompany old age,
As honor, love, obedience, troops of friends,
I must not look to have.

All have to be earned and they can be earned only by him who shows himself worthy of them. Gray hairs are entitled to no honor except as they are honorable. "The hoary head is a crown of glory," but only "if it be found in the way of righteousness." Nothing but the moral quality, whether in youth or age, counts in the great assize. The moral law or the law of righteousness, is the great unifier. And the new Jarusalem, rather than Greenwich village, is the law giver. Those Winchesterites who are disposed to dispute this rather obvious truth will one day—it is hoped—change their minds.

According to the Winchester philosopher the best equipment for well living is in the experience gained from having done well before. The record for one duty is the power to fulfill another.

The regular meeting of the Ladies Friendly Society was held at Metcalf Hall at the Unitarian Church on Tuesday. Owing to the coal shortage the luncheon usually held was omitted in order to conserve the supply. Miss Howe of the Tuckerman School was a guest of the Society and spoke on her work, and solos were given by Mrs. Frank Barnes which were greatly enjoyed by the ladies. An address on the effect of the war on religion was given by Rev. Charles Park of the First Church of Boston. The society voted to hold its knitting meetings from now on at the home of the president, Mrs. George H. Hazeltine, 7 Lewis road, to obviate the necessity of heating the hall.

With her clothing ablaze from contact with a kitchen stove, Mrs. Patrick Devlin, 48 years, 40 Park street, Stoneham, dashed the contents of a can of kerosene over her body, in belief that it was water. Mrs. Devlin's mistake may cost her life. She was taken to the Winchester hospital in a critical condition Saturday. She died Sunday.

LUCAS—HAZARD NUPTIALS.

An exceptionally pretty wedding was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lucas, 10 Chester street, on Wednesday evening, Jan. 2d, when Kathleen Alma, their youngest daughter, was united in marriage by the Rev. W. H. Smith, Pastor of the New Hope Baptist Church, to Washburn G., only son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Hazard of Somerville. The bride's dress was of white silk and net with silver trimmings, and she wore a wedding veil attached to a silver band about her brow and carried a large bouquet of bride's roses.

Miss Etta Hazard, the charming sister of the groom, who wore a dress of white net over pink silk and carried pink carnations, was bridesmaid. Mrs. Sim Walton of Woburn, who was a bride of last June and wore her wedding dress, was Matron of honor. Mr. William James was best man.

A beautiful reception was held from eight to eleven. The music was rendered by Mr. Clarence Jeffress at the piano accompanied by Miss Beatrice Yancey on the violin, both of West Medford. The bride received a large number of beautiful gifts, some from as far as Philadelphia and Nova Scotia. The largest number being sent to their cozy little home in Somerville where they will reside.

A PECULIAR COINCIDENCE.

A peculiar coincidence occured to two well known Winchester youths within a few days. It appears that last summer George J. Barbaro and James W. Haggerty, both prominent in K. of C. circles, made a friendly wager which one would be the first in France in the great war. During the following months Barbaro enlisted and was assigned to Camp Meigs at Washington while Haggerty went to Camp Devens at Ayer in the draft. The wager still held good, with the odds in favor of Barbaro, but within a few days both men have left this country for France and both were on the same ship. Under these circumstances the wager was called off.

KERNWOOD HERE NEXT WEEK.

The Kernwood Club of Malden will visit the Calumet Club next week Friday evening and matches in billiards, pool, bowling and cards will be played by selected teams. Considerable interest centers in the billiards on this occasion, when Smalley, Calumet's crack player, will probably be matched again with Bartlett, the dean of Boston players. Smalley won his game in the first match at Kernwood and a close match is promised Friday. The bowling also promises considerable rivalry, Calumet having taken the honors last month at Kernwood. A large crowd is anticipated.

BEAUTIFUL PICTURES ENJOYED.

There was a large attendance at the Calumet Club on Tuesday evening to enjoy the traveltalk and the very beautiful pictures of Charles Norton Hunt on the great American Northwest. The affair was in observation of the Club's January ladies' night.

The entertainment was largely made up of the moving pictures, which portrayed the wonders and beauties of the Yellowstone and Ranier National Parks, the Columbia River, National Highway and Alaska. With the pictures Mr. Hunt gave a most interesting and descriptive talk of the great Northwest.

At the conclusion of the talk refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening given over to dancing.

WINCHESTER MAN UPHOLDS HOOVER.

Dwight P. Thomas of Everett avenue, vice president of Revere Sugar Refinery, 18 Broad street, in a statement to a Boston paper, upholds Herbert C. Hoover, Federal food administrator, against Claus Spreckles, who severely criticised Mr. Hoover in Washington recently.

Mr. Thomas wrote a letter to Senator Lodge at Washington on Dec. 26th characterizing some of the statements made by Mr. Spreckles as "incorrect, misleading and unfair to the food administration," and he asked Senator Lodge to have his letter incorporated in the records of the investigation at Washington.

In his letter to Senator Lodge Mr. Thomas wrote:

"I desire to state that I have read Mr. Hoover's statement with the greatest interest, and, in my opinion, it is absolutely correct in every respect, not only as regards its facts, but also as regards its conclusions, except that I believe that if Mr. Hoover had not taken charge when he did the retail price of sugar would now be nearer 50 cents a pound than 25 cents a pound."

PAY-AS-YOU-GO PLAN FOR STREET RAILWAYS PROPOSED.

From every section of the state and from all quaters of the country the reports indicate that not only is the condition of the street railways very acute but that it is getting constantly worse and from the way matters are headed it is almost certain that the situation will be worse before it is much better.

There are numerous reasons why the street railways have not been able to give the kind of service that they would like to or that the public demands and while the smaller details of service may vary in different communities the underlying evil is practically the same in each case; namely the roads have been trying for years to sell service at less than cost. It requires no elaborate calculation or array of mathematical niceties to convince even the most indifferent observer that any business that undertakes to sell its product for less than its cost to produce it is inviting certain disaster, so that when the street railways declare that they have reached the end of their rope and that they cannot sell service at less than cost the statement should not occasion any great surprise.

It is no tax on common sense to appreciate the force of the argument that an impecunious railway can only be expected to give poor service and as the riding public is desirous of getting the best service obtainable the majority of people will probably be interested in any move that is calculated to put the railways in a position where such service can be provided.

Of the many plans suggested for placing the street railways on a substancial financial footing and affording them a means of fortifying themselves in the future none appears to be any more practical than the "service-at-cost" plan which has recently been outlined and which has received wide-spread indorsement.

Briefly summarized it may be said to provide a plan whereby the public will get what it pays for and in return it will pay for what it gets. It is perhaps timely to say that if the street railways had adopted such a plan when electric power supplanted the horse car there would probably be little if any of the financial trouble that exists today and the companies would doubtless be in as prosperous condition as any other business that sells its product on the basis of the cost of production.

Until the service at cost or some similarly logical plan is adopted it is hard to see how the street railways are going to get much more than temporary relief. For the convenience of the public, the interest of the communities and the protection of the people whose money is invested the street railways situation should be speedily remedied along lines that will preclude the recurrence of such a condition in the future.

CHILD DROWNED SATURDAY.

Four year old Roland Turenne, son of Anthony Turenne of 152 Swanton street, was drowned in a part of the Aberjona river Saturday forenoon. The sad accident occurred near the foot of Tremont street at a point in the river where the steam exhaust of the Beggs & Cobb tannery has an outlet, thus keeping the water free from ice.

A sled and the child's cap on the ice near the hole were noticed by Walter Crowley. He notified John Lynch and Charles Haggerty of the fact and the three men secured a rake and soon found the body in the water. The police were notified and Sergt. McCauley used the lungmotor on the boy in hopes of reviving him, but it was evident that he had been in the water for a long time and was beyond human aid.

The child was one of 12 children of the Turenne's and is the eighth to die. Funeral services were held on Monday.

The Winchester Star

SEND THE STAR LETTERS FROM YOUR BOY IN KHAKI.

The STAR is anxious to print interesting letters written by the boys in uniform telling of their life and their experiences in performing the greatest duty that their country can ask of them.

All those who receive such letters know how absorbing they are and how eager other persons are to hear the details about what our boys—particularly Winchester boys—are doing.

It would be a service to the community to let many people read these letters by sending them to the STAR. The manuscripts of all letters, whether published or not, will be returned if requested when they are submitted.

The STAR advises all such contributors to copy the letters and to submit these copies to prevent the possibility of the orignal letters being lost in the mail.

Government ownership is on the way. And then——

Grapefruit is plenty at the present time and the demand is light. Sugar is to blame for this.

It is reported that there will be a drop in fish prices in the spring. Why wait until the spring?

The government is now running the railroads with the treasury back of it, and the people likely to provide the sinews.

According to the statistician, it costs this country approximately $5,000 to train a raw recruit and put him on the fighting front in Europe, but do you believe it?

A "Cut-n-Cord" Club can find work to do even here in Winchester. It is a great appetizer and health producer, as many past and present prominent men have found out.

With milk delivered at the home in Winchester costing 16 cents a quart, leads the Somerville Journal to say, "remember to take off your hat respectfully if you happen to meet a cow."

Don't give money to any person who comes to your doors asking for it. Be sure that you know them personally, or that they are properly accredited agents of some well-known society. Swindlers are growing rich these days.

In intensely cold weather let the water drip a little from your faucets, and thus save yourself and the town an endless amount of trouble and expense. Most of the work could be avoided by simply letting the water drip

How can the people be encouraged to use fish instead of beef, if the price of fish, in proportion to its food value, remains higher than that of beef, or for the use of corn and corn products, if their cost is more proportionately to wheat? It is difficult to change trading customs from sentiments of patriotism alone.

The Bay State Street Railway is in serious difficulties, and less frequent transportation is something that we will have to accept as a matter of fact this winter, and make the best of the situation. The coal shortage, the cutting down of trains, the scarcity of sugar, are some of the inconveniences that will awaken people to the fact that we are really at war!

The income tax department at the State House is urging all taxpayers to file their returns early This appeal is made in the interest of economy in the expense of administration. In these days of excessive public expenditures, dollar conservation is just as essential and patriotic as any other form of conservation which individuals are called upon to make. File your return early and "do your bit."

Lick one little thrift stamp and put it on the card and make a beginning and you will become much interested in the possibilities for saving that are thus opened up and the merit of the scheme so easily proven. A twenty-five cent stamp as a starter soon needs an associate, and two forlorn looking children on the card demand company in increasing numbers with every loose quarter found in the pocket. It isn't long before four quarters have made a dollar and four dollars have almost made an interest card curable of having a rede mable value of five dollar gold pieces five years hence. If you haven't tried a thrift stamp you would better buy a card and see how much more pleasure there is in licking a thrift stamp than there is in licking a postage stamp.

World peace demands horrible sacrifice but it is not only the blood of our best youth that must be sacrificed; it is the darkest convictions of our best people. World fostering awaits something more affirmative and bigger than the conscience of the conscientious or the scruples of the anti-militarist; namely, the unwavering and unresting constructive thought and effort of creative democrats.—[Charles Zueblin.

J. Ogden Armour says: "The cost of meat is high, but there are controlling economic reasons therefor which can be readily ascertained and should be by some governmental agency explained to the people. An examination of the prices paid for live stock today as compared with those paid a year ago discloses an increase of about 40 per cent." At the present time the calf is surely golden and its parents, too.

James Jackson, manager of the N. E. Division of the American Red Cross, says: "I am convinced that the present attack on the Red Cross by so-called antivisectionists, and others, is only another form of the insidious pro-German propaganda designed to weaken public confidence and interest in the great work which has been entrusted to the American Red Cross by the United States government in this war." Surely this must be a serious case of "imagination," for by no means are the thousands of persons who are opposed to vivisection pro-Germans.

For several years it has been the custom to turn on the street lights during the early morning hours through the short and dark months of the middle winter This rule however has not applied to the centre of the town, which is kept in darkness, much to the inconvenience and possible danger to the residents obliged to be abroad during the early hours. Just why the whole town should be lighted with the exception of the centre is a mystery, for it would appear that if any place needed light it would be the business section above all others. It seems an absurdity to walk an empty street brightly lighted and then reach the centre and feel ones way about in pitch darkness. As a matter of protection to the stores and officers in the centre, if for nothing more, the centre lights should not be cut off. A person so disposed could find no better time to break into a store or carry out a hold-up. Last winter these conditions were noted by one of our selectmen and for a time the lights were turned on. They should be on every winter.

FOR A WOOL FUND.

The musical entertainment given in the Town Hall Saturday night by the Choir of the Church of the Epiphany for the benefit of a wool fund proved a decided financial success and a goodly sum was realized. Notwithstanding the weather there was a large attendance, and the excellent program, arranged under the direction of Mr. J. Albert Wilson, choirmaster of the church, gave great pleasure to the audience.

The choir was assisted by Miss Blanche M. Speer, soprano; Miss Annette Symmes, entertainer, Miss M. L. Chapin and Miss Mary H. French accompanists, and by a string quartette composed of Miss Wingate, Miss Chase, Miss Blaikie and Mr. Bicknell.

The program included a most acceptable arrangement of classical and light music, interspersed with special numbers by the artists.

DECEMBER COLDER THIS YEAR.

Interesting figures showing the temperature in Winchester for morning, noon and night during the months of December 1916 and 1917 are furnished for publication by Mr. Gorham. The average is shown to be 28 degrees colder of the year 1917 than in 1916. The opening of the recent cold spell is shown beginning Dec. 26th, although the glass shows a decided tendency to drop as early as the 16th. Mr. Gorham has kept the weather figures in this town for many years and his readings may be considered as absolutely accurate.

Readings taken approximately at the same time, place and thermometer.

A CANDIDATE FOR THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN.

It is now only about eight weeks to the time when we shall be called upon for the annual election of Town officers. I understand that several members of the present Board of Selectmen will not accept a re-election. I desire to bring to the attention of the voters the name of Herbert L. Cox, whom I believe would make a good person to serve on that Board. He was born in Winchester on the farm which he now owns on High street, was educated in our public schools, is a very successful farmer and a man of good business ability. The section of the Town where he lives was represented on the Board of Selectmen by Asa Locke, Jr., in 1852–1853, but for the past sixty-five years no one has been elected from that district. One-third of the area of the town lies west of Cambridge street, and it seems very important that so large a section of the town, where future developments will come should have some representation on the Board of Selectmen.

WINCHESTER'S ENLISTMENTS.

Additions to Roll of Honor of Local Enlistments.

So far as can be ascertained there is no complete record of the list of Winchester men who are enlisted in the various branches of the Army and Navy, or who are serving abroad as ambulance drivers or in various hospital units. The STAR has a card file of all such men who are serving in the conduct of the war, compiled as complete as possible from all information received at this office, but realizes that this list contains many omissions.

The list as filed has been printed for the past two weeks. The following names have been received and added during the past week:

Add Enlistments:
Glendon, William M.
44th Receiving Co. Quartermaster's Dept.
McCarthy, Joseph,
2nd Class Engineman, Naval Reserves.
Eldredge, Kenneth,
12th Receiving Co., Quartermaster's Corps.
Protzman, LeRoy,
Seaman, 2d Class, U. S. Tug Woolley, Boston Navy Yard.

Great Musicians Loved Silence.

Among musicians inattimacy has always been prevalent, both Beethoven and Mozart being renowned among their friends for their long periods of silent thought and their dislike to the "chatter" of general conversation. Even Chopin, whose music would lead one to suppose him fond of people, was said to "love silence even better than music;" while Wagner, except when discussing musical matters, was silent even to the point of actual rudeness.

COPLEY THEATRE.

The first revival of old English comedy will be made at Copley Theatre next week, when the Henry Jewett players will present Sheridan's masterpiece, "The Rivals." It will be acted under Mr. Jewett's personal direction, with Mr. Wingfield as Bob Acres, Mr. Annerley as Sir Lucius O'Trigger, Mr. Permain as Sir Anthony Absolute, Mr. Craske as Captain Absolute, Mr. Mathews as David, Miss Roach as Lydia Languish, Miss Newcombe as Julia, and Miss Miller as Mrs. Malaprop. "The Rivals," which is now nearly one hundred and fifty years old, is as laughable today as it was when it was first enjoyed by the London playgoers of the eighteenth century.

It should be remembered by the public that tickets may be ordered at Filene's and Jordan's and at the various ticket agencies, as well as by telephone or at the box office, and the prices of seats, which range from 25 cents to $1.50, include the war tax, which is paid by the management.

HALIFAX.

(Folger McKinsey, in Baltimore Sun.)

Fair fortress-guardian of the sea-kist coast,
Quaint with the charm of ancient things and new—
Ah, shuddering now, thou art a stricken ghost,
And all the heart of earth goes out to you!
Tearless, for thee our pitying tears are shed,
Though with thy beauty so untimely marred—
Sister, be comforted amid thy dead,
Still loveliest, although so evil starred!

What shall the blue-bells, that forever sweet,
Danced through the Summer to thy very door,
Think when the Spring returns them to thy feet—
Thou who were scarred more deeply than by war!
And the sweet sea winds round thy Citadel
Never again to breath her essence fine,
They shall be told of sorrows hard to tell,
And turn disconsolate from their old shrine!

Widowed and orphaned of thy loved and best,
O sister of a ruin so immense—
To thee the world has turned to bare its breast
In sympathy with sorrow so intense!
Deflowered so terribly, a ruin so vast,
A rock so mighty by that sea-rimmed shore—
Oh tenderer now our memories of thy past,
And deeper our love we give thee ever more!

Over the music that you sang of old
Only the world can hear to-day thy cry
Of little children severed from loves fold,
Gray women that wander and wail unto the sky—
But hope and be brave, as ever thou wert sweet,
And know that the blossoms shall blot out thy gloom,
The sea still ring its anthems at thy feet,
And in the Spring the bluebell once more bloom!

WHY MILK SHOULD BE PASTEURIZED.

"The term 'certified milk' has been before the public for 25 years and all know that under this name is sold the highest grade of milk it is possible to produce," says Professor E. G. Hastings. "The owner of the dairy agrees to handle his herd and product in accordance with the directions laid down by a commission appointed by some medical society.

"This commission usually employs a physician to examine the milkers, a veterinarian to inspect the cows at frequent intervals, and a bacteriologist to examine the milk in the laboratory as to the number and kinds of bacteria present. These things were done because it was formerly believed that in this manner a perfectly safe milk could be obtained especially for children.

"In order to meet the demands of the commissions, a large expense must be incurred, and the product must sell for high prices, the usual price being 20 cents per quart, a price out of reach of the great mass of our people.

"Certified milk represents the safest raw milk it is possible to produce any many physicians felt that it was absolutely safe. But as time passed it was found that such was not the case. Only a little over a year ago, a herd of about 600 cows, producing certified milk, was found to be tubercular in over one-third of the cows in this herd were condemned and slaughtered. Many were so extensively diseased that the meat was considered unfit for food.

"Shortly before this time, it was believed that the milk of the same herd was concerned in the spread of scarlet fever. Such instances might be multiplied, and the fact has been pressed home that even under ideal circumstances raw milk can never be safe milk, nor can it be as safe milk as it is possible to obtain in a much cheaper way.

"For many years it has been known, that all the disease producing bacteria that ever occur in milk could be killed by heat. Many of the medical men claim that heated milk was the cause of serious disorders in children and that raw milk was the only milk to be used. They forgot that heated milk had long been used in Europe with no such disastrous results as were pictured. It required years for this idea, with no foundation of fact, to be overcome, and even yet the dangers of milk that has been heated are presented to their constituents by some health officials.

"If milk is heated to 145 degrees for 30 minutes the germs that cause typhoid fever, tuberculosis, diptheria, septic sore throat and the unknown cause of scarlet fever will de destroyed By this heating the milk is not changed in its nutritive properties in any degree whatever, indeed there are many reasons to believe that it is better food for children after such treatment than when raw, even neglecting the question of the presence of disease-producing bacteria in the raw milk.

"This simple process is called 'pasteurization' and is one of the numerous gifts to the world of that wonderful Frenchman, Pasteur. It is very strange that it should have required so long to convert the medical world and the milk consumers to a realization of the value of pasteurized milk. When once they do realize what it means to them in insurance against disease they demand it with the same zeal with which they fought it.

"A unique demonstration of the value of pasteurization in preventing milk-borne diseases has recently been made, purely by accident. A milker on one of the large dairy farms in California developed typhoid fever. The milk from the farm was sold in two cities. In one it was pasteurized, in the other it was not pasteurized. In the second city there developed a number of cases of typhoid fever that were traceable to milk, in the other city there were no cases. Through such accidental experiments on human beings, the value of the pasteurization of milk is gradually being brought to the notice of the physicians and to that of the people in general.

"Your dealer should give you this kind of milk. He should be willing to sell it to you to protect your health and that of your children. If your dealer will not supply you with properly pasteurized milk, some more careful and conscientious dealer will, and to him you should turn before trouble appears. The old adage is as forceful as ever. Prevention is better than cure in any amount."

NEW YEAR'S RECEPTION.

The New Year's Reception of the Bethany Society last week to past and present members was a very pleasant affair and a large number attended. Many friends and past members came from different parts of the town and enjoyed the hospitality and company of old acquaintances. Rev. C. H. Davis of Stoneham was the principal speaker of the evening and the music was furnished by Miss Nichols. The reports of the different committees for the year were read, and the officers for the coming year elected. The first president, Mrs. John Rice, was present and flowers were sent to Mrs. George Pafne, who was president for nineteen years and to Mrs. Elizabeth Hinds, for many years Chairman of the Visiting Committee, both of whom were not able to attend. A pretty feature was the coffee table, decorated with red and green and presided over by Miss Laura Tolman. Young ladies served refreshments. The following are the new officers: President Mrs. Richard Taylor; First Vice president, Mrs. Louis Claflin; Second vice president, Mrs. Charles S. Wigglesworth; Treasurer, Mrs. Favor; Secretary, Mrs. William J. Nutting; Chairman of Work Committee, Mrs. Hosea Foster. Quilt Committee, Mrs. Joseph Belville; Social Committee, Miss Florence Plummer. Flower Committee, Mrs. William Nutting; Visiting Committee, Mrs. Elizabeth Hinds.

SWORDLESS SOLDIERS.

Though some ancient weapons are being revived, the sword has passed, perhaps forever. Long the symbol of war and the badge of the officer, it has now been banished from the American army. It has been abandoned because it is worse than useless. It is no longer an effective weapon either for attack or defense, and it serves as a distinguishing mark of the officer, thus making him the prey for the enemy sharpshooter. With far too few trained officers, America cannot afford to waste them, and it is wise to adopt the present practice of the armies of her Allies.

The modern line officers of infantry in an attack carries a watch in one hand and an automatic pistol in the other. With a watch he times the progress of his troops, holding them to a slow walk so that they may not advance more rapidly than their artillery barrage lifts ahead of them. Modern attacks are run with a time table so that the artillery may know just where their own men are at each moment, and not drop shells on them.

Milestones.

THE FORTNIGHTLY.

At the postponed meeting held last week Thursday, a very appreciative audience listened to a musical-recital by the well-known pianist, Charles Anthony. Those who braved the cold enjoyed a rare musical treat, and at the close of the splendid program expressed their pleasure by demanding an encore.

Among the numbers played by Mr. Anthony was an impressive interpretation of Chopin's Funeral March and the Ballade in F. minor in memory of the French heroes who have died in the war.

At the business meeting it was voted to give $25 to the Surgical Dressings group which meets at the Calumet Club, and also to hold two open meetings this season for which an admission fee of 50cts will be asked from all non-members.

The first one will be the next meeting on January 14th, when Dr. Charles R. Brown will speak on: "Days in Japan," and the second one will be on March 11th when the Kerry Singers will be the attraction. At both meetings voluntary contributions will be added to the door receipts and the fund raised in this way will be sent to Mrs. Eugenia Young, a Winchester woman who is devoting her life to relief work in France.

Notes

The last of the series of three recitals given by the Music Committee was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Tibbetts of Wedgemere avenue, and the chairman of the Committee is to be congratulated on the success of the season's work.

A large audience listened with keen enjoyment to a long and varied program by Mrs. Minnie Little Longley, pianist, and Miss Marian Moorehouse, cellist. Both artists put so much enthusiasm into the performance that it will remain in the memories of all as a most stimulating and satisfying experience

The beautiful tone of Miss Moorehouse cello, her sympathetic feeling and sure touch gave great pleasure to all who heard her, specially in a Romance by Saint Seans, and a Nocturne of Chopin, and a very difficult and beautiful Arlequine by Popper. Her obligato for "The Hills o' Skye" by Victor Harris, to which Mrs. Longley sang, made an exquisite performance.

Mrs. Longley gave both variety and charm to the program by her songs in both French and English. The three in French were unusually full of the native spirit and dramatic feeling. Among the piano solos the Shadow Dance by her master, MacDowell, was most charmingly rendered. And a melody by Strojowski was thoroughly appreciated.

A Home Economics conference of the 6th District will be held in Billerica on Monday, Jan. 21st, with the Nineteen Hundred at the Unitarian Church. Speakers, Mrs. Gladys E. H. Hosmer of Billerica; Mrs. J. F. Ryan of Winchester, and Mrs. Frank H. S. Stewart of Newton.

COOK DOTTEN GETS WATCH FROM SIXTH.

Popular Cook is Presented With a Handsome Gold Watch as Gift From Men of Sixth Company.

One of the proudest soldiers in Butte today is George Dotten, culinarian of Sixth Company who holds a world's record for hot-cake manufacturing. Dotten is one of the most popular members of the artillery company and as evidence of their appreciation of his ceaseless efforts members of the organization on Christmas eve presented him with a solid gold watch and chain.

Dotton was invited to be present at the Christmas tree celebration and a little coaxing got him to attend. The cook's social sphere extends usually around his impliments in the kitchen and he seldom enters the other activities of the men.

The first present given out was for the cook. He was so surprised that he could not make a speech of acceptance but retreated to his kitchen to more thoroughly examine his prize.

The watch was purchased by the men, each of whom contributed to its cost. It is of Howard movement and solid gold case. The initials "G. C. D.," for George Cheney Dotten appeared on the outside cover while on the inside is engraved "From 6th Co. C. A. C., N. G., U. S. (Wash.) Christmas, 1917."

The chain presented with the watch is of platinum and gold. The entire gift is one of which the cook is duely proud. Dotten's only eare now is finding a place to keep it at night.

"I am not much at making speeches," said the cook when he was asked to talk. "But I will make the hot-cakes and meals from now on speak my appreciation." [The Barrage, Butte, Montana, Dec. 28.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The New Year brings brighter hopes of success to the White Ribbon workers in the long drive for prohibition and therefore it is planned to have a get-together meeting to celebrate the passage of the bill for the submission of the amendment. This will he at Ford Hall Tuesday evening, January 15. Dinner at six o'clock will be preceded by an informal reception, with the state officers of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and a number of distinguished guests in the receiving line. The after dinner speakers will include some of the best spell binders of the temperance cause and that means some first class speakers. The dinner, which will be served at a very reasonable price in these days of H. C. L., will be strictly Hooverish although specially attractive. Good music will be a feature and the occasion promises to be of the red letter variety. It is hoped that Winchester may be well represented and those who are planning to go should notify Mrs. G. H. Hamilton, 50 Lincoln street, not later than Saturday night.

Middlesex County mid-winter convention will be held Tuesday, January 15, at the Baptist Church, College avenue, West Somerville. Morning session, 10 o'clock; afternoon, 1.45. Cars from Arlington to Sullivan Square pass through Davis Square, the nearest point. A special prize of a subscription to the Union Signal is offered to the union having the largest representation, also the same to the one having the largest percentage representation. It is hoped that Winchester may capture one of those prizes. An unusually interesting program is promised. Mrs. Hamilton will be glad to hear from those planning to go but it is not necessary to go with a party as all are welcome. Members wishing to go from the convention to the dinner in Ford Hall that evening may do so easily.

"DRAFT 258" STARS MABEL TALIAFERRO.

Mabel Taliaferro, star of Metro's great patriotic special production, "Draft 258," was the first legitimate star of the American stage to go over to motion pictures, and was only preceded in pictures by two stage stars abroad, Sarah Bernhardt and the great Coequelin. Her debute in the silent drama was in the three-reel feature, "Cinderella," produced by the Selig Company, and which will be shown at the Woburn Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The first stage appearence of Miss Taliaferro was at the age of two and a half years, when she played with Robert Hilliard and Jennie Yeamans "Blue Jeans." Another great success of Miss Taliaferro's after "Blue Jeans" was as Lovey Mary in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," followed by "In the Bishop's Carriage," in which she starred, touring this country and Australia. In her remarkable performance of the star part in "Polly of the Circus," she became the idol of the nation. Her most recent stage appearance was in Hall Caine's "The Woman Thou Gavest Me."

For Metro Pictures Corporation, Miss Taliaferro has appeared in "The Jury of Fate," "Peggy, the Will O' the Wisp," "The Dawn of Love," "God's Half Acre," "Her Great Price," "The Snowbird," and other features. Her present Metro vehicle offers her boundless opportunities to protray the type of roll in which she excels.

ICE BOAT RACES OPENED SATURDAY.

Although conditions had been favorable for ice boat races on Mystic Lake for several days, the first race was run off Saturday afternoon in a gale. Owing to the heavy gale the race was not started until 4.30, the boats spending the intervening time trying out their gear and sails.

Six boats were sent off for five rounds of the usual triangle. The race developed into a duel between Frank Trott's Marian and Roy Pigeon's Crystal, with the latter winning. The summary:

Rambler, W. P. Kurhick,	withdrew
Simplex II. W. Randlett.	Withdrew

A race scheduled for Sunday morning was started, but owing to poor wind was not finished, although a good breese appeared shortly before the expiration of the time limit.

WINCHESTER DOGS MUCH PRAISED.

The following article appeared in the Sunday Herald regarding the prize winning Scottish terriers of Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Hall. The Halls are well known residents of Glen road, Mr. Hall being at the head of the Boston office of the well known Paige Motor Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Hall of Winchester are Scottish terrier specialists, whose dogs won 68 firsts, 18 seconds, 11 thirds and a number of cups, medals etc., in 1917. In the recent show of the Eastern Dog Club at Mechanics' building they entered seven dogs of this breed, the large number benched by one kennel.

In this group were two champions Glenmanor Smiling Morn and Ballenisle Laddie, both entered for exhibition and specials only. Another of their entries, Glengairne, took second in the open class.

Owing to a fight with a bull terrier last fall he nearly lost an ear, and this spoils him for show purposes, but as he is just under his championship, his owners still hope to make the necessary points. He took the trophy of the Scottish Terrier Club of America for the best coated dog in 1917.

Another of the Hall dogs, their Ch. Smiling Morn, took the club's open trophy for the best dog or bitch of the year.

Glengairne has been used extensively for breeding this last year, and two of his puppies took second prizes in the puppy classes at the Boston show. Another of their bitches, Glenmanor Lovely, took second open, and if she can overcome her shyness she will go high, as she is considered a better type than Ch. Smiling Morn.

In all the Hall dogs took two firsts, four seconds, one third, one fourth, and five special prizes in the Boston show.

Mrs. Hall has been awarded the Ladies Dog Club trophy offered by Miss Fannie Brooks for the best Scottish terrior owned by a member in 1917. The Halls also took the Hedgerly trophy of the Scottish Terrier Club with Glengairne, and the third prize cup offered by C. C. Little of Brookline in American-bred classes. These last two were in addition to the open trophy and the coat trophy previously mentioned. These five trophies together are worth more than $100.

The Halls will show eight or 10 dogs in New York in February, including two home-bred puppies by Ch. Conqueror of Chicago, the winner at New York in 1916, out of Ch. Smiling Morn. Experts who have seen these puppies rate them highly.

PARK SQUARE THEATRE.

At the Park Square Theatre, Boston, next Monday will mark a notable date in the theatrical season, for on that day there will be given the first metropolitan production of a new play "Success."

The play is announced as a heart story with the proper mingling of pathos and humor, carrying with it a wealth of appeal "Success" possess in truth of the present, and concerns conditions that relate to the theatre of today.

The cast selected is a long and notable one, led by Brandon Tynan, the well known actor who last appeared here as the leading player with "The Melody of Youth." Others in the cast include Jess Dandy, Marie Leonhard, Helen Holmes, Emily Callaway, Lionel Glenister, James Durkin, William Hassan, Carree Clarke, Louis Leon Hall, George Leffingwell, Mrs. Arda La Croix, Richard Abbot and Melton Clodagh.

Seats are on sale and regular Park Square prices will prevail. For the benefit of the out-of-town playgoers a mail order system is in operation at this theatre which assures the best choice of seats available. Letters should be accompanied by stamped and addressed envelope with check or money order, it being borne in mind that a war tax of 10 per cent is exacted by the government which should be included in the price.

BEACON THEATRE.

At the Beacon Theatre, for the entire coming week there will be a brace of photoplays shown for the first times that are marked in excellence and in variety of story. In "Sylvia of the Secret Service," Mrs. Castle is pictured as a special agent of the United States Secret Service who is on the track of a pack of diamond theives. Mrs. Castle's artistry is a well proven attribute, and her previous work for the screen is sure to awaken a keen desire among her hosts of admirers to see her in this newest production. And on the same bill throughout the week there will be shown "The Spirit of '17" picturing the popular Jack Pickford. There will also be shown short releases and the News Pictures. Each Sunday evening there is given a three hour show from 7 to 10.30 without repeats.

DELIVER ARMY TRUCKS UNDER THEIR OWN POWER.

Army trucks for use in France are being delivered to the Atlantic seaboard from interior storage depots under their own power.

If the plan is successful, the delivery of 30,000 war trucks under construction under their own power will release 15,000 freight cars, which would be required to transport them by rail. It will also provide adequate opportunity for the training of an effective corps of transport drivers and officers, who will reach France with a minimum of training to be required. Wear and tear on the trucks will be slight compared with the benefits derived from their use.

LETTER FROM JOHN F. O'MELIA.

Nov. 17, 1917.
Somewhere in France.

Dear Sister:

Received your letter and was more than glad to hear from you. I also received a letter from Mother in the same mail. It sure does seem good to get a letter from home, so you want to be sure and write often. We don't have much time to write as they keep us on the jump all the time. At night we are pretty tired and the only day that we have off is Sunday and then we have a lot to do such as going to church, washing clothes and of course, we have to take a little nap.

The weather is pretty cold and as we haven't any gloves it is pretty tough for us. We welcome the cold in a way as it dries up the ground and makes the walking good. Today we are having a day off and we are going to get paid as soon as the paymaster gets here. I will draw about ten bones. Yesterday I made out an insurance policy for ten thousand dollars, and I made it out to Mother. Starting the first of the new year I will have to pay six dollars and a half a month on it, so you can readily see that I won't have much to spend foolishley. How are all the folks at home. I suppose the kids are getting big. Is Louis still working out at the arsenal? There must be a lot of changes in the old town since we left. I will have to close now as our mess call just sounded. With best wishes and love to all.

Your loving brother Jack.

FALSE STATEMENTS ARE HARMFUL.

The finances of the whole country, public as well as private, by force of the national needs at this crisis are subordinated and adjusted to the great Liberty Loan. Financing by railroads or other great industries and all lesser private financing must be considered primarily in relation to the Government loans.

The needs of private interests, the money necessities of the business of the country as well as that of the Government itself are all considered by the Secretary of the Treasury in fixing the amount and date of each issue of Liberty Loan Bonds, and the effect of the issue of bonds on all other loans is given due consideration.

The dissemination, therefore, of untrue information, even when made in honest belief and with good intention, is harmful and Secretary McAdoo on December 20 issued the following strong statement:

"The report that the next issue of Liberty Bonds will be $8,000,000,000 at 4½ per cent and on March 15, 1918, is wholly unfounded. I wish you would make the patriotic newspaper men of America realize how mischievous and hurtful to the interests of the country such speculative statements are. When a decision has been reached about the next Liberty Loan, it will be officially announced. Meanwhile all other statements and rumors may be disregarded."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers of Hall's Catarrh Cure that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

BOY DROWNED YESTERDAY.

Wilbur Premont, the three and a half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Premont of 38 Cross street, was drowned in the Aberjona river yesterday afternoon. The boy was sliding on the icy slopes by his home, which is located on the river bank at the Parker & Lane coal yard. It is thought that he got into an empty box and slid down the bank and into the water without being able to stop himself.

Mr. Charles A. Lane was attracted from his office by the cries of Mrs. Premont, who discovered the accident, and rescued the body by means of ropes and the aid of men summoned from the coal yard.

Word was immediately telephoned the police and Mr. Lane worked over the boy in attempt to revive him until the lungmotor arrived. The lungmotor was then used for some time until it was definitely found that the boy was beyond aid. The child was one of three children.

INSTALLATION OF WINCHESTER COURT M. C. O. F.

The members of Winchester court, M. C. O. F., showed their appreciation of their active Chief Ranger, Mrs. Isabel McKenzie, by presenting her with a beautiful ring at the installation, Monday night, when she was installed for the second term. Mrs. McKenzie's work for the court has been of the highest order and has been productive of an increased membership, greater enthusiasm and an excellent spirit of cooperation between the members.

Trinity Court of Dorchester sent its degree staff to work the degrees and their work was accomplished in a satisfactory manner. A large number of members were present at the installation and there was an abundance of enjoyment for all.

Installed with Chief Ranger Mrs. McKenzie, were: vice chief ranger, May Fallon; treasurer, Patrick Mooney; financial secretary, Michael Meskell; recording secretary, May McHale; senior conductor, Mrs. Nora O'Melia; junior conductor, Mrs. Catherine Rosselley; inside sentinel, Finley Beaton; outside sentinel, William Connors; marshal, Thomas Fallon.

Speaking of Lemons.

Speaking of finding a lemon in the garden of love, I think I picked a whole citrus grove. While out walking in the park one day with my fiancee, I accidentally tripped and fell. He caught me in his arms, saying: "Did my little darling hurt herself?" But as I was coming downstairs after our marriage, I tripped on the top step and fell all the way down. My one-time affectionate suitor merely looked up from his paper and growled: "Look out there, woman, or you will break your neck."—Chicago Tribune.

SPECIAL AID SOCIETY.

Miss Esta Mae Barr was the speaker at the Special Aid meeting on Monday morning. Owing to the unfavorable weather conditions few were able to hear her, but though small, her audience was much impressed by the story she had to tell. Miss Barr who was formerly connected with the S. A. S. Headquarters Branch, has been appointed for service abroad. She has been in Canada recently, at the request of our Governor, to study relief work as done there and tells many ways in which the Canadian women are being "measured up" by their sad experiences and sacrifices. She strongly urges American women to be ready for the trials which are coming and to uphold the high standards of true, noble women.

Arrangements are being made for a meeting at which Miss Barr will speak. It is hoped everyone in Winchester will make an effort to hear her.

In order to cooperate with the Winchester Fuel Committee the Special Aid Society has taken temporary quarters at the Calumet Club where wool may be secured. Someone is at this room daily to answer questions and aid in distribution of wool, and knitting needles are on sale.

All Winchester men, drafted or enlisted may secure knitted garments by application at Special Aid or to Mrs. Claude E. Crafts, 10 Dix St.

Both Friend and Foe of Farmer.

Crows do the farmer about as much harm as good, according to the biological survey of the department of agriculture which has completed a monograph on the relation of crows to man. The essential conclusions are that crows are about equally beneficial and injurious, and that they are so wary and sagacious as not to need legal protection. Lack of this, while not endangering the species, will permit farmers to protect their crops or other property whenever necessary.

ARTHUR E. WHITNEY DEAD.

Prominent Citizen Passed Away at His Home Tuesday Night.

Arthur E. Whitney, one of the best known residents of this town, died at his home on Mystic avenue Tuesday night at 10:30 after an illness of three months. His death was not unexpected as he had been very low for several weeks. He was in his 71st year.

Last November Mr. Whitney contracted a cold, and failing to give it the proper attention considering his declining years, it developed into pneumonia and affected his heart. The heart refused to respond properly to treatment and he failed steadily.

The funeral services will be held this Friday afternoon at the Unitarian Church at 2:30, and will be conducted by Rev. Joel H. Metcalf, minister of the church. The remains will be cremated and interred in Wildwood Cemetary in the family lot.

ARTHUR E. WHITNEY.

Arthur Eastman Whitney came of a distinguished English family founded by Eustace de Whitney in 1066. He was one of eight children. His father was Joel Whitney, born at Townsend, who died in this town in December 1892, and his mother was Esther Maria Treadwell of Warner, N. H., a descendant from the Rogers and Treadwell families of Ipswich, Mass., one of her first ancestors in this country being Rev. Nathaniel Rogers, first minister at Ipswich and a direct descendant of John Rogers, burned at the stake in England.

Joel Whitney came to Winchester in 1841 when 37 years of age. Here

WINCHESTER WINS PRIZE.

Marked Compliment Paid Our Town.

Editor of the Star:

Dear Sir: One of the features of the winter meeting of the Dairy bureau of the Massachusetts State Board of Agriculture is a "Milk Contest" open to the cities and towns of the State. The Milk Inspector of the municipality entering the contest collects samples from as many of the producers as he can or cares to. These samples are examined by competent judges for Bacteria (40 points), Milk Solids (26 points), Sediment (15 points), Flavor and Odor (15 points), Acidity (5 points) and Bottle and Cap (5 points).

Out of all the samples a municipality sends in, only the six highest count. Six prizes are awarded to the Milk Inspectors of the six municipalities having the best averages. Others making a creditable showing are given Honorable Mention, and a blue ribbon is given to the five best entrants from each municipality.

For several years, our Milk Inspector, Mr. Dinneen, has been anxious to enter this annual contest but I have discouraged his doing so because, while I believe that as a whole, Winchester has the best milk in the State, I felt that, in a contest of this kind, a city not sending a hundred samples out of which six could be chosen, would have an advantage over us with our ten or a dozen samples that we could not overcome. This year Mr. Dinneen told me he believed we could get at least an Honorable Mention and he wanted to try it, so I told him to go ahead, but I had no faith in his success. He collected samples from eleven of our local producers and sent them on. Some of the contestants sent several times the number. Two Professors from Amherst Agricultural College acted as judges. They awarded Mr. Dinneen the second prize, and the award is how Winchester was only a little over a point behind Brockton, to which city was given the first prize.

The result of this contest is very gratifying to the Board of Health and is especially creditable to Mr. Dinneen because his faithful, conscientious work in the past years has made such a result possible. He has once for all put Winchester on the map in all things pertaining to milk. His many friends will be pleased to know that his ability is now recognized at the meeting following him on the Executive Committee for the coming year. The contestants included municipalities from Sandwich on the Cape to North Adams in the west, and from Winchendon on the north to Worcester and Springfield on the south. Our neighbors Somerville and Arlington, were among the number.

Signed,
Clarence J Allen, M. D.,
Secretary.

MOTHERS ASSOCIATION ELECTS OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Winchester Mothers' Association, held in the High School Assembly Hall Wednesday, was a particularly interesting one. These were followed by a very fine entertainment, which was in charge of the Music Committee. Contralto solos were most pleasingly rendered by Mrs. Gertrude M. Barnes, accompanied by Mrs. LeFavour. Miss Agnes MacDonald gave some most excellent readings. The entertainment was greatly enjoyed by all those present.

Ryan; Treasurer, Mrs. Sewall Newman; Music Committee, Mrs. F. Patterson Smith, Mrs. Frank Jones; Social Committee, Mrs. A. L. Case, Mrs. Chas. Eastwick, Mrs. John A. Maddocks; Library and Housekeepers, Mrs. Wm. P. DeCamp, Mrs. F. W. Reynolds, Mrs. F. B. Cole; Sale Committee to be appointed by the President; Welfare Committee, Mrs. Harry C. Sanborn.

The afternoon's entertainment was conducted by the Music Committee.

"THE PEACE CONFERENCE HAS ALREADY BEGUN."

Rev. Wm. Packer Says In His Interesting War Lecture That Pres. Wilson Is Now The Centre of World Diplomacy.

At the vesper service in the Church of the Epiphany last Sunday afternoon, Rev. William S. Packer, the acting rector in the absence of Rev. Murray Dewart, who is with his regiment in France, delivered one of the most interesting lectures in the course that he has given on "The War for Peace." Last Sunday he talked on the rather startling subject, "The Peace Conference Has Already Begun."

In his first lecture of the course several weeks ago, he stated that the old European methods of diplomacy had become obsolete, that they could no longer be tolerated because they invariably led the world after every war with such open sores that they were sure to develop sooner or later into other conflicts. He drew the conclusion that it remained for President Wilson to teach the world a new kind of diplomacy, that should bring at the end of the present world war a peace that was builded entirely on justice and not on the long-established custom of map-making to suit all nations concerned. On Sunday afternoon he said at the beginning of the lecture, "President Wilson has become the center of world diplomacy." Then he took up the president's recent address to Congress, in which the war aims of the United States were restated and reaffirmed, and proceeded to show how in it the president had given to the world a new kind of diplomacy and how through it "The Peace Conference has already begun."

"President Wilson," said Mr. Packer, "sounded the death knell of the old-world diplomacy in the very first one of his 14 necessary elements of world peace when he said that we must have opened covenants of peace without private international understanding. That means the end of secret treaties between countries and opens to the scrutiny of the world international relations. Beginning with that sweeping inovation in world diplomacy the president has gone on an elaborated fundamental principles which mean not only the end of this terrific struggle but an enduring peace for the world. And so I say, "The peace conference has already begun."

Mr Packer stated that he thought President Wilson had added the most important feature to his previous exposition of war aims in the second and third of his 14 fundamentals, when he declared for absolute freedom of the seas in peace or war, and for the removal of all economic barriers, meaning the establishment of equality of trade conditions among nations consenting to peace. He thought this offer to Germany would have a big influence in bringing the war to an end "There are two Germanys," said the speaker, "One is founded on militarism, of which we knew very little uptil it plunged the world into this terrific struggle. The other Germany represents the tremendous commercial and business expansion of the country with which we have been familiar for years. We know how the business men of that country have developed with their efficiency, a great business, reaching out in competition with all countries of the world. The war has struck a staggering blow to Germany's ambition for commercial supremacy. Through the president's offer of freedom of the seas and equality of trade, commercial Germany will see an opportunity to re-establish itself and a chance for future development, which will be impossible if our enemy persists to the bitter end of overwhelming defeat, risking the loss of these stipulations in Mr Wilson's peace proposals."

For these reasons Mr. Packer said he believed that the president had driven a great wedge into the German war party, which would be pushed deeper and deeper by the influences in that country that consider its future commercial position paramount to militarism.

Continuing the speaker said, "President Wilson has invited Germany into the family of friendly nations. All he asks is that Germany be a decent neighbor, willing to live on equality with all the other neighbors and not seeking to be their master. Some people say that the President wants the millenium and wants it now. Well, they are right, but who should want the millenium more than a world that has been living in Hell?"

Mr. Packer then interpreted other features of the President's notable address, explaining how they were founded on the principle of real democracy because they leave to the peoples of the many countries the right to elect whom they shall be governed instead of being assigned to ambitious rulers by peace commissioners seated around the conference table, as has been the custom previously at the end of the world's wars.

In concluding his lecture he said that, while the minor details of the peace compacts would be arranged around such a peace table, the real conclusion of the war would be accomplished through the new diplomacy that President Wilson has given to the world which means perfectly open negotiations between nations ending in "open covenants without private understanding."

TRUST COMPANY ELECTS OFFICERS.

At the annual meeting of the Winchester Trust Company, held at the banking rooms Wednesday evening, the following directors were elected: Frank A. Cutting, James W. Russell, Frank L. Ripley, Chas. E. Barrett, Fred L. Pattee, George A. Fernald, Freeland H. Hovey, Frederic S. Snyder, Charles H. Symmes, Ralph E. Joslin, Arthur A. Kidder. The board organized with the following officers: Frank A. Cutting, President; James W. Russell and Frank L. Ripley, Vice presidents; Charles E. Barrett, Treasurer.

President Cutting made the following statement to the Board:

To the Stockholders of the Winchester Trust Company:

The past year has been a very startling year. On account of the United States declaring War against Germany, changes have been caused in all kinds of business and all classes are now enlisted in their new duties to their country. All kinds of business encountered new problems.

The new duty that our bank has been called upon to perform has been the selling of the Government Securities. A committee appointed by your President responded promptly and have done very effective work in the two loans already put out and are ready for further work. It will be our duty while the War lasts to assist our Government in every way possible and respond promptly and cheerfully to all of the new duties that may be put upon us.

Our depositors have been called upon to invest in United States Liberty Bonds, but notwithstanding that fact, we have had enough new growth so that our deposits have increased during the past year. We hope with the assistance of all of our Stockholders that we will show a very material increase in January, 1919.

It has been deemed wise to increase our dividends to 6 per cent and the last dividend was paid at that rate. We have increased our undivided profits during the past year by $6,193.10 which is a very satisfactory gain. Our bank quarters are being used frequently by others especially by organizations assisting in Government work. We wish to emphasize this fact, that our bank is at all times ready to lend its aid to all who are helping in Government work.

It may be interesting to some of our Stockholders to know that the Middlesex County National Bank was open for business June 1st, 1897, and that our day's business was a little over $12,000. Your Directors commenced to discuss informally a home of our own in 1905, but definite action was not taken until June, 1912.

Respectfully submitted,
Frank A. Cutting,
President.

WINCHESTER RED CROSS.

To the Editor:

Thinking it may be of interest to all our people interested in Red Cross Work, I am asking you to print in your valued columns the following taken from a circular letter published by the Red Cross Society.

"The whole country is coming to realize that we have a long war ahead of us and that business methods must prevail to the smallest detail.

There has been considerable confusion in the past as to whether chapters should fit out their local contingents before leaving for camps and this confusion may doubtless be laid at the door of the divisional office for its lack of absolute definite instructions.

From January 5th our chapters and branches will be permitted to fit out local contingents before they leave for camps, on condition that they appoint an individual or group of individuals, who will see that no man receives more than one knitted article of each kind.

It is a satisfaction to know that so far as our records show every soldier in the New England Division and every sailor in the New England Division has a sweater. The same is practically true in regard to wristers and mufflers. The demand for helmets exceeds the supply. We believe however, that this demand is overestimated. For instance, at Camp Devens, after consultation with the proper officers we decided not to attempt to equip every soldier with a helmet, but to only supply a sufficient number for those on guard duty. We have also not attempted to supply every soldier with hand knitted socks as the government issue of socks appear to be ample. A great number of socks have been sent abroad."

From the above it will be seen that our Local Branch of the Red Cross can fit out the boys drafted from our town, which means and gives a more personal touch to the war work which the women of the town are so willingly and faithfully doing.

Fred Joy.

The Red Cross rooms will not be opened on Saturdays till further notice.

DO NOT HOARD.

The Committee on Public Safety desires publicity be given to the Government's request that people do not hoard bacon, sugar, flour, salt, beans and canned goods. Grocers and provision dealers are requested to discourage indications of hoarding these commodities.

It has been requested that Saturday be made a "meatless" day, except for the pork used in baked beans.

On Tuesday and Friday, now observed as fish days, one meat,

"THE ARRIVAL OF KITTY."

Winchester Council, K. of C. Plays to Full House.

Winchester Council, 210, Knights of Columbus, played to a full house on Tuesday evening, notwithstanding the inclement weather, when it presented the three-act farce, "The Arrival of Kitty," in the Town Hall. This clever and diverting farce, presented only after going to considerable expense in securing the necessary permission, ran for two seasons at the West End Theatre, New York. It was well acted and cleverly presented by the Council.

A most satisfying feature of the affair was the fact that practically the whole house was sold, and besides the encouragement afforded those in the case of playing to a big house, was the gratifying knowledge that they were instrumental in sending a substantial gift to the K. of C. National War Fund, to which the proceeds were devoted.

The cast was not large, nine characters appearing, but what it lacked in numbers was more than supplied in the ability of the artists. The plot was diverting and interesting, and this combined with the good work of the young ladies and young men, furnished an evening of enjoyment from the start to finish to the big audience.

There was a little late in starting, the scenes went through without a wait, and a little after ten o'clock the floor was cleared for dancing, which continued until a late hour through special permission of the fuel committee.

The plot of the farce was stazed in a summer hotel in the Catskills, and had to do with the schemes of a designing uncle intent on securing a part of his niece's fortune by marrying her to an elderly and unloved admirer. A masterful sister, whose chief desire was to enter the matrimonial state, and a young and resourceful lover of the pretty niece, furnished fertile ground for the interesting and laughable complications, especially as a servant girl, and blushing actress, intimately acquainted with the uncle, made her appearance.

Mr. George A. Barron
Mr. C. E. Barrett
Mr. L. S. Barton

Mr. S. F. Herron
Mr. J. A. Hersey
Mr. Thomas Kane
Mr. Walter I. King
Mr. Henry Longfield
Miss Mary A. Lyons
Mr. John McCarren
Miss Irene Murphy
Mr. James F. Noonan
Mr. Patrick Noonan
Mr. J. F. O'Connor
Mr. W. G. Packard
Mrs. W. I. Palmer
Mr. F. A. Parshley
Mr. W. L. Parsons
Mr. George Pollard
Mr. W. E. Priest
Miss Carrie E. Sands
Mr. H. C. Sanborn
Mrs. C. H. Symmes
Mr. H. S. Underwood
Mr. E. R. Wyer

The Committee organized in the Directors' Room of the Winchester Trust Company on Tuesday evening with Mr. Pond as chairman and Mr. James W. Blackham, secretary. Methods of distribution were discussed by Mr. Herbert S. Underwood who is a member of the State organization in this matter and Superintendent Schuyler F. Herron, who arranged for the sale of stamps in the schools in December, and the following committees were appointed:

Publicity: S. F. Herron, Chairman; C. E. Barrett, W. G. Packard, Miss Carrie E. Sands, H. S. Underwood.

Canvass: George T. Davidson, Chairman; Edward Boyle, C. J. Harrold, Miss Mary Lyons, John McCarren.

Agencies and Organizations: J. F. O'Connor, Chairman; Rev. C. Harrison Davis, W. I. King, Patrick Noonan, H. C. Sanborn.

In the next issue of the STAR the Thrift Stamps and War Savings Certificates will be explained in detail. At this time it may be sufficient to say that this is a plan found successful in England to enable persons of moderate means to loan small sums to the Government and to receive therefore satisfactory evidence of indebtedness. The Thrift Stamps sell for twenty-five cents each and bear no interest; the War Savings Certificates are issued for $4.12 during January, 1918, and bear interest at the rate of 3 per cent compounded quarterly, if surrendered before maturity and at 4 per cent compounded quarterly if kept till maturity, January 1, 1923. This interest is included in the value of the certificates, which increase one cent each month. This patriotic investment has already proved very popular in the schools and will be equally successful with the general public. Winchester's quota to be sold during the year 1918 will be at least $25,000.

"SCOLD-ITIS"

Have you this new disease which appears to be so prevalent? If you have it even in the slightest degree take a good pill of patriotism and purge yourself of it before you become thoroughly affected with the impurities and loathsomeness of this cursed disease. Wherever you go, in the home, in the trains and street cars; in the offices or hotels, this nauseating influenza of Scold-itis is allowed to run rampant affecting our whole community. Those most liable and misinformed who go about with their mouths open and their ears shut.

Symptoms; Those infected first begin to show signs of distastiscion with the Government and later if the disease is not checked become violent in their denunciations of those in power, abandoning all patience and reason to hysteria and fomentation.

The remedy: If possible consult "Dr. Loyalty" who will prescribe that you bathe yourself well in the Spirit of '76 and take frequent doses of the tonic of patience, unselfishness and optimism. Regular exercises of the body is the best preventative. Go out in the open air and do your bit to help alleviate the sufferings of those more afflicted than yourself and insist on the close confinement of everyone infected with Scold-itis.

Yours for National Health and Allied Success.

A. Miles Holbrook.

MERRILL—MATHEWS.

Well Known Winchester Girl Bride of Arlington Man.

The wedding of Miss Marie Margaret Mathews, daughter of Registrar of Voters and Mrs. Bernard F. Mathews of this town, well known and popular among a large circle of young people here, and Mr. Frank Milton Merrill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Merrill of Arlington, took place on Wednesday evening.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Nathaniel J. Merritt of St. Mary's Church at the rectory at six-thirty. The couple were attended by Miss Katherine C. Walsh of Woburn and Mr. Bernard F. Mathews, Jr., brother of the bride.

The bride wore a most becoming gown of crepe de chine and veil of tulle with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and orchids. The bridesmaid wore a dress of gold crepe meteor and carried pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Lincoln street, which was attended by relatives and a few intimate friends. The couple will spend their honeymoon in New York and Washington, and will make their future home in Melrose, where they have taken a house on Wyoming avenue.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

Mothers are the sculptors of the souls of the coming men. Queens of the cradle, humble or high, they are the queens of the future. In their hands lie the destinies of men. This is not poetry but plain fact, which history proves. Nero's mother was a murderess; Nero was a murderer on a gigantic scale. Byron's mother was proud, ill tempered and violent; Byron was proud, ill-tempered and violent. Washington's mother was noble and pure, Washington was noble and pure. Scott's mother loved poetry and painting; you know what Walter Scott was. Carlyle was much so. Wesley's mother was a God-like mother; Wesley was a God-like man. A prison chaplain once told The Spectator that the last thing forgotten, in all the recklessness of dissolute profligacy, is the prayer or hymn taught by the mother's lips, or uttered at a father's knee. Yes when all the other roads are closed, there is one road open to the heart of the desperate man—the memory of his mother.

According to the Winchester philosopher an obstinate man does not hold opinions, but they hold him.

Some homes here in Winchester are full of love and sunshine for strangers, and all ugliness and gloom for the ones for whom they exist. To constitute a truly happy home, there should be pretty little personal adornments on the part of the wife, who hereby shows a desire to please her husband and to add to the general attractions of her home. A pleasant word on her part, when the overworked man comes home, often cuts away the raw edges of some trouble on his mind, and draws out a corresponding desire to be both agreeable and respectful, which characteristics are always accompanied by affection. If cheerfulness and inability are not cultivated, peevishness, crossness and impatience will soon be followed by insolence; and when sweet temper gives way to anger and discord, the home circle is no longer attractive and is almost certain to be shunned.

The only failure every good Winchesterite should fear is failing in clinging to the purpose he sees to be best.

There is virtue in forgetting as well as in remembering, there is a genious in knowing what to discard as well as what to keep, and both these are the invariable possessions of a successful and efficient life. No man of conscience can forget his wrong doings, no man of judgment can forget his mistakes; but he does not carry them with him. What he does carry is the experience which has come to him through them—the character, which have been developed by what they have brought or what they have taken away.

Lyman Abbott once wrote:

A man's real life is always before him; the past is only valuable from what he can learn from it. The days fade from all distinct recollection, because these artificial divisions of time are of no consequence except as character has grown or degenerated in them. A man's greatest achievement, once accomplished, begins immediately to recede, and becomes less and less in his eyes. No really great man has ever reposed on anything which he has done; there has always been the consciousness that he was greater than any expression he had given of himself, and that the real satisfaction and joy of his life lay, not in the work, but in the doing of it. One task succeeds another, in endless succession; a man's work is never finally done, because his life is always expanding, and the time will never come when this law of progression will cease to operate. There can be no heaven which is not a heaven of development. It is a great waste of strength to make one's faults and blunders and sins impediments in the onward march. There is no virtue in continually bemoaning the misdeings of the past. Real repentance is not lamentation, but girding up the loins for the work of expiation. Let the dead old year bury its dead; leave behind the depressing memories of failure and defeat, while you carry their lessons in your heart. Your real life is not behind, but before you; it is the new year, and not the old, which is your opportunity.

THE WEATHER.

Deserves More Than Passing Comment This Winter.

Following the protracted and unprecedented cold spell of the previous week, warnings were issued last Friday of the arrival of a heavy snow followed by more zero temperature. To again prove the fallacy of human prediction, while we "had weather," it was some different than that announced. Winchester residents arose Saturday morning to a rapidly rising temperature which was fast turning the two inches of snow which had fallen during the early hours into thick slush. The rain increased during the early hours to the proportions of a typical summer thunder storm. Great sheets of water were blown down by a wind of hurricane proportions, and travel was seriously impeded. This downpour was accompanied by considerable thunder and lightning.

By nine o'clock the heavy downpour had washed the previous snow from the streets and sidewalks, and for pedestrians travel became almost impossible. Those who were obliged to go to the stations found sliding, either on their feet or otherwise, the only means of reaching their destination, and more than one resident is still nursing bad bruises received that morning.

Added to the general discomfort was the absence of all electric lights during the early hours. This was caused primarily by one of the big tank auto trucks which haul chemical material through the town for the Merrimac Chemical Co. At 1.45 a. m. one of these trucks skidded on the icy surface of Main street at the entrance of Clark street. Striking a big electric light pole it broke it off short. The truck was driven by Augustus J. Black of Medford and was owned by B. Mulvery of the same place. Black was not injured, although somewhat bruised.

Following this accident, while linemen were at work making repairs, the first electric from Woburn, coming down shortly before six o'clock, was all that was necessary to bring down a considerable stretch of wires. The combination of these two accidents cut off the town's light, and in making the repairs it became necessary at 7.30 o shut off the power line also, thus stopping many of the industries throughout the town. The damage was repaired and lights and power turned on at 9.30, but meanwhile most of the storekeepers had secured candles and were thus conducting their business.

The heavy rain flooded many cellars all over town. The only thing which saved damage of considerable proportions was its cessation shortly before 10 o'clock. Frozen drain outlets were responsible for the flooding of several streets, Mt. Vernon street at the river and Russell's Brook on North Main street especially causing considerable inconvenience for a time. The high wind caused some damage to blinds and trees also. At the First Congregational church falling slate broke a small window in the choir loft and bent the lightning rod above the cross.

With the stopping of the rain the sun came out warm and mellow, the temperature rising until conditions resembled a fine spring day, and until nightfall delightful weather was experienced.

With the setting of the sun, however, a rapid fall in temperature began, and by Sunday morning the mercury stood only a few degrees above the zero mark. During the day the cold was intense, being keenly felt after the previous warmth. The mercury ranged from five to twelve above until Monday, when it rose rapidly during the day. The sudden freeze again brought back the icy conditions, and when Tuesday opened with a heavy, fine snow, the walking was almost as bad as the previous Saturday. This was followed by a heavy rain.

MRS. NANCY HOLT.

Mrs. Nancy Wyman Cutter Holt, widow of the late Stephen D. Holt, born in this town and for many years a prominent resident here, died at her home in Cambridge Sunday of infirmities, due to her advanced age of almost 88 years.

Mrs. Holt was widely known among Winchester's older residents. She was born Feb. 1, 1830, at Cutter's Village, when this town was a part of Woburn. Her parents were Henry and Nancy (Wyman) Cutter, both identified prominently with the early history of the town. She was active during her life here in church and society work, was a member of the First Congregational Church, a life member of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, and a member of numerous benevolent societies and organizations.

She is survived by three children, William W. Holt of Schnectady, N. Y., Mrs. Ellen Holt, North End, and Prof. Edward B. Holt of Cambridge.

The funeral services, which were attended by many old friends of Winchester, were held at the residence, No. 13 Chauncy street, Cambridge, on Wednesday afternoon at two-thirty, and were conducted by Rev. Raymond Calkins, D. D., of Cambridge. The remains were interred in Wildwood Cemetery.

PRIDGE TEA.

Notwithstanding the very stormy weather of Tuesday afternoon there were fourteen tables of bridge at the Calumet Club at its bridge tea, and the party was one of the most enjoyable the ladies have had the pleasure of attending this winter.

With the exception of the informal afternoon bowling, this was the first of the series of afternoon social affairs for the ladies of the Club under the presidency of Mr. George E. Willey, and the success of the afternoon was due wholly to the efforts of Mrs. Willey, who was in charge of the function.

Bridge honors were won by Mrs. E. Arthur Tutein and Mrs. Alfred E. Knight, and at the tea Mrs. Willey was assisted in pouring by Mrs. Edwin U. Harrington and Mrs. Edwin C. Starr.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The forty-second annual meeting of the Winchester Union was held last Friday in the vestry of the First Congregational Church, with a large attendance of members and invited guests. Members of the unions in Arlington, Malden and Woburn came in response to the invitation to meet Dr. N. Louise Rand, of West Newton, the county president, who gave an interesting and forceful address on the needs of the work today. She is urging unions to seek to increase the membership of the county at least 50 per cent, no small gain, but by no means impossible in these days of public awakening.

The devotional exercises opening the meeting were conducted by Miss Elizabeth Richardson whose interpretation of the passages selected was most illuminating. As the annual meeting always gives a portion of the time to speak in memory of the members who have been promoted during the past year, the president spoke of each of the six who have gone from the union since the last annual meeting, Mrs. Henry Smalley, Mrs. Ida Foster, Mrs. Peters, Miss Amanda Tappan, Madam Gleason, Miss Catherine Pond, after which Mrs. James Marshall of Swampscott, sang "The Plains of Peace," accompanied by Miss Eastman, a fitting selection, beautifully rendered.

The usual reports were read and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. G. H. Hamilton; Secretary, Mrs. Bertha Hoffon; Treasurer, Miss Eugenia E. Elliott, and Vice Presidents from the various churches as follows: First Congregational, Mrs. Martin D. Kneeland and Mrs. Chas. Gage; Second Congregational, Mrs. L. A. Claflin, Mrs. Martha Coleman; Baptist, Mrs. Ella A. Gleason, Mrs. Emma Smith; Methodist, Mrs. R. M. Armstrong, Mrs. F. W. Roberts; Unitarian, Mrs. Sara Goffe.

After the formal meeting refreshments were served and an opportunity given to meet Dr. Rand and the other visitors, among whom were the present and past county secretaries, Mrs. Florence Packard and Mrs. Augusta Brigham, both of Malden. Two new members were enrolled and Master John Lutes was made a member of the Cradle Roll, Mrs. Gleason conducting the service of admission.

Petitions for the passage of the prohibition amendment were circulated and will be presented to other women of Winchester during this week.

AUTO ACCIDENT ON PARKWAY.

A bad accident occurred on the icy surface of the Parkway in the vicinity of Manchester road Friday evening when a Franklin sedan containing three ladies skidded and overturned. Two of the ladies were severely injured, Mrs. Mary C. Hinds, wife of town engineer James Hinds, suffering a broken arm and injuries to her head and neck, and Mrs. Frances Thomas of Grove street being painfully cut about the face and legs. The third occupant, Mrs. Agnes Solov, escaped with only bruises only.

The car was proceeding towards Winchester, driven by its owner, Mrs. Thomas. Just how the accident occurred none of the ladies could explain, the car suddenly skidding, turning almost around, and then tipping over with a crash of broken glass and woodwork.

Mrs. Solov was the least injured, and she ran to a nearby house and telephoned the garage, which immediately sent a limousine to the scene and the ladies were taken to Dr. Dennett's office, where their injuries were attended. It was found that Mrs. Hinds had a broken arm, injuries to her head and neck and bad body bruises. Mrs. Thomas was so badly cut that it was necessary to sew a number of the wounds, besides which she was badly bruised. Mrs. Solov was only bruised. The ladies were later taken to their homes.

Others were Mrs. Tutein, who got 167 and 85, Mrs. Hayward, 167 and 84, Miss Parshley, 166 and 82 and Mrs. Berry 162 and 82. Mrs. Caldwell 82 and Mrs. Taylor 80. By a peculiar coincidence in Wednesday night's games, both the leaders and tail-enders, neither having previously lost nor won a game respectively, each lost and won when they met. By this match, and by team 5 winning three points, a tie now exists for first place. The first string in the match was won by 10 by one pin. Mrs. Rufus Clark rolled a fine score on this evening, she making two strings with 96 for high and 190 for total. Other good rolling by the ladies was Mrs. Carleton's 95 and 177, Mrs. Tucker's 89 and 162, Mrs. Booth's 82 and 163, Mrs. Ordway 87 and Mrs. Hatch 82. MUCH INTEREST OVER CHALLENGE.

Married and Single Ladies Create Diversion at Calumet.

Great interest among all members of the Calumet Club is centered in the coming bowling championship match between the married and single ladies of the Club. The match is the outcome of a challenge issued by the single ladies several weeks ago. At first it was apparent that the married ladies were inclined to treat the matter as a joke, but after several remarks to this effect had been made, and the single ladies had commenced to assume that they would hold the title without even a request for a show-down, the m. l. sat up and began to take notice.

As a result of general activities along the front and information secured by numerous reconoitering parties, the m. l. came to the conclusion that they were not justified in surrendering the position without at least a passage at arms. Accordingly next Tuesday evening the two parties will meet on equal footing, and a battle royal is expected.

Both teams are holding their line-up in strict secrecy. In fact it is reported that no one outside the two captains know just what the batting order will be when the ball rings, but it is rumored that neither aggregation is hesitating when it comes to picking a dark horse, and that several ladies new to the old-timers, may be in the line-ups.

At any rate an interesting and exciting match may confidently be looked for, and the sporting members of the Club are anticipating it with much enthusiasm. It is expected that the event will draw one of the largest crowds of the season to the alleys. A reception to the winners and dancing will follow the contest.

REP. DALLINGER ON SUFFRAGE.

Editor of the STAR:

I wish through the columns of your valuable paper, to make this brief statement in regard to my vote upon the so-called Anthony Amendment to the Federal Constitution extending national and state suffrage to the women of the country.

The voters of the 8th Congressional District will recall that previous to the election of 1916 I publicly stated in the press and also in the circular mailed to every voter that although personally in favor of woman suffrage, that as a loyal member of the people of the referendum and in true representative democracy, I should be governed by the wishes of my constituents as expressed in their overwhelming vote against woman suffrage in 1915 and should therefore, vote against the Anthony Amendment until such time as I was satisfied that the wishes of my constituents coincided with my own personal views.

In view of this promise given to the people who elected me, the only question for me to consider has been whether, in view of the general change of sentiment on the woman suffrage question, throughout the world and in some parts of the United States as a result of the great war, there has been a similar change of sentiment in the 8th Congressional District. While it is true that there has been a decided change of sentiment in certain parts of the District, particularly in the City of Melrose, upon a very careful and thorough investigation of all the evidence obtainable, I am not convinced that there has been a similar change of sentiment in the District as a whole. Consequently, as I cannot conscientiously say that at present time the wishes of a majority of my constituents coincide with my personal views, I feel bound in accordance with my promise to vote against the Anthony Amendment.

SATURDAY NIGHT'S BOWLING.

There was a big crowd at the Calumet Club Saturday night to participate in the special bowling contest for all three classes of ratings. From early in the afternoon until late in the evening the six alleys were thronged with contestants and spectators.

The scores rolled were well up to the big ones of the winter. Percy A. Goodale was the winner in Class A, which included bowlers rated from 87 to 95, with a three string total with handicap of 373. In class B, consisting of bowlers rated from 80 to 86, Wallace Blanchard took first prize with a total of 335. C. M. Crafts was the winner in class C, rated up to 79, with 366.

Prizes were awarded the winners of first and second positions in all three classes, being very valuable and timely, as witnessed by the fine Hubbard squash which Joe Gendron accompanied on his departure in his limousine.

As the irrascible and scheming uncle, Henry J. Maguire, filled the principal and most difficult part in a most acceptable manner. He had by far the most difficult part in the cast, and was called upon to do almost double the work of the other artists. Miss Florence McCarthy, the dainty niece, was a distant favor with her audience and carried off her part in a most natural and easy manner. Another part, although of minor importance, but exceptionally well taken, was that of Miss Katherine M. Trainor as "Kitty Reeders," the actress. Miss Trainor had an easy stage presence, without any tendency to overdo the part and one almost wished she might have fallen in love with the clever bell-boy hotel clerk, Philip S. Savage, who was finally destined to carry off the charming French maid, Suzette."

Philip S. Savage and Bernard F. Mathews, Jr., the latter taking a versatile and difficult role, were both clever. Mr. Mathews, as the accepted—and for a time discredited—lover of "Jane," proved himself a good actor in both masculine and feminine roles. Miss Mary J. Kelley was another who took a difficult part, and when a charming young lady can carry off the part of an old maid to be looked at with smoked glasses, it speaks volumes for her versatility. Dr. James H. O'Connor, seen on former occasions to advantage by Winchester audiences, was fully up to his established reputation in the role of a beau brummel seeking the hand of the maiden sister, for whom he mistook the charming niece of the same name.

Charles J. Harrold, who directed and staged the show, celebrated the 31st anniversary of his appearance on the amateur stage by taking the part of "Sam," the colored porter; and needless to say he played that part to perfection. Miss Madeline Reardon made a dainty and charming French maid.

The cast of characters were as follows:

Sam, a colored porter
Charles J. Harrold
Ting, a bell-boy Philip S. Savage
William Winkler Henry J. Maguire
Aunt Jane, his sister
Mary J. Kelley
Jane, his niece Florence McCarthy
Suzette, a French maid

The Winchester Star

THEODORE P. WILSON, Editor and Publisher : WINCHESTER, MASS

TELEPHONE NUMBER 29.

SINGLE COPIES, FIVE CENTS
Left at Your Residence for One Year
The Winchester Star, $2.00, in advance

Entered at the post-office at Winchester, Massachusetts, as second-class matter.

SEND THE STAR LETTERS FROM YOUR BOY IN KHAKI.

The STAR is anxious to print interesting letters written by the boys in uniform telling of their life and their experiences in performing the greatest duty that their country can ask of them.

All those who receive such letters know how absorbing they are and how eager other persons are to hear the details about what our boys particularly Winchester boys —are doing.

It would be a service to the community to let many people read these letters by sending them to the STAR. The manuscripts of all letters, whether published or not, will be returned if requested when they are submitted.

The STAR advises all such contributors to copy the letters and to submit these copies to prevent the possibility of the original letters being lost in the mail.

Do your shopping early and thus avoid being locked out.

Were you one of those who obeyed the Government's request last summer to "Wait and do not buy your coal now?"

Editors of newspapers have a good idea of what the Y. M. C. A. is doing in a general way for our soldier boys at camps and on the fighting front. One thing, and perhaps a small one, is that the boys are supplied with stationery and all writing material and a comfortable place to write their letters. The considerable correspondence that reaches the STAR is on Y. M. C. A. paper.

"Two bits" is the old term, dating back to the early days of the country, for a quarter of a dollar, and is still used in the South and West Every patriotic American now wants "to do his bit;" the members of the clubs are carrying out this idea finely in doing their "two bits" every day. It is hoped that "Two Bits a Day" clubs will be formed all over the country in the great war-savings campaign.

One of the most remarkable things about the Liberty Loan campaigns is the small effect they have had on the savings banks accounts, which show an increase. This we lay to the appeals made to the American people to purchase the bonds out of their earnings, paying for them from week to week or from month to month. The people appear to be doing as they have been urged, purchasing the bonds from current savings.

Residents of Winchester, Mass., and surrounding towns, required by provisions of the War Income Tax Act, to make returns to the Internal Revenue Department of the income they received during the year, 1917, will be afforded an opportunity to make and file such returns with the aid of deputy collectors delegated by John F. Malley, Collector of Internal Revenue for the District of Massachusetts to assist new tax payers in this section of the State. These representatives of the Revenue Department who are prepared to dispense information relative to the requirements of the new law and to make out returns of the taxpayers will be in Winchester, at the Winchester Trust Company, January 21st to January 23rd, inclusive.

WINCHESTER FACTORIES CLOSE.

All Winchester factories either have or will comply with the sweeping closing order. Factories closed this morning include the J. H. Winn & Son Co., watch band factory; Bacon Felt Co., Haley Leather Co., Chapman Spindle Co., Whitney Machine Co., Ray State Saw & File Co.

The Beggs & Cobb tannery, the largest factory of its kind in the United States, closed last night. The Gelatine factory at the Highlands will close tomorrow morning, it running only long enough to save product in process of making. The Eastern Felt Co. closes this afternoon and the big Puffer factory, second largest in town, closed last night.

The Winchester Laundry is open, having been instructed to continue to operate until further orders.

NOTICE.

On account of the Waterfield Hall closing Monday, Miss Langley's dancing class will meet on Wednesday at 4 p. m. It

THE FORTNIGHTLY.

The regular meeting of The Fortnightly was held in the Town Hall, Monday afternoon, Jan. 14th. Mrs. Eaton presided. Mrs. Woodside presented interesting reports on the Conservation Conference held in Horticultural Hall, Boston, and on the school gardens in Winchester. The one hundred and seventy-five dollars appropriated by the Fortnightly for the school gardens had accomplished, she believed, excellent results, not only in garden produce, but in bringing home to children and aliens the responsibility of citizenship. By means of the door-receipts and a collection, the sum of fifty-three dollars was raised for Mrs. Young, who is doing relief work near Paris.

At the close of the business meeting, Dr. Charles R. Brown of Yale University spoke on "Days in Japan." Dr. Brown has twice before addressed the Club, and was therefore welcomed with especial pleasure by those who had enjoyed his talks on Russia and on Abraham Lincoln. His fifteen years' residence in California and a summer in Japan have given him opportunities for the study of Japanese character, and he set forth his impressions convincingly and entertainingly.

In many customs, he found Japan the opposite of our own country; the books are printed from back to front in vertical columns; white is used for mourning; deference is paid to men rather than to women. It is a toy country. With an area less than that of California and only one-tenth arable, it supports forty-five million people. Everything is on a small scale.

The Japanese character Dr. Brown considered from four viewpoints: industrial, educational, social, religious. In industrial life men toil for long hours, but less intensively than here and so with less accomplishment. Workmen receive perhaps fifteen or twenty cents a day. Economic conditions are improving, however, since the present war. Educationally, Japan is making a magnificent showing. Eighty per cent of the present generation will read and write. She has a successful, though poorly housed, public school system, and four great universities. Socially, the Japanese are a happy people, leisurely and polite. Their taste in house-furnishings and in dress is simple and refined. Morally, their character has serious weakness. They lack honesty and truthfulness. Their leaders are, however, already considering means of correcting these defects. Moreover, the people are by nature, heroic and self-sacrificing, and under religious teaching will prove capable of great advancement.

Finally, Dr. Brown discussed the attitude of Japan towards the United States. From his conversations with the thinking men of Japan he is convinced that she is far from desiring war. There are many reasons. She is grateful for past favors; she has recently fought two great wars, with China and with Russia; her war debt is heavy; her commerce with the United States is important; her needs for internal development are pressing; Russia might take advantage to renew hostilities. Granted fair and impartial treatment on the immigrant question, Japan will be abundantly satisfied.

Notes

The Literature Group, happily augmented by a large number of friends, met with Mrs. Alfred Wallace, 9 Calumet road, on Friday, Jan. 11th, and heard a delightful lecture on "Voltaire," by Prof. Leon Vincent, who presented his subject in trenchant and humorous manner. He showed Voltaire not as the dangerous iconoclast of the 18th century, but as the most brilliant writer of his age, famous as philosopher, poet and historian.

Born at Paris in 1694, and living until 1778, Voltaire saw two great Revolutions and was acquainted with courts and kings of three countries. He was often sent to the Bastille for his writings and had to hide from the "literary ferrets" of his day.

That he was capable of great friendships was shown in his many years' devotion to Madame Du Chatelet, and Frederick, the Great of Prussia.

He had a mordant pen and it bit at the weaknesses of his day. He did not scoff at religion, but at the intolerance and abuses of the church. His most noted works; Tancred, Herodiad, Zaire, Charles XII of Sweden, and the Century of Louis XIV, Bolingbroke, and other famous essays, remain classics of his day.

Prof. Vincent spoke in the witty and satirical vein that fitted his pre-eminently witty and satirical subject, and he surprised not a few of his hearers by the severe things left unsaid about the one time notorious "Voltaire,"—who was not an Atheist, but a Deist, and also said, "If there was no God it would be necessary to invent one, but all nature cries about that he exists."

The Chairman of the Home Economics Committee announces that the first lesson in Elementary Dietetics under the direction of the University Extension, Massachusetts Board of Education, will be held in the Prince School, Tuesday, Jan. 22, at 10.45. Miss Gage will be the instructor.

The cost of the text books is the only expense for this course of 12 lessons.

The Conference of the Sixth District at Billerica with the Nineteen Hundred Club at Unitarian Church auditorium has been postponed.

The Hellenian Club of Somerville invites the members of your Club to attend the Conference of the Home Economics Department of the Massachusetts State Federation of Clubs, to be held in Unitarian Hall, on Wednesday, Jan. 23, at 2.30 p. m.

A. O. H. INSTALLATION.

ARTHUR E. WHITNEY DEAD.

as an inventor and machinist he established a plant which became famous. As his life progressed he took front rank as an inventor and made many inventions in machines used in the manufacture of rubber, wood-working machines and machines for saw makers; also in machines for the manufacture of leather. His work is found in all parts of the world and the list, if it could be inserted here, would be a monument to his industry and ability. After 1882 he retired from active business.

Arthur Eastman Whitney was born in this town July 5, 1847, while it was still a part of South Woburn. He has been one of Winchester's most prominent citizens. He continued the business founded by his father in the mill formerly situated at the corner of Main street and Waterfield road (then Walnut st), and removed a few years ago to its new site on North Main street, gradually devoting the larger part of the business to the manufacture of leather making machinery, which is the foremost of its kind in all parts of the world. In addition to carrying on this business he employed himself extensively in inventing other kinds of machines for various purposes. As a mechanical engineer, inventor and machinist, he proved himself equal to his ancestors.

He was largely honored by various town offices and, during his lifetime had held the following important positions of public trust: Selectman 1889—90—91, Trustees Town Library 1892—97—98—01, Water & Sewer Board 1912—17, Appropriations Committee 1899—04—09, Committee on Bequests and Trust Funds 1895, Committee on Advisability of One Clerk for all Boards 1903, Committee on changes in Town Government 1893, Committee on Common and Public Plots 1891, Committee on Consolidation of Town Officers 1903, Committee on Electric Lights and Plant 1892, Trustee of Asa Fletcher Fund 1896, Committee on Manchester Field 1902, Committee on Names for Bridges on Main street and Waterfield road 1916, Committee on Observation of Old Home Week 1902, Committee on Poor Farm 1904, Committee on Property Account 1916, Committee on Public Dumps 1900, Committee on Revenue from Linden Street House 1909, Committee on Site for Federal Post Office Building 1913, Committee on Street from Plains 1901, Committee on Town Hall Heating and Ventilation 1912, Committee on Town Seal 1895, Committee on Widening Main street 1891.

He was one of the most active influences in making this choice residential town what it is today. He has always displayed a deep interest in the local history of the town and in 1890 was the moving spirit in promoting the celebration of the 250th anniversary of the first white settlement here, the first house in the old town of Woburn being built here.

He wrote many articles on the ancient history of this section and delivered papers before historical societies and local organizations on subjects of current interest and local history. Throughout his life he was always an ardent fisherman, and in late years had chosen me the local fisherman in their contest for fishing privileges in the reservoirs. Always a decided exponent of his opinions, he never failed to carry his arguments to the highest court, and the recent defeat of the proposed town manager form of government for Wyche ter was largely due to his active opposition.

He was a life member of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society and the New England Historical and Genealogical Society, one of the founders of the Winchester Young Men's Club, now the Calumet Club, of which he was a member and past president, and a member of the Unitarian Church.

Mr Whitney was twice married; first in 1878 to Alice Fletcher of Winchester, who died in 1901, and second to Alice Emma Marston of Arlington, who survives him. He is survived by two sons, by his first wife, Robert Fletcher and Harold Treadwell, and one by his second wife, Joel Marston, all of this town. One brother, George E. of Cambridge, and two sisters, Mrs. A. Eugene Ayer and Miss Delia Whitney of this also survive him.

WINCHESTER'S ENLISTMENTS.

Additions to Roll of Honor of Local Enlistments.

So far as can be ascertained there is no complete record of the list of Winchester men who are enlisted in the various branches of the Army and Navy, or who are serving abroad as ambulance drivers or in various hospital units. The STAR has a card file of all such men who are serving in the conduct of the war, compiled as complete as possible from all information received at this office, but realizes that this list contains many omissions

The list as filed has been printed for the past two weeks The following names have been received and added during the past week:

Recognize Value of Birds.

The quite general interest in bird-life and protection indicates the more general recognition of the value of birds in the great reciprocal relationships and harmonies of nature. Naturalists estimate that the progeny of a single pair of Gypsy moths, unchecked, would in eight years, destroy every vestige of foliage in the United States. Insect life is increasing to an alarming extent, adding to the cost and the hazards of cropraising. It is said that the expense of fighting insects and the losses because of their depredations cost Massachusetts 85,000,000 annually. The loss is impossibly duplicated in other states.

A UNIQUE SITUATION.

Probably the first instance of patrons of a street railway voluntarily offering to pay an increase of 40 per cent in fares occured a few days ago in Taunton and Attleboro. This action followed the announcement by the Bristol County Street Railway Co. that it intended to discontinue the line, which serves a considerable rural section between Attleboro and Taunton, with a branch line to Pawtucket. The road claimed that it could not carry passengers over its 22-mile run at 5 cents and a few weeks ago arrangements were made to dispose of the tracks and equipment as junk.

When more than 2,000 patrons of the line issued, at their own expense, a bulletin urging a seven-cent fare Judge Brown of the Superior Court thought it sufficient evidence that the road was wanted and he accordingly refused for the present, the order discontinuing the operation of the road for which the receivers had petitioned. Several other roads in the State are also considering discontinuing their lines because they say they cannot operate them profitably under the existing schedule of fares. It is believed by many that the service at cost plan, which is to be presented to the Legislature at this session, and which is along the lines of Governor McCall's recommendation, will go a long way to solve the problems confronting the street railways of the entire State.

WINCHESTER TRUST COMPANY
WINCHESTER, MASS.

WINCHESTER CALLED UPON AND URGED TO DO "ITS BIT."

Jan. 4, 1918.

To the Board of Selectmen,
Town of Winchester, Mass.
Gentlemen:—

The Committee on War Efficiency of the Public Safety Committee of Massachusetts is addressing this letter to all the Boards of Selectmen of the towns within this Commonwealth. We desire to call to your attention as the responsible financial heads of your town, the general situation arising out of the war.

If you will call this matter to the attention of the Voters at the annual meeting, we believe it would serve a useful purpose in that it would bring to the attention of the citizens of your town the changed financial conditions occasioned by the financial needs of the National Government, emphasizing the fact that our real business from now on is to win the war and even at great inconvenience all other matters must be made secondary to that one great object.

Massachusetts must bear her share of the National burden and under the apportionment of subscriptions for loans Massachusetts is expected to subscribe for her apportionment, which on the last two loans aggregated $363,000,000. She has over subscribed for the portion of the first and second Liberty Loans and another war loan is expected to be offered within the next few months.

War taxation and Liberty Loans have had a profound effect upon the market for municipal bonds and with further government issues impending, municipalities will be confronted with the fact that they must pay much higher rates of interest than before.

It would not be wise for cities and towns to suspend at once the issue of bonds for every purpose, but we do urge that a conservative policy be adopted at the very beginning of the year in order that the competition between National Government and Municipal Bonds be reduced to a minimum, and that material and labor needed for war purposes may be utilized for this most pressing need.

Money should be borrowed for construction purposes only to meet pressing necessities and towns should avoid creating a demand for steel and other materials needed for war purposes.

The heavy burden on the taxpayers is to be considered as well as the burden on your town finances, but the main thing is to win the war, and we are confident your citizens will patriotically support your courageous American stand if the matter is made plain to them.

We hope all the cities, towns and counties will act together in this important matter.

At this time it is not possible to do more than suggest the general policy of conservation in the matter of loans, but if the Committee can be of any assistance to you in bringing before your Town Government or your citizens the importance of this subject, we are at your service.

The Committee would be glad to know the amount of town securities issued for the fiscal year, 1917, with your best estimate of the minimum amount which you must issue during the year 1918.

Yours very truly,
(signed) William A. Gaston,
Chairman

AN APPEAL FOR NEGRO SCHOOLS.

The following appeal has been sent to the STAR:

Durham, N. C.,
Jan. 17, 1918.

Dear Editor: Through your paper, I desire to call attention at this season of the year to the needs of Negro Schools in the South, which are doing a deserving and far reaching work in the training of Negroes for real service at home and abroad. The light in these schools must be kept burning or else the race will have little hope for the future.

I plead for increased contributions to all of them, for no matter how poorly equipped some may be, they have done heroic work for the uplift of the Negro and a work of real sacrifice, which I fear is not as yet fully understood by the American people.

The National Training School, Durham, N. C., will be glad of clothes, books, household or farm materials, money or anything useful, which may be distributed among its own students or help deserving families in the community. They will be of great help and will be carefully distributed. In fact they will be genuine and appreciative Christmas gifts.

While not forgetting the brave soldiers in the trenches of whatever nationality or race, who are fighting on the side of the Allies for the supremacy of right, let us not forget the Negro at home, who against odds is making a brave fight to lift himself for the present and the future. Let us also, let down our buckets where we are.

Respectfully,
James E. Shepard,
Pres. National Training School,
Durham, N. C.

THE RIGHT OF THE STATES TO AMEND.

Is it what the passage of the Federal Suffrage Amendment to the Constitution demands of Congress seems to be a hazy in the minds of many as what was asked of the Mass. Legislature concerning the Suffrage Amendment in 1915 was. The Woman Citizen puts the matter very tersely as follows: "Suffragists are not asking Congress to decide that any State or States shall have woman suffrage. They are asking it to let each state decide the matter for itself. They are not asking congress to take away any of the Sovereign rights of a state. They are asking it to give heed to one right, of which no State should be deprived.

Hon. E. Y. Webb of North Carolina, sponsor for the prohibition amendment, answering the State rights objection for prohibition, answered it for woman suffrage as well.

"Are you afraid to trust your States?" asks Mr. Webb. "There is no question of states rights in this proposition. It is the right of the States to have the opportunity to determine whether or not they shall vote to amend the constitution. That is a sovereign right of which they should not be deprived, and which they provided for in the great instrument?"

The Lower House passed the Amendment Jan. 10. The Senate must now act upon it.

Mary E. Allen.

THE REAL CAUSE.

Germany the Supernation, the German the Superman.

By George W. Horton.

The real cause of the present war lies below the view generally taken by most people. The methods are so shocking; the brutality employed so shameless; the deception and the falsehoods and the treason of every obligation of national honor; the German barbarity to helpless non-combatant women and children; the ruthless murder and butchery of the helpless both among prisoners and innocent and unoffending children which renders the Germans in this war far more ferocious that the Huns or the Indians or any species of savages the world was ever cursed with—all these make it an interesting question. What has brought about all this? We are to remember that Germany is a cultured nation and boast of this fact. Can we reconcile these two classes of fact: that a cultured nation can descend to the lowest bottom which the meanest and most beastly savages ever reached? We think this can be explained.

Let us look at the following facts. The imperial German Government of Germany has for forty years absolutely controlled education and the press and the church of Germany. In that empire the school teachers, the editors of the nation are all under the absolute domination of the German government, which government has always held war to be the acme of glory to their nation.

Now what have the teachers and the preachers and the editors taught to the people for a generation? We are to look into their text books, and the scientific works which have been accepted and indorsed by the imperial government, and the doctrines allowed the preacher to proclaim from their pulpits and professor's chairs. We shall omit the unpronounceable names of the authors of these philosophic and scientific works as there can be only confusion by the reader attempting to pronounce them.

One of these authors who has had a tremendous influence in molding or debauching the national mind and conscience advocated what he called the doctrine of the superman and the supernation. That is, that Germany was the supernation and the German was the superman. These had rights which no other nation or individual was bound to respect. For instance here is a couple: "One single highly cultured German warrior is worth a higher intellectual and moral life value than hundreds of raw children of nature whom England, Russia, France, and Italy oppose to them." One of their greatest lights, well known on this side, says: "We have a right to say that we form the soul of humanity." Another, that "God has chosen the German people and that can never be altered." Another, "Ye shall love peace as a means to new wars, and the short peace more than the long." Still another bit of their superman evolution teaching in which the nation has been steeped is expressed by another, thus, "That the lambs should bear a grudge against the great birds of prey is in no way surprising; but that is no reason why we should blame the great birds for picking up the lambs."

Another author of one of their books says: "A great people needs new territory. It must expand over foreign soil. It must expel the foreigners by the power of the sword." "Let us organize great forced migrations of the inferior peoples." Another has said, "We must see that the outcome of the next war must be the acquisition of colonies by any possible means." German writers laud to the glory of war as a civilizing agency; one saying, "War is a fountain of health for the people." Another, "Wars which have been deliberately provoked by far-seeing statesmen have had the happiest results."

These authors have glorified force and belittled love and peace. Hence is to be found the very germinating principle of the inhumanity so ruthlessly practiced in the present war. Says one of these men, "I warn you against pity." And again, "The evil impulses are as expedient and indispensable and conservative as the good." Another says, "Every sovereign state is entitled to repudiate its treaties." Another, "Terrorism is useful to keep people in a state of submission." Another, "Anything that terrorizes the enemy is a patriotic and praiseworthy act." Another, "In the struggle for possessions, sovereignty and power, right is respected only so far as it is compatible with advantage." In reply to the charge that their soldiers had committed barbarous outrages against noncombatants, one of their great generals said: "Frankly we are and must be barbarians if by this we understand those who wage war relentlessly. Every act of whatsoever nature committed by our soldiers for the purpose of discouraging our enemies is fully justified." One of their greatest professors says, "Great nations have a right to stride over existences that stand in their themselves." A German writer has compiled a volume of five hundred "gems" of Germans thought from German professors, military men, pastors, and such lights all to show "German superiority, and right to rule, and to break treaties, disregard international law, and terrorize by ruthlessness all who oppose."

The very essence of German philosophy teaches that the supernation rules by divine right and can do anything which is to its advantage. The voice and teachings from the German pulpits can be illustrated by the following words from one of their number, "Whoever can not approve the sinking of the Lusitania we count to true German." But we have no space for a great deal of the outright brute. We pause here only to add just now an observation or two.

When we remember that the German nation has been fed and filled for more than a generation with such infamous rot and devilish stuff as this we need not be surprised that they have been able to build the greatest commercial, financial, mechanical, and military machine the world has ever seen. With men who are led to believe that whatever they decree is right, and that other nations have no right which they are bound to respect it is easy to see how they are able to erect such a stupendous war machine. It is at the same time just as plain that in debauching their people to this diabolical level of sentiment and belief, they have carried them to the level of swine. The hogs practice just this principal: for the old sow will grab three ears of corn when the feed is thrown into the pen because she believes the other hogs have no rights which she is bound to respect. The rest may starve and die for all she cares. [Herald of Holiness.

LETTER FROM WINCHESTER BOY IN ITALY.

The following interesting letter from John B. Thomas with the American Aviation Corps in Italy, is published through the courtesy of his mother, Mrs. P. C. Simonds.

December 15, 1917.

Dearest Mother:

Here I am in Milan waiting to go out with my section which leaves Monday or Tuesday for the front.

I just got back from the Italian operetta and am waiting for my room-mate to come back from the opera.

We left Paris a week ago, Thursday Dec. 6, at nine P. M. There were six of us in our compartment and we had to get what sleep we could sitting up or half lying. As it grew light in the morning, we found we were in the Alps and we spent an interesting morning in watching the high mountains from the car window.

About noon we arrived at Modane, which is on the border, and we had some lunch. At two o'clock our train left for Turin. We had to change trains at Modane and get on an Italian one.

At six we arrived at Turin, and had some dinner at a very fine hotel. As it was dark we were not able to see the town.

We boarded another train at eight, and arrived here in Milan at twelve.

Milan is called the Chicago of Italy, as it is second to Naples in population and is also a great railroad centre. There are many places to visit here, such as Duke's palace, art galleries, the cathedral, etc. The cathedral is a wonderful building, more beautiful than the Notre Dame, I think.

We only had one day however, in which to visit, as, ever since, we have been working on our Ford ambulances, which we got soon after our arrival here. As the cars are new, there was an awful lot of work to be done on them. Now, they are almost all in shape to leave.

The 13th, Thursday, was a day which I will not soon forget. It happened that on that morning our cars were to be presented to the Italian government. All our cars, Section 2, and the cars of Section 1, which came before us, were lined up for inspection. The court yard of the garage, in which we work, was decorated with American and Italian flags, each car also, having a flag of both nations. We stood in front of our cars as an Italian General, the Mayor of Milan, British and French Officers, and others, inspected them. There were many movies taken, and a great deal of enthusiasm was shown as we all were photographed. The movies are to be shown in America very soon. After the occasion was over, Section one prepared to depart for the front. On their way out of the city they paraded through the main streets, arousing much spirit in the Italians.

As America had declared war on Austria the day before, the Italians were quite elated. In the evening they paraded through the streets with Allied flags and a band. They ended up before the American Consulate, where I was with some of our bunch. The Consulate was crowded with the Americans from the colony, and with Italian soldiers who had been mutilated. There were many of the city officials there also. After a huge crowd had gathered in the square below, the Consul made a speech from a window of the building. The rest of us were crowded in the numerous huge windows. There was much cheering from the crowd at different places in the speech, even though they did not understand it. After he finished, an Italian translated it, and the crowd cheered their heads off. The windows were draped with American, French and British flags, and above the window from which the Consul spoke was an American seal in red, white and blue lights which helped to light up a large American flag on a pole over his head.

After it was over, his speech, which was printed on sheets of paper in Italian, was thrown out on the crowd, together with little flags of the Allies. It certainly thrilled us all to look down on the huge crowd and hear them yell "Vive la Amerik."

It was a day which does not come on every one's birthday, and I certainly did enjoy it thoroughly.

Section 3, which came down with us, is around here also, and they will leave soon after we do. You see there are quite a number of us here in the city, and we attract a lot of attention, being the first Americans in Italy.

I am in the best of health and hope you all are. Don't worry about me down here, as things are pretty smooth now.

With lots of love,

J. B

CLUB DUES LOWERED.

An interesting incident in these times of increased costs in living was the action of the Medford Boat Club at its meeting of last week, when it voted to reduce its annual dues from the prevailing figures since its organization—$10—to $5. The Club is wholly free from indebtedness and closed the year with a balance.

At its meeting "Jack" Howard, one of the charter members of the Club, was elected Commodore, Harry Boardman, Vice Commodore, Waldo S. Manson, Treasurer, and Chas. Brainerd, Secretary.

CONDITIONS ABROAD.

Letter From Winchester Woman Tells of Europe's Tragedy.

The following letter was published through the courtesy of Dr. William H. Gilpatric of Bacon street. Mrs. Edgar M. Young, the writer, was formerly prominent in Winchester Society and is widely known to Winchester people. She went to France last summer to engage in relief work.

Hotel Meurice.

Rue de Rivoli.

Paris.

My dear Dr. Gilpatric,

Just a little note, after an extremely busy day, but Raymond was here and anxious to make an enclosure. All my boys are alike when it comes to working and all my nights are very tired ones; there is so much to do here, and so few people to help; and so little to do with, that the whole proposition is extremely discouraging.

I go to work in the "Auvoir" every morning at 9—this is where we receive all the goods sent from America—to clothe the "Reffugees," and I wish you could see what our people send; discarded evening dresses, old shoes and slippers, chiffon waists, etc. etc. I am often ashamed of their thoughtlessness. These poor, homeless, hungry creatures come to us for help and many times the things we have are not fit to give them—what good is a chiffon waist or a lace dress when the weather is freezing and coal is $80.00 a ton.

My heart aches so for them all; and my inability to assist them. Many live in cow sheds, barns and cellars as best they can—but how? Winter was terrible over here last year even for the rich. It will be worse this year—and these people are worn out with suffering—they are oddly silent they are slow to respond to sympathy, they just look at you with a sort of dumb, patient, dazed misery which tells of terrors survived but not forgotten. One winces in realizing how utterly impossible it is to make you "over there" understand.

The Consumtives are beyond counting,such dear boys, armless, legless or blind, hobble here for help, coughing their lives away, the children would wring your heart, they have forgotten how to laugh, even a toy has no charm for them they are all so cold and hungry. There is no white flour here, we all eat war bread, no milk, no sugar, and eggs are ten cents apiece. Every afternoon I go to the Hospital Militaire, No. 15, down back of the "Bastile." Here are all the very worst cases in France. There are 3000 beds and every one is blind, and mutilated, besides—they have both to be here.

I have several pets down there, and they all anxiously wait my coming with cigarettes, which I light and put in their mouthes, for many of them are without arms. One of them is only 22—a sweet faced boy, both eyes, both legs and one arm gone—yet he smiles and says "pour la patrie." Another, a Black Singalise—both arms gone, both eyes, cannot speak a word to any one, sits all day in blackness and silence and helplessness. Another, no eyes, one leg, one arm gone; the other two fingers left. Think of it—he is learning to make scrub brushes, with only two fingers. The bead chains they make (those without legs and eyes,, but can use their hands) are marvelous and very cheap, and the money goes to their families, for the tragedy of it all is they are mostly married men Voila! I will say no more—I could go on forever, like Tennyson's Brook.

Had a letter from Dr. Kazanjian. He is 200 miles from Paris in a Hospital, so I do not expect to see him. Raymond went back to the front today. Poor boy, he has had quite an expierience. I am trying through Brant Whitlock, the Belgian Minister, to have him transferred. He went to the Officers school at ——— and is now a Serreant, he is slated for the Officers School at ——— there he will get to be Lieutenant.

The mail and bundle business here is frightful, everything for the soldiers piled high, so address anything to Raymond or me at this hotel.

I wish you all a Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year. I am glad there is somewhere people are happy (it is not here.) but Oh, what an awakening America will have when we begin to send our boys home like my boys in Hospital No. 15, and as sure as heaven it is coming. The tragedy is at their doors, why can't they see it?

Well, I am going to try and stay and do my little bit, I may be a comfort to some of them.

Kind regards to all, and thank you for your kindness to my boy.

UNSATISFACTORY POSTAL SERVICE.

Statement of Honorable Frederick W. Dallinger In Regard To Joint Resolution Introduced by Him For Investigation of The Post Office Department.

For some time I have been receiving complaints from the residents of the Eighth Congressional District in regard to unsatisfactory postal service. I know from my own experience that the mail service between Massachusetts and Washington has been steadily growing worse and is now something atrocious. It is not uncommon for it to take a week for letters and newspapers to reach me from home. Business men have particularly complained of the effect on their business of the slow and uncertain delivery of mail. The complaints, however, which have touched me most have been from the parents of the boys who are in the military service both in this country and abroad. It has been called to my attention that the boys who are fighting for their country in France frequently do not hear from home for over a month and even six weeks at a time, in spite of the fact that their parents and friends write them several times a week. The effect of the lack of postal communications between the boys at the front and their loved ones at home is bound to be serious upon the morale of the troops.

I have called the attention of the Postmaster General to the complaints which I have received and have several time sent him some of the letters I have received from indignant parents. In every case, however, the Post Office Department has informed me through one of its officials, that all mail matter, including letters, papers and parcels for the American Expeditionary Forces is handled expeditiously and forwarded at every opportunity.

Inasmuch as no satisfaction can, therefore, be obtained from the Post Office Department as at present conducted and as the postal service seems to be steadily growing worse, the only thing to do is to have the matter thoroughly investigated in order to ascertain what the trouble is and how it can be remedied. To say that we cannot have better postal service than we are now getting is a reflection upon the ability of the American people to cope with an existing emergency.

"MOBILIZING THE CHURCHES."

Union Meetings of Churches of Winchester Are Feasible.

Addressing the last of the union Week of Prayer meetings of the Churches of Winchester, Friday, p. m., Jan. 11th, Rev. E. Tallmadge Root, Field Secretary of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches, drew a parallel between the "War Council of the Allies," formed after Lloyd George had "with brutal frankness" exposed the cause of their failures, and the Federation, as The War Council of the Churches. Paraphrasing the words of Premier Painleve, he showed that "to reconcile their independence with unity direction is the work of our interdenominational council." So the Prophet Isaiah foresaw that the first step toward the reign of righteousness and peace must be the reconciliation of the feud between Israel and Judah that together they might put forth their hand on Edom and Moab. The era of hostility between the churches has long since passed. Mere recognition that they are fighting a common cause is as insufficient as it proved between the Allies. The new era of church life means that the churches are acting together. The facts of actual arrangements in Massachusetts towns and cities, which he cited, prove, he said, that there is nothing which the churches ought to do, which they cannot do together. As when it came to vote No. 1, signed by every pastor and priest in Fall River, stating that city for No-License. Pastors are no longer competitors for the membership of the churches, not even between members one of another. Over 2,000 churches are being asked to join in state-wide campaigns for the ratification of the prohibitory amendment and church-evangelism centering on Go-To-Church Day, Feb. 17th.

The Union Week of Prayer Services this year have been of exceptional interest. The attendance has been the best in years.

LEON TUCK IS FLYING IN HOBEY BAKER'S WAKE.

Went to France in November After Course at Cornell Aviation School.

By Fred G. Hoey in the Boston Herald.

Leon Tuck, former Dartmouth, Areno, and B. A. A. hockey player, presumably is flying in France. The Winchester boy passed his eight weeks' schooling in aviation groundwork in the Cornell aviation school before he went to France in November. He is not allowed to state in his letter what his duties are except that he is connected with the aviation corps.

Tuck, in a letter to his friend, Harland Little of Lynn, states that he is playing football in France. The letter was forwarded by Mr. Little to Leon's father, Whitfield L. Tuck of Winchester.

Tuck is a well known hockey figure in Boston. He also played football and baseball at Dartmouth, but is best known as a hockey forward. It was an eleventh-hour shift of Tuck from the defense to the forward line that gave B. A. A. the championship of the amateur Hockey league last year in the final game with the Arena Hockey Club.

Like Hobey Baker, Tuck is a fearless and clever athlete. Of a modest and retiring disposition, the Winchester lad always has been a popular figure in hockey. He has never been known to protest a decision in a hockey game, and like his brother flyer, Baker, took his bumps without a whimper.

Tuck's letter to Mr. Little follows:

Dec 12, 1917.

"Dear Harland:—

We arrived in this camp just about a month ago and were glad to get settled in a permanent camp, for traveling over here is not very comfortable, and at the rest camps where we stayed they did not give us enough blankets to keep us warm. We were pretty cold in this camp at first, but we are now in more comfortable quarters.

"I have met a good many friends here. Pishon is in my company and the boy I roomed with my freshman year at school is also here.

"We are not allowed to get away from this camp very much, but I have been to a few of the nearby towns and it is very interesting to see the people around here. They live so much differently than the people at home. The French people are very good to us and this is especially noticeable after having been in England for awhile.

"Every little village has several cafes and they give us pretty good things to eat, and also at a rather low price.

"The Y. M. C. A. in this camp has started a football league running three games each Sunday. There are already over a dozen teams in the camp and we are looking forward to getting a lot of fun out of it. Our company plays its first game Sunday and we probably will be a pretty large crowd around here the first of the week.

"We do not see any new papers here and it seems as though we are further removed from the war now than we were before we crossed the water. Tell the people I know that I will write to them soon and that I should like to hear from them. Letters over here are always treats.

"We get an issue of tobacco and cigarettes each month, but these do not go very far and most of us are now out of cigarettes and low on tobacco, although we thought we were bringing a big supply in with us.

"Tell the boys I would appreciate cigarettes and tobacco once in a while and if they send anything it would be wise to disguise the package as some of the fellows have had packages broken into and the contents removed.

POEM FROM CAMP KELLEY.

Dear Mr. Wilson:

We are enclosing a short poem written by one of the boys which we thought you might find of interest to yourself and the readers of the Winchester Star. The following Winchester boys are located at Kelley Field, No. 1, South San Antonio, Texas:

Harold M. Pierce,
812 Aero Squadron, Line No. 1.
Harry H. Bridgham,
616 Aero Squadron, Line No. 11.
Albert W. Twombly,
Line 53, Electrician.

Only a Volunteer

It must have been great to be drafted,
And hear the cheer from the throngs,
And march away from home and friends,
Mids't laughter, kisses and songs.
It must have been great to say goodbye
To mothers and sweethearts dear,
But you joined the colors and no one knew
You went as a volunteer.

They paid the highest tribute,
To those who were forced to go,
And share the burdens of Uncle Sam,
In the hour of strife and woe.
They gave them banquets and suppers
And said they went without fear,
But never a thought did they give to the man
That went as a volunteer.

Oftime you've talked to your buckie,
And heard him speak of his home,
Of his wife and kiddies now left alone,
While he with the regulars came
He sighs as he thinks of his loved ones.
And brushes away a tear.
Yet he is proud of the day he enlisted.
As only a volunteer.

Again you try to figure it out
When the guns have ceased to roar,
How much of the glory we owe to those
Who were forced to enter the war.
No doubt they will come home with glory,
Mids't many a shout and cheer
But after all he's satisfied,
You're only a volunteer.

One thing we know is certain,
We'll fight side by side,
And show the world we're Sammies
Whatever might betide.
And when you tell the story
To those that care to hear,
Just tell them all you went and came
As only a volunteer.

WOBURN THEATRE.

The Secret of a Star's Popularity Disclosed by His Director.

Thomas H. Ince, while discussing "The Son of His Father," which is Charles Ray's first Paramount production, and the universal appeal of the young star, said:

"If I could sum it up in one phrase I should say that it is because Ray has not only the gift of youth in itself, he has the emotions and mannerisms of youth which appeal to young and old alike.

"It is a strange thing, but a fact, that nearly all young leading men choose as their models actors who are old enough to be their fathers—or their grandfathers. Ray has never made this mistake. He has always played the part exactly as called for by the scenario without any attempts at imitation. There will be a time for him many years hence to act the classic roles of drama."

"The Son of His Father" which is to be shown at the Woburn Theatre on Friday and Saturday of next week, is a stirring photoplay taken from the famous story of that name by Ridgwell Cullum.

In a statment which he made lately in regard to Ann Pennington's newest Paramount picture, director Edward Dillon said: "The picture will give Miss Pennington opportunities to wear some stunning gowns and an especially chic bathing costume in the swimming scenes. She will also have a chance to display her prowess at high diving and dancing. There is a big comedy element, and from what I have seen of her work so far, I believe Miss Pennington will surprise even those who have admired her previous work on the screen." Ann Pennington, noted dancer of Ziegfeld Follies, will appear in "The Antics of Ann" at the Woburn Theatre on next Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 21 and 22.

Evening shows start at 7.30 instead of 7.45. Saturday evening 6.15 and 8.15 instead of 6.30 and 8.30.

What is forecasted as the best picture that Mary Pickford has been seen in will be shown for the first times in Boston at the Modern Theatre the entire coming week, when she will be pictured in "Stella Maris." And for the first time in her film career she will be seen in a dual role. One appear in "The Antics of Ann" at the Woburn. Theatre on next Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 21 and 22.

PARK SQUARE THEATRE.

"Success" has proven that it has a prophetic title in that it has been drawing crowds of drama lovers to the Park Square Theatre, Boston, since it opened its engagement last Monday evening. It is pure drama of the type which has ever been popular. The cast is headed by that gifted actor, Brandon Tynan, best remembered for his remarkable work in the dramatic spectacle, "Joseph and His Brethren."

Scenically the play is mounted in the same excellent taste that has made the Copley Theatre such a stamp of distinction. And the art direction of Livingston Platt is in full evidence.

There are matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays, and mail orders will be carefully filled if accompanied by stamped and addressed envelope and there is enclosed the necessary 10 per cent War Tax. Patrons are also reminded that in accord with the Food Administrator the evening performances begin promptly at 7.15 p. m.

COPLEY THEATRE.

A special production of "Inside the Lines," the play of the present war, will be made at the Copley Theatre next Monday by the Henry Jewett Players. "Inside the Lines," is a drama of adventure, romance, intrigue, secret agents, and all the other exciting episodes of war. Its action takes place at Gibraltar, out of the actual scene of the conflict, but near enough to give it a large amount of military sensation.

Now is the time for war plays, and their popularity has been proved recently in Boston by the long run of six months of "The Man Who Stayed at Home" at the Copley Theater. "Inside the Lines" is a play in which the war is viewed from a different, but no less interesting angle, and with its scenes on the romantic ground of Gibraltar, seats are now on sale at the Box office, at the various ticket agencies throughout the city, and at Filene's and Jordan's.

Was Not Office Boy.

"How is it that you employ baldheaded, white-whiskered old men for office boys?" inquired a friend who was calling on the head of a large industrial concern in one of the great cities the other day. The answer was that the man who was so active was not an office boy. "We find," said the proprietor, "that such a man is preferable to a mere head office boy promoted from the ranks of his fellows, who so often becomes a petty tyrant or merciless grafter, and sometimes both. This old man is sympathetic, and yet the boys cannot bluff him. He inspires in the boys a deep interest in their work, and has not an ambition to be the president of the United States or head of the house."—Christian Herald.

COAL AND CLOSING.

Situation Such That Little May Be Said.

Little may be said in regard to the shortage of coal and the drastic regulations closing business. In view of the general unsettled situation and the several changes already made by those in charge, our readers will probably be better informed within a short time by statements issued by the Government than by any prophecy we could make.

The original order issued Monday closing stores and business offices before 9 a. m. and after 5 p. m. was subject to numerous modifications in definition of various stores, etc., and later to further changes, including allowing the stores to remain open until 6 p. m., the turning off of window lights, etc. This matter will be probably definitely defined by the end of the week so that all merchants will understand just what is required of them.

The drastic order of yesterday proclaiming the next nine Mondays holidays for manufacturing plants, stores and business houses and offices, etc., may or may not be changed. Furthermore it is reported that yesterday's order closing all manufacturing plants for the next five days may be changed.

The definition of who is, and who is not, included in these orders will have to be settled by further information if in question. The local Fuel Committee—Messrs. Jere A. Downs, James A. Fitzgerald and Henry A. Emerson, may be depended upon to give this town every attention in a fair and impartial manner. If you feel that you are unable to decide yourself what is required—telephone them, but remember they are all busy men and they have their hands full at this time.

Meanwhile it appears that the best thing we can do is to cheerfully comply with the rulings and do our best with what appears to be a bad situation in more ways than one.

Winchester people have been well cared for with coal, and if proper care is exercised and none take more than their share, will continue to be for some time.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING.

Jan. 14, 1918.

The Board met at 7.30, all present. Water and Sewer Board: The following Communication was received from the Water and Sewer Board:

"According to Section 361 of Chapter 11 of the Revised Laws, we hereby notify you that there is a vacancy on the Water and Sewer Board, and request that a joint session be held on Monday evening, Jan. 21, 1918, to fill such vacancy."

The Water and Sewer Board were notified that the Board of Selectmen would be pleased to meet the Water and Sewer Board on the date set to fill the vacancy mentioned in their letter.

Committee on Public Safety (State): A letter was received from the State Committee on Public Safety in regard to conservation in the matter of loans, and also asking for information as to the amount of town securities issued for the fiscal year 1917, and an estimate of the minimum amount which the town must issue during the year 1918.

Winchester Hospital: In reply to the Board's inquiry as to whether the Anti-Aid Amendment to the Constitution as adopted last November will prevent the Town appropriation for a free bed at the Winchester Hospital, the Town Counsel states: "that by section 5 of this amendment it is provided that the amendment does not go into effect until October 1, 1918. Up to that time we may appropriate money as heretofore."

Forest Street Building Line: On petition of James Hinds, J. A. Larraway and R. L. Clark

Voted: that in the opinion of the Selectmen public convenience and necessity require that a building line be established on each side of Forest street its entire length (from Washington street to the Winchester-Stoneham Town line), and that notice of our intention to establish such a building line and of a hearing to be held at the Selectmen's Room on February 4, 1918, at 8.30 o'clock p. m. be served as provided by law upon the owners of the land over which such building line is to be established.

The meeting adjourned at 10 p. m.
George S. F. Bartlett,
Clerk of Selectmen.

STORES CLOSING GENERALLY.

Although Winchester storekeepers did not take kindly to the order issued Monday requiring closing except between the hours of 9 to 5, the majority appear willing to comply with the request, and if, as has been stated, the evening hour has been extended to 6, it is anticipated that all will comply.

Monday night saw but two or three places closed before 6, although more closed after that hour. Tuesday night about one-quarter of the stores closed and on Wednesday night about one-half.

It was necessary for the fuel committee to spend an hour about the center Tuesday night warning many of the storekeepers, and even this did not deter some from keeping their stores open. Some merchants who were willing and did comply with the order were not particularly pleased with those who were so anxious to keep open.

While the question of saving coal may be open to question in this town, all feel willing to obey this war measure, and doubtless none of the stores will continue to open outside the prescribed hours.

MONDAY HOLIDAYS.

In accordance with the proclamation of President Wilson, there will be no school on Mondays for the present, beginning with Monday next, January 21. It is possible that it may be necessary to make up some of the time lost, but no decision has yet been reached in the matter.

MR. FREDERICK A. EVANS.

The many friends of Mr. Frederick A. Evans, well known throughout the town as proprietor of the Evans' Market on Main street, were grieved to learn of his death on Tuesday, he having passed away at his home, No. 29 Vine street, Monday night. He was 56 years of age.

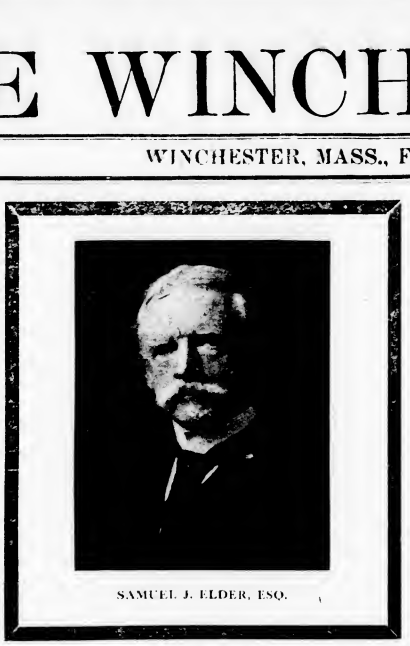

During his 18 years' residence here Mr. Evans had made a host of friends. Coming here from Chelsea, where he was associated with the brother in the grocery and provision business, he entered the employ of the Richardson Market, with whom he continued until four years ago, when he went into business for himself. He was a native of Dudswell, P. Q., and was a son of Zorah and Persis (Lothrop) Evans.

He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Jennie B. Thomas of Maine, and one son, Ernest V. Evans of the U. S. Navy, now at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. Two brothers also survive, Albert H. Evans of Lake Mecantic, P. Q., and George C. Evans of Monitor, Alberta.

Funeral services were held from the residence yesterday afternoon at 2.30, conducted by Mr. J. Flinn of the First Church of Christ, Scientist. The interment was at Wildwood Cemetery.

SURGICAL DRESSINGS BRIDGE.

The evening bridge for the benefit of the Surgical Dressings Committee will be held at the Calumet Club on Tuesday, Jan. 29th, commencing at 7.45 o'clock. This will constitute one of the regular ladies' nights at the Club, but all are invited to attend and aid in swelling the receipts for this worthy cause. Tickets may be obtained of the committee or by applying to the Steward at the Club.

SAMUEL J. ELDER, ESQ.

SAMUEL J. ELDER.

Death of Prominent Resident a Shock to Town and State.

News of the sudden death of Samuel J. Elder one of Winchester's leading citizens and a lawyer of international fame and the highest standing, was received here as a shock to the entire town Tuesday noon.

His sudden death while at the height of a brilliant career as a practicing attorney, authority on international law, author, lecturer, and a man of public affairs, was a shock not only to the thousand personally acquainted with him, but to other thousands who only knew him by sight, but were aware of his large abilities.

Mr. Elder was seemingly in the best of health and spirits when he arose Tuesday morning. Following Friday, when he accompanied the Serbian mission, he had remained at his home the greater part of the time. He called his office by telephone in the morning and said he intended to visit the Massachusetts General Hospital where his daughter, Miss Frances Elder is clinical secretary, before coming to his desk.

He first visited the Pemberton Square Courthouse and while there suffered pains in the region of his heart, and was urged by friends to return to his home. He left the courthouse soon after 10 o'clock, presumably for his home, but apparently went to the hospital to see his daughter. At the hospital he suffered another attack and was prevailed upon to remain for treatment. This he accepted but continued to suffer and lapsed into unconsciousness. He died at 11.10 o'clock.

Samuel J. Elder was born in Hope, R. I., Jan. 4, 1850, the son of James and Deborah (Keene) Elder. On his fathers side Mr. Elder was a descendant of Robert Elder, who in 1730 came to this country from Scotland and settled at Paxtang, Penn. His grandfather served in the revolution in Capt. Joseph Reed's company, with David McKinley. President McKinley's great-grandfather married David's sister, Esther McKinley, at the end of the war, and removed to Baltimore, where Mr. Elder's father, Capt. James Elder, was born in 1802.

Mr. Elder prepared for college in the public schools at Lawrence, Mass. He entered Yale University and was graduated with the class of 1873. Known among his friends at Yale as "Sam Elder," he was popular in the university both as a student and as an athlete. He attended all Yale's big games and was president of the alumni in 1893. He was also one of the foremost and most ardent Yale men in New England, and no Yale event in Boston was regarded as complete without him.

WHAT IS BEHIND THE ROW AT WASHINGTON?

The country has been both surprised and troubled by the echoes of the tumult in Washington.

In his lecture at the Epiphany on Sunday afternoon at five, Mr. Packer will take up this subject. He will discuss the meaning of the difference between the President and Congress, take up the various circumstances which have led to the present crisis, point out the influences which lurk in the background and show how inevitable it was that a break of this sort should come.

The new reredos may be inspected after the service.

UNION SERVICES.

To conserve the supply of coal, the Congregational, Baptist, Methodist and 24 Congregational churches have decided to hold union services on Sunday evenings. These services will be held at the First Congregational Church at the usual hour, while the mid-week meetings will be held at the Baptist and Methodist Churches.

WINCHESTER RED CROSS.

A letter is being sent to the Town's people asking for contributions to help run the Winchester branch of the Red Cross. Although many of the towns in the state have supported a branch for some time and have done most excellent work, the Winchester branch has been in operation only three weeks. Many ladies are daily at the rooms in the White building, Mt. Vernon St., making surgical dressings etc. etc., for the wounded soldiers and sailors, and it is hoped that contributions will be liberal to this most worthy cause. This work must go on and our own townspeople must provide the funds with which to carry it on.

Herbert A. Wadlieigh,
Chairman Finance Committee.

STATE GUARD.

The Winchester Company, M. S. G. was recently officially changed from Company F, to Machine Gun Company, 12th Regiment. There is one Machine Gun Company attached to each Regiment, and the Winchester Company, through efficiency and preparedness, was awarded this distinction.

CHAMPIONSHIP IN DOUBT.

Married and Single Ladies Bowl a Tie Match.

The heralded match between the Single and Married ladies of the Calumet Club for the bowling championship was rolled on Tuesday evening before a big crowd of expectant spectators. The gallery enjoyed the fun almost as much as the participants, and while the handsome trophies were awarded the Married ladies, the match was actually a draw, for both sides won and lost equal points.

The interest in the affair was responsible for one of the largest crowds of the winter, and long before the match started the alleys were packed. The Married ladies were kept waiting at the start, evidently through the non-appearance of some of their opponents, and it was finally necessary for President George E. Willey to request the two Single captains to produce their teams.

This was accomplished after some delay, and the Single ladies were escorted to the alleys amid great applause. Their heaviest bowler was recognized as "Sis" Perkins, while Miss Brown made a fit contrast on the lean end of the scales. Not confining themselves to the color line, the Single captains in their hunt for "phenoms" secured two Indians, who appeared in full war paint as Miss Farnsworth and Miss Stephenson. Miss Barr and Miss Crafts were attractive girls, and Miss Newman and Miss Eaton very fetching, although nothing extra in rolling. Another addition was Miss Kerrison who the ——— theatre, while another "find" was produced in a Miss Carleton.

The teams as finally lined up included a very evenly divided assortment of fair bowlers, whose costumes will be described later, when our society reporter has recovered from the shock. The only regretable incidents occurred when single ladies attempted to mobh the foulline referee and when one attempted to kick the pins down. The Married ladies may have been somewhat ruffled, but maintained their amiable serenity in the face of the difficulties, and really rolled a very fair match under rather large odds.

Mrs. Carleton carried off the individual honors with a single string of 94 and the Married ladies rolled the high total with 422. Owing to the early closing, but 8 boxes were rolled on the second string.

Chamberlin of Wildwood street, a member of the well known lumber firm of John M. Wood & Co., and a director for the past five years of the National Hardwood Lumber Association, has been named as a member of the new committee on Hardwood lumber called the "Board of Council for National Defense."

This means Mr. Chamberlin will leave for Washington, Feb. 1st for an indefinite period. His duties, it is understood, will be to advise and consult with the purchasers of hardwood lumber for the Italian, French and English governments, and rush orders wanted by the United States Government.

MUSICAL VESPER SERVICE.

The American String Quartette at the Unitarian Church.

Next Sunday afternoon at 4.30 there will be a musical vesper service at the Unitarian Church with the American String Quartette for talent. This quartette has a national reputation. Philip Hale calls it "a true ensemble."

The New York Review says of it "This organization, whose sponsor is Charles Martin Loeffler, may be said to be a feminine edition of the Flonzaleys. The ladies play with noble feeling and beautiful tone, the sonority of viola and 'cello being particularly noticeable. They appear to be equal technically to all demands, their ensemble is free, the tone round and fresh, and the artistic temperament is there."

The following are the artists and their program:

Gertrude Marshall, violin; Ruth Stickney, violin; Adeline Packard, viola; Hazel L'Africain, 'cello.

Program

Andante Cantabile from Quartet in C major Mozart
Violin Soli
At Sunset Burleigh
En Bateau Debussy
Andante Cantabile Tschaikowsky
Solo for Cello—Air Bach
Adagio Cantabile from D major Quartet Haydn

The public is cordially invited to what will be one of the finest musical services of the winter.

CONSTITUTION MAKING.

United States Commended For Its Progressiveness.

About 60 members and friends of the Unitarian Men's Club were entertained and edified last Friday evening at Metcalf Hall, by an informal talk given by Hon. Robert Luce. He reviewed the origin of constitutional government in the United States, and especially the constitution of our commonwealth, the production almost exclusively of John Adams. He traced the various conventions and amendments through the 18th century, and commended the State for its progressiveness; it had set the pace for the entire Union in the improvement of governmental methods. In recent years these methods have changed—the State has gone into business, expending millions, and not too many, for purposes not originally contemplated by our system, and through the agency of scores of boards, bureaus and commissions, not provided for by the Constitution. Our good roads, water works, sewers, parks and other improvements for public benefit are among the results of evolution. A better reception of public service he believed would result from the voluntary sacrifice of time and the service given by patriotic men during the war emergency, and the constitution should be adapted to the new needs.

Mr. Luce discussed the work of the Constitutional Convention, especially the few measures which have occupied the greater part of its attention. The State is to be congratulated on having adopted the anti-aid amendment with such a degree of unanimity and absence of acrimony. The "I. and R." Amendment is still to be threshed out. His attitude regarding its disposition would depend upon the shape in which it finally emerges from the hands of the convention. While many formidable objections have been shown, and the experience of other States with similar measures has not been wholly satisfactory, the speaker anticipated no cataclysmic disaster should any measurer which may be favored by the convention receive the sanction of the voters and become law. We must recognize the government of the Commonwealth to meet the new needs. Mr. Luce described the workings of the government of England and its colonies and provinces, and that of France, essentially the same, as that of an elective autocracy, having supreme power, though having its roots in the soil of democracy; and contrasted this with the hereditary or "divine right" autocracy of Germany.

A vote of thanks was given the speaker, he answered several inquiries, and the remainder of the evening was spent socially around the refreshment tables.

GERMAN ALIEN ENEMIES MUST REGISTER.

Notice is called to the act requiring the registration of all German alien enemies:

Registration must be made with the Chief of Police.

All natives, citizens, denizens, or subjects of the German Empire or Imperial German Government, being males of the age of 14 years and upwards who are within the United States and not actually naturalized as American citizens are required to register as alien enemies.

Four unmounted photographs of the registrant, not larger than 3 by 3 inches in size, on thin paper, with a light background; each signed by the applicant across the face thereof so as not to obscure the features, are required. Aliens will do well to have these photographs taken at once.

A finger print registration is also required; this to be made at the office where registration takes place.

A registration card will be issued by the registration officer in the form and manner set forth under the regulations. ja25,fe1

WOMAN SHOT AT PLAINS.

Mrs. Louise Pelegrina, 25 years old, was shot and instantly killed at the Plains Saturday night at 10 o'clock by an unidentified person, thought by the police to have been her husband, with whom she was separated.

Mrs. Pelegrina, who was a remarkably pretty and attractive Italian girl, worked in the grocery store of Joseph and Louis Gizzi at the corner of Swanton and Florence streets. At the time of the shooting both brothers were out, one in their house next door and the other in a barber shop across the street. Hearing the shots they and others in the vicinity rushed to the store to find her lying dead and no sign of the perpetrator of the crime.

The woman came to Winchester about three months ago from Niagara Falls, where she has a father and sister. She had previously lived here some two years ago for several months. She had been separated from her husband since last spring, and it is thought that he is the one who shot her, jealousy being the motive.

The police are on the watch for him throughout this section, and the Winchester officers have his description as that of a dark complexioned man, about 5 feet 6 inches in height, weighing about 150 pounds, and wearing a dark suit of clothes and a soft hat. He is said to be a native of Italy, and is about 30 years old.

SAMUEL J. ELDER.

After graduating from Yale, which gave him the degree of LL.D in 1908 he studied law in Boston, was admitted to the Suffolk bar in 1875, and at once entered upon the practice of his profession. For years he was regarded as one of the foremost lawyers of the state.

Probably the most notable event in Mr. Elder's professional career was as one of the counsel, in 1910 for the United States in the presentation of the fisheries dispute between Great Britain and the United States before the Hague International Arbitration Tribunal. Mr. Elder spoke for three and a half days, after Sir Robert Finley, formerly attorney-general of England, had talked twelve days for the other side.

He served in the Massachusetts legislature in 1885, and although time and time again he had been pleaded with to become a candidate for political honors, he persistently refused, following closely the practice of the law, at which he received both fame and a comfortable fortune. Mr. Elder was formerly head of the Boston law firm of Elder, Whitman & Barnum, but lately the firm has been Elder and Whitman, the junior member being Edmund A. Whitman of Cambridge. C. Blaine Niffen is an office associate.

In 1901 Mr. Elder was chosen chairman of the Republican state convention, delivering an address on William McKinley, and in 1908 was elected a delegate to the Republican national convention, serving on the committee on credentials.

Mr. Elder achieved fame as counsel for the defence, with General Bartlett, in the Eastman murder case, in which the Harvard University instructor was tried for the alleged murder of his brother-in-law, and after a three weeks' trial, in the spring of 1901, was acquitted. He was also counsel for the Encyclopedia Britannica in a six-year contest, carried on all over the country, which ended in a victory for the company, the defendents being enjoyed from violation of copyright. In his early days he was counsel in copyright cases for Mark Twain and Oliver Wendell Holmes.

He was counsel for Mary Baker G. Eddy for 10 years, representing her in the Woodbury libel case, and the Christian Science Church in the "next friend" litigation, and as the lady. A grand march will follow, the ladies wearing the hats trimmed by their partners. Prizes are to be awarded for the best and the funniest hats.

He was counsel for Mary Baker G. Eddy for 10 years, representing her in the Woodbury libel case, and the Christian Science Church in the "next friend" litigation, and as the Christian Scientists against hostile legislation. In later years former Gov. Bates and W. M. Morse were associated with Mr. Elder as junior counsel for the Christian Scientists.

Mr. Elder won fame in all branches of the law. As counsel with R. M. Morse for the will of Arioch Wentworth, he fought so great a battle that the result was virtually a decision for the will, a compromise being reached by which practically the entire $7,000,000 bequenthed for a trade school will ultimately be expended in accord with the purpose of the testator. The fee of Messrs. Morse and Elder was $500,000, equally divided, said to have been the largest fee ever paid to counsel in New England. Mr. Elder was also counsel in the Peabody will case where about $1,000,000 was left to found an industrial school for girls. This will was also contested by relatives and Mr. Elder was again successful in having the will sustained.

He was one of the 30 of the most eminent counsel in New England engaged by the defence in the steel cases, brought against steel manufacturers in New England and New York as the result of the investigation of the Boston finance commission the charge being conspiracy, by the "Boston agreement," to defraud the city by collusive bidding. In the case of every one of Mr. Elder's six clients, the court did not even allow the case to go to the jury.

Mr. Elder was counsel for the International Copyright League, and drew in part, the international copyright law of 1891. His address on "Our Archaic Copyright Laws," which was many times reprinted, was one of the first steps in the movement which culminated in the complete revision by Congress of the copyright laws, in 1909. He was lecturer on this subject for several years in the Boston University Law School and had been counsel in much important copyright litigation.

He had served as vice-president of the Boston Bar Association and Middlesex Bar Association, also as president of the Yale Club of Boston. As a member of the Winchester Republican town committees in 1885, 1886 as president of the Young Republican Club he led the anti-Butler forces. As a mason he delivered the oration at the dedication of the present Masonic Temple in Boston, and his last appearence in this town was at the installation of officers of William Parkman Lodge last week. Mr. Elder's last public service was as chairman of his divisional legal advisory board on the draft, volunteering his valuable time and great talent as a lawyer in assisting those amenable to the draft law and in properly answering the questionnaire. He gave his evenings to this patriotic work and kept it up until the last moment.

Mr. Elder was an honorary member of the Calumet Club and also the Winchester Boat Club. In Boston he belonged to the Union Club, of which he was formerly president; the Press Club and The Country Club, and he had been a member also of the Middlesex Club, the Curtis and the Seapuit Clubs.

Mr. Elder on May 10, 1876, married Miss Lilla S. Thomas, of Hastings-on-Hudson, New York. Mrs. Elder died in August 1907, and he never remarried. Surviving him are three daughters and a son, as follows: Miss Margaret Elder, now in Arizona; Miss Frances Elder, who is clinical secretary of social service work at the Massachusetts General Hospital; and Miss Ruth Elder, who is a student at Vassar College. The son is Samuel J. Elder, Jr., who is now at Evans school in Mesa, Ariz.

When Mr. Elder went abroad in 1910, to attend the fisheries investigation at the Hague, his daughters also went to Europe and after the close of the conference the family travelled for three months on the continent, including Germany, Austria and France. Mr. Elder had great fondness for European travel, having crossed many times, and he was one of the founders of the social club called the "Atlantic Conference," the members of which, or the majority of them, first crossed in the Cephalonia. The club included among others, A. Shuman, Charles T. Gallagher and the late Jerome Jones.

GERALDINE FARRAR AT WOBURN.

Geraldine Farrar, the noted prima donna, will make her debut under the Artcraft trade-mark at the Woburn Theatre on next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, in "The Woman God Forgot," a spectacular photo drama written especially for her by Jeanie MacPherson, and produced under the personal direction of Cecil B. deMille, the noted director.

In the few photodramas in which Geraldine Farrar has appeared, she has established herself as the leading emotional actress of the film. Her first appearance, "Carmen," and her more recent production, "Joan, the Woman," have been the sensations of the photodramatic world.

The production is one of the most elaborate and beautiful ever made by Cecil deMille. The work of this famous director is too well known to be exploited in this brief space. Noted as the creator of artistic effects, his last work is considered his best.

The cast supporting Miss Farrar, besides Wallace Reid, includes such prominent names as Hobart Bosworth, Theodore Kosloff, the famous Russian dancer, Raymond Hatton, James Neill and others of equal prominence.

CAMP DEVENS ENGINEER AT CALUMET.

Mr. V. T. Goggin, one of the engineers who planned and constructed Camp Devens at Ayer, will be the speaker at the Smoker at the Calumet Club to be held this Saturday evening.

This camp, being one of the largest established by the United States Government, the lecture should prove very interesting especially as Mr. Goggin will show over one hundred illustrated views taken at various times during construction.

DETERMINED TO WIN.

An Italian Officer Says Situation is Just Short of Desperate.

The following letter is from an Italian officer serving in the Trentino, who until the war broke out was in business in New York; a student of Italian history and proud of the achievements of his race, he feels deeply the sorrow of the present crisis.

Brescia, Nov. 7th, 1917.

My dear Frances:—

I know that you and my other friends in America must be thinking of me these days, while apprehending the news of events on our front. I like to let you know what my feelings are, or, better, what are the feelings of the Italians in these tragic days.

We have not lost our heads. Under the violence of the blow that has struck us the whole nation has reacted and we are today facing with calm, a situation that is just short of being desperate. We have faith we will overcome it. We have a good army, strong allies, and a determined will to win.

It is a question of time and nerves. I suppose there will be some doubt abroad as to the nerves of our soldiers after the sad episode that has caused the collapse of our Eastern front. Still, you can count on them to do their duty as they have done for two years; as they have done the very day of the defeat, outside of the few for whose momentary failure we are suffering today.

I never boasted about the deeds of the Italian army in her glorious days; I can do it now, when a dark cloud threatens to dim her glory. The men that stood two winters the ice of the Alps and the horrors of the Carso, that took Gorizia and the Banziza, deserve some indulgence, if few of them have failed. Even for those few I wouldn't be too severe. Perhaps we asked of them endurance beyond the limit of human power. Last winter hundreds of soldiers were taken from the trenches with frozen feet, some frozen to death, some ill beyond recovery from exposure. So the winter before. Two years of such suffering may break the fibre of the strongest.

Our enemies knew it and took all advantage of it. They got at our men with insidious means, used the unfair arms with which they have won most of their battles, poisoned the mind weary with the long sojourn in the trenches, deluded them into the notion that peace was coming, that everybody was going to be friends, that all would be home before Christmas. When the time was ripe they threw off the mask and struck.

Their victory was easy; our defeat was terrible. But a miracle, it didn't mean the irreparable loss of the whole army—for a miracle, and for the magnificent way our soldiers of the third army fought. They battled for three days, in several points routing the Austrians, till they had to retreat lest they be caught in the rear by the Germans, rushing through the wide gap in our second army, at their left.

I cannot go into an account of the events now. You know them as well as I. You will know more by the time you get this letter. What I have to say is that, rather than crying upon the misfortunes, we are collecting all our will and all our forces to stem the enemy, with the hope of eventually pushing him back. I am not going to brag we will do it. I know we will fight for it. Our men will be worth tenfold on the Venetian plains defending our soil than they were on the rocks of the Carso.

Our Allies have come to our help with an admirable solitude, with a true fraternal spirit. If on the other side they have the Germans, the Turks, the Bulgars, we have the French, the English and hope soon to have the Americans.

I have asked to join the British contingent on our front, as they need officers with a good knowledge of both languages; I hope to have a favorable answer soon. Not that I care more to fight with the English than with the Italians, but because I think I could do better than many others in the position I have applied for, while many others could do better than I in the position I have now. In any case I will do my duty as I have done as everyone in Italy is doing.

My heart is full of bitterness, such bitterness to which no other sadness can compare. Still I am going through this terrible trial with unshaken confidence that Italy will cancel the memory of this sad page in her history. The blow has destroyed on one day a hundredfold what two years of sacrifices had won for us. Still the two years were not lost, as they showed the world what we could do. They are a good promise of what we still will do.

I wish you would tell these things to our mutual friends.

I would like to write them all, but can't in these days.

Yours cordially,
Silvo (Villi)

THE FEDERAL INCOME TAX

Returns Must Be Filed on or Before March 1

REVENUE MEN HELPING OUT

Between 350,000 and 400,000 people of Massachusetts in all walks of life are required to file Federal Income Tax returns for the year 1917. Citizens and residents in every section of the state are now affected by the Federal income Tax laws, from wage-earners, farmers and small storekeepers to the multi-millionaire.

Although many thousands of people who have never before filed Federal returns are this year required to do so, there is a closer co-operation between the Government and the people in making the regulations clearly understood.

The internal Revenue Office at Boston has sent out one hundred of its trained deputies to assist the people in understanding their obligations and in preparing the required personal returns. These deputies have headquarters in the leading industrial centers and are radiating into the surrounding towns and farming districts.

It is the earnest intention of John F. Malley, Collector of internal Revenue for Massachusetts to bring every facility of his office to the aid of citizens and residents, so that the number of delinquents who fail to fulfill the obligation imposed by the law will be a small minority.

Collector Malley points out the following vital facts in connection with the Federal income Tax for 1917:

WHO MUST FILE?

Every unmarried person whose net income was $1000 or over.

Every married person living apart from wife (or husband), whose net income was $1000 or over.

Every married person living with wife (or husband), whose net income, including that of wife (or husband) and minor children, was $2000 or over.

The obligation to file the return is independent of whether tax is due the government. The law says such return must be filed.

The net income of an individual is his total income less certain expenditures named in the law. In computing the tax there is a personal exemption of $1000 to an unmarried person; $2000 to a married person, or to a single person, who actually supports one or more dependent relatives. A parent is allowed $200 extra exemption for each child under 18.

There are only two divisions of people in Massachusetts who are relieved from the obligation to file income tax returns for 1917.

First:—A person who received net income below the amount specified in the law as requiring a return from an individual in his status as a married or unmarried person.

Second:—The officials and employees of a state, county, city or town, who did not receive, aside from salary or wages from such sources, taxable income to the amount specified in the law.

Collector Malley has particularly pointed out that a return of net income may be required even though a tax is not due the Government. In other words, he says "the filing of returns is mandatory, a special provision of the income tax law." Any tax due the Government is computed on such a return. The prime necessity for the resident of Massachusetts at this time is that he prepare and file with Collector Malley or one of his deputies an accurate return for 1917, on or before March 1, if his income reached the amounts named in the law.

If a person's net income for 1917 was below $3000, he should file his return on Form 1040A. Blanks of this form may be secured from John F. Malley, Collector of Internal Revenue, Boston, or from any of his deputies who are traveling through the state. Postmasters and the press are in close touch with the operations of these men, and can furnish information as to when these men can be reached for blanks and for free advice in the preparation of returns.

Every precaution has been taken against liability of fraud. The Internal Revenue deputies give their services free of charge, and are not allowed to accept cash. Checks or money orders in payment of tax due can be accepted by them, and in fact it is suggested that when returns are filed it is often more convenient for the tax payer to attach then and there a check or money order, thus avoiding the necessity for future annoyance or possible inconvenience or oversight in making payment of the tax due.

There are severe penalties provided by the Federal income Tax law in cases of negligence or evasion of the duty of filing returns that are required. There is a penalty of from $20 to $1000 for failure to file return within the period prescribed by law, that is on or before March 1st.

There is also a penalty of 50% added to any tax due the Government on the delinquent return.

A person who makes a false or fraudulent return is subject to a fine of $2000 and a year's imprisonment, and he must pay double the tax which he has evaded.

SHE WAS LOYAL.

With Two Children, Woman Urged That Husband Go To War.

Exemption Boards, in deciding cases for exemption claimed by draftees, must meet with many peculiar situations. Some of the reasons advanced show the "Slacker" in his true form, and others show an honest desire to safeguard the wife and children and the aged and dependent father and mother, or both.

Last week, before the Exemption Board at Arlington, there came up a case in which an unmistakable "Slacker" appeared and asked for exemption on the ground that he supported a wife and two children. The Board is composed of Arlington and Winchester men, before whom all draftees must appear for examination, also those who ask for exemption. Whether the "Slacker" lives in Arlington or Winchester is not divulged. The case in brief was this: A man appeared before the Board and asked for exemption. He was accompanied by his wife, who was required to sign the exemption paper to make it effective. He gave his reasons in detail why he should not serve, but before he had concluded, the wife said that she wanted him to serve. Asked by a member of the Board, if it was decided to accept him, how she was going to provide for herself and two children, she replied that she was going to teach school, having been a teacher in her home town in England. She was told that she could hardly look for a position as teacher here, even if she had filled a similar position in England. Then she replied that she would take up nursing, although she had never trained as such. "I want my husband to go to war," she exclaimed. "I am able and can fully take care of myself and children, and I cannot bear the thought of his staying at home. My father, in England, is serving in the army, so too, are my brothers, and I would hate dreadfully to have my children know that their father did not do his duty as a soldier in this war." The woman was emphatic in her desire that her husband should go, and when he attempted to expostulate told him to "shut up! that he was perfectly able to go and that she could take care of running the home until he returned."

This woman was patriotic to a degree, and her husband was apparently a "Slacker". The Exemption Board, after consideration, put the man in the third class.

WINCHESTER GIRLS SWAMPED POSSE.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The day set for the Middlesex county convention of the W. C. T. U. was about the worst one of the winter if getting about was considered. It snowed and blowed and rained and thawed and froze and then tried several variations—everything but being clear and pleasant. Nevertheless there was a good attendance, Winchester having three representatives, and considerable business was transacted. Mrs. G. H. Hamilton was chosen as vice president-at-large, a position from which she resigned something more than a year ago, when she was succeeded by Dr. Rand, who is now County President.

Among the interesting features were several brief reports of the National convention, each delegate giving one phase of the work done by the representatives of a half-million white ribboners. Mrs. Hamilton also gave a summary of the work done by the various departments of work in the County during the past year, weaving the reports of the superintendents together into a coherent whole. This measure is in the interests of efficiency, saving much of the time of the convention. The State superintendents of Franchise, Press and the Official Papers, and the secretary of Y. P. B. work presented the work of their departments and plans for the year's work were outlined. Middlesex is the largest county still undivided and with the White Ribbon Home at Ayer, within its borders it is also the center of the most important work of the year.

Winchester was well represented at the Ratification banquet at Ford Hall last week which was a distinct success with a long list of good speakers—Mrs. Gleason of this town among them—and much enthusiasm. Robert A. Woods said half the joy of a Prohibition victory would be gone for him if Massachusetts had to be conscripted into the service. So many others feel the same that all are going to make a tremendous fight to have the Bay State ratify the amendment during the present session. Temperance sentiment is growing daily, but those who are working must keep on working until victory is achieved. Don't fail to tell your representatives how you want them to vote.

Again the Winchester Union records with sorrow the passing of one of its oldest members, Mrs. Holt, who although long a resident of Cambridge, kept up her membership and continued her interest in the doings of the Winchester branch. The older members knew her best, but many will remember her and regret her passing. Very few of the earlier members are left. Madam Lydia L. Blood being the oldest and best known.

FUNERAL OF ARTHUR E. WHITNEY.

Funeral services for the late Arthur E. Whitney, who died at his home on Jan. 15th, were held Friday afternoon at two-thirty at the Unitarian Church. There was a large attendance of friends, business associates and town officers at the services, which were conducted by the minister of the Church, Rev. Joel H. Metcalf. Rev. Mr. Metcalf paid an eloquent tribute to the deceased, whom he termed a typical New Englander.

During the service violin selections were rendered by Ernst Hoffman, son of Jacquest Hoffman of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, with Mrs. George H. Lochman at the organ.

The pall bearers were George S. Littlefield, George H. Carter, E. Henry Stone, Walter H. Marsh, George G. Stratton and Henry A. Emerson. Honorary bearers from the Calumet Club were George S. Littlefield, George H. Carter and Charles A. Lane.

There was a most magnificent display of flowers, including many gifts from prominent business firms, societies, town departments and individuals. The remains were taken to Mt. Auburn for cremation.

MILTON TOO STRONG.

Milton Academy proved too strong for Winchester High in their hockey Saturday afternoon, whitewashing the local boys 9 to 0. The win was Milton's fourth successive win this season.

Milton Academy had trouble in the opening period, only tallying one point, but the goals came fast in the second period. Capt. Eben Page of Milton Academy, who is a Winchester boy, was the headliner for the winners, scoring four goals. The summary:

Milton Academy: Hastings, Rice, rw; Cabot, Humphrey, c; Phillips, Page, r; Saltonstall, Lee, lw; Cotter, Baxter, cp; Lincoln, Ladd, p; Gorham, g.

Winchester High: Kibbie, lw; Saltmarsh, c; Roberts, Hayes, r; Reynolds, rw; Ross, cp; G. Barton, p; E. Barton, g.

Score, Milton Academy 9. Goals made, by Page 4, Cabot, Humphrey 3, Phillips. Referee, W. R. Grannan. Goal umpires, Parsons and Butts. Timers, Wren and Peters. Time, 15-minute halves.

The warrant for the annual Town Meeting closes on Monday, Feb. 4th.

Procrastination is the theft of labor and industry.

1917—18 will be known in history as the time that the United States fell down.

It is said of the late Samuel J. Elder that he never would take a case against a Yale man.

President P. F. Sullivan has stated his belief, in answer to a question if an increase of fares would enable the company to run the road at a profit, that he "didn't think God Almighty could run the Bay State Street Railway at a profit. Every dollar the road has received in the past few years has cost us more than a dollar," he said.

The fuel shortage has arrived at a point where the blame is "passed along." Some persons say that it is the fault of the mines, and the operators say it is a shortage of cars; it is a lack of coal barges and tugs; it is the ice and stormy weather; it is the making of ammunition; it is the fuel administration at Washington, etc., etc. But one of the real causes was that the Government authorities overslept.

In the death of our esteemed and beloved townsman, Samuel J. Elder, not only does the Town of Winchester suffer an irreparable loss but the State and Country as well. A lawyer of the highest standing, possessed of a mind so keen and farseeing that few men cared to match themselves against him, he supplimented his gifted powers with a most genial and lovable personality. His presence at Town and social functions was always eagerly sought, and his appearance was always the signal for the applause his friends and neighbors spontaneously accorded him. He held a place in the hearts of his townspeople which could only be accorded to a man of his worth. As might be expected, his greatness was only exceeded by his modesty, and while he sought in many ways to avoid appearance in the public eye, he never failed to do what he felt his duty to Friend, Community or State. In his passing Winchester mourns the loss of its best beloved and admired citizen, and a man worthy of all that could be accorded him.

Illustrative of what we all know of the late Samuel J. Elder was a recent transaction at this office. On New Year's Day we received a request from Mr. Elder to send the STAR, on his account, to six Winchester boys in Service. The names were selected and approved, but in his O. K. Mr. Elder stated that the boys were not to know from whom the paper came. We felt that Mr. Elder should not withhold his identity in the gift, but all urging to that effect fell upon deaf ears until, as a final plea, we stated that the fact that the gift came from him would add much more to the pleasure of the six boys, who would undoubtedly write him and give him opportunity to answer their letters, and letters were most eagerly anticipated by everyone in the Service. Mr. Elder then allowed his name to be used solely that he might add further pleasure to those whom he felt were giving their best to their Country, and do his share in upholding the spirit of 1918. We have reason to believe that he received acknowledgment of his gift from at least one of the boys before his death, but the others, who are serving their Country in France, will never thank the donor. His gift will be doubly cherished, and his spirit of kindliness and loyalty will live on, stimulating the youth of his Town to follow its pointings in deeds which he sought to prompt. We quote from his letter: "It falls upon you and I, who are too old to go to the front, to do all we can for the boys who are giving their all to their Country."

EBEN PAGE MEMORIAL.

New Reredos Dedicated at Church of the Epiphany.

In the Church of the Epiphany on Sunday morning there was a dedication service in which the reredos, presented to the church in memory of the late Eben Blake Page, were consecrated. The memorial is the gift of the widow, Mrs. Annie A. Page, and two sons, Bishop Herman Page of Spokane, Wash., who preached the dedication sermon, and John E. Page of this town.

The first rector of the church, Rev. John W. Suter, upon his resignation after more than 25 years in that capacity was elected by the parish rector honorarius, and Rev. William S. Packer, minister in charge, also took part in the services. The present rector, Rev. Murray W. Dewart, is now chaplain of the 101st Field Artillery in France.

The reredos is a tapestry representing the Epiphany story, the visit of the wisemen, with a frame of carved stone and wood.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS.

Ft. at Lieut. Gordon E. Musselman, A. S. S. C., formerly of 12 Manchester road, has been transferred from San Antonio, Tex., where he has been stationed for several months to Washington, D. C.

As a tribute to the memory of Samuel J. Elder the flags in town are flying at half staff. The funeral will be held on Sunday at 2.30 at the Congregational church and arrangements are to be made with the Boston & Maine for a special train from Boston to accommodate the many people who will want to attend. Miss Margaret Elder and her brother, who are en route from Arizona, are expected to arrive Saturday.

MIXED TOURNAMENT.

What a Gasteam Radiator Would Mean in Your Home, Store, Factory, Church—

YOU have an ever-ready, simple, clean, convenient, sure heating system.

You have steam heat when and where you want it——on the chilly spring and autumn evenings, when you'd otherwise sit around and shiver and catch cold—

—in midwinter, for the whole house or for that room that "simply will not heat up."

—and no one needs to tend fire—father, maid or "man."

The price of coal is up, and bids fair to go higher. And it's harder to keep your rooms just right with coal. Too much means waste of money; too little means sickness.

Coal is scarce and our Country needs it

Calumet Bowlers Make New Figures Against Kernwood.

The Kernwood Club of Malden paid a return visit to the Calumet Club on Friday evening and met the local club men in matches in bowling, billiards, pool and cards. Calumet won the tourney 12 to 5 points and incidentally its first bowling team set a new mark in Boston pins by rolling a three string total of 1650. Its highest string was 585.

Calumet won both the bowling matches, although each team dropped one string. It won two points in pool, one in billiards and three in cards.

In the bowling every man on Calumet's first team made a total over three hundred. Bond was high with a single of 118 and a total of 357. Newman, on the second team, rolled 341, with a single of 125; Gendron got 335 with 113 high string. Foster of the visitors rolled a single of 133 and a total of 337, and Berry of the local club got 332 with 126.

F. J. Bartlett beat Smalley in their billiard contest by 14 points. Bartlett played both billiard matches first meeting Comins, who defeated him by 11, and then taking on Smalley. Bartlett was thoroughly warmed up when he met the latter player, while Smalley went on cold.

Henry Weed won his pool match from Smith by a good margin, but Harry Stevens lost to Howard Bartlett by two points in a very close game.

At cards the Calumet players won all three points from Kernwood.

COAL QUESTION.

Doing Business Between 9 and 5 O'clock To Win the War.

Editor of the Star:

Th coal committee with their efforts and knowledge could no doubt, make certain changes in their present requests and ruling in the time of opening and closing stores, that would be more agreeable to the public and the store keepers than they are at the present time. There is only one object for these rules at the present time, they are being worked out to save coal. With this in mind where can you point out where any coal is saved from 7 until 9 o'clock in the morning. You request the store keepers to do business from 9 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. You might point out that a little fuel is saved on lights, in store windows after 5 p. m. Then you throw this saving to the winds by allowing the street lights on Church street, Washington street and through the center of the Town to illuminate the daylight seventeen minutes before the law requests an automobilist to light their lights By shutting off every other light on one great white way, (thanks extended to the agents of the Edison Electric Light Co.) you would save five times as much fuel as you could save in all the store lights according to your ruling in the Town of Winchester. Now if these things have to be carried out, it is expected by even Mr. Storrow himself, that a committee should use horse sense and impose the least hardship possible on his fellow man.

P. E. Fitzgerald.

COPLEY THEATRE.

The mood of the hour responds immediately to the appeal of the war play. For over six months "The Man Who Stayed at Home" revealed the interest of the public in a drama of intrigue mingled with comedy, and now "Inside the Lines" bids fair to follow it along the highway to success. Its second week begins at the Copley Theatre on Monday evening with every sign of continued popularity.

"Inside the Lines" is a play about the war with its scenes set far from the actual fighting.

The entire play, produced under the personal direction of Mr. Jewett, is acted with a skill that adds not a little to its appeal.

Performances of "Inside the Lines" are given at the Copley Theatre every evening except Tuesday and on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons. The prices range from 25 cents to $1.50, with 25 cent, 50 cent and 75 cent seats in the balcony, $1.00 in the mezzanine, and $1.00 and $1.50 in the orchestra. Seats may be procured at the box office, by telephone, at Filene's or Jordan's, or at any of the authorized theatre ticket agencies.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

The Board of Health report the following contagious diseases for the week ending Jan. 23: German measles 1, Scarlet fever 2, Measles 11.

The Winchester High School basket ball team lost its game on Tuesday at Wellesley with the High School of that town 14 to 17. The game was close and the local boys came near capturing the honors.

Please give publicity to the following:

To every American the fact should be brought home that we are at war with a people under the dominance of the most brutal government the world has ever seen.

Every person of every nation now fighting under the control of Germany, should be considered an enemy if not unless well known to be absolutely loyal to the United States.

The enemy's activities in this country are directed by the shrewdest persons, both men and women, who are well versed in the work required of them.

The case in this country the vast and tens of thousands of individuals who desire to see us humiliated as a nation, and defeated on the field and they are willing to do everything possible to bring this to pass about.

To meet the insidious effort of those evil minded and highhanded organized and trained persons, every good American must be alert at all times, and be keen and active enough to defeat all enemy purposes and activities.

Any disloyal act or word may have great significance, and every disloyal act and enemy activity should be immediately communicated to the Intelligence Officer, Northeastern Department, United States Army, and to the nearest Bureau of the Department of Justice.

The Mid-Winter Bowling Tournament in Boston Pins will open at the Calumet Club next Thursday night when six of the ten teams entered will roll their opening matches. LOSES TO WELLESLEY.

After outplaying Wellesley in the first half scoring 13 points to their two Winchester failed before the strong defensive work and excellent shooting of Wellesley on their floor Tuesday night, the final score being 17 to 18. This was the second league game and the boys were very anxious to win. Winchester was handicapped by the loss of Sigler who was unable to play on account of sickness. Hevey scored three baskets, McKenzie and Shaughnessy doing excellent guard work.

WAR LETTER OF INTEREST TO ALL.

Extract from letters of Geo. Bryant Woods, 1st Lieutenant, Aviation Section American Expeditionary Force.

November 20, 1917.

It has been over two weeks since I last wrote but it is because I have been laid up. Nothing serious but aggravating—some sort of jaundice We have had very little flying weather so I haven't missed anything that way and I am practically well now although weak.

None of the packages have come yet. Will be very glad when they do. We can use everything that is built for warmth for flying certainly is a cold business. Those who have had a taste of altitude work are having such things as fur-lined boots, face masks etc. made. Our issue coats, fur-lined trousers and mittens are very good.

Just a day or so after I wrote last we had a few good days and I took successfully my first brevet and one ride on the second before I got sick. That day I spent about two hours in the air all together and was just about as tired that night as after a hard foot-ball game except of course no physical bruises. I certainly am beginning to appreciate that it is real work, not physical but nervous energy. In the first brevet you make figure eights around two courses keeping at a constant altitude. You have around your neck a leather case with a barograph in it and in front of you an altimeter with needle on graduated dial. You climb 400 meters level out and try to catch the least movement of the needle above or below that mark. Meanwhile the barograph is recording every variation and you are doing eights. If it is bumpy and you have to fiddle with the gas pressure valve there is quite a lot to think about. You make five eights, come down, and then repeat (about 40 minutes in all.) Then you bundle up and go up to 1000 meters for nearly an hour also trying to keep at a constant height and just keeping reasonably near the field. I had smooth weather and just enough clouds to make it interesting dodging them and it was not too cold.

I should get about fifteen lessons now before taking the second brevet, practically all altitude work. My record was fairly good for the first—something like that. . . . . It is pasted on a big printed sheet which I or the instructor sign and goes to headquarters. I was very lucky not to have been sick during the stretch of good weather for I only missed one or two turns in all. We have two good American doctors here, a medical sergeant, and three privates so I was well taken care of.

I had plenty of time to think how nice it would be to be at home. As someone said the next best thing to being well and at home would be to be sick at home. It could have been much worse because malaria has troubled two or three of the boys. We have more sickness than we should have, probably the change of diet and water. Not enough sweets for one thing except milk chocolate.

I will not get to Rome in time to send things home for Christmas and there is nothing in Foggia so I am very sorry. If anything arrives about a month later you will know it was at least sent around Christmas time and with the same spirit. I certainly would like to be there

. . . . . .

Italy,
November 25, 1917.

No one has been hurt in any way here yet although of course we have had several small smashes. I have been going strong with lots of time in the air and enjoying it a lot after my enforced rest. This morning I went 2500 meters (8000 feet.) The air was wonderful and with a good machine it only took 23 minutes to make it.

Bill . . . . . gave an impromptu feed at the canteen last night so this was interrupted. We had a very special salad with real mayonnaise and two roast turkeys. I have had a real appetite since I was sick and ought to soon make up for the weight I lost. Two out of the three nights before I had dined in town and am going to keep on once every two or three days. We can get a very elaborate meal for about eighty cents in American money and make up for the things we don't get here such as green stuffs.

Lieut. Herman in charge of the second brevet line is surely showing favoritism as far as I am concerned. He is very conscientious and nice and looks like a little boy. Practically every time we fly he calls for me and we have a very big class. It is of course because I missed some while I was sick but it is not necessary and I hadn't expected it at all. This morning it was quite rough and the clouds were low. He sent me up telling me to go as high as I wanted to and I had a splendid flight dodging between the clouds and getting above them where the air was wonderful and smooth. It is certainly like another world. The earth and oneself are perfectly stationary and the clouds go racing by or underneath. In the distance they look like vast billowy fields of pure white snow without the sparkle—here and there a black or snow covered peak of the Arennines sticking up through them. The sky is a beautiful but different blue and you can look the sun square in the eye. The air is so smooth that you can just sit there and ride. I went to 4000 meters a little less than two miles high in 33 minutes and came down in ten. Am very much pleased that the altitude affects me hardly at all and it does not tire me as it did at first. If Lieut. Herman sees on giving me rides out of turn I will be up where I should be and ready for my raid in a few days.

We have a Caproni here and the few that have finished us have already had rides. It certainly looks big and clumsy but it is fast and apparently handles well for its size. There is a chance that we will not be able to get to Rome after finishing the brevet, in that case we will start right in on the Caproni; but we hope the Major will continue giving three or four day leaves.

There is an article in Aerial Age about crossing the Atlantic by aeroplane which tells about a new development—radio directional control. If it can be perfected and it seems to have been, it will solve the whole problem of aerial navigation. An invisible thread drawing the aeroplane straight from Newfoundland to the Azores only 1200 miles and easy for a Caproni and thence to Ireland. I have always felt until now that it would not be done for years. I would be interested in any newspaper clipping you happen to see about it.

November 28, 1917.

Everything is going splendidly—lots of flying and feeling fine. Yesterday Gordon . . . . . , Bill . . . . . Buck . . . . . and Oliver . . . . . (who have flown in the States and were the first to finish up) officially received their commissions. This is great news because it means that we are all to get ours recommended as soon as we have completed the military or second brevet. With good weather I should be ready for mine in about three days. I will cable when I have finished up.

Since I wrote to . . . . . I have finished up my altitude work and have had three shots at the square. The last altitude was 3500 meters (11,500 feet) fifty minutes up, thirteen down. The shots at the square are cutting the motor and figuring out height, wind etc, so as to land and stop in a rectangle on the field. This morning I went into the clouds at about 9,000 feet and must have been in for about seven or eight minutes. It is quite exciting for the first time. Of course everything is blotted out, earth, sky and sun. I had no idea how it was going to be but found it was easy to feel the balance and right climbing but in about two minutes I had no idea where I was heading. I had to keep wiping my goggles and there was a little snow. When I came down and out I was all twisted around and on the other side of camp. We don't have a compass. This afternoon I was all bundled up for my "hour and a half" but didn't get a machine.

Last evening Sherry . . . . . and I went into dinner and the theatre. We thought it was to be "The Merchant of Venice" but we were wrong. Luckily we had an Italian from the camp in the party so were able to get the story. It was a light comedy and very well done although of course rather different from the home variety.

Tomorrow is Thanksgiving. We had a private room and party of nine all arranged only to discover it will be a meatless day so no turkey, and our Thanksgiving will have to be postponed. The lights go out in three minutes so will have to end this abruptly. Best love to all,

December 2. 1917.

Just a little to tell you about the flying. Everything has gone wonderfully and I am all finished up except the raid. Yesterday I spent nearly three hours in the air all told, first for my official hour and a half and I got to 4200 meters (over two and a half miles and just about as high as an M. Farnum will go.) Then all the other flights connected with the second brevet landing in a strange field, official shots at the square and a ¾ hour flight supposedly in windy weather. Today three of us would have made the raid but it was too windy and cloudy. We are sure of our leave and have made plans for Rome. We will have three days and two nights and expect to see much and eat well. I am going with Paton . . . . . and Jack . . . . . and we will get along very well together. The others who have been, give us all the dope and how best to fit anything in to the time allowed. I am planning to send a few things home although they will be late for Christmas.

Did I tell you that we had a Thanksgiving planned only to find it was a meatless day? So today is Thanksgiving for eight Americans anyway with two turkeys, a private room, music and all, and it is nearly time to go in now. I'll write about the raid after the next good flying day

Merry Christmas,

. . . . . .

December 7, 1917.

. . . . . .

Practically nothing has happened since I wrote last, we have just been waiting for the right weather for the raid. It has been very cold, windy, cloudy and enough snow to cover the ground twice. The cold has been very uncomfortable because there is nowhere to get warm. It is allright when you are out doors but sitting around reading and writing most everyone is bundled up in overcoats and flying clothes. This morning Ed . . . . . Jack . . . . . and myself got all bundled up and ready to start, the machines were all warmed up but it was clouding up meanwhile and Capt. Orlando decided we had better not go. I had on three pair of socks, wool-lined slippers and overshoes, two sets of underclothes, chamois drawers, two sweaters, flannel shirt, fur-lined vest, wristers, two pair fur-lined mittens, flying clothes, fur-lined helmet and face mask and a big wool jumper over all.

In France they use electrically heated clothes—it is no game for the cold-blooded, but we are not complaining because we might be far worse off.

Italy,
December 9, 1917.

. . . . . .

We are all through at last—have seen the Major and leave tonight for Rome—all set.

The raid was not hard, not too cold but fairly tiring. It is in two separate legs because the tanks have to be refilled. On the first leg four of us started but Jack . . . . . broke a connecting rod and came back. Over Manfredonia I ran into a solid bank of clouds at 3500 meters that was too high to climb over. I tried it by compass for a few minutes and then decided to come out from under. We have to stay on the first trip over 3000 meters for at least an hour but I found I could stay just under the clouds and just over the 3200 meters most of the way. My record was like this . . . . . each wave a cloud that I decided to duck. The rest was uneventful. The first round took two hours, 20 minutes and the second a little over two hours. There were no clouds on the second round so I made 4,600 meters (15,000 feet.) It was very beautiful over the Adriatic which we cut across for a little of the way. It is fine to have it all over and know that our commissions are recommended. To day I have been running around getting ready to go to Rome and am all ready now. I have quite some list of things to get for myself and for others such as heavy pajamas, toilet articles, jam, candy, gourdes, books, towels, puttees, etc.

We leave tonight at midnight and have three days and two nights there. We just heard that Jack . . . . . landed with a broken motor somewhere near Barletta this noontime so our party will be cut down from four to three, Ed . . . . . Pat . . . . . and myself. We will have a wonderful time.

In my last letter I sent two pictures taken from the air. I wonder if they got by the censor. I am sending two more in this. We have just been over getting our Italian Military passes. They make note of everything from helmet down to type of nose.

I will send a few things from Rome but of course they will be late for Christmas.

Happy New Year and lots of love.

From Marshall J. England.

The following taken from a letter written by Marshall J. England, dated Dec. 28th, 1917, from "Somewhere in France," will be of interest to those who contributed to the Y. M. C. A. Campaign:—

"It would be difficult for you to realize just what things cost over here. Prices are almost beyond imagination, and when one has the cash, it is difficult to buy things. Personally I have myself trained now so I can live happily and comfortable on very little. Am burning two candles for light, and a little oil stove for heat This is all a luxury. Incidentally I am smoking a 5c cigar with satisfaction. I often think what very little a man can get along with, if he wants to, provided, of course, you have the physical strength to stand it.

It is very cold tonight, and the wind comes in the cracks of my remorque. I am sitting on a hard board bench and I am comfortable and really enjoying the life.

You ask about the Y. M. C. A. I think it is safe to say that the Y. M. C. A. has the warmest sort of a spot in the heart of every American soldier in France, also the sailors. I never belonged to a Y. M. C. A., but there is no organization for which I have more respect. When in Paris I stopped at the Y. M. C. A. Hotel, as I have already written you.

In this camp we have a Y. M. C. A. It offers us recreation which is appreciated by the boys in a way that I cannot express. I go there almost every evening and get an hour or two of rest and recreation. Our hut is run by two men who are very popular and we have the best of recreation. These nights a week we have moving pictures, three nights French lessons, and on Sunday religious meeting and practical talks. Also singers, etc., come out from Paris. Recently a man told me of a very long trip he was on, in which all the food he had was supplied by Y. M. C. A. men, they having followed along with hot coffee and bread.

The entire system is ideal, practical, economically managed, and, in short, a life saver for the boys. I have been intending to write you about it before. Newton has reason to be proud of the money she gave, and every man here would like to thank the men who gave the money. It would be a genuine "Thank You" too.

The American Y. M. C. A. is doing much for the French poilu, and its effect will be lasting. When in Paris, I had a French Lieutenant with me for dinner and he was astonished at the place and what it is doing. They are so practical and American in everything they do.

We had a nice Christmas here; plenty to eat and wear. One of the popular greetings was "A Merry Christmas. May you never have another like it," but really there was a smile everywhere. The Y. M. C. A. had a very interesting party in the evening. The hut was decorated with a tree, candles and the usual Christmas decorations. Little favors such as corn-cob pipes, Bull Durham tobacco, memorandum books, etc., were passed out.

We are having quite a snow storm. In fact, have had a great deal of snow and very cold weather for several days I don't mind the snow as much as I do the wet, rainy weather.

Am feeling fine and find things very interesting here."

WINCHESTER BOY WRITES POEM.

The following poem evidently written by an unknown Winchester boy, appeared last week under "Newton Newkirk's All Sorts:"

The Heroes At The Rear.

The papers sing the praises of the heroes at the front—
We daily read accounts about some brave and thrilling stunt;
Our soldiers they deserve it, but I have a haunting fear
That history will forget about us heroes at the rear.

There isn't any sugar and we're mighty shy on grease.
What little coal we get is handed to us by the piece.
Fresh eggs are scarce as hens' teeth, and a stingy plate of beans
Is only for the guy who has a big roll in his jeans;
The soap is getting scarcer as we all conserve on fats.
Out West they're eating horses and there's talk of "canning" cats!
The girls are all conserving—the saucy little flirts—
By cutting off their shoe-tops and shortening their skirts;
Now even in the doughnuts they are making bigger holes.
In restaurants you nevermore see any sugar bowls,
Electric signs are snuffing out to save the heat and light,
And movies now are closing up at 10 o'clock at night;
If this goes on much longer and Hoover has his way
We'll have to live out in the barn and eat the old cow's hay!
The heroes are not all at war, I think you will agree,
For anyone who lives through this a hero brave must be.

Letter From W. M. Glendon.

Camp J. E. Johnston.
Jan. 17, 1918.

Dear Mr. Wilson:

Just a few lines to let you know that I received the STAR that you sent me for Mr. ——, and was very happy to read it once more, and to know what is going on in Winchester.

Winchester is well represented down here. I think there must be eight or nine fellows down here from there, but if you send the extra copies, I will see that they get them all right.

The weather down here is like our summer weather up there, except in the early morning and evenings, it gets chilly.

I think it is very good of Mr. — to think of us that way and I am sure it will be appreciated by us all here. I will let you know if we do not receive the STAR every week.

Respectfully,
Private W. M. Glendon,
44th Receiving Co., Block E, 38
Jacksonville, Fla.

I am sending Mr. —— a letter of acknowledgment.

INCOME TAX.

Thousands of individuals who were not affected by the United States income tax laws of previous years or by the State income tax law, are numbered among those who are required to file returns under provisions of the new law. This law requires every unmarried individual whose income during 1917 was $1000 or more to make a sworn statement setting forth what his or her income amounted to during the twelve months ended December 31, 1917. It requires that married persons whose income in 1917 was $2000 or more shall file returns.

Policemen, firemen, public school teachers, and all other employees or officials of a city or a town or of the State or a county, who have no other income than the wages or salaries they receive from the State, county, city or town, are exempt from the provisions of the law and need not file returns.

Following is the schedule of office hours arranged by the Income Tax Officials for Winchester.

Hours: 10 a. m. to 9 p. m., Jan. 21 to Jan. 23, inclusive.

Headquarters at the Winchester Trust Company.

After banking hours at the Postoffice building, Winchester.

Deputy Collectors who will come here are authorized to administer oath and they will execute the returns for taxpayers without charge. They are authorized also to receive money orders or checks, payable to John F. Malley, Collector, for the income tax due. These taxes are payable at the time returns are filed. Deputy Collectors are not permitted to accept cash in payment for any taxes. Remittances in the form of money orders or checks payable to the Collector only will be accepted by the Deputies.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers of Hall's Catarrh Cure that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

WINCHESTER WINS FIRST HOME GAME.

The boys' basket ball team of the Winchester High School won their first home game of the season from Chelsea. The score was 25-17. The game was close throughout, neither team being more than two points ahead of the other, until the last two minutes of play. At the end of the first half, Chelsea led 11-9, but Winchester made a strong rally during the last few minutes of the game. Hevey and Sharpe-ssy shot the most goals for Winchester, while Lake played well for Chelsea.

BE LOYAL TO YOUR HOME MERCHANT.

Our storekeepers are up against a hard proposition, with this present rule of opening and closing their stores.

Unless the citizens co-operate and stand loyally by them with their patronage, it will mean a loss of a good many dollars to the local business man.

Prove your patriotism by keeping the business in Winchester, even if it is at an inconvenience to you. The store-keeper is doing his part. Let the citizen do his.

FUNERAL OF SAMUEL J. ELDER.

Largely Attended Services at Congregational Church Sunday.

Funeral services for the late Samuel J. Elder, whose unexpected and sudden death last week Tuesday was a shock to State and Community, were held in the First Congregational Church Sunday afternoon at two-thirty. The funeral was probably one of the largest in point of attendance of any ever held in this town, the large auditorium of the Church being filled to the doors and a great throng of people waiting outside through the services.

The ceremony was an impressive tribute to the memory of one of the Bay State's leading citizens. Governor McCall of Massachusetts was one of the honorary pall bearers; the funeral assembly numbered leaders in every phase of the State's activities, and the eulogy acknowledged the achievements of a long life as jurist, author and orator.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the Church, assisted by Rev. Samuel C. Bushnell of the Congregational Church at Arlington, a life-long friend. The casket, resting before the pulpit, was banked with flowers. To the right, honoring the public service to which Mr. Elder dedicated a generous portion of his life, stood an American flag. The Scripture reading was by the Rev. Dr. Chidley. The eulogy was delivered by Dr. Bushnell.

Remarks made by Rev. S. C. Bushnell of Arlington.

We are here today in the comradeship of a great sorrow. Yet there is something else for us to do than to accentuate our grief. God knows how real it is. But mingled with it is a sense of joy in view of what we keep when death seems to take everything away!

For we keep our love. Indeed, it grows stronger with the years. We seem never so to have loved as when we lose the opportunity to express our love. And in a very real sense we keep him, because he lives in us, the projected his life into ours, and became a part of us. That is why we are here today—to testify of that which we have received from him, and of which we cannot be deprived. He has so enriched us that we never can be impoverished. The very thought of him will be a delight, and how many will take delight in that thought! One can have that pleasure at will. And there will be no time of melancholy in him, there was no melancholy in him. This is his legacy to all—himself. And how many of us there are to share it!

Nor does it diminish by being shared. No friend of his will ever be the poorer because some one else was also his friend. He exemplifies the kindless wealth of a rich and winsome personality, and helps us to see how God reproduces Himself in us all.

Few, if any members of his profession in New England, had a larger circle of friends, and he made friends wherever he went, because he invested himself in the lives of others. He was prodigal in his self-giving. He was in constant demand for outside services of a great variety. Rarely did his day's work end with sunset, but reached far on into the night, often ceasing only when another day was in sight. This was a heavy drain upon his vitality, and doubtless shortened his life, but he met it with the cheerfulness and unselfishness which marked all his relations with his fellowmen.

FIRST DEATH OF WINCHESTER MAN IN SERVICE.

In the death yesterday morning at the Chelsea Marine Hospital of John Gironda of 17 Florence street, Winchester suffered the death of its first man in the United States Service. Gironda was in the Naval Reserves and was stationed at Commonwealth Pier. He was 25 years old.

Previous to his enlistment in the Navy Gironda was a barber, being employed by Salvatore Fiore at his shop on Swanton Street. He enlisted about five weeks ago and his death was caused by cereho spinal meningitis, he being taken ill while at his home and taken to the hospital the next day. He leaves one brother here Antonio Gironda, with whom he made his home.

A military funeral will be held at St. Mary's Church Sunday afternoon at 2.30. The burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

On Wednesday evening in the Methodist Church at 7.15 o'clock there is to be held a unique meeting under the auspices of the Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League. It will be a Dialogue-Debate conducted by Messrs. Lawton and Weyand of the League who will present both sides of this timely question.

The public is cordially invited to attend the meeting which takes the place of the Union Mid-week Service of the churches.

WALTER E. CHAMBERLIN.

IN IMPORTANT POSITION.

Winchester Man Called Upon to Aid America and Allies.

Mr Walter E. Chamberlin of Wildwood street, who was called upon last week to take a place on the newly created "Board of Council for National Defense," is well known in his home town.

Mr. Chamberlin is a member of the well known lumber firm of John M. Woods & Co. His governmental duties will consist largely acting in an advisory capacity for the purchasers of hardwood lumber for the Italian Government, the French and English Governments and in rush orders wanted by the United States Government. Mr. R. H. Bowman is chairman of the Committee located at Washington, where Mr. Chamberlin goes today.

The National Hardwood Lumber Association, of which the firm of John M. Woods & Co. has been a member since its organization, is composed of nearly one thousand members, covering the whole United States and Canada, of dealers and producers of hardwood lumber. Mr. Chamberlin has been on the Board of Directors of this Association for the past five years.

The appointment is entirely a patriotic and honorary position, but nevertheless, will require the best efforts and close attention of members.

ELDER AND WHITNEY WILLS FILED.

The will of the late Samuel J. Elder was filed at the Probate Court, East Cambridge, yesterday. It is dated September 24, 1913, and names as executors the two daughters of the deceased, the Misses Margaret M. and Frances A. Elder, and his law partner, Edmund A. Whitman of Cambridge. No valuation was given, and the only public bequest was the gift of $10,000 to Yale, the income of which is to be used for general purposes by the academic department.

The will of the late Arthur E. Whitney was filed at the Probate Court yesterday. The estate is valued at $190,000; $15,000 in real estate and $175,000 in personal property. The will is dated Jan. 8, 1918 and names as executors Sumner Robinson of Newton, Alice M. Whitney of this town, his wife, and Robert F. Whitney of this town, his son.

The public bequests were as follows:

$3,000 to the American Unitarian Association as a fund to help install churches as well as to keep alive the old churches; this to be known as the Joel Whitney Fund, in memory of his father.

$3,000 to the Minister's Pension Fund of the American Unitarian Association; this to be known as the Esther M. Whitney Fund in memory of his mother.

$1000 to the Winchester Union of Town Laborers.

$1,000 to the Home for Aged People in Winchester, with the request that a photograph be purchased out of this fund of Philip K. Waldmyer, the founder of the institution, and that it be hung in the Home.

$1,000 to the Winchester Unitarian Society, the income to be used for general purposes or floral decorations for the pulpit.

WHAT DOES THE NEWS FROM GERMANY MEAN?

For weeks past bits of information have been slipping out from Germany and Austria. Lately more of them have been coming. Some items tell of the long expected military offensive on the Western front. Other bits of news are of strikes and riots, of crowds shouting for peace and other crowds clamoring for bread.

In his lecture at the Church of the Epiphany on Sunday afternoon at 5 the Rev. William S. Packer plans to discuss the meaning of the news from Germany. There is an abundance of material. Much of it contradictory. Some sources of information are more reliable, some less.

The whole world is waiting to find out whether Germany is about to show greater fighting power than ever before or is to be torn by internal dissentions to such a degree as to impair her military efficiency and make peace in the near future a possibility.

After the service all those who wish to do so will have the opportunity to inspect the new tapestry behind the altar which is arousing great interest both in Winchester and outside. When the church is lighted the effect is unforgettable.

THE FORTNIGHTLY.

At the regular business meeting of The Fortnightly on January, twenty-eighth, Mrs. Zoeblin, Chairman of the Civics Committee announced that in response to a request from the government steps were being taken to organize a Garden Club for this community. Mrs. Nason, chairman of the Legislative Committee, explained five bills which are to come up for action later, four of which especially affect woman and children.

The President, Mrs. Eaton, announced with regret the resignation of Mrs. E. O. Clark, as chairman of the Social Committee, and appointed in her place, Mrs. Henry C. Blood.

Mrs. Ryan reported a conference which she attended at the Copley Plaza in behalf of recreation work for the soldiers, speaking with particular emphasis of the need of wholesome amusement as a means of keeping up the moral of the army, and for the campaign soon to be inaugurated for the sale of "smileage books," which will be distributed among the men and give them their amusement free and yet defray all expense.

Mrs. Eaton made a statement regarding the position of The Fortnightly in continuing to meet during the present coal-famine, reminding the members that although it might be possible to change the place of meeting to the High School Building, the Club was still under contract for the use of the Town Hall as well as for the talent which it had engaged. She invited a discussion of the matter,—and the motion was made and carried that a committee be appointed by the chair to confer with the Selectmen, Mr. Herron, and the Fuel Administrators.

All Women's Clubs having been asked to observe January 28th as Child Labor Day, Miss Wulkop of the Civics Committee spoke as a representative of the Children's Welfare League. In an interesting talk she made an earnest plea that conditions arising from the war shall not be made excuse for repealing or modifying the Child Labor laws which we already have, and that legislation may be secured to give vocational training to the boys and girls who have been obliged to leave school.

According to the By-Laws, a Nominating Committee of five were to be chosen at the last meeting in January. The Chair announced that the two to be elected by the members of the Executive Board were Mrs. Getty and Mrs. F. B. Reynolds.

The three elected from the floor were Mrs. Joel Metcalf, Mrs. W. I. Palmer and Mrs. E. O. Clark. Mrs. Eaton announced the receipt of $56 from the Club for Mrs. Young's work in France.

The subject of the day was an "Afternoon with Liszt." Mr. John Orth, pianist, who studied with Liszt at Weimar, gave a most delightful description of the great master,—his personality, and his unique way of conducting classes. Liszt never taught, in the regular sense of the word—neither would he receive money from his pupils. It was a critical moment for the young musician, after his trial performance, while he waited to know whether he would be invited to join the group of talented artists who came to the home of their leader twice a week for his help and inspiration.

At the close of his talk Mr. Orth played the following numbers of Liszt: Liebestraum, No. 3; Etude, transcribed from Paganini; Polonaise; and Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 15, and after enthusiastic applause, responded with two melodious compositions of his own: "Perfect Peace" and "By the Ocean."

Notes

The Art Committee announces that Miss Sanderson will give her third informal talk at the home of Mrs. Chester Kelley, 25 Foxcroft road, Wednesday, Feb. 6th, at three o'clock. Her subject will be: "Notre Dame."

The Literature Group will meet on Friday, Feb. 8th, at three o'clock, at the home of Mrs. H. A. Lazelle, 11 Symmes road.

The subject for the afternoon will be "Dumas" presented by Miss F. W. Cole.

Special Notice.

As Dr. Lincoln Wirt leaves Feb. 14th to engage in Red Cross work, the Club will have him with it on Monday, Feb. 11th. This change alters the announced speaker and further notice will be given on this later.

THE NEW POSTOFFICE.

Winchester Will Have to Wait Until War is Over.

The following correspondence regarding the commencement of work on the new postoffice building is self-expanatory:

January 22, 1918.

Mr. Preston Fond, Chairman,
Planning Board,
Winchester, Mass.

My dear Mr. Fond:

Referring to the matter of the proposed new post office building at Winchester, I am enclosing herewith communication just received from Hon. Wm. G. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury, which is self-explanatory.

Assuring you of my desire to be of service whenever possible, I am, with kindest wishes,

Very sincerely yours,
Frederick W. Dallinger.

P. S. It is very gratifying that the wish of the Planning Board and the citizens of Winchester for the postponement of the construction of the post office building on account of the hight prices coincides with the patriotic appeal of the Secretary of the Treasury. I have an idea that our request combined with other similar requests had a great deal to do with the conclusion arrived at by the Department to suspend work on all public buildings during the war.

January 19, 1918.

My dear Mr. Dallinger:

Because of the pressing demands which are being made upon the financial, industrial, labor, and transportation resources of the nation for war purposes, I have directed that the construction of public buildings be postponed, except where the necessity is so urgent that the public interests would suffer by such postponement.

Among the buildings authorized is the postoffice at Winchester, Mass., which is in your district and which I know you and the people of that town desire constructed at the earliest possible date, but here is the situation.

We are engaged in a great war, a war in which the very safety of America is seriously imperilled. We cannot win this war unless every resource of the nation is carefully husbanded and used with the utmost intelligence. The great financial operations of the Government, greater than any ever undertaken by a government in the history of civilization, make it essential that every unnecessary expenditure by the Government, by the States and municipalities and by private corporations and individuals shall be avoided while the war is in progress. Unless this is done it will be impossible for the people of the United States to furnish the money which the Government must have to support the soldiers and sailors who are shedding their blood for us up on the battlefields.

In my Annual Report to Congress I stated that it would be necessary for the Government to absorb, if needed, all the available capital and savings of the country if the requirements of the Army and Navy and of the other branches of the Government were to be met. I am advising cities and towns throughout the country not to erect public buildings while the war is in progress. I cannot, while giving them this advice, consent to the construction by the Government of the United States of public buildings which are under control of the Treasury Department. In other words, we must set an example for the country.

I am certain there is not a patriotic American citizen who is not willing to submit to inconveniences to help win this war, and I am sure that the people of Winchester, when they know the facts, will be more than willing to have the construction of their public building deferred a short time, so that the money which would otherwise be put into it, may be used for the purchase of food and clothing and ammunition for the gallant sons of Massachusettes and other states who are going to fight and perhaps die for their country.

I am asking if you will be good enough to let the people of Winchester understand the situation, and be assured had the war not come to America, there would have been no unnecessary delay in the construction of this building. It will be progressed as rapidly as possible after the return of peace.

W. G. McAdoo,
Secretary.

D. OF I. NOTES.

Miss Mary Boyle O'Reilly, the noted lecturer and Red Cross worker, will speak under the auspices of Santa Maria Court, No. 150, D. of I., in White's Hall, Tuesday evening, Feb. 19th.

Miss O'Reilly needs no introduction to the public as she is almost as well known for her newspaper writings as for her interesting talks. Those of us who have been fortunate enough to hear her relate her personal experiences at the evacuation of Warsaw, in the relief work of which she was an active participant in the very hours of the evacuation, are looking forward to hearing again this thrilling story of the Red Cross. The public of Winchester will be very welcome at this lecture.

The nominal sum of 25c will be charged for admission, the proceeds to be devoted to Red Cross work.

On Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock Miss Frances T. Noonan, Grand Regent of Santa Maria Court, D. of I. will become the bride of Mr. Thomas F. Conlon, one of the town's younger business men. The Court wishes them both the best of luck and many long years of happiness.

Louis Besserer is a musician with a nation-wide reputation. His playing has often been likened to that of the great Kreisler.

Louis Dalbeck was the first 'cellist of the Boston Opera Orchestra and the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, and as a soloist stands very high in New England musical circles.

Mr. James Ecker, who is the pianist of the Boston Philharmonic Orchestra, is a favorite pupil of Heinrich Gebhard and is one of the best soloists in New England.

TO BOTH BOYS AND GIRLS OF WINCHESTER.

The boys will be glad to know that the money for Emil Biche (3 rue de la Pic aux Anglais, Rouen, France, aged 10) is increased to $11.80 toward last half of the year, so that we want the boys to send in, as soon as possible, $6.20 to complete Emil's year.

Has anyone written to him yet?

The Margery Emery fund has grown to $27.50 toward a year of help to a 14 year old French girl. This is paid in, and the name of the girl is Lazanne Maniez, 14 years last July. We will give her address soon.

Troop 1 of the Girl Scouts helped with $12.00 by giving up gladly a proposed sleigh ride,—so, girls if you will earn $8.50 more, your orphan will be sure of a year of help.

Send to Grandma Parker, 408 Main street.

Mrs. Harrison Parker.

15 ALARMS IN JANUARY.

With two alarms of fire Wednesday the local department completed a total of 15 alarms being sent in, Wednesday's fires were both chimney blazes, the first being in a bakery at 2 Florence street, and the second at the residence of Mr. C. H. Hardwick on Norwood street. There was no damage in either instance.

SCHOOLS MAY CLOSE.

Decision to be Reached in Matter at This Morning's Meeting.

After meeting last evening without being able to arrive at a definite decision in the matter, it is reported that another meeting is to be held this forenoon by the School Committee and local Fuel Committee to take action in the matter of closing the public schools in whole or in part.

The supply of coal is running generously low, and the extreme cold has practically exhausted the supply in six of the buildings. This morning's meeting will determine whether the buildings will all be closed, or whether part of them will be closed, also whether by combining various buildings and running two sessions it will not be possible for the scholars to continue their studies.

It is felt unwise to use the stock of coal on hand at the yards of the local dealers for the schools, as it is becoming more and more evident that all of it will be needed by householders.

The meeting will be held upon the arrival of Chairman Jere A. Downs of the Fuel Committee from New York.

WINCHESTER WATER CONDITIONS.

At present the town water is having a disagreeable taste, although it is perfectly harmless.

This condition arises from the fact that the middle reservoir remained full all summer and the water became tainted with a hog taste from the shores owing to no circulation in the middle reservoir, it being customary to use this as a storage basin during the summer and winter, and drawing the top off into the south resorvoir in the spring.

Late in the fall it began to rise above the overflow and was held back by placing planks on top of the overflow until it was ten inches above high water mark. It was later decided to be unsafe to hold so much water back on account of the pressure on the causeway, so the water was let into the south reservoir.

In a few days complaints came to the Water Board regarding the bad taste of the water, and the south reservoir was immediately shut off and all the town was supplied from the north reservoir. We have drawn down the north reservoir as low as it seems wise and on Wednesday afternoon the south reservoir was turned on to the whole town, which accounts for the present taste of the water.

We hope this will not last long.

ASSISTANCE IN TAX RETURNS.

Announcement is made that a Deputy will be at the Town Hall on Wednesday, Feb. 6th, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. for the purpose of explaining and assisting residents in filling out their State income tax returns. Residents should avail themselves of this opportunity to secure information.

CANDIDATE FOR SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Mr. Henry S. Chapman of Salisbury road has consented to be a candidate for the School Board at the coming election. Mr. Chapman is well known as editor of the Youth's Companion and has heretofore served the town on various committees. At present he is a member of the Warrant Committee and a member of the Sub-Committee which was in charge of the School appropriations.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

In some old ballards the hero's chance of winning his beloved is made to time on his power of solving certain riddles. In an old edition of "Halliwell's Popular Rhymes" is found this quaint song:

I have a true lover over the sea,
Parla me dixi me dominie.
He must send me love tokens, one, two and three,
With a rotrum, potrum, trumpetrorum,
Parla me dixi me dominie.

He must send me a book that none can read,
Parla me dixie me dominie;
He must send me a web without any thread;
He must send me a cherry without any stone;
He must send me a bird without any bone.

How can there be book that none can read?
How can there be web without any thread?
How can there be cherry without any stone?
How can there be bird without any bone?

When the book's unwritten none can read.
When the web's in the fleece it has no thread;
When the cherry's in the blossom it has no stone;
When the bird's in the egg it has no bone.
Answer: Time.

Here is a pretty riddle by Schiller, the great German poet:

"A bridge weaves its arch with pearls
High over the tranquil sea;
In a moment it unfurls
Its span, unbounded, free.
The tallest ships with spreading sail
May pass 'neath its arch with ease;
It carries no burden, 'tis too frail.
And when you approach it flees.
With the flood it comes, with the rain it goes,
And what it is made of nobody knows."
Answer: the Rainbow.

Coming down to the present century, we find that some of our most learned men have not disdained to occupy leisure hour constructing riddles full of ingenuity, fertile in ideas, graceful in language. One of the lightest is by Lord MacAulay:

"Cut off my head, and singular I am,
Cut off my tail, and plural I appear.
Cut off my head and tail, and wondrous feat,
Although my middle's left there's nothing there,
What is my head cut off? A sounding Sea.
What is my tail cut off? A rushing river.
And in their mighty depths I fearless play,
Parent of sweetest sounds, though mute forever."
Answer: Gord.

A riddle ascribed to Canning, where by the addition of a letter, the word "cares" is changed into one of the sweetest words in the English language, is very fine. It runs as follows:

"A word there is of plural number,
Foe to ease and tranquil slumber,
Any other word you take,
And add an 's' 'twill plural make.
But if you add an 's' to this,
So strange the metamorphosis,
Plural is plural now no more
And sweet what bitter was before."

Could any Winchesterite imagine the stately Charles James Fox indulging in riddle making? Yet here is one of which he is the author, and which has long before been included in "Mother Goose's" Rhymes:

"Formed long ago yet made today,
Employed while others sleep,
What more would like to give away,
And none would like to keep.
You arose from the answer this morning!

Character is the result of the individual's experience in living. It is true, of course, that influences outside of our actual experience have their part, but, after all, these are only another form of our human experiences. These influences affect us because we live. Character comes from living. We cannot live for another, or even interpret life for another. We can ten of our own experiences; we can point to the experiences of others; but this knowledge about life can never take the place of living. It is necessary to live in order to know what life is.

Is not the purpose of education, then, to give the ability to choose from the new and manifold experiences of life those who tend to build up rather than to destroy our self-expression? And is not the supreme function of the teacher in Winchester and elsewhere that of training the child to desire and make full use of these experiences? Truth is neither a gift nor a possession. It is a possibility. To teach the child that two and two make four is to help in bringing order out of chaos but so far as the individual life is concerned, so far as character is developed, that truth is of little value until the child has felt its power in regulating and defining the course of its own life.

Education then is not essentially a mental process. The mind is but an agent in recognizing and setting forth the facts of life. There must be the will to choose; there must be the power to make use of those truths in the development of character. The willingness and ability to choose is the test of the reality of our education. Not only must every Winchesterite appreciate the truth; every Winchesterite must desire it above all else. Education has failed unless it has produced that desire.

The Spectator.

Dear Mr. Wilson:

I am sending you this little extract from Tennyson, hoping it may some one and its way into the "Spectators Column."

A "Shut" Spoiler

Oh man forgive thy mortal foe,
Nor ever strike him blow for blow;
For all the sons on earth but five
To be forgiven, must forgive.
Forgive him seventy times and seven,
For all the blessed souls in Heaven
Are both forgivers and forgiven.
Tennyson.

THE HALIFAX DISASTER.

Winchester Man To Give Account of His Observation After the Recent Disaster.

Mr. J. Prentiss Murphy, Secretary of the Boston Children's Aid Society, was one of the volunteers to go to the aid of Halifax and went there on the Hospital train, which Massachusetts rushed to the stricken city. As a social worker Mr. Murphy was especially qualified to render great assistance and also to obtain detailed information about the catastrophe.

On Wednesday, February 6th, Mr. Murphy will speak at a meeting of the Winchester Equal Suffrage Club. He will describe the situation as he found it and will tell of the plans for the future. The club is very fortunate in having this opportunity of hearing a fellow townsman and club member. Mr. Murphy, who is an ardent suffragist, has been a member of the Winchester Club for years.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James L. Campbell, 10 Sheffield road, at 3 o'clock, next Wednesday afternoon.

SPECIAL AID.

A very interesting talk was given in the Small Town Hall on Tuesday afternoon, when Mrs. Wooley, Chairman of the Committee on Food Conservation, introduced Mrs. Crocker, one of the active Special Aid workers, who have started the Liberty Bread Shops, one on Washington street and one in Copley square, Boston.

She said a number of ladies interested in food conservation grouped themselves together to try experiments in getting the most food value out of materials on hand. Their experiments were so valuable that the officials requested them to hold together for a larger work which might come in case of war—the Liberty Bread Shops are the result.

Various kinds of bread were brought out to show what can be made of corn, rye, and barley with just enough white flour to bind them together so that the bread will not be too dry. We were advised to use whole wheat when possible as that has the same result. Her plea was that we should spare from our table all the white flour we possible can that it may be sent across to feed the men who are fighting our battles.

Printed receipts were sold for making these delicious breads and thin sandwiches were made and distributed with fillings that may be used as meat substitutes.

There will be an all day sewing meeting of the Special Aid Society Wednesday, Feb. 6th, at 10 a. m., at the Calumet Club. Box lunch.

The following prices have been made for coal delivered at the yard:

NEW BOWLING RECORD.

A new bowling record in Boston pins was made for the Calumet alleys on Monday evening of this week, when the Club's veteran roller, Joseph E. Gendron, piled up a three string total of 404. Mr. Gendron has been at the game for many years, being one of the original well known team of "Tigers" at the Club. He is still active at the game and is widely known among surrounding social organizations. He rolled for his three strings 153, 110 and 141, and avenge for the loss of two scores in his third game would have increased his figures considerably.

OVER $100 REALIZED.

Winchester people gave a hearty response on Tuesday night to the invitation to attend the bridge party at the Calumet Club for the benefit of the Surgical Dressings Committee, and no less than 55 tables were sold for the affair. The attendance was such as to tax the capacity of the Club, but nevertheless one of the most enjoyable evenings of the winter was experienced by all.

In aid of the fuel conservation the party opened early and although a little after the prescribed hour, its close was in ample time for all to receive a good night's rest.

The prizes for the whist were all donated by members of the Club and Winchester merchants. First honors were won by Mrs. Alfred G. Barr and Mr. Eaton, the former receiving a fine 12 pound ham and the latter a box of fine cigars. Mrs. F. E. Gregory and Mr. C. M. Crafts took second honors and were awarded a hot water bottle and a box of tobacco. Consolation gifts, consisting of a jar of marmalade and a bottle of perfume, were given Mrs. S. F. Goffe and Mrs. S. E. Perkins.

During the evening punch, crackers and cake were served. The affair was in charge of a committee headed by Mrs. William F. Edlefson and including Mrs. G. E. Willey, Mrs. A. N. Maddison, Mrs. G. W. Apsey, Mrs. A. H. Lombard and Mrs. E. P. Ramsdell, and over $100 was cleared, which will be given to the Surgical Dressings Committee to aid it in carrying on its work.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Parents who wish their children to have Kindergarten training will be interested in knowing that pupils who are four and one-half before the first of March, may enter the Kindergarten up to that date. It is desirable so far as possible that they should begin on the same day, namely, Monday, Feb. 4, 1918, but this is not essential.

Pupils who enter the Kindergarten in February are expected to remain therein for one and one-half years. As is well known, our Kindergartens are located in the Chapin School on Swanton street, and the Prince School, corner of Church and School streets, in charge of Miss Louise Taylor and Miss Edna F. Hawes, respectively.

Mr. Francis M. Currier, Winchester High School, 1913, Harvard, 1917, at present taking post graduate work at Harvard, has been appointed instructor in German at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, to take effect at the beginning of the second semester. Miss Alice B. Campbell of the open air sixth grade at the Prince School and Miss Mary E. Robinson of the sixth grade at the Wadleigh School, who have been out sick for the last three weeks are expected to return on Monday next, Feb. 4. There have been more interruptions of this character during the present year than usual, but fortunately excellent substitutes have been available.

Miss Jennie M Wood, Principal of the Clifford School, at present absent on account of illness, is at her home in Newcastle, Me. Miss Wood is very comfortable, but she is not expected to return for some time. In her absence, Miss Flora E. Jepson, of the first grade, has been appointed Acting Principal. Her class is being instructed with entire success by Mrs. Dorothea Chever, whose husband is in the army.

Miss Elizabeth N. Furey, substitute Supervisor of Physical Training, has been unable to continue in this work, and Mrs. Charlotte W. Bentley of West Medford has been engaged. Mrs. Bentley is a graduate of Wellesley School of Physical Training with five years' successful experience and is available because her husband is subject to the draft.

WAR SAVING STAMPS.

Catechism Answers All Questions That May Occur.

From the welter of the World War there are some good by-products. One of these is that the importance of saving is being learned by all of us. By means of the thrift stamps and war saving certificates this lesson may be made effective in enabling each one to do his bit in winning the war and in forming the habit of making small accumulations. It is necessary that every one as able should purchase, of the bond issues but it is equally important that the "baby bonds," the five dollar certificates, should be taken in every home and by every one. The issue of $2,000,000,000 provides an average of $20 for each person, men, women and children, in the United States. This means that every one must do his share. This, however, does not mean that a penny is given to the government. It is simply loaned at interest.

The Thrift Stamps.

These are twenty-five cents each. They may be obtained at the Post Office, the Winchester Trust Co., the Winchester Savings Bank, the Winchester National Bank, each school building, and shortly at other places, which will be noted in the STAR. These stamps should be pasted in a folder given with the first one. The folder will hold sixteen stamps, four dollars' worth. The thrift stamps do not bear interest, once the folder is full, it should be exchanged with a small additional payment for a war savings certificate. This may be done wherever thrift stamps are on sale.

War Savings Certificates.

These have a maturity value of five dollars on January first, 1923. During the month of January 1918 there may be purchased for $4.12, in February, they will cost $4.13, in March $4.14, and so on one cent more each month. This additional penny is interest at about 3 per cent. They are redeemable in the same way that is, a certificate purchased for $4.12 in January, 1918 may be redeemed in December, 1918 for $4.23. If kept until January 1, 1923, the interest amounts to 4 percent compounded quarterly. As with the thrift Stamps, the "baby bonds," the war saving certificates should be posted in a folder with the name and address of the owner. If desired, each certificate may be registered at the Post Office, thus providing against loss.

The following catechism prepared by the Government seems to answer all the questions that may occur to any one. If it does not, call up Mr. Preston Pond, Mr. James W. Blackham, Postmaster O'Connor, Mr. George T. Davidson, Superintendent Herron or any members of the committee given in the STAR.

The War-Savings Plan.

Q. What is the War-Savings Plan?

A. It is a plan by which you can lend small savings to your Government at 4 per cent interest, compounded quarterly.

Q. How may this be done?

A. By purchasing War-Savings Stamps and Thrift Stamps.

Q. What is a War-Savings Stamp?

A. It is a stamp for which the Government will pay you $5 on January 1, 1923.

Q. What does it cost?

A. Between $4.12 and $4.23 during 1918, depending upon the month in which it is purchased.

Q. What is a thrift stamp?

A. It is a stamp costing 25 cents, to be applied in payment for a War-Savings Stamp. It does not earn the interest. The purpose of its issue is to enable people to accumulate in small sums the amount necessary to pay for a War-Savings Stamp.

Q. Where can I buy them?

A. At post offices, banks, and authorized agencies.

Q. Why should I buy them?

A. Every dollar loaned to the Government helps to put the lives of our men at the front and to win the war.

War-Savings Stamps and Certificates.

Q. I want to begin to save on the War-Savings Plan. What is the first thing to do?

A. Take $4.12 to the post office or a bank or any other agent, buy a War-Savings Stamp, and ask for a War-Saving Certificate?

Q. What is a War-Savings Certificate?

A. It is a pocket sized folder containing 20 spaces upon which to affix War-Savings Stamps.

Q. Is the War-Savings Certificate a Government obligation?

A. It becomes an obligation as soon as one or more War-Savings Stamps are affixed to it.

Q. Can I get a War-Savings Certificate without buying a Stamp?

A. No.

Q. Does the War-Savings certificate cost anything?

A. No. The agent from whom you purchase the stamps will write your name and address on the certificate and will furnish you an envelope in which to keep it.

Q. What do I do after that?

A. Affix the War-Savings Stamp on your certificate in space No. 1 and take good care of it.

Q. What do I do next?

A. You have now become a war saver. Continue to buy War-Savings Stamps every week or month and put them on your certificate until you have filled all the 20 spaces. When this is done you can buy another War Savings Stamp, and you will receive free of cost another certificate to which you can attach new stamps as you buy them.

Q. When I have filled the 20 spaces on my certificate what do I do with it?

A. Keep the certificate until January 1, 1923, and the Government will pay you $100 for it.

Q. How many War-Savings Certificates can I get?

A. Ten. The law allows each person to own $1,000 worth of War-Savings Certificates.

Q. What is the largest quantity that I can purchase at any one time?

A. $100 worth, or 20 stamps.

The Price of War-Savings Stamps.

Q. Does the price of a War-Savings Stamp always remain the same?

A. No. The price for each month appears on the face of each stamp. Never pay either more or less than the amount shown for the month in which you make the purchase. The price is $4.12 in December, 1917, and January, 1918, and increases one cent each month after January, 1918, until in December, 1918, when the price in $4.23.

Q. What is the price of War-Savings Stamps for each month of 1918?

A. Jan. $4.12, Feb. $4.13, Mar. $4.11, Apr. $4.15, May $4.16, June $4.17, July $4.18, Aug. $4.19, Sept. $4.20, Oct. $4.21, Nov. $4.22, Dec. $4.23.

Q. Why is the price higher each month?

A. Because the stamps are earning interest.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The regular meeting of the Winchester Union will be held Friday, February 8, at the home of Mrs. R. W. Dover, 31 Lincoln street, and will be an all day meeting to work on the surgical dressings still so much needed. Members are asked to bring thimbles and a box luncheon and come early in order to accomplish as much as possible. At three o'clock will be held a short business session. Not only members but others who may wish to help with the work are cordially invited, since the need of dressings is so great that all women are asked to help.

At a meeting of the Executive Board of the Union the following superintendents of departments were appointed: Flower Mission, Mrs. J. C. Adams; Legislative, Mrs. Hamilton; Our Papers, Miss F. E. Elliott; Press, Mrs. Tracy; Soldiers and Sailors, Mrs. Goffe. Some departments are still vacant and will be carried on by the Union as opportunity offers. Plans of work for the year were made and will be submitted to the Union at the meeting next week. The big job at present is the effort to secure the ratification of the amendment.

Last week many members of the W. C. T. U. met at the State headquarters for the Day of Prayer for the ratification of the amendment and to lay plans for effective work in its behalf. With three southern States already on the honor roll of ratifiers and North Dakota lacking but two votes of unanimous ratification there is much reason for hope of victory, but it is by no means so sure that anyone can afford to lay aside his armor. It still needs thirty-two more States and it would be a shame to have Massachusetts on the off side. The petitions being circulated should be signed by every woman in town as well as by men.

A great mass meeting last Friday night filled Tremont Temple and overflowed into Lorimer Hall. Twenty thousand dollars was raised there to carry on the campaign, and twice as much asked for. William Jennings Bryan was the chief speaker and aroused much enthusiasm by his eloquence. The hearings on the amendment will be the latter part of February; watch the papers for the exact dates.

And while we are talking of meatless Tuesdays, how about a porkless Congress?

It is said that if the "saving daylight" plan is adopted, throughout the United State, it would save more than 1,500,000 tons of coal a year. Why not try the plan.

"Thrift does not mean tight-fisted-ness. It means progress—upbuilding—prosperity—the development of sensible habits of living. Mere money saving is only one attribute of true constructive thrift. 'Let us avoid hysteria.'"

It is to be hoped that the Selectmen will not curtail the hours of street lighting. Never before was there greater need that our streets be kept lighted at night. These are dangerous times. If it was advisable to burn the lights a part of the night in ordinary times for safety of the public, it is now necessary that they burn all night. A thief, a burglar or an incendiary does not like brightness at night. They help the police. We should not be parsimonious while danger is abroad.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING.

January 28, 1918.

The Board met at 7.30. Present, Messrs. Metcalf, Jewett and Laraway.

Massachusetts State Commissions, Civil Service: A letter was received from John C. Gilbert, Secretary of the Civil Service Commissioners stating that in accordance with provisions of Section 8 of Chapter 19 of the Revised laws, notice is hereby given that said amendment to the Revised Rules will take effect on the fifteenth day of March, A. D. 1918.

Street Lights: A letter was received from the Edison Electric Illuminating Company stating that the Board's order to turn out the street lights at 12 o'clock and also in the morning had their attention. A report was also received from the Chief of Police that the lights had been turned off in accordance with the Board's order, on the 23d of January.

Street Lights, 1918: The Board voted that the Edison Electric Illuminating Company be requested to turn off the street lights in Winchester on moonlight nights unless the company is otherwise ordered by the Chief of Police. This action was taken in accordance with recommendations received from the local fuel administrator that the street lighting be curtailed.

Bacon Street Building Line: William R. McIntosh, Constable, made his return of the service of notice relating to the hearing for the establishment of a building line on Bacon Street. A letter was also received from Mr. John Abbott asking for information as to the location of the building line on this street. This matter was referred to Mr. Hinds to take up with Mr. Abbott.

Willow Street, Building Line: On the petition of Daniel W. Pratt, Alice H. Pratt, Edwin Moffette, Herbert W. Kelley by Frances C. Kelley, Gusta M. Berry and D. W. Kimball.

Voted:—That in the opinion of the Selectmen, public convenience and necessity require that a building line be established on each side of Willow Street, its entire length, (from Wildwood St. to Wildwood Cemetery) and that notice of our intention to establish such a building line and of a hearing to be held at the Selectmen's Room on Monday, Feb. 11, 1918 at 8.30 o'clock P. M. be served as provided by law upon the owners of the land over which such building line is to be established.

The meeting adjourned at 9.45 P. M.

Clerk of Selectmen.

SAW ELDER'S WIT.

No tribute to the beloved Sam Elder is complete without particular mention of his abounding wit. It illumined and enlivened every company of which he was a part. His contributions to the conversation and to the more formal speech making were as stimulating as the champagne. His fund of good stories, gathered from his wide observation at home and abroad, was as a table as his fetching manner of telling them. His anecdotes were always pertinent and in order. He even made use of one of them in opening his three-day argument before the Hague Tribunal and it put him on good terms with that august body at once.

It is risky to speak in superlatives, but it may safely be said that one of the best stories ever told at a postprandial function was this recently published raconteur's narrative of the experience of an absent Archbishop of Canterbury on top of a London bus, and the question of the identity of that exalted personage. The story, with all its humorous details, was conceived and elaborated in Elbert's fertile imagination, and his inimitable manner of telling it added to its rollicking flavor. Some day perhaps, this unique performance with a selection from Elbert's other stories, curios and quirks may be enshrined in a book supplementing the record of his more serious life work. They would make a merry volume.—[George T. Babbitt in Sunday Globe.

MIXED BOWLING TOURNAMENT.

All Matches Now Finished Before Ten O'clock.

In compliance with the 10 o'clock closing order, all matches in the mixed bowling tournament at the Calumet Club are now finishing before that hour.

Week-end matches saw victories for teams 12, 6 and 8 two former winning three and the latter two points. None of the scores were particularly close, and likewise there was no exceptional rolling, although Mrs. Crafts on the winning team 6, rolled a single of 104 and a total of 190. Another good score was that rolled by Mrs. Booth, who got 90 and 178. Mrs. Goddard got 88 and 167, Mrs. Stephenson 85 and 162. Mrs. Simonds 84, and Miss Giles and Mrs. Newman 81 each. Mr. Weed rolled a fine game with 112 and 214 and Mr. Stephenson got a total of 201.

The ladies played an important part in the matches on Wednesday night, they making the best scores as a whole of any previous match in the tournament. An interesting feature was the fact that the two leaders each rolled, and as each won all three points they still remain in the top place tie. Teams 3 and 6 now lead. In individual work Mrs. Crafts led with a single of 98 and a total of 184, Mrs. Carleton rolled 93 and 179, Mrs. Johnston 90 and 174, Mrs. Smalley 90 and 172, Mrs. Walsworth 95 and 171, Mrs. Taylor 92 and 170, Mrs. Stephenson 87 and 161, Mrs. Parker 89 and Mrs. Berry 85. TAPESTRY REREDOS.

Dedicated at Church of the Epiphany, Winchester—Notable Example of Ecclesiastical Art.

The dedication of the reredos at the Church of the Epiphany, Winchester, Sunday, is a matter of concern not only to the people of that parish, but to all who are interested in ecclesiastical art, or who find joy and satisfaction in a thing of beauty. It is the only example, so far as is known of a tapestry reredos. The suggestion for the use of tapestry for this purpose came from the architect of the church, Mr. F. Patterson Smith, under whose direction the work has been executed, and who is responsible for the general design and architectural details. The tapestries were made at the Herter looms in New York, the cartoons being drawn by Miss Ethel Parsons.

The central panel, which measures about 7 by 8 feet, represents the Visit of Mary, the narrow panels which flank it on either side contain the epiphany prophets. The colors are fine figures of Isaiah and Jeremiah, soft and harmonious, blues and greens predominating, and the details of the designing are admirably contrived and subordinate. The blending of the texture of the tapestry with the texture of the red-brick walls of the church's interior is a happy idea, most successfully carried out. The limestone enframement is in the form of slender buttresses, which carry upward the design of the altar, and support a carved-oak beam surmounted with angels.

The reredos is erected in memory of Eben Blake Page, for many years a devoted and generous member of the parish, and is given by his widow and children. The service of dedication was in charge of Mr. Page's son the Rt. Rev. Herman Page, D. D., Bishop of Spokane, and he was assisted by Rev. John W. Suter, the rector honorarius of the parish, who, at the request of the Bishop, read the prayers of dedication, and Rev. W. S. Packer, the assistant minister. The rector of the parish, Rev Murray W. Dewart, is a chaplain in the Army, serving in France. [Boston Transcript.

Considering present conditions, we are pleased to be able to state that satisfactory progress is being made towards the completion on our banking rooms at number 7 Church Street. In the meantime we will continue to extend a cordial greeting to our friends in our temporary quarters in the Star Office.

Patience.

"Be ye also patient." Patience judgeth not another hurriedly. She thinketh no evil, is not easily provoked, suffereth long and is kind. Tertullium personified patience, saying, "She is the idol of peace; she fortifies faith, establishes humility, assists charity, bridles the tongue, restrains the hand, rules the flesh and preserves the spirit. Her countenance is tranquil and peaceful, her brow serene, contracted by no wrinkle of sadness or anger." An Arab proverb reads, "Be patient, and the mulberry leaf will become satin." "He that believeth shall not make haste" to judge his fellows by appearances.—Exchange.

CUT-A-CORD CLUBS.

The acute fuel shortage has served at least one useful purpose in attracting the attention of full-blooded, energetic boys and men to the good to be derived and conferred by "cutting a cord." A definite impulse in favor of wood fuel has been given by the public statements of the State Fuel Administrator and the State Forester, as to the utilization of wood for fuel, and considerable organized effort has been made to encourage wood cutting. The Appalachian Club has interested its members in the matter, and numerous towns, among them Needham, Woburn and Natick, have organized Cut-a-Cord Clubs.

Winchester has the nucleus of such a club in the work recently done by High School boys on the property of Mr. F. S. Snyder, on Highland avenue. Here, since the Christmas holidays, the boys have cut and piled about forty cords of hardwood, under the leadership of Edward R. Wait, and with the generous advice and supervision of Mr. Paul S. Kneeland of the Massachusetts State Forester's Department. This cutting is now nearly completed, but through Mr. Kneeland's efforts a new "operation" of probably fifty to seventy-five cords, within easy distance of town, is immediately available for such boys and men as are interested and able. Spare time and enforced holidays may thus be profitably and usefully spent, and the Winchester Cut-a-Cord Club shaped into a more definite organization. Particulars can be had by calling Mr. Wait, on his house phone (Win. 175-M) in the evenings or on Sunday. It is assumed, from experience, that Saturdays and Mondays will be especially busy days in camp, and applications for membership will necessarily be considered in order of receipt. The size of the present available operation will limit the size of the crew, and the suggestion is offered that no time be lost by interested choppers in "tying up to the outfit."

SOLDIERS' INSURANCE.

Jan. 26, 1918.

Chairman, Committee on Public Safety.

Dear Sir:—

I would suggest that your committee take the necessary means to inform the immediate families or dependent relatives of all enlisted soldiers, sailors and women that opportunity for taking out government insurance expires February 12. I have been in communication with the Headquarters of the Northeastern Department and find that, while every possible method has been used to enroll the soldiers and with excellent results, the military officials are of the opinion that the home folks of the boys should be enlisted in the work of bringing home the great importance of the matter to every soldier who has so far failed for any reason to avail himself of this chance. Here is an opportunity for wives, parents, or other dependent relatives to guard against the results of war, and it would be a serious matter if all eligible persons did not take full advantage of this excellent governmental measure. It does away with the archaic and expensive pension system, unsatisfactory to beneficiaries and other citizens alike, and at a most reasonable rate protects reasonably those whom it is intended to serve.

Although you are perhaps acquainted with the general terms of this war insurance measure the following extract from a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury to the officers and enlisted men and women of the Army and Navy of the United States and their relatives describes it briefly:

"Exposure to the extra dangers of war make the cost of life insurance in private life insurance companies prohibitive. It was, therefore, a plain duty and obligation for the Government to assume the risk of insuring hundreds and thousands of our soldiers and sailors who are making the supreme sacrifice. Under this law, every soldier and sailor and nurse, commissioned and enlisted, and of any age, has the right between now and February 12, 1918, to take out life and total-disability insurance up to $10,000, at a very low cost, with the Government without medical examination. This right is purely optional. The soldiers and sailors are not compelled to take insurance, but if they desire to exercise the right they must do so before the 12th of February, 1918. The cost ranges from 65 cents monthly, at the age of 21, to $1.21 monthly, at the age of 51, for each $1,000 of insurance. This is a small charge on a man's pay—small in proportion to the benefits it may bring. The premiums will be deducted from his pay, if he desires, thus eliminating trouble on his part.

This is the greatest measure of protection ever offered to its fighting forces by any nation in the history of the world. It is not charity, it is simply justice to the enlisted men and women and to their loved ones at home and each and every one of them should promptly take the benefits of this great law."

In order that your committee may fully meet its duty in this matter, you might confer with your district exemption boards and secure their valuable assistance in getting this information into the hands of all those whom it is intended to benefit.

Yours very truly,

H. B. Endicott,
Executive Manager.

MODERN THEATRE.

Two remarkable photoplays will be on the bill at the Modern Theatre Boston, during the coming week. Thy are of the calibre which has distinguished the offerings at this ideal picture playhouse, and which has earned it the title of "Photo Theatre De Luxe" of New England. All offering at this theatre are first showings. In "A Petticoat Pilot" Vivian Martin is pictured as Mary Gusta of this story by Joseph C. Lincoln, writer of the famous Cape Cod stories which has made his name a by-word among readers in this country. On the same bill throughout the week will be shown the Thomas H. Ince direction of the A. H. Woods production, "The Guilty Man." On the stage the play was an immense success, and there is predicted for it a sensational vogue. It is played by an all star cast. Comedies and News Pictures complete the bill.

PARK SQUARE THEATRE.

"Far more than what was claimed of it as a laugh provoker," is the chorused verdict of Boston's public and press on "The Naughty Wife," which opened at the Park Square Theatre last Monday. Its story concerns a whimsical, flirtatious wife whose head is turned by attentions showered upon her by a modern Lothario. He, seeking to emulate the great lover, proposes that they elope, and she consents. The husband learns of the pact and takes an extraordinary method to cure her. He gives his attention to aiding in the project, even so far as to provide his summer bungalow for their deveries, and goes along as chaperone to assure the happiness of his wife in her incursion into the fields of romance.

The manner in which Selwyn & Company have mounted the production and the ease with they indulged in the selection of the cast again proves their dominance as stage producers. The cast is headed by such well known favorites as Charles Cherry, Isobel Watson, Francis Byrne and Beverly West.

The matinee performance on Monday, Wednesdays and Saturdays, the Monday matinee being popular priced.

COPLEY THEATRE.

The public likes war plays. There is no doubt of it if the manifest by the reception given to "Inside the Lines" at the Copley Theatre. Its third week is announced to begin next Monday, and there is every sign that it will continue to be packed for the Hearst-Jewett Theatre is crowded houses. Like "The Man Who Stayed at Home," the six months run of which at the Copley will be long remembered, "Inside the Lines" makes a direct appeal to those multitudes of playgoers who like romance and to hear a good story well told on the stage.

"Inside the Lines" has for its scenes the picturesque British of Gibraltar, and from its opening until its final moment it keeps the audience on the qui vive if expectancy as to its outcome.

The performance at the Copley begins at a quarter to eight promptly, and during the coming week there will be four matinees, on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday. The scale of prices ranges from 25 cents to $1.50 and there are now good seats obtainable in the rear orchestra rows for $1.00 each. Seats may be obtained at the box office, at Filene's and Jordan's or they may be ordered by telephone.

WIFE SLAYER CAPTURED.

Word was received yesterday of the arrest by police of the District Attorney's office at Cambridge of Antonio Pelegrina accused with murder of his wife, Louise Pelegrina, at the Plains a week ago Saturday. The man was arrested at Patterson, N. J., and was brought immediately to this town, arriving here late last night. He will be arranged in court tomorrow morning.

The man confessed of the deed after his arrival here and an interesting fact brought out in his statement was that there were no less than four people in the store at the time of the murder. The police were unable to secure a word of this, it being stated that the woman was alone at the time. The murderer went to Stoneham and took an electric for Boston, leaving the South Station for New York.

PURCHASES OF ENGINES AND CARS IN 10 YEARS.

1907	3,482	157,711
1905	6,265	341,315

Today the railroads are doing as much business in six months as was handled in twelve 10 years ago, yet the average annual purchases of locomotives and freight cars for the past five years has been only 2580 and 117400, respectively, compared with 3260 and 216470 for the five years preceding 1910, or when Congress passed the law giving the Interstate Commerce Commission power to fix and suspend freight rate increases pending an investigation as to the reasonableness of the proposed increase.

WAR LETTER OF INTEREST TO ALL.

From Sergt. Messenger.

Editor of the Winchester Star,
Winchester,
Mass.
Jan. 22, 1918.

My dear Sir:

I am in receipt of a letter dated December 22, 1917 from a Winchester boy now serving in France, Sergt. Guy H. Messenger, Co. D, 101st Regiment U. S. Engineers, which was formerly the First Corps Cadets of Boston. I notice that you state in the STAR that any letters from the soldiers you would be glad to publish in the STAR, and as it is suggested in this letter from Sergt. Messenger that he sent the letter to me for publication in the STAR if I so wished, I therefore send you not only his letter to me, but the poem which accompanied it. It may be of interest to the readers of the STAR to learn that this poem is a very popular one with the soldiers at the front, because I have learned that in addition to the fact that it is very popular in the 101st Regiment of U. S. Engineers, that it was printed on the menu for the Christmas dinner by the 101st Regiment Field Artillery of which Mr. Dewart of Winchester is the chaplain.

Very truly yours,
Roland H. Sherman.

To Mr. Roland Sherman.
Somewhere in France.
Dec. 22, 1917.

Mr. Sherman.

Dear Sir: It may be of interest to you to hear that a copy of the Sept. 27, 1917, "Winchester Star" reached a little village "Somewhere In France" early in November, and your article in reply to the criticism of the treatment of the drafted men of Winchester, was read and appreciated by a large number of officers and men of the 101st Regiment of U. S. Engineers, formerly the First Corps Cadets of Boston.

A few days ago the enclosed poem was received by one of the boys in this outfit, and recalling the stand that you had taken on the subject, I decided to send it to you for publication in the "STAR" if you so wished.

We have quite a number of Winchester boys in the 101st Engineers, all of whom are well and looking forward to a pleasant little Christmas out here, although they cannot join the home-folks for the holidays.

Trusting that I will be of interest to you as a friend of the volunteers, I am,

Yours very truly,
Sergt. Guy H. Messenger,
Co. D,
101 Regt. U. S. Engineers
A. E. F. via New York.

Only A Volunteer.

1.

Why didn't I wait to be drafted,
And be led to the train with a band,
Or out on a flurry of exemption,
Oh! why did I hurry me hind!
Why didn't I wait for the Banquet,
Why didn't I wait to be cheered.

2.

Nobody gave me a banquet;
Nobody said a kind word,
The puff of the engine, the grind of the wheel,
Was all the good-bye I heard.
And off to the training camp hustled
To be drilled for the next half year,
And in the shuffle forgotten,
For I'm only a Volunteer.

3.

No chances I've taken in leaving God's Country,
No chances I've taken crossing Channel and Sea,
With Air-Ships above, and Sub-marines under
Ever watching and waiting, trying to get me,
And now in Europe I'm doing my Bit,
However small it may seem to be,
My service forever, with one end in view,
For God, For Country, For Home and You.

4.

And perhaps some day in the future,
When a little boy sits on my knee,
With ears and eyes all expectant
For some deed of bravery:
I'll have to look back into those eyes
That at me so trustingly peer,
And confess that I wasn't drafted:
That I was only a volunteer.

Somewhere in France,
December 18, 1917.

Dearest Mother and Dad:

According to all reports you are not receiving many of my letters, so I have adopted the plan of making my letters shorter but more frequent. There is really very little that I can say except that I am well, gaining in weight, keeping warm and comfortable and enjoying the various experiences that come my way. We receive mail about once in two weeks and most of your letters have come through. Only two packages, but a carload of mail has been located somewhere and somewhere and we expect it for Christmas. Have sent cables to you, but hear they will not get through. Receiving mail means a lot to us out here pass the word along.

I had a long confab with Dr. Murphy today. He is in good health and spirits—all is going well. No unnecessary labors will be performed on Christmas and New Years, by latest orders, so we are going to have a little party. Are you receiving my letters any better than at first? I am writing twice a week.

I have lost my mess-kit so Carrel and I am eating out of the same one for a week or so. Had a wonderful feed Thanksgiving day. Send along any sweet chocolate, candy, gum, more ginger-root, etc., that you may see having around. We can use it.

Tell my friends that I would be glad to receive all the letters they can write, but I do not have much opportunity to write myself.

No more now; will write as often as possible.

Lots of love,
Guy.

Sergt. Guy H. Messenger,
Co. E, 101st Regt.,
U. S. Engineers,
American Expeditionary Forces.

"Your Mother"

Your country calls you from your homes,
From friends and those you hold most dear.
No matter who or where you are,
The call is sounded far and near,
So put aside your social life
And spread the call to one another,
And, of those who pat you on the back
The one most dear will be
Your Mother.

As time speeds by and you are called
On foreign soil to serve,
The pangs of parting ring your soul;
The time has come to test your nerve
Just knuckle down to discipline
And leave homesickness to some other;
There's one who's thinking of her boy,
The one you left behind—Your Mother.

And in this strange and foreign land
Of wine and women stand in fear;
Be the man your mother thinks you are,
Though he of weaker mind may sneer.
So play your part the best you can,
You'll come through clean some way or other,
And please the one who prays for you,
Your true and steadfast friend—Your Mother.

On through the battles awful roar,
When comrades you have grown to love
Fall from the Shrapnel deadly hail,
And their souls take flight to realms above
You'll do your duty like a man,
No thoughts of death can smother
The love of Country, God and she
Who waits at home for you—Your Mother.

When peace shall come and war is done,
And all the land contended be,
You'll stand with pride and happiness
In your own fair land beyond the sea.
So do your bit though it seems hard
And work to the finish like a brother;
Prove worthy of the love and pride
Of her, the best on earth—
Your Mother.

Letter From Ralph Hartley.
Dec. 24th, 1917.
Somewhere in France.

Dearest Mother,

A line or two before I turn in. I received your package and Nina's and believe me they were fine. The fruit cake was a dandy and the chicken will be tried out soon. I got the socks and they were beauts and I now have enough to put me through this winter.

I got a dandy box from Marion Christmas and expect several more in the next two weeks. The mail was late. The reason I haven't spoken of Lloyd oftener is that we were told not to tell of the operation at the time. He is feeling fine now. I am with him when we have any time off. He and Stan wish to be remembered to you and all. We are livin in barracks that we built a month or so ago and are quite comfortable and we get lots to eat and everything is fine now.

There was quite a Christmas concert and entertainment here at the Y. M. C. A. and C. O. was well represented.

I am feeling fine and happy and this is my favorite kind of weather, lots of snow and cold air.

Trusting to hear from you soon I am

Your loving son
Ralph.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS DEFEATED MELROSE.

Fine passing, good dribbling and accurate shooting enabled the Winchester High girls' basket ball team to open its season in the interesting Boston League series Saturday afternoon with a victory over the Melrose High girls' team, 34 to 12, at the Y. M. C. A. at Melrose.

The game was hard fought and rather rough at times. Winchester High found Melrose High formidable in the opening period and when this session closed it only had a small margin.

Winchester High buckled down in the second period and piled up a big lead.

Dorothy Reynolds, Loretta Murphy and Katherine Morse of the local team, played fine all-around games.

Barbara Goss was the star for Melrose High, scoring all 12 points. Capt. Eleanore Pierce blocked well for Melrose. The summary:

FUNERAL OF SAMUEL J. ELDER.

He not only won distinction as a lawyer,—honored at home and abroad by professional success of an high order—but he was deeply interested in those endeavors for human betterment which have enlisted the sympathies of the noblest minds. His interest in these things was not academic, but intimate and personal, not that of a spectator but of a contestant, who could surely be found in the thick of the fight.

He loved the work of the Christian church and was generous in its support, yet his vision was not confined within the limits of a narrow Sectarianism, because to him the Kingdom of God was infinitely larger than the church, which was only one, though the chief instrument for its realization; and the Kingdom contained many souls, some of them his warmest friends who were not members of any church.

He was first and last a gentleman, genial and kindly in spirit, courteous because always thoughtful of others, with a smile which was like sunshine, the index of the warmth of his own heart.

And one needs but think of that smile, and of the rich and beautiful personality behind it, in order to realize the deathlessness of our friend. He still lives in us, and will continue to live until we join him yonder and live with him again.

Wherefore let us comfort each other with this thought, that those whom God brings together at the bonds of a love like ours God cannot permanently separate.

John Burroughs' faith was the faith of Mr. Elder. It is also yours and mine.

"Serene, I fold my hands and wait
Nor care for wind nor tide nor sea;
I rave no more 'gainst time or fate,
For lo! my own shall come to me."

Music was furnished by two members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, M. Grunberg, violin, and Carl Barth, 'cello, while Mrs. Irene Osborne Grant presided at the organ. The following program was given: "He Shall Feed His Flock," from the Messiah; Christian Pastoral, from the Messiah; "Hymn to St. Cecilia," Gounod; adagio from Sonata Pathetique, Beethoven; Evening Song, Schumann, and Shepherds' Chorus, Bach.

It was the wish of the family that flowers be omitted, but among the offerings were a number of beautiful set pieces and wreaths.

The honorary pall bearers were: Gov. McCall, who, being ill at his home in Winchester, was not in attendance; Charles T. Gallagher, General F. W. Streeter, General Charles H. Taylor, Edward W. Hutchins, Alfred Hemenway, Judge Wait and Thomas W. Proctor.

The ushers were: James Nowell, chief; Lewis Parkhurst, Arthur H. Russell, Robert Coit, George L. Huntress, Arthur A. Ballentine and James S. Allen, Jr.

In addition to representatives from the office of Elder & Whitman, there were present: Former Governor Brackett, former Governor Bates, former Mayor Nathan Matthews, Jr., Melvin O. Adams, Judge DeCourcy, Sherman L. Whipple, Wallace L. Pierce, Homer Albers, the Rev. Edward Cummings, Frank Palmer Speare, Asa S. Allen, Brooks W. Belmore, Arthur W. Dean, John Adams Wood.

The Bar Association of the County of Middlesex was represented by the following: W. H. Wilson of Lowell, George L. Mayberry of Woburn, Frank E. Dunbar of Lowell, Alfred S. Hall of Winchester, Arthur H. Russell of Winchester, Samuel K. Hamilton of Wakefield, Thomas W. Proctor of Newton, George L. Huntress of Winchester and Samuel L. Powers of Newton.

The Boston University Law School by Dean Albers and Messrs. Wood and Wm. A. Kneeland.

Various organizations and clubs were represented by delegations, among them being Northwestern College School of Law, Frank Palmer Speare, dean; Asa S. Allen, assistant dean, and Brooks W. Belmore, secretary; Yale Club of Boston, Walter Binnian, George Huntress, Alfred Ripley, Charles Stetson, Alfred Hemenway, Walter Badger, Dr. Fred B. Percy, Barton Chapin and Walter Bigelow; Curtis Club, President Samuel H. Hudson, Secretary C. S. Rackemann, Melvin O. Adams, T. W. Proctor and William V. Kellen.

Other delegations were: Officers of the William Parkman Lodge of Winchester, Winchester Board of Selectmen, officers of Winchester Public Safety Committee, members of the Republican Club, Camp 153, Sons Public Safety Committee and Winchester Selectmen; Camp 153, Sons of Veterans, and members of the G. A. R. in uniform; World's Peace Foundation, represented by the Rev. Edward Cummings, general secretary, and President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard; S. C. Darling, trustee of the American College for Girls, Constantinople.

The burial was private, with the interment in Wildwood Cemetery.

In referring to Mr. Elder in his sermon Sunday morning, Mr. Chidley said in part:

There are three tests which the world brings to bear, sooner or later, on every man.

First, Did he win the game? The world wants a man to be successful in his chosen field. No matter how politely it may excuse his failures, it gives short shrift to his apologies for lack of success.

The second question the world asks is, Did he play fair? This is a question which the world will surely ask. No matter what success a man has achieved, if he have achieved it unfairly, his success is dust and ashes, and he knows it. The world made up its mind on that point long, long ago.

But the third test the world brings bites down deeper still: it asks in what relation a man has stood to his fellowman along the way. Not only did he win the game, did he play fair, but also, did his interests reach beyond the confines of his own personality and touch in any helpful way his fellowmen? That is the severest test of all. You see it brings the question back from a test of talents to a test of character. No matter what conspicuous success a man may have made of his gifts of hand or brain, the world still asks the revealing question, did you live helpfully amongst your fellowmen?

As I said to you a few Sundays ago, "Whenever we encounter a man at once talented and simple, that is to say, who considers his gifts as a means of fulfilling his mission in the world, we must remember that he has surmounted obstacles, borne trials, and triumphed in temptations both grave and subtle. He has remained a man—that says it all. He is accessible, helpful, and makes his talents a means for coming nearer to his fellowmen. In his presence we all must ask ourselves this question, 'Should I keep this modesty and naturalness were I in his place?' And so long as there are bitterly conflicting interests, so long as envy and egotism exist on earth, nothing will be worthier of honor than talent associated with the spirit of simplicity. It will do more than make success forgiven in the eyes of the envious, it will make it beloved."

One of the finest things ever said of Abraham Lincoln was: "I doubt if any man, woman, or child, white or black, bond or free, virtuous or vicious, ever accosted or reached forth a hand to Abraham Lincoln, and detected in his countenance or manner any repugnance or shrinking from the proffered contact, any assumption of superiority or betrayal of disdain."

It gets home to us all sooner or later that a man's destiny and a man's worth is not so much what he has accomplished, as what he is in himself.

The ultimate question of existence for each of us is not what we have done the way of achievement, but what our achievement has made of us.

There is no greater thing in the world than to stand in helpful relations to one's fellowmen, to make one home happy, to help lame dogs over the stile. What one is lives longer than what one does. Character is greater than deeds. Words die, personal influence lives. A teacher lives longer than anything he teaches. An adequate refutation of the theory that deeds live longer than men is a mother. She lives in us all for what she was, not for what she did.

There went out from us this week one who had achieved international distinction in his field.

To his brilliant gifts the country stands indebted: but that which we shall remember him by is not his great talent as a lawyer. He was greater than any one phase of his gifts. We shall remember him as a man. Perhaps the most outstanding thing in our memory of him will be his gracious attitude toward his fellowmen, which bespoke some fine magnanimity of spirit and generous impulse toward his kind. Nothing proved his greatness more than his genuine simplicity and human interest. There is always an ease about true greatness.

As Phillips Brooks once said, "There is no sign of ripening life which is more gracious and more beautiful than the capacity and disposition to find richness in the simplest and healthiest associations."

The simplicity of great men rebukes our artificialities. And there is nothing which so genuinely simplifies us as to forget self in our interest for others. And to achieve that you and I must look at life as Christ shows it to us. He accents the things that give meaning and value and immortality to life. People sometimes say of youth, "The world is at your feet". But that is not true unless heaven is in your heart.

Look out beyond the brief ambitions, the trivial honors, the cheap victories, and spurious gains of earth, and behold, —oh, so far beyond them all!—the stainless light shining from the towers and pinacles of the City of God.

And know that if ever you are to come to the gates of that City, it must be by winning a victory compared with which every temporal achievement is but child's play. For the everlasting shelter and reward of that City are not for them whose hands are full, but for them whose hands are clean; not for them who have won honors, but for them who have learned humility; not for the successful, but for the unselfish; not for the clever, but for the faithful; not for them that have won the world as their prize, but for them that have overcome the world by the Grace of that Eternal life Christ giveth unto them that trust and follow Him."

WOBURN THEATRE.

George M. Cohan, the popular stage and screen favorite, in something entirely new and distinct in the way of a photoplay of unusual theme and construction is announced as a forthcoming special attraction at the Woburn Theatre, next Thursday Friday and Saturday. Selected as the new screen vehicle is none other than his own well-known stage hit, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," founded on the story of that name by Earl Derr Biggers.

During its sensational presentation on the theatrical stage this play amazed even the most blase critics of the drama for its utter disregard of all accepted rules and regulations of the demands of a successful offering of the theatre. And, as stated by many first-nighters, it defied the critics in its effort to give the public a novelty. Never in the annals of the stage had a play so completely bewildered its audience and never before had the critics failed to this fact with such frank commendation.

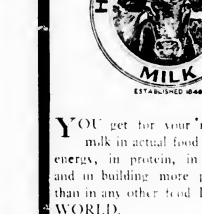

The originality of George M. Cohan and his wonderful ability to play upon the human side of the public's nature was never more definitely displayed than in this subject.

Staged under the capable direction of Hugh Ford, the producer of many film successes under the Famous Players banner, the screen portrayal of "Seven Keys to Baldpate" offers a photoplay of the most modern cinema technique.

MUST HAVE A PAPER.

The town of Belmont appreciates the value of the newspaper as an aid to community work. On the suspension some time ago, because of high prices for white paper, for the duration of the war, of the Belmont Courier, which had worked enthusiastically to advance all the worthy activities of the present crisis, the Public Safety Committee felt the obligation to establish some means of communication with the people of Belmont which should be at once inexpensive, direct and sure. In fulfilment they started the publication of the Patriot expecting not only to meet this obligation, but to furnish a vital, coordinating force that will hold the citizens to the work which the war puts upon them. All who have any part in its publication (save the printers) give their services, and a committee of public spirited citizens guarantees any deficit, if such occurs.

SINGULAR COINCIDENCES.

On Jan. 10, the same day that American women won their great victory for the Federal Woman Suffrage Amendment in the House of Representatives, Great Britain's House of Lords, "cita'el of conservatism though it maybe" decreed that the Women Suffrage Clause in the Representation of the People Bill Should Stand.

The vote was two to one in both cases—the House of Representatives and the House of Lords. This seems the matter for Great Britain. Her vote for Woman Suffrage as a war measure awaits now only the signature and seal of the King, which will not be delayed if it has not already been accomplished when this is read.

Another interesting coincidence is that in voting for the Susan B. Anthony Bill, the Federal Amendment, on Jan. 10, 1918, the House celebrated the 40th anniversary of the measure. On Jan. 10, 1878 the amendment was first introduced into the Senate by Senator Sargent. In those 40 years it has twice come to vote in the Senate and once in the House than in this subject.

The date for the Senate vote has not yet been set but in the interest of time-conservation it will doubtless be soon, and that it will uphold the House is most probable as it has shown itself by far the more favorable body.

Rep. Gallivan of Massachusetts, put the matter rather truely when he said: "Democracy cannot live half foes and half female."

M. E. Allen.

JUDGE CHARLES E. SHATTUCK.

Judge Charles Edward Shattuck of 48 Beacon street, Boston, until recently a well known resident of Church street, this town, who on Nov 8, 1917, was appointed to the Superior Court bench by Governor McCall, died late Tuesday night at the Massachusetts General Hospital. Last Friday he was taken ill while hearing a case in Salem, but recovered sufficiently to return to his home. On Saturday morning, however, he felt worse and went to the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Judge Shattuck, who was in his fifty-second year, had been living at 48 Beacon street for about four years, going there from Winchester where previously he had lived with his sister, Miss Alice Shattuck, who is now in Italy.

Prior to his appointment to the judiciary he practised law at 19 Congress street, and was widely known as an auditor and master. One of the leading cases in which he figured was that of the Mercantile Mutual Accident Association, of which he was appointed receiver by Justice Holmes of the Supreme Court.

Judge Shattuck was graduated from Harvard College in 1887 and from the Law School, receiving the degrees of A. M. and LL. B in 1890. He had the endorsement of the Boston Bar Association and Middlesex County Bar Association and Massachusetts Bar Association, when he was named by Gov. McCall, with whom he was for a number of years well acquainted. He was a member of the Union Club. In addition to the sister now in Europe, Judge Shattuck is survived by a cousin ,who is in Pittsburgh.

The silver cup and ribbons won by the Town of Winchester at the Milk, Cream and Butter Show of the Massachusetts Board of Agriculture at Worcester, Jan. 8—10th, are on exhibition in the Star office window. The prizes should be of interest to every householder of this town.

This cup and the five ribbons constitute the second prize in the showing in analysis of market milk among the Massachusetts cities and towns and was awarded our Inspector of Milk, Maurice Dinneen. The prize holds especial significance when it is noted that Winchester entered only 11 samples against as many as 52 from some other places.

LECTURE ON NOTRE DAME.

Wednesday, Feb. 6th, at the home of Mrs. Chester Kelley, Miss L. J. Sanderson spoke most interestly upon "Notre Dame." Mention was made of the location of the Cathedral on the island in the Siene which was the cradle of Paris. Then followed a brief, historical account of the Cathedral and its place in the development of French Gothic architecture, with discriptions of the exterior and its wonderful collection of fantastic gargoyles—the tinest in Europe, the massive interior with its choir and "Vow of Louis XIII." and the beautiful rose window of ancient glass. The mutilations and decserations of the French revolution were touched upon. In closing, a description was given of the most notable event that Notre Dame ever witnessed: the Coronation of Emperor Napoleon and the Empress Josephine. Many interesting pictures of the Cathedral and its parts, loaned by the Art Museum, gave added pleasure to those who heard Miss Sanderson.

March 6th, Miss Sanderson will speak upon "The Destruction of Beautiful Architecture in Antwerp, Ypres, and Louvain During the Present War."

MILITARY FUNERAL.

First Death in Service Receives Military Honors.

The funeral of John Gironda, the first Winchester man to die in the service of the world war, was held Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's Church, Rev. Francis E. Rogers officiating. The Church was filled.

The funeral procession started from Gironda's home on Florence street, and was headed by an Italian band. A firing squad from Commonwealth Pier, where Gironda was a mess attendant, followed. The hearse and casket were draped with American flags.

About 200 people, mostly Italians, marched behind the hearse followed by about 25 carriages. At the church entrance the sailors formed a double line at present arms, through which the casket was carried into the Church.

After the service the procession passed down Washington street by the Town Hall, the band playing "The Star Spangled Banner," through Winchester center and then to Calvary Cemetery. The sailors stood at present arms before the grave while the casket was being lowered. They then fired three rounds and the bugler sounded "taps."

Places on churches and business buildings were displayed at half-staff during the funeral

SCHOOL NOTES.

Miss Jennie M. Wood, Principal of the Gifford School, on leave of absence for illness, has returned from her home in Newcastle, Me., and is stopping at No. 4 Park road. Miss Wood is feeling better and plans to remain in Winchester until Spring.

Mr. Warren C. Johnson of the high school teaching force has charge of the boys' physical training in place of Mr. Mitterling, who recently entered the aviation service.

So far as can at this time be determined the schools will not be shortened to close on account of a shortage of coal.

Through the activity of Mr. James J. Fitzgerald of the local fuel committee the schools appear to be assured of sufficient coal, the firm of Boggs & Cobb and the Gelatine factory at the Highlands having expressed a willingness to allow the town to draw on their supply. This stock was made available early in the week and is being used now. Meanwhile the school authorities are anticipating deliveries through the regular channels.

The school record for purchases of the Government War Saving Stamps is held at present by the open air school in the Prince. Mrs. Jewett's room with 500 thrift stamps and 22 certificates, total value, $215.64.

THE WEATHER

Smashes All Records For This Section Of The Country.

We feel, again deserves our comment; not but what you know it has been cold, for with an average thru the month of January of 14, even you and I have had it thrust upon us, and with this much of February some 10 point's lower on the mercurial scale, even the doubters have sat up and taken notice. But even so, it is a comfort to review that portion through which we have successfully struggled thus far, for only last Friday at 2:30 in the afternoon we were promised a coming week of mild temperatures, and the glass registered 20 above, and then, on Saturday morning, we awoke (and some didn't even have that pleasure) to 18 below; and again on Tuesday, after a night of high winds, when the electrics ran occasionally and the trains likewise, we got up and shivered and muttered up courage to look the glass in the face at 16 below, it does seem as though we must give the Devil his due—not meaning the weather man of course. Oh yes, we must admit that we have had some weather. May it continue to be "has had".

The slowing up of all activities, social, business and necessary, has been noticeable. Still, we are a hardy race, and if the electrics break their axles and run off the tracks, and the locomotives cannot make steam, and the switches freeze up, we, at least the greater portion of us, wear good warm clothes as we stand about the breezy street corners. And it is noticeable. From observation more people are wearing really suitable clothing this winter, and more are boasting of their freedom from their usual colds than for many winters.

And so, despite the inconveniences, we derive a benefit, for often in conversational lines the weather is now placed upon its proper pedestal as a legitimate topic.

A review of the weather of the week is interesting. Last Friday was of the usual temperature we have experienced during the warmer days of this winter, the thermometer rising as high as 20 shortly before noon. During the afternoon and especially in the early evening the glass dropped rapidly, it being 12 below by 9:30. Saturday morning opened with the glass at 18 below, and the only fortunate thing about the drop was the fact that it was a still cold with no wind. From 7 a. m. the mercury rose steadily until after noon it was again up to 20.

Sunday opened dark and lowery, with a temperature around zero. As the day darkened a snow storm commenced, lasting until well into the evening, although comparatively little snow fell. Monday saw increasing winds and another drop in temperature during the afternoon.

Monday night was by far the worst of the winter, a high wind adding to the extreme discomfort of the very low temperature. At 6 a. m. Tuesday it was 16 below in Winchester, and the glass did not rise above zero until about 1 p. m. when it was two above.

This came as a final slap to the already demoralized conditions. The steam trains were badly crippled. Many trains were cancelled and those which did run were from a half to two hours late. A Woburn train spent Tuesday forenoon on the branch and a locomotive sent to help it get into trouble and was useless itself.

The electrics on the Woburn line ran very well considering the conditions, and a regular service was maintained. This was appreciated by many who were held up by other transportation routes. The Arlington electrics ran once in a while, sometimes two hours elapsing between cars. Conductors stood and shivered and finally gave it up and walked. The trouble was caused in two instances by a broken axle and a car running off the track.

Frozen water pipes gave the Water Department much work. Beginning Friday calls commenced coming in at the average rate of 50 a day up to the present. Wednesday over 200 places were on file where the pipes were frozen in the ground. The department had a big force of men on the jump and are giving excellent service in remedying conditions.

The schools for the most part kept open, although it was found impossible to heat the Wyman, Washington, Mystic and Gifford during Tuesday forenoon. A fortunate part of the experience was that there were no fires during the coldest weather. Tuesday is said to have been the coldest school day here in 20 years.

Wednesday opened with the glass at zero, and by noon it had risen to 16, this temperature since prevailing.

D. OF I. LECTURE.

Plans are now completed for the lecture which will be held in White's Hall, Tuesday evening, Feb. 19th, under the patronage of the Daughters of Isabella. Santa Maria Court is indeed very fortunate in securing for the first of this year's lectures such a well known speaker as Miss Mary O'Reilly, who is noted the country over as a lecturer of much ability.

Miss O'Reilly will speak on her experiences at the front. She spent much time on the scenes of the actual fighting, serving as a Red Cross worker and a newspaper writer. It is expected that her vivid descriptions of conditions as they really are "over there" will stimulate all who hear her to do even more than their "bit."

There will be no advertisement of this lecture except such notices as appear in the STAR, but it is anticipated that the gathering on Feb 19th will be a most representative one, with people present from all sections and all walks of life. To cover expenses a nominal fee of 25c will be charged for the lecture and those wish to hear Miss O'Reilly are advised to procure their tickets early, as the tickets are limited to the capacity of Whites Hall." The proceeds of this lecture are to be devoted to Santa Maria Court's Red Cross work.

Tickets may be procured from Mrs. Wm. E. McDonald, 673-W; Mrs. J. C Sullivan, 565-M; Mrs. Wm. H. Vayo, 1114-W; Mrs. Geo. R. Poland, 767-M; Mrs. Richard Glendon, 56-W.

IS AMERICA HEADED FOR SOCIALISM?

In the past few months the most individualistic people of the world has suddenly been finding that it has a paternal government. Washington tells the people how much and what they shall eat. In time some official may set the fashions.

This tendency is troubling many people. It seems as though the country had suddenly slipped into Socialism. Perhaps the words of the New England Congressman who regretted his vote for war last April in the ground that it "would advance State Socialism by 50 years" are being fulfilled.

Mr. Packer will speak on the drift towards Socialism on Sunday afternoon at this lecture at the Church of the Epiphany, at 5 p. m.

Once Socialism was a theory. Now a great many people are wondering if it is not a fact.

MRS. HENRY L. PECK.

Mrs. Hannah L. (Fowler) Peck, wife of Henry L. Peck, aged 72 years, died yesterday at the home of her son, Mr. Joseph E. Peck, at 15 Glengarry. Her death was due to the infirmities of her advanced age and came after a long period of invalidism.

Mrs. Peck had made her home in Winchester since last September, coming from Cleveland, O., where she resided for over 40 years. She was a native of Freeport, O., the daughter of Mr and Mrs. John Fowler. She is survived by her husband and son, and one sister residing in Toledo, O.

Funeral services will be held from the residence this Saturday afternoon and the interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

LECTURE AT AIGREMONT.

There was a large attendance at Aigremont, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oren C. Sanborn on Myopia Hill, Tuesday afternoon, the occasion being an entertainment given by Miss Helen E. Sanborn for the benefit of the Winchester Red Cross. Besides society people of the town, many surrounding places were represented in the attendance of over 100 guests.

The feature of the afternoon was a lecture on "Romances and Legends of Touraine and Brittany," given by Miss Mabel K. Knight. Included with Miss Knight's talk was a group of three French songs by Miss Annette Symmes, who wore the French costume of the period, the 16th century. Miss Symmes was accompanied by Arthur Feidler of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and her final selection was "The Marseillaise."

Miss Sanborn was influenced in her selection of the entertainment through the fact that her aunt, the late Helen J. Sanborn, was the author of the book, "Anne of Brittany," which was published shortly before her death, and Miss Knight had assisted in its production.

Miss Sanborn realized about $50 from the afternoon for her contribution to the Red Cross. She is active in the Society's lunch room in Boston.

MR. LORING AT THE EPIPHANY.

On Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service the Rev. R. T. Loring, Rector of St. John's Church, Newtonville, will exchange with Mr. Packer and preach at the Epiphany. Mr. Loring's subject is: "The Builder and the Sword."

His work along the lines of the Emmanuel Movement has given him a rare insight into the processes of the human mind. He is a very strong influence for right thinking and self-control.

A letter from Mr. Dewart will be read to the congregation on Sunday morning. Mr. Dewart has seen fit to tell[illegible]er more about himself and his work in France and the conditions of the American soldiers there, than in previous letters.

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF THE GERMAN PEOPLE.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Friendly, Mr. Metcalf will speak on "The Psychology of the German Nation as revealed in the Utterances of her Statesmen and Teachers." The results of Germany can be laid to the direct result of her chauvinism, socialism and national religious consciousness.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

Lady Hope, a consecrated English woman, once told the following remarkable story of Darwin, the great scientist and author when he was approaching the end of his life on earth. It was afterwards repeated from the platform at Northfield, Mass., by Dr. A. T. Robertson. At the request of The Watchman-Examiner the story was written out for that paper:

"It was one of those glorious autumn afternoons that we sometimes enjoy in England, when I was asked to go in and sit with the well-known professor, Charles Darwin. He was almost bedridden for some months before he died. I used to feel when I saw him that his fine presence would make a grand picture for our Royal Academy; but never did I think so more strongly than on this particular occasion.

He was sitting up in bed wearing a soft, embroidered dressing gown, of rather a rich purple shade.

Propped up by pillows he was gazing out on a far-stretching scene of woods and cornfields, which glowed in the light of one of those marvelous sunsets which are the beauty of Kent and Surrey. His noble forehead and fine features seemed to be lit up with pleasure as I entered the room.

He waved his hand toward the window as he pointed out the scene beyond, while in the other hand he held an open Bible, which he was always studying.

"What are you reading now?" I asked, as I seated myself by his bedside.

"Hebrews," he answered, "still Hebrews. 'The Royal Book,' I call it. Isn't it grand?"

Then, placing his finger on certain passages, he commented on them.

I made some allusions to the strong opinions expressed by many persons on the history of the Creation, its grandeur, and then their treatment to the earlier chapters of the Book of Gene is.

He seemed greatly distressed, his fingers twitched nervously, and a look of agony came over his face as he said:

"I was a young man with unformed ideas. I threw out queries, suggestions, wondering all the time over everything, and to my astonishment the ideas took like wildfire. People made a religion of them."

Then he paused, and after a few more sentences on "the holiness of God" and "the grandeur of this Book," looking at the Bible which he was holding tenderly all the time, he suddenly said:

"I have a summer house in the garden that holds about thirty people. It is over there," pointing through the open window. "I want you very much to speak there. I know you read the Bible in the villages. Tomorrow afternoon I should like the servants on the place some tenants and a few of the neighbors to gather there. Will you speak to them?"

"What shall I speak about?" I asked.

"Christ Jesus!" he replied in a clear, emphatic voice, adding in a lower tone, "and his salvation. Is not that the best theme? And then I want you to sing some hymns with them. You lead on your small instrument, do you not?"

The wonderful look of brightness and animation on his face as he said this I shall never forget, for he added:

"If you take the meeting at three o'clock this window will be open, and you will know that I am joining in with the singing."

How I wish that I could have made a picture of the fine old man and his beautiful surroundings on the memorable day.

There is a difference between happiness and wisdom; he that thinks himself the happiest man really is, but that Wisehesterite that thinks himself the wisest is generally the greatest fool.

WILLIAM BEAUMAN ROGERSON.

Superintendent of Forbes Lithograph Co. Dies Suddenly in Winchester.

William Beauman Rogerson, superintendent of the Chelsea plant of the Forbes Lithograph Co. and connected with that firm for almost 40 years, was asphyxiated in his garage at his Winchester residence Saturday forenoon. Mr. Rogerson left the house and went to the garage about 10 o'clock. His absence being noted an hour later investigation found him sitting in his car dead. One wheel had been jacked up and the engine was running, and the gasoline fumes, confined within the structure, had suffocated him.

Mr. Rogerson was widely known in the lithograph trade through his connection with the Forbes plant, where he was a director and superintendent. He was born in Rogersonville, a part of Uxbridge, 72 years ago. His grandfather was a native of England and came here in 1721, building the two mills, the Crown and the Eagle, at Rogersonville for the manufacture of cotton. These mills are running today under their original names, the Crown being so named after Mr. Rogerson's Motherland, England, and the Eagle in recognition of his adopted country, America. His grandfather was a well known president of the Handel and Haydn Society during his later years.

William Rogerson was the son of Robert and Mary (Ball) Rogerson. His parents moved to Boston when he was in his third year, and his early education was acquired in the schools of the city. When in his 16th year he enlisted in the 53rd Massachusetts Infantry and saw service in the Civil War.

Upon receiving his discharge he went to the South Woodstock Academy, Vermont, where he completed his education. His first position was with the Geo. C. Whitney Co. of Worcester, manufacturers of envelopes. He remained there about three years, when he entered the employ of the Forbes Lithograph Co. as a clerk, under the founder of the firm, the late William H. Forbes. By strict application to his work, combined with a natural inherited ability to progress, he rose successively to its superintendent and a director.

Mr. Rogerson married Miss Anna Willard of Worcester in 1866, the couple observing their golden wedding two years ago. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Thomas F. Poole of Revere and Mrs. Samuel Wright Simpson, who made her home with her parents in Winchester, where they had resided since June. There is one granddaughter and a brother, Charles F. Rogerson of Milton, president of the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Co.; also one sister, Mrs. Frederick M. Haynes of Hyde Park.

Funeral services were held from the residence on Monday afternoon at 2.45, and were conducted by Rev. Joel H. Metcalf, minister of the Unitarian church. There was a large attendance including about 200 employees and officers of the Forbes Lithograph Co., and 50 intimate friends.

During the service the Lotus male quartet sang three selections, "God be With You Till We Meet Again," "Eternal Goodness" and "Can This Be Dying." At the conclusion of the service the quartet sang the Lord's Prayer

The display of floral offerings was very profuse, the rooms being banked with flowers, many of them beautiful floral pieces from the officials and various departments of the Forbes Company.

The burial was in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

At the conclusion of the dinner the regular work of the Lodge will be taken up, this including action upon two applications for degrees, nine applications for membership and conferring the first degree upon a class of candidates.

MRS. GINN WEDS DR. HUNTER ROBB.

With only the members of the immediate families and a few intimate friends present at the ceremony, the wedding of Mrs. Marguerite F. G. Ginn, of this town, widow of the late Edwin Ginn, and Dr. Hunter Robb of Brattle street, Cambridge, took place at 11 o'clock at Emmanuel Church, Newbury street, Emmanuel Church, Newbury street, Boston.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Walter Lawrie, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Rome, Italy, and an intimate friend of Doctor Robb, assisted by the Rev. Elwood Worcester, rector of Emmanuel Church.

Owing to the privacy of the wedding simplicity marked the event, the only decorations being those at the altar, which consisted of clusters of blue iris. Mrs. Ginn's only attendant was her daughter, Miss Marguerita G. Ginn, as maid of honor, and the best man was Lt. Hampton Robb of the signal corps, U. S. R., the elder son of Dr. Robb. Mrs. Ginn was given in marriage by her son, Edwin Ginn. There was no reception following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast being served at Mrs. Ginn's residence, 82 Beacon street, instead.

This was the first wedding at which the newly-installed and enlarged organ at the church, said to be the largest in this country, was used. The wedding music consisted of the march and prelude from the Meistersingers, being played by W. Lynnwood Farnum, organist of the church.

Following the wedding breakfast, Dr. and Mrs. Robb left on a wedding trip to the South. They will remain at Palm Beach until April, then return to live at the Terrace of Oaks, Winchester, the Ginn estate.

FEDERAL AMENDMENT AS A FORM OF DECISION.

The form of decision by which the question of woman suffrage shall be settled, whether by Federal or State action, is an issue entirely distinct from the question of suffrage, and it is very desirable that the two issues be not confused. Belief in suffrage and advocacy of a Federal Amendment are not identical, as many clear-sighted suffragists admit. For example, Senator Borah of Idaho, Republican, said in believer in the cause. "I have been an advocate of woman suffrage for twenty-five years, and am still a believer in the cause. I have been an opponent of the so-called Anthony Amendment, and am still so, and expect to remain so until the close of my political career."

And again, "The New York World," democratic and pro-suffrage, calls this same proposed amendment, "a vicious political undertaking," and denounces it in several bitter editorials.

When the framers of our National Constitution inserted the clause about a Constitutional Amendment, there can be no doubt that they intended to have this power used only on questions concerning the "whole country," for, in another clause, they affirm that in regard to all "local" matters, each State shall be free to make its own laws; and one of the rights distinctly mentioned is the "right of every State to decide who shall constitute its electorate."

Either Root or those this attempt to force woman suffrage on States that do not want it, is an overrider of State Rights and Majority Rules. "Such an attempt," he says, "is contrary to the principle of liberty upon which the American Union was established and without which it cannot endure." * * * Without assurance that both of these ideas, the principle of nationality and the principle of local self-government, would be preserved, the Union would not have been formed and without them it cannot be maintained. * * * To subject any section of the country, in its local affairs to the dictation of voters living in other parts of the country, would create a condition of intolerable grievance, and to use the power of the nation to bring about that condition would be to make the nation an instrument of tyranny. It is needless to argue that this would ultimately destroy the nation."

One young men are going forth to fight for "Democracy." While they are doing this, shall there be at home such a blow struck at Democracy, as would be struck, should the Susan B. Anthony Amendment be allowed?

The effect of the cold was noticeable in Tuesday night's games. It seemed to be invigorating to Newman, who piled up the remarkable score of 377 on a single of 144, and likewise to Henry Weed, who made 316 with 111. On the rest of the bowlers it had a very bad effect, for the other scores were poor. Team K dropped one point to B by four pins and team D dropped one to H by one pin, this being the string in which Newman rolled his single of 144. Another close string was the first in the E-G match, which went to E by four pins. Outside Newman and Weed, Stephenson was the only man to distinguish himself. He rolled a single of 122. Other good strings were Johnson's 107 and Richburg's and Parshley's 102.

We are promised that he brings inspiration to all who are fortunate in hearing him. It is hoped that he will find his audience appreciative.

STATE GUARD NEWS.

Corporal W. B. May to Sergeant [illegible]

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The national president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Miss Anna Gordon, has been in Boston during the past week, holding various conferences with workers in order to co-ordinate the work of the States with that of the national union. While there has been entire harmony in general, each State has developed somewhat differently and it is desirable that all should unite at the present time in order to secure the ratification of the amendment to the Federal constitution. On Monday Miss Gordon spoke at Boston Central Union, and on Tuesday she met the presidents of the New England States in the morning and in the afternoon had a conference to which all State officers and executives were invited as well as other leading workers. Miss Gordon is a Massachusetts woman but she was called many years ago to close friendship and fellowship with Frances E. Willard as secretary and has since given herself wholly to the work of temperance reform. She succeeded Mrs. Stevens as national president a little more than a year ago and is demonstrating as much power as a leader as she showed as assistant.

The measure for the ratification of the amendment has been endorsed by nearly all bodies of women to which it has been presented. Last week the Boston City Federation, representing 30,000 women, went on record in its favor. The more progressive clubs are taking similar action, realizing that the abolition of the liquor traffic is of prime importance, and that while State prohibition may not always be expedient, nation wide prohibition can be more easily enforced. Petitions are now being circulated in Winchester and may be found at the Red Cross and Special Aid Society headquarters as well as in the hands of members of the Union. Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Gleason and Mrs. Hefflon have plenty of blanks for signatures and will be glad to give them to any who would like to help in the matter of getting signatures.

While Winchester has no doubt that its representative and senator will vote right, it will help them in their position to receive letters asking their support. This hint is for everyone interested in the passage of the amendment.

The sympathy of the members of the W. C. T. U. will go out to the head of the Flower Mission in the State, Mrs. Samuel Wright Simpson, in the loss of her father, Mr. Rogerson. She has done so much to make brighter the lives of the sick and sorrowful that there will be many to wish that she too, may find comfort. Although for some months a resident of Winchester, she has not yet become identified with the local union, but she is well known to many of the active workers in the gracious charity which she directs.

MRS. CAROLINE CLAFLIN.

Mrs. Caroline Claflin, mother of Mr. Louis Claflin of Reservoir street, passed away Tuesday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Hunt of Lincoln street, Stoneham. Mrs. Claflin was born in Boston in 1835, and for many years was an old and respected resident of Winchester. She was in her eighty-third year. Last week she suffered an attack of grip, from which she did not rally, owing to her advanced age. The funeral service will take place this afternoon from her late residence and the interment will be in Woodlawn Cemetery. She is survivied by two children, Mr. Louis Claflin of this town, and Mrs. Geo. Hunt of Stoneham, two grandchildren and one great-grandchild, also of Winchester.

WELFARE OF CHILDREN.

Editor of the Star:

May I call your attention to the following and ask you to give it to your readers?

The Children's Bureau has worked out a comprehensive war time program which begins with infancy itself. Under ordinary conditions the death rate of the nursery is, according to a recent writer, seven times as great as that of the trenches. Fifty thousand British soldiers a year have been killed in the war, while three hundred and fifty thousand children die before they are a year old, in the United States under peace conditions.

Fourteen babies in every 100 die in their first year.

Two soldiers in every 100 are killed per year in war.

Comparative Mortality of the cradle and the trench.

With war prices of milk, war shortage of coal and the father's income withdrawn while he is in the army, the baby death rate bids fair to be doubled or trebled in war time. With prices of necessities the Children's Bureau has nothing to do, but it has done its part to make the soldier-father's income secure to his family by pushing most vigorously the act which was passed last fall providing allowances for soldiers' dependents, supplemented later by insurance polices for soldiers issued by the War Risk Insurance Bureau of the Treasury Department. This provision of a permanent income for families in war time should help in the solution both of the baby's problem of proper nourishment and care and the older child's problem of premature war work.

Brief War Program of the Children's Bureau.

The Children's Bureau in Washington, with Miss Julia Lathrop, good friend of suffrage, at its head, is planning to carry out the war program which is briefly stated here:

I. Public protection of maternity and infancy.

Essentials:

(a) Public-health nurses and suitable medical attention.

(b) The care of babies by their own mothers under decent home conditions.

II. Mothers' care for older children.

Essentials:

(a) Adequate living incomes.

(b) Family allowances for soldiers' families; mothers' pensions for civilians.

(c) Special provision for extraordinary needs, so far as required to enable mothers of older children to afford the home comfort and protection which are the best safeguard against delinquency.

III. Enforcement of all child-labor laws and full schooling for all children of school age. Standards should be maintained in spite of war pressure.

IV. Recreation for children and youth, abundant, decent, protected from any form of exploitation.

Very truly yours,

Elsie Wulkop.

The Winchester Star

Entered at the post-office at Winchester, Massachusetts, as second-class matter.

"Swat the spy"—and then he can't start fires and destroy property! Assist by keeping the street lights burning all night.

The town of Arlington intends to maintain its all night street lighting for police protection, and the protection of the public.

State ownership of street railroads! Barrels of pork in it! Every town in the State would employ for a slice of it at State expense.

Herr Muller at a conference in Germany on the war said: "Bitter feeling in the United States after the war is not worth considering, because if Germany succeeds she can dictate terms to assure favored treatment for herself. If on the other hand Germany throws away this opportunity [U-boats] the passive approval of the United States will be of small practical value."

Why should the thought that horse meat may soon be generally eaten cause revulsion? In our opinion it has for a long time been on the market labelled "Frankforts." We don't mean all Frankforts are made principally of horse meat—only the cheaper kinds. As long ago as when Henry Stock was a night patrolman, it was said he went into a sausage factory and saw the head of a horse. This may not be true—you can ask Henry. But, if other food sources fail, the 5,500,000 horses in this country will stand between starvation.—[Reading Chronicle.

It is going to cost $12,000,000 a year for the state of Massachusetts to continue the payment of a bonus of $10 a month to its soldiers. This means $2.60 per thousand in the tax rate of every city and town in the Commonwealth. The only alternative is a bond issue, which would entail a continuing cost on all the people, besides requiring an issue at a time when we shall have to strain every financial energy in the flotation of Liberty loans. The effect on other States of our continuing this practice is also a serious matter. Their soldiers would be constantly chafing under existing conditions as they learned that the men from Massachusetts, undergoing the same service and enjoying the same federal allowances, were also beneficiaries of a State system. We might thus be adding an additional expense on the rest of the country, to the interruption of its plans for financing the war.—[Boston Herald.

WINCHESTER RED CROSS.

The first month of the Winchester Branch of our Red Cross shows that nearly 7,000 compresses have been made and sent to Mct. Chap. Many knitted articles made and most of them also sent. A very efficient corps of instructors are at the rooms every day to teach new-comers to make these dressings. All ladies especially those not now working in any unit are most earnestly asked to give a part of their time to this important work.

There is no expense to workers in the Red Cross room, unless they choose to own their own apron and cap.

Rooms are open from 10 to 4 from Monday to Friday inclusive.

Our Winchester boys who are going into the Service of our Army or Navy can be supplied with knitted articles at the Red Cross Rooms, 9 Mt. Vernon street, on Monday, Tuesday, We'nesday and Thursday of each week.

The Surgical Dressings Class will start just as soon as the Mcdonald Inn Chapter can send a nurse to take charge of the course.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

"BIG BILL" HART'S COMING TO WOBURN THEATRE.

Not in person, of course, but in his latest Thomas H. Ince photoplay, "The Silent Man," which has just been made for Arteraft, and which will be seen at the Woburn Theatre, on next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The advent of a new Hart picture is very much the same as the visit of a three-ringed circus to any community. It is an event of prime importance. So the mere announcement that "Bill Hart" in his latest Ince picture is scheduled for an early appearance holds quite as much interest as can possibly be crowded into any news story concerning a screen celebrity.

Hart's newest work, "The Silent Man," is a story of the big western country, providing Hart with the role of a miner who has prospected the vast desert spaces for years, finally discovering a rich gold deposit. He comes into a small Arizona bordertown to enter the location of his claim, but has his property taken from him by an unscrupulous gambler, with the connivance of a government agent. It is the effort of "Silent" Budd Marr—the role played by Hart—to recover the gold mine that forms the basis of a story replete with thrills

BEACON THEATRE.

Madge Kennedy, the Goldwyn star, and rated by many as the brightest luminary in the film constellation, will shine on the bill at the Beacon Theatre, Boston, all of next week in her latest comedy picture, "Our Little Wife." Since this captivating comedienne left the stage but a short time ago and went to the studio she has won fame so instant, so emphatic and so widespread that she has been the marvel of the industry. In "Our Little Wife," Miss Kennedy finds another part that fits her peculiar capabilities like a glove. The companion photoplay to be shown throughout the week is "Hidden Pearls," picturing Sessue Hayakawa in his romance of the East by Beulah Marie Dix, the noted Boston authoress. The popular Japanese player appears, it is said, to particular advantage in this production in that he is called upon for special characterization which is well within his preferred powers, and the story is full of that romantic incitement to mystery which grips and enfolds the spectator. Short comedy releases and News Pictures will complete the bill.

PARK SQUARE THEATRE.

The title of "The Naughty Wife," the Selwyn & Company farce which is turning away crowds of pleasure seekers at the Park Square Theatre, Boston, is suggestive of many things, because there are so many degrees to the term, "naughty." But in this case it is not of the harshest application of the term. This farce is presented by its producers as the logical successor to their previous big record laugh plays, "Twin Beds" and "Fair and Warmer," known intimately to all New England theatregoers. And it is a farce of the highest order.

It is a caprice that smacks of the most delicious satire. And it is of this type, most humorous, searching and appreciated satire. The incidents at the dove-cote of the eloping pair, which is the summer house of the husband, who goes ahead of them there to make further comforts for the pair, may well be imagined. And throughout the dialogue of the farce wit marks the lines and savors the situations. Thus it may be determined that this is that rara avis, a perfect farce. And, perforce, a most efficient laugh provoker.

"CIVILIZATION."

"Civilization," the greatest cinema spectacle ever produced, is to be shown at the Stoneham Theatre for one day, Monday, Feb. 18th. This wonderful achievement of the motion picture producer concerns the story of the European conflict in more or less symbolic form and yet very plainly tells the tale of the German invasion of unconscious Belgium and France in the summer of 1914.

Thomas H. Ince, the producer of this remarkable spectacle, proved almost prophetic in his picturization of this story which tells of the titanic struggle which has convulsed the civilized world for so long.

FINAL WEEK OF "THE 13th CHAIR."

"The 13th Chair" enters upon its final week of a long and successful engagement at the Hollis Monday night, and the final eight performances will afford an opportunity for those who have missed this great entertainment to witness it before it's departure. If any wish to see the play with Margaret Wycherly, Harrison Hunter and the original cast it will be necessary for playgoers of other New England cities to come to Boston during the coming week.

Kitten Puts Out Fire.

John is only a black and white kitten of no high caste breed, but if there is such a thing as a medal for bravery, he certainly has stolen upon it. One morning I was sitting before the fireplace, watching John as he lay on a hassock on the opposite side, apparently asleep but he was far from it. We were burning some old trash in the fireplace, and suddenly, with a report like that of a pistol shot, a cinder about as large as a chine came flying through the air and alighted in a basket used by John as a sleeping place. This basket was lined with a woolen cloth and the cinder began to smolder and an incipient fire was at once under way. John, giving the call of the cat tribe, pounced on the blazing cloth, trampled it out with his furry feet, and then, when he was satisfied it was extinguished, quietly curled up and went to sleep, just as though he had not done a thing that was a wonderful exhibition of feline sense.—Our Dumb Animals.

Starlings and Crows Chums.

An interesting fact regarding the crows is their intimacy with the starlings. The starlings first appeared in this country in 1890, and it was not more than ten years ago that flocks of them began to be seen about Hartford, yet now the crows associate with them in as friendly a manner as if the two species had dwelt together for millenniums. The starling does not fear the crow, and the crow does not net in a domineering way toward the smaller bird. The two together make a search of garbage pits and live in unity without the least trouble, though they have nothing in common but their desire for food.—Hartford Courant.

Catechism Answers All Questions That May Occur.

Thrift Stamps and Thrift Cards.

Q. If I do not have enough money saved up to buy a War-Savings Stamp and can only save in small amounts, what should I do?

A. Buy a 25-cent Thrift Stamp at a post office, bank, or other authorized agency and ask for a Thrift Card, to which you can attach your Thrift Stamp.

Q. Is there any charge for a Thrift Card?

A. No. It is given you to hold Thrift Stamps and contains a place for your name and address.

Q. How many Thrift Stamps will this card hold?

A. Sixteen stamps, which represents a value of $4.

Exchanging Thrift Cards For War-Savings Stamps.

Q. When I have filled the Thrift Card what do I do?

A. Take it to a post office, bank, or other authorized agency, surrender the card and pay in cash the few cents difference between the $4 worth of Thrift Stamps and the price of a War Saving Stamp for the month in which the exchange was made.

Q. What do I do next?

A. You take the War-Savings Stamp given you in exchange for your Thrift Card ask for a War-Savings Certificate, if you haven't one already, and attach the stamp to the certificate.

Q. Should I continue to buy Thrift Stamps?

A. Yes. Ask for a new Thrift Card and begin again.

Q. Do Thrift Stamps bear interest?

A. No.

Q. Then why are they issued?

A. To make it convenient for you to save in small amounts so that you can purchase a War-Savings Stamp which does bear interest.

Q. May I exchange Thrift Stamps for War Savings Stamps at any time?

A. No; only on or before December 31, 1918

Lending Your Money To The Government.

Q. What security is behind the War-Savings Stamp?

A. The United States Government promises to pay $5 for each Stamp on January 1, 1923. This promise is backed by the faith and honor of the United States and by the taxing power of this country. which is the richest nation in the world.

Q. Why does the United States borrow this money?

A. To pay the expenses of the war.

Q. When I lend my money to the Government, would it be safer to buy a government bond rather than these War-Savings Stamps?

A. When a War-Savings Stamp is attached to a War-Savings Certificate it becomes a government obligation with the same security as the Liberty bonds now held by more than 10,000,000 Americans.

Q. Is the 4 per cent interest, compounded quarterly, on War-Savings Certificates paid in the same way as the interest on Liberty bonds?

A. No. The Liberty bond interest is paid every six months, but the interest on the War-Savings Certificate accumulates and is paid to you in one sum, on January 1, 1923.

Q. Why isn't the interest paid in the same manner on both War-Savings Certificates and Liberty bonds?

A. It would be very complicated and expensive to pay interest every six months on $5 stamps and for that reason the United States Government retains the interest until January 1, 1923 at which time it pays you the compound interest and the principal, amounting to $5, the face value of the War-Savings Stamp.

Q. Shall I sell my Liberty bonds to buy War-Savings Stamps?

A. No. The security behind Liberty bonds and War-Savings Certificates is the same. Keep your Liberty bond and buy Saving Stamps also.

Q. Is the money received from War-Savings Stamps and Thrift Stamps used for the same purpose as the money received from Liberty bonds?

A. Yes.

Q. Should I take money out of the savings bank to buy War-Savings Stamps?

A. No. You should save as much as you can every day and buy Thrift Stamps and War-Savings Stamps with these savings.

Q. How did Congress authorize these War-Savings Certificates?

A. By act approved September 24, 1917.

Q. How large an amount of War-Savings Certificates can be issued under the present law?

A. $2,000,000,000.

WILLIAM N. CRAIG ON GARDENING.

Since Mr. Craig pleased Winchester people so much last year it has been requested that the following notes from Mrs. Woodside's report of the State Conservation Meeting of the Federated Clubs, at which Mr. Craig lectured Friday, Jan. 18, be printed in the STAR. Mrs. Woodside's report was given for the Civics Committee of the Fortnightly.

STATE CONFERENCE ON CONSERVATION.

Horticultural Hall, Boston, Friday, January 11.

In opening the meeting, Mrs. John D. Mackay, chairman of the conservation committee of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs, spoke of the day's program as the beginning of the "spring drive," and urged that as women we take hold of both the production and conservation of food cheerfully and at once, and not wait until we are forced to do it. This year we shall not only have to send to the other side all we sent last year but much more; and women must in large measure, take the place in food production, of the men who have gone to the front. She spoke with enthusiasm of the millions of pounds of meat, flour, and sugar which had been saved in Mass. alone last year, and urged all women present not only to continue saving themseleves but to ask all others with whom they come in contact to do the same, in order that we may send as much as possible to the other side, not only to the Allies but to our own boys as well.

Mr. William N. Craig, who pleased Winchester people so much on Garden Day last spring, said: "When last April we realized that the food situation would be acute it seemed wise to have gardens. What then seemed wise is now an absolute necessity; but while we must have war gardens, while we must have more and larger war gardens—let us not bar all flowers. When we first see the light our mothers are cheered by the presence of flowers; when we graduate from High School flowers add to the importance of the occasion; at weddings flowers complete our joy, and, unless it be the absence of women, nothing adds more to the dreariness of a funeral than the absence of flowers. In all times flowers play an important part in our lives, and especially in times like these. To our soldiers returning from the front, broken in body and spirit, their cheering influence will be most essential. Let us not bar all flowers!

A campaign is on to close our greenhouses as luxuries, which is a great mistake; many have put all their savings into their greenhouses and to close them would mean all savings ruined. A larger proportion of men have gone to the front from this calling than from any other walk of life.

In spite of the late campaign last year additional food values to the extent of $350 million were produced, this year we must produce more. We must begin early, and in spite of the growlers who speak of the seed wasted by amateurs, in spite of the fact that your garden last year may have cost three or four times more than you got out of it—you must still have your garden. Because of the scarcity of labor, women must take an active part in the work. He spoke of the splendid work that the women of the old world have done in agriculture and of the good that must eventually come out of it in the greater understanding and appreciation of men and women for each other.

This spring begin early! Begin as soon as the earth is dry enough to handle, don't wait for it to become warm. Many seeds, such as beets, peas, parsnips, etc., should get into the ground while it is cool and moist. The deeper your soil is stirred the better. You can go deeper with the spade than with the plow and do better work. Fertilizer will be scarce. Barnyard manure is best if you get it; if not, use sheep manure or chemical fertilizer, and by all means save your wood ashes which contain the best form of potash that we are able to get. Use lime to sweeten the soil but do not apply it at the same time as the manure. Utilize your garbage. Don't buy the "humus" you see advertized, it is only swamp muck with a touch of chemicals added, and not worth one tenth its cost. Don't squander barnyard manure on your lawns but save it for something more essential. Let your lawns go this year or use sheep manure or commercial fertilizer which is much better for the lawns and less unsightly.

Keep a small space in your garden for permanent things, rhubarb, asparagus, etc. Reserve another small space for quick maturing crops such as lettuce, spinach, radish, but do not plant too much of the early vegetables which last year flooded the market and caused the market gardeners to complain of ruin to their business. Plant more late vegetables, root crops, dry beans, corn, late cabbage and some squash. Remember that leaf crops require considerable manure—root crops much less; for the latter commercial manure will do very well. Plant more pea beans; Prolific Tree is the best variety. The Yellow Eye bean is very valuable. Plant more corn and potatoes, but do not plant potatoes in old worn out soil, new sod land is best. Barnyard manure is said to produce scabby potatoes but has been used with success. Soak your potatoes in a solution of formalin (one pint formalin to thirty gal. water) [illegible] two or better, [illegible]. Plant four or five and a half [illegible] deep. Do not put fertilizer in the row under the seed but cover [illegible] with soil and [illegible]

Holland, Denmark, France and Great Britain. Nevertheless, sow seed more thinly and don't buy more than you can use. Don't be too fussy about varieties—there are usually several good kinds. New Zealand Spinach and Swiss Chard are excellent greens that will do fairly well in partial shade. Plant Endive—it is very good and more easily grown than lettuce. Should you plant potatoes the second year in the same place, see that the old tops are burned.

County Agent, Mr. Munson of Walpole, who spoke on the pruning of fruit trees, differed largely from what we are usually told by men in this business. There is pruning for various purposes, he said, but since he pruned for a living his aim was to produce fruit. He greatly deplored the wood choppers who seemed to think that the more they cut the better. Heavy pruning tends to produce wood growth, light pruning tends to produce fruit.

Where too much wood is cut from a tree it disturbs the balance between the root and the top. To prune properly you must know the habit of the tree. Use good tools, cut close to the branch from which you prune and don't leave a stub sticking out; cut out cross branches which are likely to interfere and also cut out branches that are injured or diseased. Cover the cut surface with white lead or tar

An S. O. S. call was sounded by a representative of the Federated Clubs asking for immediate help in supplying warm clothing to the Forestry Regiments which have gone, and are going to the front inadequately equipped. Without these men the regular fighters cannot do their work, and it is most necessary that we begin knitting for them just as fast and as soon as possible. For full particulars read the American Forestry Magazine for November and December.

Mr. Harris A. Reynolds, before taking up his subject: "The Pine Blister Rust, took occasion to refer to the fuel situation saying that we as a people will not wake up until the pinch is really felt The Fuel Commission, in their effort to encourage the farmers to cut more wood, are met by the obstacles of the scarcity of labor and the price, and also by the fact that the farmers are willing to cut more than they can dispose of which is a mistake, beause even if the war should end the price and scarcity of labor are not likely to change; besides, wood is really not fit to burn before it is a year old, and green wood is 35 per cent waste

Of the Pine Blister Rust, which has spread not only through New England, but through several other States as far west as Minnesota and Wisconsin, he said that because of this wide spread scientists have given up all hope of eradicating the disease and must now direct their energies toward it's control. It has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that the natural carriers of the disease are the currant and the gooseberry. All who have such bushes should have them examined and if they are diseased, take them out. The disease which spreads from the currant and the gooseberry to the pines, and from pine to pine, can in a large measure be controlled if these two fruits are eliminated as soon as the first symptom of the disease appears. Nevertheless there are people so mean and selfish that they will stubbornly hang on to three or four measly currant bushes, which at best yield only a glass or two of jelly a year, though they may in this manner endanger their neighbor's pine grove the value of which runs into millions. The Pine Blister Rust is only one of many imported pests and diseases the losses from which have been enough to build three Panama Canals. Because there are still in foreign countries more than 3000 insects and diseases which, if introduced, will do untold damage to our crops, he urged the fullest support of the bill introduced by Senator Weeks and listed, Senate 3344, relating to the importation of nursery stock under government control. Some short-sighted nursery men, he said, would naturally put up a hard fight on any bill which might affect their immediate profits—even if in the long run it would better their conditions. As it is, a few reap the profits at a cost of thousands of dollars to the country.

Mr. George L. Farley, in charge of boys and girls clubs work in the State urged the formation of these young people's clubs, each with their own constitution and their own officers, having as their object one or more of eight so-called projects, such as the garden project, the potatoe project, the canning project—with the one period cold pack method only,—the pig project, etc.

The plan involves sixty hours' work in one or more of the various lines, with accurate records of the same; the object being, at an early age, to interest our young people in home activities and home affairs, and to give the home the proper place in edicaton which it does not now have.

Speaking on the Community Market, Mr. Robert W. Merrick said that it was no new thing but that it had existed for centuries. Market places and market days still exist in most European countries. It was the same here in early times and is today in many parts of the South and West, where not only garden products but meats, and all things made by farmer's wives and daughters are still sold. Speaking of the Quincy Community Market he said [illegible] had been worth while if for [illegible] than that it made [illegible] home his own [illegible] price of car goods.

The Community Market at Quincy was started last year with the idea of saving the surplus from the more than 5000 home gardens that were planted, averaging ¼ of an acre in size. Every town of 1,000 inhabitants, and often less, should have one of these public markets, which are bound to be a success if properly started and managed on a business basis.

WHY MILK IS ESSENTIAL TO THE GROWING CHILD.

Answered by Charles H. Kilbourne of The New York City Health Dept.

It is a recognized fact that as civilization advances, the ability of mothers to supply their offspring with milk from the breast diminishes. Also the demands of modern industrial life are such that the natural feeding of infants becomes inconvenient and interferes with the duties and pleasures of the modern woman. These facts being recognized, it becomes the duty of the artificial life which has produced this abnormal condition between infant demand and maternal supply to provide by art an artificial supply. It becomes necessary to provide as a substitute a food which as nearly as possible resembles the mother's milk.

The ideal milk is that which its constituents varies the least from the human milk. Cows milk no t nearly approaches mother's milk in this respect, since it is the most plentiful supply which is obtainable, we find it to be that which is most univer sally used.

Before it can be safely used for children, however, art and invention must still further be brought into play. Cows milk has far too much casein in it to be like the human milk, it is necessary to add water to obtain done the proportion of fat is brought down too low, so we add more cream. The milk sugar is lower in natural cow's milk than in human milk and when it is still further reduced by the water which makes the casein all right, the sugar is way down below normal, so we add more sugar. Then again when natural milk flows from its source directly to the young which consume it, there are no chances for harmful bacteria to get into it, but when it is drawn by human hands into pails all sorts of germs may make their homes in it. No landlord can evict these tenants and so there is nothing to do but to kill them. For this reason milk for the children and babies should be pasteurized.

After all these artificial means have been brought into use, we can then say that modern art and science and skill have combined to make an almost natural food for the baby. All honor should be given to these physicians and scientists who have devoted themselves to the study of these problems. There are also milkmen who are actuated by motives other than the desire for dollars and cents and who are anxious to supply a product which will as nearly as possible be a perfect food and safe to use. Honor to them as well!

These things being known to the mothers of the land and the proper milk being available, it becomes the duty of the mothers to get the best and safest milk they can for their children.

But it is not alone for the babies that milk is needful; the growing children need it more than any other food. Do not rejoice that the baby is getting big and you can therefore take a bottle or two less of milk and so reduce your milk bill. Rather replace this with substantial food to help the boys and girls grow muscle and bone and sinew can be gotten at so cheap a price. Make the children drink all you can of it, cook with it, work it up into all kinds of food forms which will attract them and if the anemic, bow-legged, rickety and poorly nourished children will become beautifully fever. Give the children less meat and more milk. It costs less, it is more easily digested and pound for pound it has more nutritive substance. It is more valuable from the purely money point of view. You can more wisely afford to cut your meat bill, your coffee and tea bill, your bill for fruit and the fathers can more economically reduce the output for cigars and the children you can afford to give the children less milk. Its free use will bring greater dividends than would result if you saved the money it costs and put it in the bank at compound interest.

COPLEY THEATRE.

The fourth week of "Inside the Lines" begins at the Copley Theatre with a special holiday performance Monday afternoon. This war-time play, written by Earl Derr Biggers, author of "Seven Keys to Baldpate," is meeting with a success in Boston that is not unexpected.

"Inside the Lines" tells a thrilling story in which not a little comedy is mingled. Its mystery starts in at the very rise of the curtain, and for three acts the audience is kept in a continuous state of curiosity over the end. The final solution comes as a surprise at the end of the last act, and few in the audience are able to guess the outcome of the adventures of Captain Woodhouse and his scheme for the singing of the British fleet in the harbor of Gibraltar.

The curtain rises on the evening performance at a quarter to eight, and there will be four matinees at 2.10, on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday. Seats in the orchestra are now obtainable for $1.00 each.

FINE BANKING QUARTERS IN THE LANE BUILDING.

Public Opening and Inspection of Winchester National Bank Feb. 22d.

The above cut illustrates the exterior of the new banking quarters for the Winchester National Bank, now being fitted up in the Lane Building, on Church Street, which will be equipped after the most modern banking ideas.

The architects are Hutchins and French, and the general contractor N. W. Clark, both of Boston; the electrical work will be done by Edmund C. Sanderson, and the plumbing and heating by J. A. Laraway Co., both of Winchester; the movable furniture will be provided and installed by the Globe Wernicke Company.

The old store front has been entirely removed and a new front installed, of the Adams period of the Colonial style of Artchitecture, with the entrance at the lower side nearest Winchester Square. The ample plate glass windows and the mahogany entrance door will be guarded by heavy wrought and cast iron grilles and the name of the institution, in large bronze letters, will be installed in the panelled frieze of the entablature surmounting the entire exterior motive.

One will enter the new bank through an ample protective vestibule, with panelled walls and ceiling and Everlastic tile floor, directly into the space allotted the patrons of the institution. The simplicity of design and the choice of artistic as well as serviceable materials will distinctly mark the policy of the promoters of the new bank. The woodwork will be of gumwood, the floor and base of Everlastic tile, and the walls of plaster.

To the left as one enters the public space, and separated therefrom by a low panelled and moulded rail, will be the officers space, arranged to invite the customer to talk business with the officers of the bank. The walls will be wainscoted in panelled and moulded gumwood, the floor will be linoleum, and the large windows will be screened by ground glass panels, in bronze frames, installed back of the exterior glass.

To the rear of the public space is a gumwood screen, with wrought iron panels, separating this space from that allotted to safe deposit box renters, access to which is gained through an electrically controlled iron gate in this screen. Similar screens will separate the safe deposit and officers' spaces, from the working force of the bank, and will be made accessible through high gates installed in these screens.

The main banking room counter will be fitted with gumwood, panelled and moulded, with selected figure wood, and surmounted by a gumwood screen, having plate glass panels, with wrought iron protective grilles back of the glass. The posts will be panelled and moulded and the cornice moulded; the three wicket openings to be guarded by hinged grill gates and will have polished plate glass desk plates. The back of the counter to be fitted up with cupboards, drawers, compartments, etc., specially designed to facilitate the business of the bank. A tellers cage will be installed and equipped after the most modern methods.

Items of special interest will be the check desk and check in the public space, the coupon room, directors' room, vault equipment, the harmonious color scheme of the entire quarters, the electrical devices and the efficient and artistic lighting effects.

A massive steel vault, encased in heavy concrete masonary, reinforced with a six inch mesh work of high carbon steel rods and protected on top by heavy steel beams grouted solid with concrete, and the whole guarded by the bankers Electric Protective Association's most complete system of electric protection, will be installed.

The new quarters will be opened for public inspection Feb. 22nd, from one to nine o'clock, P. M.

The Selectmen have appointed Henry Smalley of Cross street, burial agent for deceased soldiers and sailors, to succeed the late Harrison Parker.

READ AND RESPOND.

Help The Women Do Their Part.

On January 25th the following letter was sent to some two thousand of our townspeople and from this letter there has come only one hundred and six donations and we thank all who have subscribed so generously.

But with an appeal so honestly made to carry on a cause so essentially necessary, it has been somewhat dissapointing to have only one in twenty respond with subscriptions. Our women labor earnestly and faithfully to do their part, and they should not only be helped by us, but encouraged.

Funds are absolutely necessary to do this and we again appeal to all our townspeople for help.

Send checks to A. Miles Holbrook, Treas., then step into the Red Cross rooms on Mt. Vernon street. See what is there being accomplished and you will be more than glad that you have done your share.

Please respond at once.

Dear Sir:

BAPTIST MEN'S DINNER.

Over fifty men sat down to the dinner of the Men's Class in the Church on Monday evening, with President William S. McLean presiding, and with Lieut. Col. William R. Gracie of the United States Army as guest and speaker. Between the courses of the delicious and beautiful dinner several popular songs were sung by the men conducted by Mr. Edward E. Thompson and with Mr. Arnold Whittaker at the piano. The entertainer was Mr. William T. Wilson, of Boston, who gave several songs and readings which were well received. The teacher of the class, Rev. Arthur L. Winn, gave an inspiring greeting, which was followed by a toast to the twenty-four boys in the service of the country. Two-thirds of the boys are in the Army, one-third in the Navy and one-third of the total are across. Col. Gracie related in a most interesting way his experiences in campaigns under General Pershing in the Philippines and in Mexico. He also spoke of the difference between the past wars and the present, and gave a word picture of Pan-Germanism and what it means to America and the world. Three cheers were given with a will for the Colonel and for our boys in the service. The following toast appeared on the beautifully designed program of the evening:—

"To Our 'Sammies.'"

We think tonight of our lads away,
Who number twenty-four;
Our love and prayers are theirs for aye,
For they are in this war to stay
Till fighting days be o'er.

We're proud of these brave Baptist boys!
They'll paralyze the Hun!
Let's give three cheers with rousing noise,
And wish them all the richest joys:
God bless them every one.

L. G. M.

Mr. Stewart Howe, of Pekin, China, connected with the American Embassy there in diplomatic service, will address the Men's Class of the Baptist Church at noon, Sunday, and will speak on "The Religion of China, and the American Missionary."

On Sunday afternoon, February 24, at 4 o'clock, the Copley Male Quartet of Boston will sing at the Vesper Service at the First Baptist Church.

REPORT OF THE SUPT. OF SCHOOLS FOR YEAR, 1917.

120 Boys and Girls Had Gardens to Value $1500.

Members of the School Committee:

Gentlemen:—The thirty-fifth annual report of the Superintendent of Schools is herewith presented.

As has many times been said, every year should be marked by some exceptional features intended to make the established school routine broader and more effective. For the year 1917, the following may be so rated:

1. School gardening with a teacher on full time. Particular credit for this is due to the Mothers' Association through whose interest instruction was afforded in 1915 and 1916. The weather in 1917 was not so favorable or gardening as in the two previous years, but the results obtained by the pupils amply justify the continuance of the subject. In addition to the general lessons given, fitting many pupils to be helpful in family gardens, 420 boys and girls in grades four to eight had gardens of their own, either at home or in convenient general plots. The value of the products in the pupils' gardens was conservatively estimated at $1,500. The increasing cost of food stuffs the work thus done must, considering the cost, be regarded as distinctly profitable, even if no consideration be given to the future value of the training.

2. Open air sixth grade. In response to requests from parents, an open air sixth grade has been opened in the Prince School building. Careful tests made in 1914 1916 by Dr. Moore, Associate School Physician, proved that the pupils in the open air rooms gain faster in height and weight and show better in the hemoglobin test than those in corresponding closed rooms. So far as the regular school work is concerned, the usual program is followed and in attainment no difference has been noted. The cost of outfitting pupils with the special suits is borne by parents except as may be determined by the School Physicians and School Nurse.

3. Physical training required of all high school pupils. This instruction includes gymnasium and outdoor exercises and is suggestionably beneficial. It has long been a reproach in general that the emphasis in physical training has been placed upon the athletic teams whose members are presumably strong. Both the athletes and the other pupils are now given due attention in Winchester High School.

4. Heads of Departments in the High School. Department heads have been recently appointed in subjects having several teachers. It is expected that thereby instruction will be unified and made more effective and that by giving enthusiasm or initiative of the individual teacher.

5. Dean of High School Girls. This idea came from the Brookline Survey. It seems obvious that a capable, sympathetic and experienced woman may well have particular responsibility for thinking about the needs of the high school girls.

6. Salaries of all teachers increased $100. This action was not only just but also sound policy. Good teachers cannot be engaged nor retained nor be efficient, unless fair salaries are paid. Although salaries were increased in many places, it is a satisfaction to note that the desired result was reached in Winchester without clamor and without delay.

THE FORTNIGHTLY.

The regular meeting of the Fortnightly was held in the High School Assembly Hall on Monday afternoon, February eleventh. At the business meeting it was voted to give one hundred dollars from the philanthropy fund for the local Red Cross. Mrs. Royal B. Whiton, chairman of the committee, to raise the twenty-five thousand dollar Endowment Fund, was present, and spoke briefly on the need for this fund to carry on the general work of the Federation. Each member is reminded of the twenty-five cent per capita tax to be paid to Mrs. Kerr before next Monday.

Mrs. Nason, Mrs. Dermett, Mrs. Wellington and Mrs. Henry Hodge were appointed delegates for the Federation meeting at Chelsea, on the twentieth.

Two lectures were announced by Baroness Howard under the auspices of the Woburn Club for the benefit of the Red Cross, to be given at Lyceum Hall, Woburn on February twentieth.

Also a lecture in Robbins Memorial Hall, Arlington, February twenty-fifth by Mme Howard under the management of the Arlington Heights Woman's Club.

Dr. Lincoln L. Wirt gave a very interesting talk regarding conditions in Europe. "In the Wake of the War," being his subject. He went to Europe in 1915 as representative of the Boston Herald and within a few days is to go abroad again, for the Red Cross, as one of the group of specialists who are to investigate and criticise the work of the Red Cross in all its different branches. He gave a vivid portrayal of each country in its war aspects, as he saw it, and urged that we support loyally the brave Allies across the seas, or else, as he says, "We shall have to do it alone and single handed."

Massachusetts State Federation of Woman's Clubs.

The mid-winter meeting on February 20th, will be held by invitation of the Chelsea Woman's Club, in the Broadway Theatre, Broadway, Chelsea. Morning session at ten and the afternoon session at two o'clock. Any Club member may attend, but must have a brown ticket, which may be obtained by applying to Mrs. Eaton.

The Literature Group met on Friday, February eight at the home of its chairman, Mrs. Lazelle, when the members of the committee and their friends enjoyed an afternoon of unusual interest. The Subject was "Dumas," the time being given principally to Alexander Dumas-Pere, (the father) the story of whose life was told in an admirably arranged paper by Mrs. F. W. Cole.

Andrew Lang, likening Dumas to one of the characters in his book "The Three Muskiteers," said of him, "He is the Porthos of novelists, gigantic, muscular, but not overgrown. To read one of his novels is to know more about him than a world of essays and critics can teach. It is also to forget the world and dwell in careless Paradise."

So many books have been ascribed to Dumas that he has been accused, falsely, of claiming works which were not his. It is said that he had collaborators writing under his direction, but the wealth of imagination and variety of detail could have come from no one but the man of genius himself. Especially did Dumas delight in making real characters of history, endowing them with fictitious personality, and weaving about them tales of romantic adventure. His "Impressions of Travel" (in Europe, Asia and Africa) abound in marvellous descriptions.

The sale of his books brought him a large fortune which he squandered recklessly. Emulating the example of Louis XIV he purchased a tract of land at Marly, where a chateau was built for him and an extensive park laid out surrounding an artificial lake. This estate he called "Monte Cristo," and there for some years he reigned, a prince of literature, enjoying a life of freedom from care which the royal family in their days at Marly might well have envied.

But at last having spent all his money, he was forced to depend for support upon his son, Alexandre Dumas, the younger, who as a dramatist earned a fame equal to that of his father as a novelist. His play, "La Dame aux Camelias," brought him great popularity and he was elected to the French Academy, an honor unsought by him, but long coveted by his father.

Mrs. Cole gave an outline of the opening chapters of the "Three Musketeers" in which the thrilling experiences of the hero succeed each other with amazing rapidity; and closed her talk by reading a selection from the "Count of Monte Cristo."

In the discussion which followed, an interesting point was brought out in connection with the statement that the mother of the elder Dumas was a "tabaconiste" which in France means not as it might naturally be translated,—one who sells tobacco,—but the widow of an army officer, who receives from the government as a pension a grant of money from the tobacco revenue.

Members are requested to send the 25-cent assessment for the Federation Endowment Fund to Mrs. Kerr, 1 Lakeview road, before next Tuesday.

WINCHESTER BOY COMMISSIONED 1-t LIEUTENANT.

W. E. Kinsley, son of Charles E. Kinsley of Cambridge street, who has been a student aviator at Lake Charles, La., has been commissioned First Lieutenant in the U. S. Army, Aviation Corps. Awarded Sergeant's wings completed his course in aviation flying. He will be stationed at Lake Charles for advance work in aerial gunnery and combat plane work.

WILLIAM PARKMAN LODGE.

Many Pleasant Events for Members and Ladies.

The first session of William Parkman Lodge, held Tuesday night, under the direction of the new officers installed in January was a great success. A large number of members and unaffiliated Masons were present. The affair opened at 6.30 with a banquet served under the direction of the social committee, it being provided by a caterer who serves the various lodges in Masonic Temple, Boston. This feature was greatly enjoyed by over 100 enthusiasts. During the banquet, George B. Hayward, the Master, and Judge George S. Littlefield the Secretary, gave a few words of suggestion and encouragement. Following the dinner all joined in a social sing.

At 7.30 the regular business of the Lodge was resumed and nine new members by affiliation and two by degrees were voted upon. The secretary reported at least eight more new members by affiliation to be voted upon in March.

After the lodge adjourned the members assembled in the banquet hall and started organization and practice of the William Parkman double quartette. From indications thus far the Lodge is assured a very strong singing body from whom much will be heard in the future. Ralph S. Vinal, chairman of the social committee, is in charge.

The social committee have several important events scheduled, announcement being made of those coming through the remainder of this month. Next Thursday evening there will be a bowling match on the Winchester Alleys under teams captained by Messrs. Smart and Sanford in order to get into trim for the coming challenge match with Calumet's crack team. It is anticipated there will be a big turn-out of Lodge bowlers and that a number of teams will be made up.

Thursday evening, Feb. 26th, there is to be an auction bridge for members and their ladies at the Masonic appartments with refreshments and desirable prizes, and on March 7th Miss Irma F. MacKenzie will speak on "War Relief Work" at the rooms.

FRED T. DOTTEN MANAGER.

Fred T. Dotten, the well known veteran bowler, is now managing the Winchester Bowling Alleys in the Star Building. Mr. Dotten, who is known to every man who follows the bowling game throughout this section, has placed the local alleys on a footing ranking among the first in this vicinity, and notwithstanding the recent early closing hours, his efforts have resulted in great success.

Among the organizations who are holding matches each week are the Odd Fellows who roll every Wednesday night, and William Parkman Lodge, which is arranging for a series of matches beginning next Thursday night. The alleys have always been considered the best in town, having been installed by Mr. J. H. Gerlach of Everett avenue, who saw to it that his home town received the best equipment possible. For the convenience of those who prefer, Manager Dotten has recently put in new Boston pins, and games may now be rolled with both Boston or candle pins.

WINCHESTER GRANGE OFFICERS INSTALLED.

The officers of Winchester Grange No. 143, P. of H., for the year 1918 were installed on Tuesday evening at the regular meeting. The installation was by Past Master Gage and suit of Somerville, comprising the following organization: Marshall, Mrs. Ethel Rokes; Regalia Bearer, Miss Helen Cook; Emblem Bearer, Miss Lucy Wright. Master of Somerville Grange; Chaplain, Mrs. Nevlin Cresce1; Pianist, Mrs. Saada Jackson of Arlington.

No officers in the State do better work in this beautiful ceremony, and they were all at their best Tuesday night, Winchester Grange being indeed honored by their visit and superb work. Many of their friends complimented them. Mr. and Mrs. Osborn, the former Past Master of Essex Pomona, together with visitors from Wilmington, were present.

FEB. 22d AT CALUMET.

Washington's Birthday, next Friday, will be observed at the Calumet Club by an all day party for the members and their families. The holiday will open with a special bowling contest for the men, starting at 9 and continuing until 1. Special prizes will be awarded the winners.

Opening at 2.30 there will be a party for the children of the members which will be greatly anticipated by the young folks. From 6 to 7 a chafing dish supper will be served and in the evening there will be dancing for all; also some fancy dancing.

This program is an innovation in the entertainment program at the Club and promises a novel form of enjoyment warranted to promote sociability among its members.

MR. DAVIDSON A CANDIDATE.

Mr. George T. Davidson, a former member of the Board of Selectmen, is a candidate for membership on the Board. He served with much credit while Selectman and in his closing years was the Chairman. He had no thought of again being a candidate, but a number of citizens who recognized his excellent work as a member of the Board, have urged his candidacy at a time when there are many of the present Board who have declined to serve longer.

IN THE WAR ZONE.

The following essay was written by Helen Webber of the Wadleigh School, Grade VI, Mrs. McDonald's room, and is well worth a place in the columns of the STAR:

I was lying quite comfortably in Mr. Herron's pocket. He had just gone in Miss Robinson's room. He wanted to sell me for I was a Thrift Stamp. For days and days I heard a voice say, "Mr. Herron buy I have a Thrift Stamp?" Mr. Herron took me out of his pocket and put me in a little girl's hand. Then she shut me up in a dark and gloomy pocketbook and I couldn't get any air.

When the little girl got home she stuck me in a leaflet with fifteen more Thrift Stamps. "There," she said, "now I must send this book to Tom."

I soon fell asleep and when I awoke a man had me in his hands. Then he put me in his pocket. This man was a soldier and I was in France. The next day he went into battle. It was so noisy that I couldn't think. The soldier fought for about an hour and then fell wounded in No-Man's-Land.

The next day he was taken to a hospital.

That morning a man called King George came to his bedside. He put a Victoria cross on his suit and then wasn't I proud to think that he was my owner.

FREDERIC S. SNYDER.

Winchester Man Who Is To Buy All Foodstuffs For The Allies.

F. S. Snyder, a Winchester man, has gone to Washington at a salary of $10 a year to buy food for the United States Government and to protect the housewives of the country against high prices and shortages of foodstuffs.

By distributing the purchasing of food for the Allied forces and for the soldiers' camps scattered all over the United States, and buying food in large quantities for all the fighting men of the Allies, Mr. Snyder expects to stop price boosting.

He believes that the housekeepr as well as the hotels and institutions, can make the largest saving in meats, for instance, by figuring out scientifically the cost to serve each person with each kind of food which is purchased, and then to use that kind or kinds which proves to be most economical and nourishing.

Mr. Snyder was, until his appointment, a vice president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, but he resigned that office and also deserted temporarily his firm, which does a business of $5,000,000 a year, to serve the Government at $10 a year.

He has been named as chief of the purchasing division of the National Food Administration and expects to spend more than $1,000,000,000 a year in the purchase of food for the homes of this country and the needs of the Allies abroad and here.

The department was organized to prevent competitive buying among the Allies and to secure food for the people of this country at moderate prices. The big problem of the department, Mr. Snyder says, is to buy the vast amounts of food needed in such a way that the public will be protected.

Mr. Snyder is 50 years old and is a member of the Public Safety Committee and the Regional Milk Commission and is a director of the Winchester Trust Company.

The new food chief of the United States gives some good advice on the buying of food which he wishes the housewives to follow. He says the problem of the high cost of meat can be solved in great measure by selective buying, buying what one wants when they want it or need it, and, above all, buying to eliminate waste.

He says there is no economy in buying meat at 15 cents a pound when there is a piece better and less wasteful at 25 cents. The 15-cent meat may be full of gristle, may get its weight because of a large bone or may contain large streaks of fat. The wasteless meat may have more edible meat to the cubic inch than the 15 cent piece may have in the whole piece.

Many of the more wasteful cuts of meat really cost more than porterhouse steak.

Lean meats, says Mr. Snyder, should be bought by families who live in apartments and heated houses, leaving the fats for the men who have to work and live in cold environments. He says, for instance, that the fishermen out in the cold and wet eat fat meats because they need the food heat, but people who are in heated places and do not go out much do not need the food heats and should use lean meats more.

Instead of buying a big piece of meat because it is cheap per pound, with an idea that the housekeeper can make soup out of the bone parts, hash out of this and something else out of that, she should buy cuts that contain no such waste and she will get more edible meat and more nourishment for a much less cost.

One of the most conspicuous examples of wasteful buying of meat in America, Mr. Snyder says, is afforded by most public institutions. They buy beef by the quarter, half or whole carcass, on the theory that they can cut it up, put each part to its best use, and secure the lowest cost of food per capita.

He believes that they are wrong, both in theory and practice, for the parts of a beef carcass vary greatly in size and quality, and consequently, in possible uses. The result is that they have some meat that is needlessly good, some which is wastefully bad, and too little which exactly fits their needs.

For this they should substitute the practice of purchasing wasteless meats of exactly the quality and exactly the kind that will fit their needs, and best, save the waste of an excess of high value parts, and also the waste of low food value, gristle, bone and superfluous fats.

Mr. Snyder believes that the practice of carrying home packages should be revived, in part at least, and that the purchaser who pays cash and carries home provisions should receive a discount on the purchases equal to what it would have cost the marketman to deliver and for the interest on his money which he saves by having no charge customers.

The cost of delivery varies according to whether the population served is compact as in cities or scattered as in the country, so it is not possible to set an exact figure as to how much it costs each marketman for delivering.

Mr. Snyder also approves the idea of cooperative deliveries, under which all the provision stores in one town or section might ship in one delivery system which would bring a large reduction in the delivery costs for each store.

MEN WANTED.

All Winchester Craftsmen Interested in Call.

The following letter is published at the request of Mr. Lewis Parkhurst of the Committee on Public Safety. It contains an appeal of interest to Winchester's patriotic labor.

United States Shipping Board
Washington
February 5, 1918.

Mr. Lewis Parkhurst, Chairman,
Committee on Public Safety,
Winchester, Mass.

Dear Mr. Parkhurst:

Because of your official position, and the vital importance of the work of enrolling the United States Shipyard Volunteers, in which you are engaged, I desire to lay before you a statement outlining the shipbuilding situation.

The information herein contained is placed at your disposal, for use as you may see fit in obtaining the enrollment of the necessary men for the United States Shipyard Volunteers.

Our shipbuilding program contemplates the construction of six million tons annually, but owing to the want of the necessary skilled men, we are not under present conditions, in a position to turn out that tonnage.

The Shipping Board has the money. It has the yards. It has the material. The housing question is being rapidly cleared up. All that is needed is to obtain the necessary efficient labor.

It should be brought home to employers and to the employees of the industries of the nation that their own future depends on the construction of these ships. The fact is that the recent order issued by Fuel Administrator Garfield, closing the factories of the whole country, and the more recent freight embargo issued by Secretary McAdoo, tying up all the freight with the exception of food and fuel, came not because of a falling down on the part of the carriers themselves, but because of the lack of ships. The reason for this is plain. The speeding up of the American factories piled in the Eastern seaports, and packed into every railway siding outside of the seaport cities, thousands of loaded cars of materials for the war zone. The result was that even the coal required for the ships in the harbors could not get through, and even the few ships which we now possess were held in harbor by empty bunkers and could not sail.

Until we have ships to clear the Atlantic ports of manufactured goods, for which our Army in France and our Allies are in need, these enforced holidays and embargoes must recur, with the result that no factory in America can be assured of running full time and no workman can count on continuous employment.

If you can drive this home to your people; if this lesson, through constant repetition, can be throughly learned; there is no doubt that you will get your quota of the necessary men.

Winchester men should enlist with Mr. Leonard L. Taylor, 129 Washington street, and William R. McIntosh at the Police Station.

It is not mere numbers that count—it is the efficiency of the men enrolled.

It is as much to the interest of the manufacturer to send his best men to the ship yards as it is to the interest of the man himself to go.

If the use of my name will in any way help you in your work, you have the authority to use it, quoting from this statement, to the end that the people of your district may realize once and for all that on labor depends the construction of the needed ships, and on these ships depend not only the war itself, but the present industrial life of the nation.

Yours respectfully,
Edward N. Hurley,
Chairman of the Board.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS.

Winchester Boys Write of Interesting Events in War Zone and Elsewhere.

From John Swan.

Somewhere in France
Dec. 3, 1917.

Dear Mother:

Hello Julia! How are you all today? Yours truly is pretty fine. We got mail again, this is the second first class mail that I have received. I got two letters from you dated Oct. 22 and 24. A few days ago the second class mail came; thank you very much for the magazines, they arrived in fine shape and were mighty acceptable.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell sent me a little housewife containing a soap-box, a cake of palmolive soap, a tooth brush holder, safety pins, cotton, a bandage, adhesive tape, thread and needles. I was very grateful for them.

So Mrs. Munro phoned you the cable. Well Dan and I clubbed our last funds together and sent the cable as soon as we reached England. I cannot tell you what ship we came on, but it is not the one you mentioned. You see we are forbidden to tell anything really interesting. I understand that we are going to be limited to writing two letters a week pretty soon, so perhaps you won't get them as often hereafter. However one of these two and perhaps both shall come to you.

In answer to your questions: We have not met Lieut. Daley yet, but expect to soon. I hear that he is working on the mail. He is just now and that at the present time he is quite a way from here, but he is expected to be connected with this outfit finally. We had no school on the ship coming over, but I did quite a lot of reading, about anything I could get hold of. In answer to still another question. No I am not collecting any of those microbes that you say you've heard so much about; as far as the water being so bad that we all have to drink wine and beer, that is all bosh, because I have not absorbed any of it yet. The water has been good enough for me. Quite a lot of the fellows have been taking quite a bit of the beer but it is not because the water is so poor, they may say that, you know that is a good excuse.

If sugar is so scarce, and everything so high how are you folks going to come out on Xmas. I'm afraid that will be rather small this year, will it not? But don't you folks get to thinking about it any more than is absolutely impossible. Go ahead and have just as good a time as you can for my sake. I don't want to think of you folks passing an unhappy Christmas. I am going to send you a little box, there won't be much in it for the town near here is a very small one, but it will be from France and so may be rather anxious. I am going to take out a war insurance of $4000. The Government is offering this chance to us, and it will only cost me about $7.54 per thousand for a year which will be taken out of my pay monthly. I am also making an allotment of my pay so that half will come directly to you each month as the facilities for sending things from here are not very good. From the rumors over here I should not be surprised if Norman and Willy saw us over her before long. Tell Norman if he has his choice to stick where he can see the folks once in a while, and if he does come over do not his full before he starts. There are 16 of us in one room. We all chipped in and bought a little spread for Thanksgiving night. The dinner that the Government passed out to us consisted of turkey, cranberry sauce, sweet potatoes, bread and cider. Two meals were in order for the day, and our own spread for the evening which consisted of to each man, a package of cookies, French bread, butter, cheese, apples, oranges, almonds and hazel-nuts, dates, figs, pears, cocoa with milk and sugar, jam, eating raisins, turnovers, cider fresh from the press and cigars. Then we had impromptu speeches which were more impromptu then speechful. So we had a very fair time and if it hadn't been for thinking of you folks at home and how you are probably missing us, it would all have been well enough. However I would have given more for an egg sandwich and a cup of Ma's coffee than all this feed. I suppose you had chicken with all the fixings and some of your plum pudding, as usual. (Gosh, it must have been good!) Did you have Uncle James or any of the family to dine on that day? Did milk go up to 14 cents per quart as you expected? Well I suppose Xmas will be another day when we'll all be thinking of home and what our folks are doing. Are you all going to hang up your stockings as we always did. Enjoy yourselves as much as you can for we are still a long way from field service and somehow I can't get it out of my nut that the confounded old war will be over, before we get into it. I have an idea we shall all be back home by next fall. Anyway we can hope and trust that it will be so, can't we? We are planning to have another spread on Xmas night. I hope you will get your box somewhere about that festive date. I hear there is a war tax on movies and entertainments over there, is that so? I took a trip of 50 miles on one of the trucks the other day. I can't tell you where I went, but it is a seaport town which has been taken over by the Americans and is under military law. We stopped in a hotel over night. These French beds are similar to our old fashioned four posters, with the posts off and are mighty comfortable. We had sheets. Everything was nice and comfortable and the cooking was great. Maybe these French women can't make cocoa or chocolate as they call it. It tasted mighty good after camp coffee which is black half of the time.

Well, I guess I'll love and leave you now. So with love to all and wishing you all a Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year, also regards to relatives and neighbors, I am your affectionate son. Jack.

Letters From Daniel Kean.

Des. 19, 1917.

My dear Mother,

Six days to Christmas, and your Christmas box got here safely. Many thanks to you too, and Aunt Nellie. I got Ethel's letter, somewhat delayed, the other day, and she said that you had not heard from me for over three weeks. I can't explain except to say that that is something we must expect for it is hard to care for mail at present. However I have been writing to you and father and the family very often, and of course I will continue to do so as long as I can.

I have taken out $10,000 worth of Government Insurance, which will help to protect us financially if any accident befalls me.

In my last letter I told you how we were preparing for Christmas, and in the letter I shall write on the day after, I shall try to tell you in the best way I can how we spent the day. I told you about the fund for the French "kiddies," and I know they will have a happy Christmas. Before Christmas they are to have a big spread for them, candy and other good things to boot.

In order to write often, my letters will be short, some days I don't have much time to write, so that is why I write short letters, and besides there is not much I can tell you of my "doings" that would pass the censor.

I must close now, and in closing I send love to you and all. I shall write to the kiddies and father soon.

Dan.

P. S. I almost forgot to say this, "We are all together and as well as ever."

Dec 26.

Dear Mother,

The day has come and is now passed, and I had a fairly good time. I went to confession Saturday Evening, but could not receive Sunday as I was out on some work. But I received Christmas morning on the same sonfession.

We went to a French chapel where a good many Priests said Mass, one after the other. You see the Priests are all soldiers in the French Army and they all wanted to say Mass in the chapel on Christmas, so we heard about three Masses in all. Our own chaplain said our Mass and gave us communion. At 12.00 p. m. we had a nice dinner after which we strolled through the village in the hilarity (or poor squall. About four o'clock we went up to see the "kiddies" Christmas tree. There was a big crowd of them there, two, and also their mothers. Santa Claus came over to give the presents to them about half past four and you should have seen the joy of the poor kiddies! They went wild. Each one got a nice present and some candy, etc. A French Field band was there, just bugles and bass horns, but they "shure" could play. The children sang the Marseilles and the Sammies sang our National Air. In the evening we went to Benediction, and afterwards to a "blow out" at a supply battery. They too had a Xmas tree with presents.

One fellow who, to keep warm at night was using his comfort bag over his head, received a ladies night-cap. Other fellows received humorous presents too, after which a pleasant evening was spent ordinarily in telling army experiences and singing. The music was furnished by a real American-Hawaiian orchester.

I received two very nice boxes from Miss Mary Richards of Blackburn Terrace and I am going to write my thanks to her.

I also got your two boxes, they were just what I wanted too.

You can't imagine how very busy I have been lately, all the spare time I have is hardly enough to wash, sew, and write, so I must make my letter much shorter than I would ordinarily.

I hope you folks had a Merry day as usual. Perhaps you'll tell me all about what happened in town. I must close now with much love to you and all.

Dan.

Letter From Arthur A. Mullen.

France.
Dec. 30, 1917.

Dear Mother:

Well, Mother, I received the Xmas packages and your letter and was very pleased to hear that everybody was well and kicking, but was more pleased with the packages, of course.

I just got my things today as I only arrived back here from a week and a half trip across the country last night pretty late. There were six of us sent over the seas to for some new Packards, and believe me, it was a trip never to be forgotten. We drove four hundred and fifty-three miles right across France, and I saw things that I thought were only in story books. It took us five days and a half to get back into the American Sector, and we came through parts where they hardly knew what we were. One place they asked us if we were Spaniards. Wherever we stoped in a little village the people would come out and wave and cheer us and about every place they would make us come in and get warmed up.

We also had a day and a half in gay Paree on our way over and we were five days and a half coming back in open trucks and it snowed three days out of that and believe me, it was some cold, but the trip was worth everything we went through. It was something you don't see every day. We went through one place where the houses were built right in the cliffs for miles and miles and some places looked like a garden of chimneys sprouting out of the ground. An old man told us the story is that they were built by some strange people like the gorillas about eleven hundred years ago, and they are still occupied.

Well, Mother, I am pretty well all in tonight and the bunch is pretty noisy, so I guess I will turn in as it is nearly eight o'clock which is pretty late for his honor, so will quit with lots of love.

Son Allie.

P. S. Tell Jack our three-toot roadsters ran like a lily all the way.

REVENUE OFFICE GOES TO BAY STATE PEOPLE

Free Advice and Aid in Making Out Federal Returns by Uncle Sam's Deputies

Every unmarried person who had a net income of $1000 or more during 1917 and every married person whose net income was $2000 must file a Federal Return of net income on or before March 1st.

John F. Malley, the collector of Internal Revenue at Boston, who is charged with the collection of Federal returns and taxes throughout Massachusetts, has sent out a hundred trained Deputy Collectors to aid the people in fulfilling their obligations.

If you are puzzled over the requirements or over figuring your own income under the law, you can secure the advice and aid of a Deputy Collector by communicating with the nearest Division headquarters.

Here is a list of the divisions:

Divisions 1, 2, and 3, comprising Boston, Cambridge, Chelsea, Somerville, Revere and Winthrop have headquarters at 185 Devonshire street, Boston.

Division 4 with headquarters at Malden City Hall, covers Newton, Medford, Brookline, Wakefield, Malden, Watertown, Woburn, Arlington, Waltham, Winchester, Melrose, Belmont, Lexington, Stoneham and Reading. Deputy Thomas N. O'Keefe is in charge of the work.

Division 5 has headquarters at Lynn Post Office. Deputy Collector C. J. Murphy is in charge. Lynn, Haverhill, Salem, Gloucester, Peabody, Newburyport, Beverly, and neighboring towns.

Division 6 headquarters is at the Lowell Post Office, under the direction of Deputy Collector Bart J. Shea. Lowell, Lawrence, Fitchburg, Leominster, Marlboro, Methuen, Clinton, and neighboring towns.

Division 7 headquarters are at the Brockton Post Office. Deputy Collector Thomas M. Kenefick is in charge. Brockton, Quincy, Framingham, Milford, Dedham, Wellesley and fifty other towns.

Division 8 headquarters are at New Bedford Post Office, where Deputy Collector T. F. O'Brien is the deputy in charge. New Bedford, Fall River, Taunton, Attleboro, Bridgewater, and forty towns nearby are included.

Division 9 headquarters is at the Worcester Post Office. Worcester, Southbridge, Webster, and thirty nearby towns. Deputy Collector Arthur J. Rutledge is in charge.

Division 10 has its headquarters at the Springfield Post Office. Deputy Collector John P. Coogan is in charge. Springfield, Holyoke, Chicopee, West Springfield, Ware, Palmer, and nearby towns.

Divisions 11 and 12 have headquarters at the Pittsfield Post Office, with Deputy Collector Frederick W. Otto in charge. Pittsfield, North Adams, Northampton, Adams, Westfield, Greenfield, Gardner, Athol, Easthampton, and seventy-five other towns are included.

In deciding whether a Federal Income Tax return is required, and in figuring the personal exemption which an individual may take on a Federal Income Tax return for 1917, his or her status on December 31 is the determining factor.

No matter what your status on the other 364 days of 1917, you must consider just how you stood on December 31 in ascertaining whether you are required under the law to file a return; and, if such return is due, in figuring just what personal exemption you may claim under the law.

The Newlyweds.

If a person weds on December 31, he or she is considered a married person by the Income Tax regulations. And the income of both husband and wife for the entire year 1917, even though they had not known each other during part of that time must be considered as the joint income. If it equalled or exceeded $2,000 a return of their income is required.

Couple Living Apart.

If on December 31 a man's wife has left him, he is a single man in the eyes of the Federal Income Tax regulations. Whether a divorce or legal separation has been secured is not the deciding factor. The fact that they are living apart permanently, or that the intention of one or the other while living part on December 31 is to remain apart from the other, is the prime consideration.

A married person who is traveling or visiting or living away from husband or wife without definite intention of permanently living apart, is considered a married person living with wife or husband. Their incomes are to be considered jointly.

Deceased Persons.

In a case where the husband or wife died during 1917 on any day up to Dec. 30 the widow or widower was an unmarried person on Dec. 31.

A return must be filed by the executor or administrator on or before March 1 if the income of the deceased husband or wife for the period of 1917 during which he or she lived was $2000 or over. The income of the deceased husband or wife for the period to mention must be considered separately and the full personal exemption of $2000 is allowed on such a return.

The widow or widower in the above case is required to file a return if the personal income was $2000 or over for the year. And if there are minor dependent children the full exemption of $2000 may be claimed as the head of a family plus $200 for each dependent child under 18 years old.

The Winchester Star

Entered at the post-office at Winchester, Massachusetts, as second-class matter

The running of cars on the Arlington-Reading line has about become a joke, and the public has to suffer the inconvenience.

One of the few things that has not increased is the value of trading stamps. But the articles that can be procured by them have about doubled in price.

Winchester's youth is badly handicapped in that they have no suitable place to swim, one of the most essential things boys and girls should learn to do. There was a time, a few years ago, when they could bathe at Sylvan Lake. This was prohibited because of the foulness of the water. Only 15 per cent of the boys in town can swim. And of this 45 per cent 50 per cent of this number learned to swim while with their parents at the seashore or in the country. There is no chance for the poor boy or those of moderate means, who cannot afford the luxury of a vacation away from Winchester. This matter will come up at the annual town meeting in March, when a sum will be asked for to build a bathhouse and prepare the beach at Wedge Pond at the park land given to the town by the Palmer estate. This would increase the tax rate only 18 cents on $1,000. The water at this place is of the best. This question has been before the town for some years, and it is now hoped that favorable action will be taken and thus give the boys a fighting chance in case of an accident while on the water.

Winchester residents who are interested in the matter of the pollution of our river are recommended to pay a visit at this time to that section of the town bordering upon Glenwood avenue. This is on the west side of Main street near the Woburn line. Through this section flows the small stream of historic fame and much controversy known as Russell's Brook. This stream carries off a large portion of the sewerage and waste of numerous Woburn tanneries. The extreme cold of the winter has frozen this stream solid, and as the tanneries have continued to dump their sewage into its bed an interesting state has developed. As long as the brook was between high banks the sewage simply filled up and froze, but as the open ground was reached the filthy waste overflowed the banks and flooded the whole district, streets, sidewalks, grounds and cellars. Its color is a reddish black and is easily recognized as a familiar mixture which is noticeable in our river at all times. As much as a quarter mile of the street is flooded with this sewage, and it is said that most of the houses have their cellars half full of it. To one who looks as the mess the only wonder is that it has not permeated through the whole of the houses. Since the first of the week a gang of men from the Highway Department have been employed here digging out a channel through the ice for this sewage, but the relief has only just begun to be felt by the residents. One look at Glenwood avenue will leave little question in the minds of any as to a chief source of the filthy conditions of our river. It also might appear a fruitful condition for action by our Health Department. We have all heard at various times of Russell's Brook. Probably few know where it is or what all the past fuss has been about. Now is a good time to find out.

MRS. JOSEPH STONE.

Mrs. Addie (Richardson) Stone, wife of Joseph Stone, died on Feb. 7th at New York City at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles P. Tuttle. In her death many Winchester people will recognize the loss of a former well known resident and as many more a warm personal friend.

Mrs. Stone's death was due to heart trouble, from which she had suffered for over a year. She was on a visit to her daughter at the time, having left her home at Epsom, N. H., where she resided since leaving Winchester in 1906, last fall. She was in her 69th year.

She was a native of this town, being a daughter of John S. and Lydia (Winslow) Richardson. Her early education was received in the Winchester schools and her husband was a well known Winchester man. During her life she was active in church and social work, was a member of the Fortnightly and during her later years was well known as supervisor of sewing in the public schools.

She leaves her husband, at present living in West Medford, and two daughters, Mrs. Charles P. Tuttle and Miss Marion R. Stone, both of New York City.

The funeral services were held at the First Congregational Church, this town, on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 and were conducted by Rev. Howard J. Chidley. The burial was in Wildwood Cemetery in the family lot.

Matches Keenly Contested by Calumet Bowlers.

Week-end games in the mid-winter bowling tournament at the Calumet Club brought teams C and I, A and F together, I winning four points and A three. Except for the two Olmsteads the scores were well under the average. W. S. Olmsted got a total of 318, with 120 for high single, and Dr. Olmstead got 315, with 118 for high single. Gendron got a nice string in his third with 115, but failed to top 300. Other singles were Blanchard's 114, Barrett's 108, Purrington's 106 and Saabye's 105.

MIXED BOWLING TOURNAMENT.

Teams Lose Opportunities to Head the Standing.

Wednesday night's matches resulted in another win of three points for team 5, placing it in second position. Team 11, which now stands 4th, lost an opportunity to lead the list by dropping all three points to team 2. This match was exceptionally close, the first string going by two pins, the second by three and the totals by five. Team 14, another aggregation which had a good chance to worry the leaders, lost all three points to team 15. In this match the first string was lost by the small margin of four pins. Miss Parshley led the ladies, she making a total of 167, with a single of 87. Mrs. Newman rolled 164 with 92, Mrs. Clark 162 with 83, Mrs. Maddocks 84 and Mrs. Willey 81. THE COAL SITUATION has brought more people than ever to a realization of the economy and convenience of gas for cooking and water heating purposes.

Thousands of families are planning to do away with coal in the kitchen and laundry—this spring.

More gas ranges, water heaters and laundry stoves will be bought this year than ever.

War conditions have resulted in advanced prices—a curtailed production and made factory deliveries uncertain if not impossible.

We beg to call our consumers' attention to the advantage of buying from our present stock at present prices.

NOW—is not too early to select your new gas equipment and have it reserved until wanted.

May we not help you in making your selection?

WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES AND THE SCHOOLS.

MANY PIPES FROZEN.

Water Department Almost Through 900 Li-t.

With only about 20 more freeze-ups to attend to this morning, the Winchester Water Department is rapidly finishing up with the cold cases it has had among Winchester residents during the past six weeks. Up to last night 879 freeze-ups have been thawed out by the department.

Notwithstanding all these cases of frozen pipes, this town has been 100 per cent more fortunate than most of the surrounding places, for not only have the frozen pipes been promptly cared for, but by giving warning immediately in all neighborhoods where freeze-ups occurred for residents to run their water, many other cases were avoided.

Last Sunday it was announced from the pulpits of the churches that householders should run their water in a small stream when retiring it. The additional cost would be refunded by the town, it was announced. Acting upon this advice many persons undoubtedly saved themselves inconvenience.

If present conditions continue, it is now felt that there will not be any further trouble with freeze-ups. The Water Department has had an electric thawer in consant use, supplimenting this by several hot water jitneys, and has given this town a service during the trouble which cannot be too highly praised. Its men have lent every endeavor to relieve the situation.

On its part, the Water Department wish to thank the citizens for their cooperation during the difficulty and for their good nature in acceptance of inconvenience during a trying period.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our thanks to friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy, and for their beautiful gifts of flowers, in our recent bereavement.

Mr. Howard S. Cosgrove,
Mrs. John J. McGreenery and family.

BEES PAY FOR KEEP.

For about six years George W. Blanchard of 44 Washington street has shared his home with a good sized, healthy swarm of bees. The connection has been a friendly one, as the bees were quartered in a guest room of their own selection, just inside the peak of the roof above the ceiling of the uppermost rooms, where they never came in contact with other occupants of the house.

This winter, Mr. Blanchard decided to eject the tenants for nonpayment of rent. Tuesday he mounted the roof, and with the assistance of a carpenter, both wearing screen cloth protectors, made a hole, driving the bees into the open-air, where they soon perished from the cold, dropping around on the snow. More than 100 pounds of honey were found in the roof, making up for the loss of rent.

"CIVILIZATION."

A great picture is coming to the Stoneham Theatre next week Monday. It is greater than "The Birth Of A Nation." It tells the story of the present war with tremendous reality and power. It is a giant photo spectacle. More than 40,000 people and 10,000 horses were employed in making the wonderful battle scenes. Land all the mechanisms of war on land and sea and in the air are displayed with the utmost realism.

No less a personage than Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, congratulated Thomas H. Ince, the producer, on his magnificent cinema drama. The timeliness of the subject makes it of peculiar interest.

The aeroplane, the British war "tank" and many other strange mechanisms of modern warfare are shown in action with vividness unsurpassed. The deadly work of the submarines is portrayed in all of its horrible detail, and from it one gets a far clearer understanding of this peril of the seas than he ever dreamed of.

"Civilization" points to a moral and a lesson which cannot be ignored. That it is the greatest motion achievement of the age is the opinion of the large and fascinated audience.

HOW TO KNIT TWO SOCKS AT ONCE.

The following instructing information is contributed by Miss Ellen M. Gould:

Chicago has been rather uplifted and boastful of late of its Red Cross knitters and their achievements, and last Sunday's Tribune gave a picture of one of its experts doing the difficult stunt of knitting two socks—called the Siamese twins—at the same time, on the same needles. Davenport is not making so much noise about it but its Red Cross society also has a "double sock" expert in Mrs. J. A. DeArmand, one of the knitting instructors who, noticing the Tribune's picture, thought she would see if she could work out the method, as there was an evident time saving in the scheme.

There were no instructions with the Tribune's picture so Mrs. DeArmand had nothing to go by. But she took her knitting needles and after three trials at setting up succeeded in working out the plan by which the double socks are made. She used the same three needles, two balls of yarn—one for each sock—and knit every other two stitches to a sock, one sock being inside the other.

Mrs. DeArmand calls her method the "two in one." She is desirous of giving the benefit of the solving of the double sock problem to local Red Cross workers, and will be glad—later—to help any expert sock knitter—who understand's how to make a simple sock—in working out the details of carrying on the double pattern.

Mrs. DeArmand says that like a great many other things, making the "two in one" is not so hard when you know how. But you must first know how to knit a "simple sock" before attempting the Siamese variety. The novice will be inclined to get mixed and catch together the "two in one" so that they would become truly the Siamese twins.

REPORT OF THE SUPT. OF SCHOOLS FOR YEAR, 1917.

Registration and Teachers

Exhibit I gives the registration for the present school year. There are 49 fewer pupils in the grades and 36 in the High School than one year ago. For the High School, this is undoubtedly due to war conditions affecting third and fourth year pupils. The average number of pupils in charge of regular class room teachers is 33 in the grades and 20 in the High School. These are entirely within reason for efficient work, but attention should be given to such modification of district boundaries as may be necessary to reduce the numbers in some rooms. One room at the Rumford, one at the Washington, two at the Wyman and four at the Wadleigh have forty or more pupils and in two rooms each at the Highland, Mystic, Washington and Wyman, one teacher has two grades. These conditions are not serious except in the Wyman, where the very large first grade indicates that the problem will continue in 1918–1919.

The division, as arranged, of the sixth and seventh grades between the Wadleigh and Prince is due to the desirability of placing the open air sixth and seventh grades in the same building and of requiring as few pupils as possible to cross the railroad tracks at the center.

There are sixty-nine teachers, eight men and sixty-one women. Of these, seven men and fifteen women are college graduates, thirty-two are normal school graduates and fifteen had a preliminary training substantially equivalent to that given in the normal school. Their average teaching experience is 16 years and their average length of service in Winchester is 8.9 years. Thirty-nine, however, have been in Winchester less than ten, with an average of three years each.

At present there are fourteen teachers not on last year's list, five in the High School and nine in the grades; twelve to fill vacancies and two for the new teaching positions, physical training for high school boys and gardening. The vacancies are due to the following causes: better positions in teaching, 5; entering business, 2; leave of absence, 2; sickness, 1; war service, 2.

For many years it has been the practice of the School Department to release teachers to whom better positions have been offered and to grant leave of absence to teach in other school systems or for other good reasons. In making appointments adequate preparation, successful teaching experience and personal fitness are required. This does not invariably assure entire satisfaction but the exceptions have been happily few. We have suffered more changes than usual this year and shall find difficulty in providing for the physical training of the high school boys. Mr. Mitterling having recently entered the aviation branch of the army.

Registration by Age and Grade

In Exhibit II the following features are of interest:

1. There are 63 more boys than girls in the grades and 88 fewer in the High School. The corresponding registration in 1916 gave 21 more boys than girls in the grades and 56 fewer in the High School. The increase in the number of boys leaving school is undoubtedly due to the higher cost of living.

2. The small third and the very large sixth grade indicate the difficulties of equalizing [illegible] in grades and buildings.

3. The steady increase in numbers from grades three to one shows a normal growth in population.

4. The proportion of pupils under age is 1.8 per cent, of normal age 71.5 per cent, and over age 26.7 per cent, according to the standard usually taken. As compared with results obtained in various investigations we have fewer under age pupils probably due to the fact that pupils must be five and one-half years old at entrance, many more of normal age, and many fewer over age. The recent Brookline Survey gives the facts from thirty-three places widely distributed. One has an over age percentage of 19, the rest run from 28 to 56, the latter being for Brookline. Our pupils apparently progress through the grades and the High School with fewer failures than in most school systems. Furthermore, only 8.9 per cent are more than one year below grade. Since we have endeavored to be strict about promotions, this is a credit to the work done by teachers with individual pupils.

Graduating Classes

The class graduated from the Wadleigh Grammar School was somewhat smaller and that from the High School larger than in the three previous year. Of the former 79.5 per cent entered the High School. More pupils than usual were obliged to go to work. For the three preceding years 89 per cent continued their school work. It is interesting to note that 79.1 per cent of those who entered the High School in 1913 remained to graduate. This was better than usual, although the percentage has always been good. It is to be expected that as long as the war continues, the showing will be less favorable.

Pupils Entering Other Schools

Exhibit V shows that ten pupils entered college or institution of equal rank on the high school preparation, that two went to a preparatory school and that nine went to other schools for special training. The number entering college was smaller than usual, the average for the preceding ten years being 16 and the number in 1916 being 20. These pupils except the one appointed to the Naval Academy, all entered on certificate.

It is customary for colleges to report to high schools the rank obtained by certificated pupils during the first half year, this being the period upon which the character of the high school preparation is judged. The records for the pupils entering in September 1917, will be received too late for report, but as a means of coming to fairly accurate conclusions as to the thorough character of the High School work, the facts for the pupils entering college in September, 1916, are presented. These are for the college semester ending February, 1917. Twenty pupils entered college, thirteen at institutions admitting on certificate and seven at those requiring examinations. For the former pupils, marks were given in 73 subjects, of which 10 were "honor" or "credit" and 33 "pass." There were no failures. For the latter the one entering Harvard obtained "honor" in three subjects, and "pass" in one with no failures. Five entered the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The Technology authorities do not send ratings in detail but they reported the record to be "good" with one failure in a total of fifty subjects. For the Yale student the report was "honor grade" with no failures. Of these pupils fifteen entered college on completion of the usual four years' course and five took an additional year, two on account of a change in plans.

High School Courses and Pupils

From Exhibit VIII it may be concluded that about forty per cent of our pupils are preparing for college, thirty per cent wish to enter business and thirty per cent have no definite plans that their high school courses are calculated to meet unless it be to enter a normal school. No difference of judgment will be admitted as to the proposition that every high school should treat all pupils alike. In actual practice very few high schools afford to college and commercial and other pupils equal opportunities. We are not neglecting the latter two groups, but as has been urged in previous reports, we have not provided for their needs so adequately as for the college group. The most striking instance of this is found in the incomplete equipment for the commercial course. The pupils are given excellent training in stenography and typewriting. Exhibit VIII indicates the results obtained by many in tests prepared by outside persons and taken without practice. In addition to this instruction, pupils should be given experience in using the equipment now found in many business offices. This is not a year for large expenditures but a beginning should be made. Without placing undue emphasis upon what is done in other school systems, it is worth nothing that in this respect many neighboring high schools are better equipped than is ours. This should not be true.

School Savings System

Exhibit IX gives the facts for the school savings system, begun in 1908–1909, during the year 1916–1917, but some comment may be pertinent. Three hundred nineteen pupils out of 1,001 had accounts in the Winchester Savings Bank, which were started through the schools. During the year they deposited $731.15, an average of $1.66, a considerable amount when it is remembered that the system begins in the third grade, and that most of the pupils in some schools deal directly with the bank. It may be expected that the war thrift stamps and savings certificates will lessen the number of new savings bank accounts although the actual total of money accumulated to the credit of our pupils will undoubtedly be larger.

Medical Inspection

The reports of the School Physician, the Associate School Physician, and the School Nurse, Exhibits X, XI and XII deserve more elaborate analysis than the limits of this report permit.

The School Nurse devotes her time to seeing pupils, who seem to need attention, to assisting the School Physicians and the dentists in their expert examinations, to "follow-up-work" with those diagnosed as defective and to such other general work as occasions may render important. the School Physicians make the general and special examinations required by law, and as may seem to be desirable in epidemics, give special attention to pupils reported to them by the School Nurse and in emergencies by teachers, and in general determine the procedure to be followed in conserving the health of all our pupils; the local dentists give their services for dental examinations and emergency work.

Attention is called to the following features in these reports:

1. In the general examinations of 1316 pupils, parents were asked to consult the family physician in 272 cases. It is probable that most of these are not serious but undoubtedly it is well that all should be under observation by the family physician.

2. The number of cases of defective vision includes only those pupils for whom a specialist should prescribe. The number indicates that previous recommendations have usually been followed.

3. Out of 120 pupils exposed to diphtheria, five were found to be potentially dangerous and excluded.

4. By taking the temperatures daily of 175 pupils exposed to German measles and of 80 exposed to mumps, and of excluding those in whom a rising temperature indicated the possibility that disease might develop, possible contagion was avoided with the least practicable interruption to school work.

5. The dental examinations show that about six pupils in every ten need dental treatment. This is better than the average for school children in general, but it certainly is not as good as it should be.

6. Two hundred fifty-eight pupils were given $1,008 treatments in the Harvard and Forsyth Infirmaries and by local dentists at a nominal charge.

The Calendar

The calendar printed at the end of the exhibits follows the usual practice. The law requires the High School to have a year session of forty weeks. With holidays deducted this usually means about one hundred and eighty-eight days of school. This time is all needed to do the work. In planning a calendar upon this basis, it has been felt that the following conditions should be met:

1. To close as early as possible in June, since the weather is frequently hot, the mean temperature being 66° F to 68° F for the third week and 68°F to 70° F for the fourth, and since many wish to leave early for the summer.

2. To open in September after the usual time for returning from the summer vacation, namely, Labor Day. The mean temperature for the first week in September is 66° F to 65°F and for the second 65° F to 64° F. Weather conditions are, therefore, usually favorable.

3. To provide for a few free days before Christmas and to avoid the interruption to high school work from the social distractions of the holiday season. For this two weeks are necessary.

4. To place a proper vacation period between January and June. For this a week about April first seems desirable. It has been suggested that the schools should close earlier in June, should open later in September and should have two vacation periods between January and June. It is evident that any one of these arrangements will shorten the school year unless the Christmas recess be one week or the schools be kept till the fourth week in June or opened the last week in August. The school year needs every day now provided and the alternatives seem undesirable, hence, the present calendar.

The preceding discussion of the various exhibits has seemed desirable to call attention to facts that are likely to be overlooked. The following other matters may be of interest.

Summer Review School

The Summer Review School was conducted in the Prince School building from July 9 to August 17, 1917, Mrs. Anna T. O'Sullivan, of the Wadleigh Grammar School, Principal, assisted by Miss Mary H. Barr, of the Wadleigh Grammar School, and Miss Edna M. Hatch, of the Washington School.

The teachers were enthusiastic and thorough and the pupils regular, cheerful and diligent. The spirit shown was probably superior to that found in most school rooms during the year. This may have been due (1) to the fact that the goal of promotion was only a short distance away, (2) to the requirement that poor attention meant exclusion (as happened the first week to one or two) and (3) to the teaching force.

It seems clear that the Summer Review School is a necessary part of an efficient school system that particular attention is called to the results obtained.

	Not required to attend Boys	Not required to attend Girls	Required Promoted Boys	Required Promoted Girls	Required Not Promoted Boys	Required Not Promoted Girls	Total
Grade V.	0	2	7	[illegible]	2	3	21
Grade VI.	1	2	13	[illegible]	1	1	23
Grade VII.	2	3	14	10	4	2	35
Grade VIII.	0	0	2	3	1	0	6
	3	7	36	28	8	6	88
	10		64		14

It will be observed that sixty-four out of seventy-eight or 82.7 per cent secured promotion, thereby saving a year's work. Estimated in the average cost of instruction for pupils in the grades, about $55 this $3520. This sum would, of course, not have been saved this year, but educationally speaking, it has been saved for the school system. This is not all. Sixty-four pupils have been placed in classes where they will probably do better work than they would have done as failures. Of these, four were awarded Grammar School diplomas.

We have heretofore planned the Summer Review School for pupils "not promoted" in grades five to eight. (Those not required to attend had been promoted but were admitted to encourage their desire to be better prepared for the following grade.) It should be extended to include a selected list of pupils who may thereby earn a double promotion and to high school pupils who have failed. The latter provision should be made first, since, with annual promotions, to master a year's advanced work in six weeks will be practicable for very few and since the need of pupils who have failed is greater.

The experience of two years indicates that a six-weeks' summer term is about right in length, that pupils can work as efficiently in the summer as during any other period of the year, and that the necessity for the usual long vacation is partly imaginary.

Gifts During 1917

Victrolas have been placed in the Wadleigh, Gifford, Highland, Mystic, Rumford and Washington buildings by the joint efforts of teachers, parents and pupils. Through the same agencies the following pictures have been purchased:

Landseer's "Shoeing the Bay Mare."

Van Marcke's "Golden Autumn Day."

Mystic—Field's "Come Unto These Yellow Sands."

Smith's "Seeing and Hearing" and "Madonna."

Raphael's "Madonna of the Chair."

Le Rolles' "Shepherdess."

NORMAN PRINCE MEMORIAL FUND

Mr. Frederick H. Prince of Boston, for whose father the Prince School building was named, has established the Norman Prince Memorial fund of $1,000 and given a picture of his son, "Sous Lieutenant Norman Prince, Founder of the Lafayette Escadrille, Decore de La Medaille Militaire, de La Croix de La Legion D Honneur et de La Croix de Guerre, Killed October 15th, 1916, Alsace." The income of the fund will be used to encourage our boys to adopt the high ideals which this gallant young man embodied in his splendid service in this war for humanity and civilization.

The War

The World War has affected the schools as it has every other part of American life. It has placed upon us new obligations, some temporary and some permanent in character. We have endeavored to continue school work as usual at the same time to utilize the schools to help win the war and to utilize the lessons of the war in the training of our pupils.

A brief summary will probably suffice to show the main features of action taken:

1. Several classes have been held in the High School and the Prince School under the general direction of the Special Aid Society in Red Cross nursing, cooking and hospital work.

2. The members of the Teachers' Club have met weekly in the Prince School building for work as a branch of the Red Cross.

3. Physical training has been required of all high school pupils with a man on full time for the boys.

4. Emphasis has been placed upon instilling patriotism through the Salute to the Flag, learning the "Star Spangled Banner" and "America" and Current History classes.

5. Boys in the senior class of the High School who enlisted before graduation were awarded diplomas.

6. Pupils have been listed for farm work and excused as opportunity offered.

7. Jars for canning were sold at cost during June and July at the Prince building as arranged by the Winchester Branch of the Middlesex County Farm Bureau.

8. Food conservation pledge cards have been distributed by pupils.

9. The food conservation program is being followed in the high school cooking classes and lunch counter and has been made the subject of required work in English.

10. In various grades pupils are working to produce material that may be of service in Red Cross work.

11. Red Cross leaflets have been distributed by pupils.

12. Particular insistence has been placed upon economy in the use of supplies and upon the proper care of books.

13. Contributions were taken for the Joffre fund to aid French orphans. Pupils were limited to contributions of five cents. $55.38 was thus raised.

14. Liberty Loan advertising has been distributed by pupils. Thirty-five teachers and 425 pupils own Libery Loan Bonds.

15. Thrift Stamps and War Savings Certificates have been placed on sale in all grades above the third. In the two weeks ending December 19, when school closed, 351 pupils purchased Thrift Stamps and 78 pupils obtained War Certificates.

16. All of our teachers have been ascertained to be American citizens and all are loyal.

These are the principal things that can be noted. In addition it may be said that wherever opportunity has seemed to be open, an attempt has been made to show the causes of the war with the obligations that it places upon all of us and to correct any educational defects that the lessons of the war have made apparent.

For the pupils and teachers in service from the Wadleigh Grammar School and the High School, it may be well to provide service flags.

As with the rest of our lives during this war period, the year has presented rather more than the usual number of problems. These have been saved from being anxieties by the co-operation of all having to do with the affairs of the School Department.

Respectfully submitted,
Schuyler F. Herron,
Superintendent.

NEWS ALONG SUFFRAGE LINES.

"You will be interested in some news along suffrage lines. Our last Legislature changed the old law relating to jury service, making it possible to have women serve. The law formerly stated "twelve men" now it reads "persons." This went into effect August 1, and we have been trying them out. Our experience has been the strongest argument for suffrage. Everyone—except the wrong doer and his attorney—is more than pleased. While I have always had a good opinion of my sex it went up 100 per cent the first case they tried in the police court. While there were many men opposed to votes for women during our suffrage campaign I don't believe there is one now except, as with the jury above mentioned when they want to violate the law. I have laid aside a few papers to send you regarding a Chinese murder case we are having tried here now with a women jury. There were two Chinamen charged with shooting the third, the murdered man being a prominent Chinese who has lived here many years. His children have graduated from the high school. They tried one of the men and the jury brought in a verdict of "not guilty" while the evidence seemed to point to his guilt. That was a man jury. For this one they have called the women. They have drawn women for the Grand Jury also. Out here the Grand Jury has to investigate every public expenditure and the management of every public institution including municipal governments, libraries, schools, etc. For this work women will be well fitted. While Kern county is probably the first place where women have sat in a murder case, nearly every county has taken advantage of the new law and drawn women for the Grand Jury. So you see that after six full years of woman suffrage the California men, for we had no women in the legislature, felt they wanted to remove the last restriction so that we should indeed have political equality. Our women vote out here but not to any extent are they office seekers. The fact that they have the vote has resulted in better men being put up for office, and if a woman is elected it is only because she is the "best man running."

SOLDIERS' TRENCH SONG.

I know a little "cootie"*
And he surely is a beauty.
He's as fond of me as anyone could be.
During winter's cold and storm
He knows where its always warm,
That is why he always sticks so close to me.

In the evening while I'm sleeping
I can feel the "cootie" creeping
As he digs his way around beneath my shirt.
Tho' his conduct is obstrusive
Yet the rascal is elusive
And he always gets away without a hurt.

Now, he cares not how I feel
As long as he secures his meal
And I surely cannot say that he is lazy
If the war goes on much longer
And his actions get much sronger
I don't know but what the "coot" will drive me crazy.

O. B. Merry.

*It is reported from the front that the most annoying thing with which the soldier has to contend is a body parasite known as a "cootie."

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

An all day sewing meeting at Mrs. R. W. Dover's, on Lincoln street, was the plan for the February meeting and it was carried out with a large attendance and much enthusiasm. Several hundred surgical dressings were made and also a number of articles for the White Ribbon Home at Ayer to help in furnishing the new dormitory there. A dozen comfort pillows also were made and filled in response to another appeal recently received from the Red Cross. At noon the members present—including two or three new members— enjoyed luncheon and at three o'clock was held the business meeting.

As usual at the February meeting a sum was appropriated to the Frances E. Willard Memorial fund. This is used in extending the work and this year will be used largely as in years past in the special work of Americanization. It may not be generally known that this endeavor has been an active department of the W. C. T. U. for many years with notable success in many parts of the country.

Plans for increasing the interest in Winchester by means of social meetings were also laid, of which full particulars will be given later. The March meeting will be in the Home for the Aged and will be an atractive entertainment. The all engrossing topic of the ratification of the prohibition amendment was taken up by Mrs. Gleason, who also warned the members that efforts are being made to urge the referendum, in spite of the distinct wording of the federal constitution which says the amendment must be ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the States.

Mrs. Gleason also gave an inspiring report of the conference with Miss Anna Gordon, national president, who urged upon the members closer cooperation with other organizations in the present crisis, she herself being ex-officio on several of the committees for the public defense. Without forgetting our own distinctive work we are joining hands with others in the forword movement toward true democracy.

MOTHER GOOSE MELODY, No. 7

Jack and Jill went up the hill

(This is a hill and many another hill they could have gone up, but their experience with one hill was enough)

To fetch a pail of water
U U U U U U U U
(Here's many pails of water Jack would have been obliged to fetch, for Horrors! it was wash day)

Jack fell down and broke his crown
(Jack's crown looks like a half moon, doesn't it well, perhaps it is, and has seen stars same as Jack did)

And Jill came tumbling after—

(Periods say you? Yes to illustrate come after—same as periods come after sentences. Then again Jill was a girl of a period, so, so much for that).

But now if Jack's mother had saved all bother
Of washing at home, don't you see?

Poor Jack and the other—ne'er gone for the water
But come to our own Launderee.

THE ELDER FUNERAL IMPRESSIVE.

Echoes of the beautiful and impressive services at the funeral of the beloved Sam Elder at Winchester continue to reverberate. Describing them, his old friend and close companion, Charles Gallagher, says they were of such an order as Sam himself would have chosen had he assisted in their arrangement before he passed on.

It was an ideal winter day, and the church in which the services were held, located on the Village Green, faced all the activities and developments of the town that Sam had seen grow in 40 years, and of which, like the church itself, he formed a large part.

The auditorium was filled with a sorrowing congregation of relatives, townsmen, and friends, gathered from near and far, intimate and casual, distinguished and obscure, but all showing the token of the Great Grief.

The music, the reading of the Scriptures and burial service, the prayer and the personal tribute of Rev. Dr. Bushnell were all beautiful and fitting in every way. The best feature in all, like the feast of Cana, came last, when the minister gave out the grand old hymn of Alford, with its "Ten thou-and times ten thousand," and its

Fling open wide the golden gates
And let the victors in!

It seemed as if ten thousand voices were joining in the congregational singing, the voices of the great company of Sam's chums, intimate friends and associates from all the walks of life swelling the notes of the beautiful song. "That hymn," says Mr. Gallagher, "saved many a manly eye from bursting its pent-up grief and gave chance for its expression in song. And such singing it was, from the heart and from the soul!"

Here was an impressive innovation that might more frequently be indulged to add a more deeply sympathetic note to the regular funeral services. [George F. Babbett—Boston Globe.

carried on by the ladies of Winchester, making surgical dresings and doing the work in aid of the sick and wounded soldiers and sailors.

The branch situated in the centre of the town presents an opportunity to all who desire to give their services in helping to relieve the suffering of those who at this time need every help that can possible be rendered.

The expense in making these dressings, dressing coverings, rent etc, etc, means an expenditure of not far from $20.00 per day and this must be provided by our townspeople.

The Committee has given much thought in selecting the best method for raising this money and has decided to make this appeal to you and to all the townspeople for immediate support and co-operation feeling sure that you will willingly and liberally help us in this noble cause.

Certainly the work must go on. It must not fail. Our success, however can only be reached by united sacrifice, united aid, united loyalty, and united concentration, upon that one object at hand, "Winning and ending this awful War," and it is with your financial aid that we must succeed.

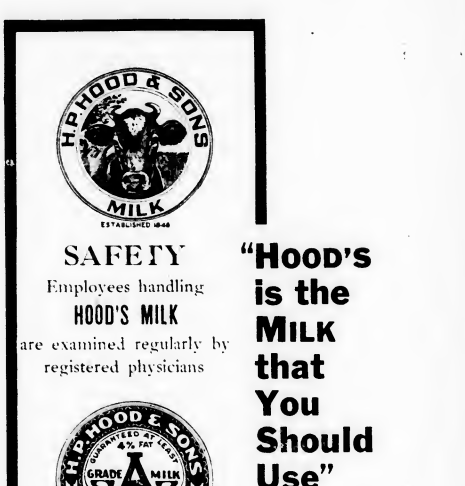

The Red Cross represents the mobilized heart and spirit of the whole American people. Twenty-two million men, women and children, one fifth of the population of these United States are now enrolled in its membership. This is certainly a most significant fact, an expression not alone of patriotism, but of fine sympathy and idealism, which is coming a message of love to our soldiers, sailors and troops in the personal touch of their mothers, wives, sisters, and daughters here in Winchester and elsewhere, in their labors for the relief of suffering and the healing of the wounded.

We ask you to assist them by financial aid that they may continue to carry on this work, thereby fulfilling a mission which can in no other way be filled—healing and comforting the body and soul of these soldiers and sailors who are pouring out their life Blood for you and your country.

So again we ask your help and immediate response. Please do so now.

You should make it your duty to visit this room and see for yourself just what the Red Cross is doing and how the money is being expended. You owe this to yourself and to the cause it represents.

Awaiting a quick reply, we remain,
Sincerely yours,

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

At the Hollis Street Theatre, George Arliss and his supporting company will begin an engagement Monday, Feb. 18th, in the new play "Hamilton," which has won great favor this season in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago. The drama is by Mrs. Mary Hamlin and Mr. Arliss himself, and it is declared by the majority of critics to be superior, in dramatic interest and in the opportunity that it affords Mr. Arliss for the display of his genius as a character actor, to "Disraeli," which has stood up to the present time as Mr. Arliss' most successful vehicle.

The play deals with the earlier career of Alexander Hamilton and his struggles in support of the first administration, at a time when he was leader of the Treasury and was engaged in a great fight to bring about a unification, in a financial way, of the several States. The story is, however, by no means dry history. In his domestic life Hamilton was quite as interesting a figure as he was in his public life. He was, indeed, not immune to the charms of the opposite sex and the romantic interest of the present play centers upon his intrigue with the beautiful Mrs. Reynolds, who attempted, at the instigation of Hamilton's political enemies, to lure him to social destruction.

Mr. Arliss' supporting company includes Miss Jeanne Eagels, Mrs. Arliss, Marion Barney, Katherine Harlow, Richard Kirkland, Carl Anthony, George Woodward, John Knoell, James O. Barrows, Guy Favieres, Wilson Day and Dudley Digges.

COLLEY THEATRE.

The four weeks' stay of "Inside the Lines" at the Colley Theatre will be lengthened into a fifth week, beginning with a Monday matinee. It is not surprising that such a wartime play as this should receive immediately the public favor. It tells an interesting story of a group of people on the Rock of Gibraltar during the first month of the war, and introduces many exciting incidents, with the intrigues of spies, with a comedy interest, and with a varied assortment of passages of several nationalities.

The two-act acting of "Inside the Lines" by Sir Henry Jowett Players is one of the factors that contribute to its popularity. The demand for seats is large and indications are advised to make early application for seats at the box office, by telephone, or downtown at Filene's or Jordan's. The evening performances begin promptly at 7.45, and there will be matinees during this coming week at ten minutes past two on Monday, Thursday and Saturday.

THE NEW LEWIS ANTHEM TO BE SUNG.

"We Stand", the new patriotic anthem by Prof. Leo Lewis of Tufts College will be sung by the Choir of the Church of the Epiphany at the special musical service on Sunday afternoon at five o'clock. This anthem was sung for the first time at St. Paul's Cathedral, Boston, three weeks ago. It was received with enthusiasm on that occasion.

Professor Lewis is strongly of the opinion that patriotic songs should be, both in music and in text, of a high character so that intelligent persons can respect themselves and their country as they sing them. He also believes that everybody who can turn a tune should sing and his work has found great favor with our sister suburb in Somerville whose influence at Tufts has been so great as to give it the title of the "Singing College."

Although on Saturday night Prof. Lewis is to be at the Boston Opera House to lead as many persons as that great edifice will hold in singing patriotic songs, he plans to be at the Epiphany on Sunday afternoon to hear the choir sing "We Stand."

In addition to the new anthem, the full choir will render a musical service with Magnificat and Nunc Dimitis in E flat by West and Mendelssohn anthem "There shall a star from Jacob come forth."

THE WINCHESTER STAR.

VOL. XXXVII. NO. 35. WINCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1918 PRICE FIVE CENTS

LETTER FROM CHAPLAIN DEWART.

Men Going Through to End a Clean, Game, Fine Lot.

The following letter from Rev. Murray W. Dewart, serving as Chaplain with the U. S. boys in France, appeared in the Church of the Epiphany "Messenger," and believing it has considerable interest outside of the Church membership, we reprint it in the STAR:

My dear people:

Confinement in the Base Hospital with a very slight illness gives me the time to write a letter such as I have been wanting to write for some time.

I'd like to tell you about my life here. We arrived at this camp in September. The camp has been in use since the time of Napoleon as a training place for artillery. It is placed upon a high hill with a view of the country for miles around—beautiful country not unlike New England at first glance. When we first arrived, French troops were here several thousand of them—and about the same number of German prisoners. The French gradually have been replaced by incoming American troops and now the French have gone entirely. My regiment was the first American regiment to arrive here, so we had the choice of barracks. I think our location and the buildings are better than those of the other regiments. The regiment is mostly in stone and concrete barracks, formerly used by the French. Each battery, however, has a certain number of wooden "Adrian" barracks which have only a dirt floor. The officers are all housed in French portable houses—quickly put up, quite drafty but not at all bad. There are ten rooms in each barracks and the officers are mostly crowded three to a room. We have five officers' barracks. The colonel has been good enough to leave me in my fine southeast corner room alone, not just for my comfort, but because the room is my office and my being in a room alone encourages privates to come to see me.

STUART G. LANE.

The second of our Winchester boys who volunteered as their country's call has made the great sacrifice, Stuart Lane came from Taunton, Mass., with his family about 5 years ago, and went to the Winchester High School. Later he attended the Staunton Military Academy, where he found the life of a soldier congenial. At the time of the outbreak of the War, he was assistant to the Bridge Inspector of the Boston & Maine R. R. He immediately joined the Naval Reserves and soon rose to the rank of Second Class Machinist's Mate. As it looked as if he would see no active service in the Naval Reserve, he obtained a transfer to the Marine Corps, stationed in Philadelphia. While taking part in a foot ball game representing the Marines, he sustained a serious injury to his elbow which demanded a radical surgical operation. It was while on furlough from this operation that he was taken with double pneumonia and died at the Harney Hospital last Sunday morning. His life was characterized by great promise in business and devotion to duty in the Marine Corps, which he had learned to love.

His many friends will miss his genial light-hearted spirit and comradeship, and his country has lost one who was willing to give and did give all that he had to give—his fresh young life.

A WORD FOR MR. DAVIDSON.

Winchester, Mass., Feb. 20, 1918

Editor of The Winchester STAR:

For many years Winchester has been very fortunate in the quality of unpaid service rendered by her citizens in the important office of Selectmen.

In 1916 I with others became interested in the saving of the lot of land corner of Church and Fletcher sts. (the old Gasometer lot) from a development through changes of ownership, that in the opinion of many residents of the West Side would have affected adversely a great area of surrounding property.

In this effort we have the earnest and intelligent aid of Mr. George T. Davidson, at that time Chairman of the Board of Selectmen. The sale of the property had been consummated and to provide for its reservation and resale the utmost patience and persistence were required. In all this work Mr. Davidson in his official capacity rendered efficient aid, and in my opinion was a large factor in accomplishing the purpose designed.

I see by the STAR that Mr. Davidson has consented to be a candidate for Selectman for the coming year. In view of his ability and experience gained in four years service as Selectman, three years of which he served as Chairman of the Board, I believe that the best interests of the Town will be served by his election.

Yours respectfully,
Freeland E. Hovey.

CHILD DROWNED YESTERDAY.

Eleanor L. Powers, three and a half years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Powers of Blind Bridge street, was drowned in Russell's Brook yesterday forenoon. The child was with a younger brother and fell into the brook from a foot bridge at the corner of the Town Stables on Lake street.

It was a considerable time after the accident before it was known, the younger child going home and telling his mother. A search was immediately commenced by the police and town men and the body was recovered about an hour later in Wedge Pond near the Main street bridge, where it had been carried by the high water.

Dr. Beaton was summoned and he with the police worked over the child for some time in an attempt to revive it, but too much time had elapsed and their efforts were unavailing.

SPECIAL AID.

On Wednesday, Feb. 27th, at 2 o'clock, Mrs. Colin W. MacDonald will give a free lecture on: "Fool and the War." All are invited and urged not to miss this opportunity to hear what she has to say.

The regular weekly board meeting of the Special Aid will be held at two o'clock on Thursdays, instead of 1.15, as formerly.

TO WINCHESTER GIRLS.

The Margery Emery fund of $36.50 for helping support a French fatherless girl of fourteen, is now complete and handed in.

Two troops of Girl Scouts have given generously, and personal friends of Margery have done the rest. And now you want the name and address, that you may write and receive letters:

Suzanne Maniez,

Pas-de-Calais, France.

Cher Mmme Vve Maniez.

Now if the boys will finish their amount for the year, which is $6.00, two French children will be made happy and nourished, by you across the water. It will make your war bread taste better to have done all you can.

MYRNA SHARLOW, CHICAGO OPERA CO., STAR TO SING HERE.

Winchester people who will not have the opportunity of hearing the Chicago Opera Co. during their visit here will be glad to know that one of their star sopranos, Miss Myrna Sharlow, will sing at the March 3rd Vesper Service at the First Congregational Church. Miss Sharlow will be remembered as the young soprano who made such a favorable impression at the "Pops" last season. She was also a favorite when appearing with the old Boston Opera Co. The artists who have appeared at these series of vesper services have been the best that could be procured and that this has been appreciated has been attested to by the fact that between four and six hundred people have been in regular attendance at each one. The high water mark will have been reached when Miss Sharlow appears.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

The Board of Health reports the following cases of contagious diseases for the week ending Feb. 20: Whooping cough 1, Chicken pox 2, German measles 2, Measles 29.

D. OF I. LECTURE.

Fine Talk by Mary Boyle O'Reilly Tuesday.

Miss Mary Boyle O'Reilly delivered a most interesting lecture Tuesday evening at White's Hall, under the patronage of Santa Maria Court, Daughters of Isabella, and those who forsook their comfortable fireside and braved the elements in order to attend the meeting were most surely rewarded. They were enabled to hear first-hand the experiences of a Civilian Relief worker who was on the scene when war was declared in 1914, and who helped to guide and care for the refugees who were forced to leave their homes to escape the on-coming of the first German Army Corps.

From Belgium Miss O'Reilly led her fascinated listeners through the successive stages of the terrible conflict, finally detailing the events which surrounded the saving of the Polish children during the evacuation of Warsaw. Her personal observations of some of the people with whom she was variously associated—Ex-Premier Kerensky, Sister Julie, Nurse Edith Cavell, King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium, and various other notables who have became, during this time, figures of world prominence—were of a very enjoyable nature.

As a lecturer Miss O'Reilly leaves nothing to be desired. Her charming personality is perhaps her greatest asset and this, together with a fund of humorous stories of the boys "over there," tended to relieve to some extent the mere grusesome parts of her recital.

Miss O'Reilly laid particular stress on the need for helping the Y. M. C. A. and K. of C. work and related stories which tended to voice the appreciation of the soldiers as regards both these great organizations. Then, too, she left no doubt in the minds of those present that the one institution which has meant, and stood for, more than anything else during the three and a half years of the terrible European struggle is the great American Red Cross Society.

All through her talk Mrs. O'Reilly emphasized the new era of feminism which has come about in Europe, as a result of the war and predicted that we here in America are soon to see women's sphere broaden and develop until it shall have encompassed all branches of work.

Several of the older people who attended the lecture were present many years ago in Lyceum Hall, Winchester, at a lecture delivered by Miss O'Reilly's father, the late lamented John Boyle O'Reilly, the illustrated Irish patriot and American poet and citizen.

CAFETERIA SUPPER.

In place of the annual church supper, a cafeteria supper, to which an admission was charged, was given this year at the First Congregational Church. The proceeds of this affair, which took place on Tuesday evening, will be given to the Winchester Red Cross.

Over 400 members of the Church and their friends attended and enjoyed an excellent supper prepared by the large committee of ladies under the direction of Mrs. Cutler B. Downer and Mrs. George B. Smith.

The members of the committee were as follows:

Mrs. W. I. Palmer
Mrs. F. N. Kerr
Mrs. W. F. Ellefson
Mrs. D. R. Beggs
Mrs. J. R. Peck
Miss Edmands
Mrs. D. P. Thomas
Mrs. Jas. Nowell
Miss Barbara Fernald
Miss Helen Hall
Mrs. H. S. Parsons
Mrs. F. Tupper
Mrs. Wm. L. Hall
Mrs. H. T. West
Mrs. J. C. Haartz
Mrs. A. T. Martin
Mrs. R. L. Emery
Mrs. Frank Bana
Mrs. Allan Wood
Mrs. M. F. Brown
Mrs. M. C. Tompkins
Mrs. J. C. Hindes
Mrs. Greene
Mrs. H. W. Lowell
Mrs. Wm. A. Kneeland
Mrs. A. C. Barr
Miss Marguerite Barr

Following the supper a talk was given by Rev. Christopher W. Collier of Lexington, who served six months in the European war zone in the ambulance service. He gave a most interesting talk on the conditions as he saw them and his remarks were eagerly listened to by the large audience.

WHITE AGAINST RED.

At the five o'clock Sunday service at the Epiphany, Mr. Packer will speak on what is now happening in Russia. The Germans have discovered Allies in Russia itself. The middle class has shown a preference for Prussianism as against Bolshevikism. On the Eastern front the war has exhibited a tendency to change from a war between nations to a war between classes.

Some astute observers have long been of the opinion that the world war continued long enough would become a class war instead of a conflict between groups of nations. History is on the side of this prediction. The Napoleonic wars ended by ruling classes combining to keep down democracy.

Because of what is now taking place in Russia and because of the striking parallel with conditions a century ago a war between the "haves" and the "have-nots" is of momentous importance.

GEORGE A. WELD.

Well Known Resident Passes Away.

Following the announcement of the serious condition of Mr. George A. Weld of Sanborn street at the Hartford (Conn.) Hospital last Friday morning, came word of his death at the institution later in the day. He underwent three serious operations for gall stones and failed to rally.

Mr. Weld was born in this town Nov. 27, 1857 and was in his 61st year. His father was Aaron D. Weld, prominent in this town and after whom the local Grand Army Post, the A. D. Weld Post was named. His mother was Ellen M. Burnham.

Mr. Weld received his early education in the Winchester schools, and upon graduating took a business course at the Bryant & Stratton School in Boston. For a period of 20 years he was connected with the firm of E. & A. H. Batchelder & Co. of Boston, large shoe manufacturers. Leaving that firm he founded the firm of George A. Weld & Co., manufacturers and sales engineers dealing largely in hot water specialties, taking the office of treasurer of the firm. He was actively connected with the firm as its president at the time of his death.

For the past two years he had not been in the best of health, and he went to he Hartford Hospital to be operated upon as his son, Dr. Stanley B. Weld, is senior physician there.

Mr. Weld married Miss Fanny Ayer of this town, who survives him, together with two sons, Alfred O. Weld of Myrtle terrace, treasurer of the George A. Weld Co., and Dr. Stanley B. Weld of Hartford, Conn.

He was an active member of the First Baptist Church and was a member of John T. Wilson Camp, S. of V.

The funeral services were held from the residence on Monday afternoon and were largely attended by many friends. The service was conducted by Rev. Henry E. Hodge of the First Baptist Church and included selections by the Apollo Quartette of Boston. There were many very beautiful gifts of flowers and among those who were present were Messrs. John H. Bennett and Charles P. Johnson, representing John T. Wilson Camp, S. of V.

The burial was in the Weld lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

No especial observance will be made over the departure of the Winchester boys, although it is anticipated that many of their friends will be around to bid them good luck. ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertram T. Martin of Sheffield road announce the engagement of their daughter, Florence Miriam, to Mr. Henry D. Whitcomb, the eldest son of Mr. Henry E. Whitcomb, a wealthy retired envelope manufacturer. Mr. Whitcomb has just presented to the city of Worcester the family estate to be known as "Whitcomb Hall," and used as a hospital for the soldiers and sailors of the United States Army and Navy who may lose their sight in the world war. Miss Martin who was formerly a sophomore at Smith College is now a junior at Radcliffe. Mr. Whitcomb was an Amherst man and left college immediately on declaration of war, and was assigned to active duty on the S. S. Gurkha. He is now attending Harvard Ensign School.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

Speaking of the water of life, which is said to be free, but which certain cynics have dubbed expensive in view of the calls "religion" makes upon the pocket-book, the real water of life is free to all who know how to accept it, but there have been many who have sought to dispense it by wrong methods—and here is where the trouble lies. The real Christian knows that it is the bright, kind greeting, the cordial handshake, the presence in the familiar pew, the neighborly visit, the personal interest, the hint of genuine Christian love in the daily attitude, that pours out the water of life to the little ones. There is no religion that does not express itself in Cordiality. The Spectator has so long seen church members pass each other in the aisle without speaking, go coldly, silently out of the church without greeting strangers, bow to their acquaintances and their special friends, and utterly ignore the elderly, the lonely and the unfashionable God hides His time. Then He gives us real reasons for seeking brotherhood among men.

There is a story of a "lady" here in Winchester who rang up a "common" man on a side street. "We feel so afraid," she chirped, "that you might think it was just society people who are taking up this special war work; we want everybody, you know." The naivete of this remark shows how far the foolishness of "society" has bitten into the souls of the people. God will destroy society if it is necessary to show the people where their duty lies. This country is surely in need of women who can forget all claims of what we call "society"—women who are not here to try to patronize "everybody." The Spectator despises the term "everybody" as it is used to separate the mob from the elect.

A good Winchester lady says she remembers that she once went to a relative's house in time of mourning. They were all "everybody." When one called everybody by their first name, one has felt like trying to comfort, one began to realize how little one is. And when one is told these days that "everybody" is invited one at once feels the sneer of it. This is because for so long "everybody" but a select few has been excluded from the choicest "sets."

Poor Everybody! He has not been built so powerful as Nobody. been for what was Everybody' business was Nobody's business and Nobody has for many years felt any special call to go where Everybody was invited. But Everybody's going to have his innings now. As the "society" person said to the woman in the side street, "We want everybody."

Comradeship has two phrases. One is good, one is bad. As usual, the line between good and evil is almost invisible. Could we recognize Comradeship as a real need of the human soul surely we would not withhold it from those who live near us daily. So often we fail to be comrades with their children. A mother is obliged to arm herself in some sense against their encroachments upon her personal life because children are trying like animals. She must be clever enough to prevent them from eating her up alive. No mother is so poor a comrade as one who fails in discipline. Your comrade must, first of all, respect you. The wife who can make her husband respect her stands a much better chance for that comradeship in old age which is by far the better part of conjugal life. This is such a fine reason for men and women getting good educations and giving their attention to business and to the simple work of everyday life. Such a fine reason for acquiring that sort of simple common sense which discloses to us the luminous fact that everything is interesting.

Again, it is such a grand reason for leading the religious life. There are no comrades in the world so fine as a pair of splendid Christian people going hand in hand down what some fools call "the shady side of life." It is the sunny side of life to people who have had brains enough to find out the secret of successful living. But the sunny side of life is not the life of careless and happy "good times;" the sunshine of God's love glows brightest on our renunciations, our disappointments, our failures, even upon the feebleness of age with its loneliness and neglect, for when the heart once learns the secret of standing with open doors for God's love, all the material treasures crumble into dust, but the spiritual tabernacle—the house not made with hands—stands secure where the sunlight falls on castle walls and snowy cloud summits in the afternoon of life. Our lax moral discipline of the last thirty years has fostered many injurious comradeships.

MEETS WINCHESTER BOY IN FRANCE.

Mrs. Edgar M. Young Writes of Seeing J. B. Thomas.

No letter comes from the war zone containing as much news of interest to Boston folk as those written by Mrs. Eugenie E. Young, who is in Paris busy with the unselfish work of caring for the refugees. Says the Advertiser and American, which has been permitted to print two letters from Mrs. Young to a friend in Boston, each charming in it's detail of personality. Sunday the paper offered another of Mrs. Young's contributions. It brought news of Boston and Harvard men, who are doing their bit. It also tells modestly of the work in which the writer is engaged. And it carries an appeal which surely will be heeded by readers who have the patriotic spirit which sent Mrs. Young across the water.

By Eugenie E. Young

Paris, Feb. 2.—Still raining, but not cold. It is such a godsend to have even a brief respite from the intense frost of the last six weeks.

For a short two hours on Sunday the sun came out, as if just to show us it was still in the heavens, and the gloom afterwards seemed more deadly than ever. The Avenue Champs Elysees was crawled with people of all nationalities out to enjoy this phenomenon overhead, but the mud was still there to remind us of the eternal rain.

I was quite surprised to find a Punch and Judy shown in full swing, and the audience was not all little children but mostly "Blesses." Those poor wounded men laughed and enjoyed that simple show, while we thought of the awful things they had taken part in.

As I walked on I saw a Red Cross motor, and I wondered if my eyes deceived me, for at the wheel sat young Josiah B. Thomas, whose mother, Mrs. Phillip Simonds, lives at 6 Sheffield road, Winchester, and whose grandfather gave the Thomas Hospital to the town of Peabody. He was only a wee lad a few years ago and made me think of our babies of yesterday. He left early in the week to drive a Red Cross motor in Italy.

Accompanying him was young Bob Roland, son of Thomas Roland of Nahant. He will be in the same service, transferred from field service, Section B, 526.

THRIFT STAMPS AND WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES.

Next week we hope to give a complete report of the extent to which the pupils have become interested in purchasing Thrift Stamps and War Savings Certificates. For this week, it may be sufficient to report that only one first, one second grade and the two kindergartens have not represented by pupils who have bought stamps, and that the Open Air Eighth Grade at the Wadleigh, Mrs. Talcott's room, is leading the town with 636 Thrift Stamps and 57 Certificates, a total value of $469.41 to its credit. In this total every pupil in the room is represented. This is the first room to register 100 per cent.

HARVARD MUSICAL CLUBS.

There was a good attendance of Winchester's younger society people at the Town Hall on Friday evening to greet the Harvard Musical Clubs on the occasion of their regular visit here. A very entertaining program was given by the various organizations comprising the Clubs and this was followed by a dance. The evening was arranged and directed by the members of the Sigma Beta Society, and the proceeds are to be devoted to the Red Cross.

The committee for the society included the Misses Oriana Wingate, Isabel Bragg, Anna Bugbee, Ruth Withington and Gertrude May.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY AT CALUMET.

Washington's Birthday is to be a banner date at the Calumet Club this year, for not content with providing entertainment for the birders and billiard players, President Geo. E. Willey has arranged an all-day program containing features of such interest for every member of the families of all the club men.

The day will open at 9 a. m. when the blind bowling contest will open in the alleys. This is for the men, and suitable prizes will be awarded the winners of the contest, which will end at 1 p. m.

At 2.30 in the afternoon there is to be given in the club hall an entertainment for the children, the chief attraction being the presentation of the play especially adapted for children entitled "Golden Hair and the Three Bears." Although especially for the children this will doubtless prove attractive to the older people as well. During the afternoon light refreshments will be served.

From 6 to 7 o'clock an inovation will be given in the way of a chafing dish supper, which is to be served by some of the ladies of the Club.

The evening's program will open by a program of fancy dancing arranged by the Misses Mary Flinn and Dorothy Kerrison, assisted by Mrs. Helen Avery. An exceptionally fine orchestra will be in attendance and will also play for general dancing.

During the day special matches in pool and billiards will be held under the direction of Chairman J. A. Polben of the Billiard Committee.

CONG. MEN'S CLUB TONIGHT.

Announcement was made the first of the week of an especially interesting lecture and gathering of the Congregational Men's Club for Thursday evening Feb. 21st, at eight o'clock at the vestries.

The feature of the evening is Rev. Ernest Graham Guthrie of the American Field Service, who speaks on "The Battlefront From Rheims to Verdun." His talk is to be illustrated by 150 slides furnished by the French Government.

The meeting is said to be one of the best of its kind yet given in Winchester and one greatly anticipated by all Congregational men and their friends.

PRAISE FOR WINCHESTER.

Editor of the Star:

May I express through the STAR, a word of appreciation for the splendid care given our streets and walks this winter during the protracted season of snow and ice. The plowman and the sandman have been on the job prompt and often, early and late, converting difficult and dangerous travelling into what has been generally comfortable and safe. [We wish occupants of private property invited, equal approval, for prompt and thorough clearing of walks.]

Much praise should be given those who have been responsible for this department of our Public Service.

HURT BY SKIDDING AUTO.

A man and a child were taken to Winchester Hospital with serious injuries; three others were hurt and a Packard touring car was considerably damaged, when the machine struck a pung in Winchester, near the corner of Washington and Eaton streets, Tuesday noon.

The machine was in the car tracks and in the attempt to pull out, the rear end swerved into the pung, tipping it over and knocking the horses to the ground. Three Reebenacker children of 42 Brookside road were on the pung, together with the driver, Alfred Shaughnessy and Michael McHale of 1 Purrington place. The occupants of the pung were thrown out, while the touring car was carried by its own momentum into a telegraph pole some distance away.

Despite a broken radiator, smashed headlights, stripped mudguards and running board, the driver turned the machine about and took Mary Reebenacker to the Winchester Hospital. She was suffering from a severe gash over the eye and was attended by Dr. McCarthy. Sergt. McCauley and Patrolman Cassidy, who went to the scene immediately, took Michael McHale to the Hospital with a sprained shoulder and a sprained knee.

The pung was owned by Kelley & Hawes and was being driven by Shaughnessy. The machine was owned by F. E. Gregory of 180 Forest street and was driven by Chas. F. Morrill.

According to the police, Morrill was unable to avert the accident and did everything in his power to prevent it. After the accident he went immediately to the assistance of the injured. The pung was not damaged, but the horses were knocked down.

When a negro was arrested in St. Paul with a hen under each arm, two persons claimed the booty. A police sergeant said the one who could prove ownership could have the chickens; so one of the claimants sat quietly in a chair and called, "Come, Smoke." A white hen hopped up on his knee. "Now, Becky," and the red hen perched on the other knee. "Take 'em," said the sergeant; "they're your'n."

NO BATHING IN OUR POLLUTED WATER.

Editor of the Star:

In scrutinizing the columns of your valuable sheet of last week's issue, I observed in the editorial columns the following epistle: "Winchester's youth is badly handicapped in that they have no suitable place to swim, one of the most essential things boys and girls should learn to do.

"There was a time a few years ago when they could bathe at Mystic Lake; this was prohibited because of the foulness of the water. Only 45 per cent of boys in town can swim, and of this 45 per cent, 99 per cent of this number learned to swim while with their parents at the seashore or in the country. There is no chance for the poor boy or those of moderate means who cannot afford the luxury of a vacation away from Winchester. This matter will come up at the annual town meeting in March, when $3500 will be asked for to build a bath house and prepare the beach at Wedge Pond at the park land given to the Town by the Palmer Estate. This would increase the tax rate only .18 cents on $1,000. The water at this place is of the best. This question has been before the town for some years and it is now hoped that favorable action will be taken and thus give the boys a fighting chance in case of an accident while in the water."

"Winchester residents who are interested in the matter of the pollution of our river are recommended to pay a visit at this time to that section of the town bordering upon Glenwood avenue. This is on the west side of Main street, near the Woburn line. Through this section flows the small stream of historic fame and much controversy known as Russell's Brook. This stream carries off a large portion of the sewage and waste of numerous Woburn tanneries. The extreme cold of the winter has frozen this stream solid, and as the tanneries have continued to dump their sewage into its bed, an interesting state has developed. As long as the brook was between high banks the sewage simply filled up and froze, but as the open ground was reached the filthy waste overflowed the banks and flooded the whole district—streets, sidewalks, grounds and cellars. Its color is a reddish black, and is easily recognized as a familiar mixture which is noticeable in our river at all times. As much as a quarter mile of the street is flooded with this sewage and it is said that most of the houses have their cellars half full of it. To one who looks at the mess the only wonder is that it has not permeated through the whole of the houses. Since the first of the week a gang of men from the Highway Department have been employed here digging out a channel through the ice for this sewage, but the relief has only just begun to be felt by the residents. One look at Glenwood avenue will leave little question in the minds of any as to a chief source of the filthy conditions of our river; it also might appear a fruitful condition for action by our Health Department. We have all heard at various times of Russells Brook; probably few know where it is or what all the past fuss has been about. Now is a good time to find out."

Now, Mr. Editor, I believe your newspaper and its correspondents have always labored for the best interest of the inhabitants of this town. I believe however, that I can point out to you and other loyal residents that Wedge Pond at the present time is not a healthful place to learn to swim, although the writer first learned to swim in that pond. Horn Pond Brook empties into Wedge Pond, the filthy Russell Brook is a tributary that empties into Horn Pond Brook and pollutes the water. In Wedge Pond, in addition to the Russell Brook, the surface drainage water of Lake, Linden, Willow, Palmer and Wildwood streets, and the surface water from Wildwood Cemetery, Palmer, Willow and Wildwood streets deposits filth a few yards from this so-called sandy beach.

I have seen the shores of Wedge Pond and Horn Pond Brook strewn with dead fish, caused, no doubt from that menace, the now historic Russell Brook. The Town of Winchester was the innocent sufferer. They had to gather up the dead fish and bury them. There is nothing that will live in the Russell Brook now but germs; it is an ideal place for them to multiply.

It seems to me that if we use Wedge Pond for a bathing place, after we get through bathing we will have to go home and take a bath and use a scrubbing brush.

We were informed very recently through the colums of the STAR by the Water Board of the deplorable condition that exist on the borders of our reservoir. The reservoir was constructed first and the State playground was made years afterwards; it can thus be determined that the State is the offender. I believe it is the duty of the State to remedy matters that exist at our reservoir and in our ponds, brooks and streams. For a town like Winchester, that prides itself on its health, water, schools and park board, police fire and street departments, and the home of famous men with national reputations, would tolerate any such camouflage, it seems to me that those "silk hat Harrys" who warm the chairs under the gilded dome on Beacon Hill, and who attend the sessions of the Great and General Court would frame a bill that would become law and make it punishable for any offenders who polluted our waterways with poisonous matter to be a guest of the warden at Charlestown State Prison for an infinite period.

I for one, trust that we will not spend $3500 this year to build a bath house. We will most likely have tremendous problems to solve in the near future. We must keep our tax rate down. If we have $3500 to spare, let us loud it to Uncle Sam to build ships or donate it to the Red Cross or help replenish the barren spots with wholesome vegetation and help feed the Allies and ourselves with food and end this terrible catastrophe across the herring pond.

In conclusion I believe it would be a good plan for all the commuter farmers to assemble in some hall in the near future and compare notes to determine whether he or she made a success of their garden last summer. We are not obliged to leave Winchester for instructors; in my opinion we have farmers in this town that will measure up to any farmers in the Country. I said a lot there, but nevertheless I believe every word of it to be a fact.

If you deem it advisable to publish this communication, I assure you, Mr. Editor, that I certainly will be grateful. Perhaps I will have something more to say at the annual town meeting next March in regard to this Bath house. I remain,

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell.

GIRLS WHO DISAPPEAR.

Tragedy of the Thousands That Sink Into Oblivion Yearly.

Police statistics of New York city show that at least two girls disappear from home every day in the year.

They vanish into oblivion. Soon they are forgotten, but the heartbreak of the mother left behind is never stilled. It will ache on through the remaining days of her life.

And what becomes of the girls who disappear?

That is a problem that we will not attempt to solve. We only know that they are swept away by the great whirlpool of life.

The federal statistics furnished by the bureau of vital statistics show that 50000 persons disappear each year. They vanish into oblivion. A greater proportion of these are young girls. The men who disappear turn up sooner or later in most cases, but the girls, as a rule, are forever lost. Having cut away from their social ties, having burned their bridges behind them, these disappearing girls abandon usually all thought or hope of returning and become isolated members of the social colony of which they once were members. They prefer to struggle on as best they can.

It is one of life's tragedies.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

THE BANK OF ENGLAND.

It Is a Private Company, but Acts as the Nation's Banker.

The Bank of England is not, as most people think, a government institution. It is a private company, but reaps a good profit by acting as the nation's banker. The remuneration paid to the Bank of England for the management of the national debt was fixed in 1901 as a yearly sum of the rate of £325 per million pounds and at the rate of £100 for every million pounds above this amount.

Before any of the government money that goes into the Bank of England can be spent a certain procedure has to be followed. First of all an order signed by the king and countersigned by two lords of the treasury has to be forwarded to the comptroller and auditor general of the exchequer and audit department. Then the comptroller hands an order to the treasury authorizing the Bank of England to debit the exchequer account and credit the account of the paymaster general, who makes all payments on behalf of the various departments.

Afterward the comptroller scrutinizes all the accounts paid to see that the money has been spent in accordance with the wishes of parliament.—Westminster Gazette.

Training Naval Gunners.

When England trains her gunners for the sea she sends them to Whale Island in Portsmouth harbor. Here the entire Island is given over to steel sheds which are built like gun turrets on a battleship. The great guns projecting from these sheds are dummies, though they are exact counterparts of those on a battleship. The prospective officers and men are made to go through the exercise of range finding, loading, aiming and "firing" these guns as riddly as if they were fu a real battle at sea. The heavy steel projectiles are hailed from the magazine by hydraulic and electric cranes, just as in an actual ship. A real breech mechanism locks the projectile and its powder charge in the gun, while an intricate swivel mounting of steel swings the gun into the firing position. —Popular Science Monthly.

Remarkable Luck.

In Gold Hill, Nevada, in 1877, one of the mining bosses—Tode by name—had trouble with some of the laborers in his mine. One night three of them attacked him in a barroom. Two of them pinned him down, while a third stood over him with a revolver. The muzzle almost touched his stomach. Once, twice, thrice, a fourth and a fifth time the weapon snapped. Tode closed his eyes. Each moment he expected to be his last. The disgusted ruffian threw his disappointing weapon on the floor with an oath and, joined by his aids, left the place. Tode wiped the cold sweat from his brow, mechanically picked up the discarded weapon, went to the door and fired off every charge, remarking that it was just his luck.

How He Cleared Himself.

While passing along a busy street in Dublin a lady was relieved of her hand bag, and Sandy was arrested on suspicion of having snatched it. He was placed among a group of men, and the lady was asked to single out the culprit. She passed down the line till she came to Sandy.

"Officer," she said, "I think that is the man, although I did not see his face, but his clothes appear to be similar."

"The lady's wrong, sir. I was wearing a different suit. Can I go now, sir?" said Sandy.

Very Formal.

"Are you on very friendly terms with your neighbor in the apartments?"

"Well, no. She's rather formal—always sends her card when she wishes to borrow flour, and if she wants both flour and sugar she sends two cards."—Washington Herald.

Stunning.

"Oh, Effie, your new gown and hat are stunning!"

"Yes. Alfred hasn't recovered yet from the shock the bill gave him."—Exchange.

A Good Rule.

Do all the good you can to all the people you can as long as ever you can in every place you can.

Our deeds determine us as much as we determine our deeds.—George Eliot.

ARGUMENTS FOR THE $10 BONUS.

The following is published by the request of a reader of the STAR:
To Editor of Herald and Journal:

I mail every week to my boy, "somewhere in France," copies of the Herald and Journal. I shall not send him your issue of Jan. 26, containing the editorial headed, "The $10 Bonus." I do not think it would hearten him. The tone is harsh and unfeeling and the premise on which you build your argument is fallacious, falling apart, up on analysis, in utter confusion. Carried to its logical conclusion, it means reducing the pay of our soldiers to the level of other countries, thus avoiding "invidious discrictions." If, as you say, "the soldier has small use for money," why does the government maintain canteens and post exchanges for the sale of tobacco, sweets, etc? The soldier is compelled to allot one-half his pay for dependents at home; deduct from his other half his insurance premium, and how much remains? Has he "too much money?" Strange we didn't hear this "sacrificial life" argument when the boys were urged to enlist and told the old Bay State would gladly give them $10 per month in addition to the government pay! They made their financial arrangements accordingly; they secured their insurance policies, bought Liberty bonds to be paid for month by month, all with the understanding that the $10 per month bonus was to be theirs while in service. No one told them there was a little joker in this offer. No one suggested that when they were "3000 miles away" the mother state would break faith with them. One of my boys writes that when his company paraded through a certain city they "sang and cheered for old Massachusetts." Do we desire to so act that those cheers will be changed to jeers?

You dogmatically assert that "officers of the army do not want the soldiers to have this money;" and yet you know, or ought to know, that the act authorizing this bonus expressly provides that it shall be paid "upon the termination of the service," or, if the soldier or sailor so desires, it shall be paid monthly to "minor children, parents or dependents." Isn't that doing just what you say Gen. Pershing advises, "holding back a part of the compensation?" How much has been allotted to dependents and how much is held for payment at the end of the war, I presume Treasurer Barrell can state.

In any event none of this money can cross the seas for use in "riotous living." So your whole argument, braced on the assumption that the American soldier will foolishly spend his compensation, totters and crumbles.

I am sure this bonus prevents the filing of many claims for dependency aid. It goes to those who would dislike very much to put in such claims, but who are, none the less, entitled to them. I have two boys in the service—all I have. One is "overseas," a volunteer; the other is in a southern cantonment, among those called in the selective draft. One is as loyal, as deserving, as patriotic as the other. The only difference I can see, as touching the question under discussion, is that in one case the promise was made, in the other it was not. Promise it was, for not one man in a hundred who volunteered knew or was told that there was any string to the bonus offer. No one told the boys that it was a bait concealing the hook of ingratitude. The time to have stopped the bonus, if stopped it ought to be, was before it was offered. "There is that which scattereth and maketh rich and there is that which withholdeth more than is meet, that tendeth to poverty."

As you said in your biblical editorial "shrinking back"—breaking one's pledged word—"is unto perdition." How can we better "have faith unto the gaining of the soul" than by saying to the defenders of democracy, "We are with you unto the end; as our promise was, so will be our action."

The "rare courage" is not displayed by those who would have the dear old commonwealth falter in well doing, but by the boys who face the whistling bullets on the land or dodge the German adders on the sea. You belittle (unintentionally no doubt) the fathers and mothers and wives of these brave boys when you refer to the bonus as "a proposal that tickles the ears of the beneficiaries." Did the beneficiaries ask for the enactment of this law? It's a before the fact, before enlistment, offer. The "tickling" came before enlistment, not after. Remember that. Beneficiaries indeed! To my mind the wives and parents of men in the service are not beneficiaries, they are benefactors. The State is the beneficiary. The honor of the commonwealth is involved in this question. Can we as a State afford to break our pledged word? Since when has Massachusetts been afraid to do more for her sons than other States do for theirs? Can we afford to economize at the expense of honor? Can we afford to dishearten and discourage the men in the service? Swivel-chair theories may be well enough in times of peace, but are mighty nauseating in these stressful hours. When the boys come home, as God grant they may, be it the State's proud claim that every promise, express or implied, has been kept; her honor, as theirs also, untarnished by specious evasion of bounden duty.

For the first time in the history of Lynn, and so far as known locally, the first time in the State, a woman has been named as an arbitrator of a labor trouble. Dr. Howard J. Chidley attributes the war to spiritual issues. It is possibly the first time that the question of spiritual issue has been brought out in connection with the start of the war. The theological contentions of the doctor may be entirely correct. At the same time it will be hard to convince "Uncle Eph" that pure German cussedness didn't bring about the first blow.—[Editorial Durham (N. C.) Sun.

"Those whose influence was back of the shipworkers' strike were looking to results and not to motives; what they wanted was that the construction of ships necessary to the allied cause should be checked or stopped; what they most desired, no doubt, was that the strike in a few shipyards should spread into all, and that disorder and riot might during a critical period, paralyze the entire industry."—[Christian Science Monitor.

THE FORTNIGHTLY.

As many inquiries have been made as to the identity of Dr. Wirt, who spoke at the Fortnightly meeting on Monday last, this extract from the Congregationalist may prove to be informing:

Dr. Wirt Going to the Front

The Government has commissioned ten publicists and lecturers to study the activities of the American Red Cross in Europe and report directly to the American people what is being accomplished for the well-being of our own soldiers overseas, the soldiers of our allies and the civil population in France, Italy, Serbia and possibly Palestine and Syria. Rev. Loyal Lincoln Wirt has been invited to become a member of this mission which was expected to sail about Feb. 11.

The Wellesley Hills (Mass.) church, of which Dr. Wirt is a member, has taken much interest in the matter. One member has presented him with a hundred-dollar camera. The Men's class, at the suggestion of its leader, Attorney George A. Sweetser, has given him a stereopticon to take to his friend, Rev. Robert Newlands, a Y. M. C. A. Secretary in Flanders. The ladies of the church have "knitted him up" exceedingly.

He has two sons in khaki, Benton, the eldest, a Lieutenant in the 17th Infantry at Fort Oglethorpe, Williston, in the Officers' Reserve Corps at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Dr. Wirt has promised the Congregationalist and Advance a series of articles from the front.

Fortnightly Notes

The entertainment of the next meeting of the Club will be given entirely by the members, under the auspices of the Dramatic Committee, and the selections will all be of a patriotic nature. It will be a pleasure to hear Miss Barrand Miss Annette Seymour sing. Miss Brickley and Miss Elton will also. Miss Clevenger has written a little patriotic sketch entitled "The Girls I'll Be Rubbing me," the visions of a sentry on duty, with seventeen boys impersonated, composed of Mrs. Gilpatrick, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Abbott and Mrs. Simonds. Mrs. Dorr will play and the program promises to give pleasure in abundance. The committee hope that all those having relatives in the service will wear little flags or patriotic emblems.

MIXED BOWLING TOURNAMENT.

Teams Now Entering Last Lap in Series.

But one series was bowled at the Calumet Club over the week-end, that taking six of the 15 teams in the mixed tournament. Team 6, the leaders, held their position by a two in three win from 12, the latter team making a great spurt in its second string. Team 1 got two from 9, and team 13 won all three from 10, which places it up a bit in the standing. Individual work ran high, a number of excellent scores being topped by the work of Marshall Berry, who rolled a single string of 165 and topped this with another of 121, giving him a total of 286, the best figures ever made in a two string mixed tournament. Mrs. Simonds led the ladies' list with a total of 176 on a single of 92. Mrs. Maddison took high single honors with an even 100. Other scores were Mrs. Berry's 173 with 93, Mrs. Maddison's total of 173, Mrs. Bowe 162 with 86, Mrs. Stephenson 83 and Mrs. Crafts 80. Mr. Stephenson rolled an excellent string, making 228 for a total with a single of 128. Mr. Pitman rolled 106 and Mr. Tutein 101.

Dorr's Rebellion.

Dorr's rebellion was raised many years ago by Thomas W. Dorr, a lawyer of Providence, R. I. An early constitution of Rhode Island allowed a property qualification to the right of suffrage. In 1841, Dorr was elected governor on a free suffrage platform and attempted to seize the state government by force. The attempt ended in his flight, his subsequent arrest and trial and conviction for treason. He was sentenced to imprisonment for life but after a few years' imprisonment was pardoned in 1847. He lived to see R. I. adopt a more liberal Constitution than the one he had fought against, and died in 1854.

THE COAL SITUATION

has brought more people than ever to a realization of the economy and convenience of gas for cooking and water heating purposes.

Thousands of families are planning to do away with coal in the kitchen and laundry—this spring.

More gas ranges, water heaters and laundry stoves will be bought this year than ever.

War conditions have resulted in advanced prices—a curtailed production and made factory deliveries uncertain if not impossible.

We beg to call our consumers' attention to the advantage of buying from our present stock at present prices.

NOW—is not too early to select your new gas equipment and have it reserved until wanted.

May we not help you in making your selection?

LETTER FROM CHAPLAIN DEWART.

The other regiments are mostly in new barracks—generally wooden Adrians. They are now building terra-cotta barracks for troops yet to come—as if they expected the war to last for 50 or 60 years more. I can't tell you how many troops are here in camp—but there are a good many. Chaplain Mark Stackpole, of Andover, is here. He is a fine man and a splendid chaplain. There is another Episcopal clergyman from Illinois, also a particularly fine and able chaplain. I think I was the means of getting Norman Nash of Cambridge, appointed chaplain of an Indiana regiment here. There are a couple of Catholic priests here—chaplains—particularly friendly and companionable. The chaplains all are in charge of the regimental censor stamp and have charge of ingoing and outgoing mails. They also (with three skilled men under them) are in charge of the statistical department—keeping all vital statistics, muster rolls, etc.,—a very fussy job; also they are amusement and athletic officers, but on this there has been practically nothing to be done since we came to France. The men have been so heavily worked there hasn't been a minute for anything in athletics and there has been no place inside for anything at night.

Sunday services have been particularly well and earnestly attended steadily since coming to France. About a dozen men have handed in their names for confirmation as a result of my announcing once that possibly I could persuade a bishop to come out here before we went to the front. The rest of the chaplain's work consists in visiting men in the hospital and encouraging the men to come to see him in his room. The men come very gratifyingly and it is very interesting to me. To my mind, the most important thing a chaplain can do for a regiment is to make the men sure that the chaplain really and truly is a good friend of theirs who will gladly inconvenience himself to do anything for them. I really think the men believe that of their chaplain.

No such immorality prevails among these men as I hear of constantly at the front. It may be too early to be elated, but I'll bank upon these men going through to the end a pretty clean, game, fine lot. With opportunity for drunkenness and immorality everywhere, I know the pressure what I say when I say there is hardly anything of either in this regiment.

I just had 2000 "Letters to a Soldier" reprinted from the Talbot Home Journal which seemed to me to be a remarkably fine thing for the men to read, but Massachusetts was so swell with pride over the record so far of that regiment.

Is it worth while for the parish of the Epiphany to let its rector come over here for this work? Of course, I don't mean to intimate that he is in any degree responsible for the splendid moral tone in the regiment, because in absolute honesty I am not. I am doing what I can but there is not the slightest doubt that plenty of men can easily say and are making sacrifices to give him his chance. It makes me appreciate, all the more, the loyalty and generosity and friendship which collectively and individually you have shown me.

I am still hoping that my absence will not try your patience too long. It is an indescribable comfort to hear steadily how well everything is going at the Epiphany. I know what extra work and sacrifice on the part of so many of you that means.

From what I read over here, it seems that all America is awake with a new spirit of idealism. We are just beginning to see what a stupendously ghastly thing this war is but, with all its cost of horrors, we also are beginning to see that out of it may come a purified and ennobled America. It may mean a world with less selfishness, with a finer vision of life's great values and with an increased sense of responsibility before God. Certainly this is what we ought to be having drubbed into us and it seems to me that all over the world there are evidences that the race is learning its lesson. It is inconceivable that ever again our generation will become almost wholly engrossed with little, petty considerations of our own comforts and prosperity. God is making us think about bigger and finer things now. All over the world men and women are forgetting all about themselves today and are giving their all gladly. Never in the history of the race was there anything like the great spirit of idealism which today is sweeping us all along in its train. It is something tremendous to be alive at a time when mankind has touched its highest. The race never can sink back again to quite the old level. We can all be pretty damn brave and glad of the chance to see what we are capable of. With all the horrors of war, I see more chance than ever before to work with God who loves all humanity and yearns over it. As individuals as a race, if we can get that realization down in our souls is there any price too big to pay for it?

God bless you all.

Your friend and rector,
Murray W. Dewart
(The Epiphany Messenger)

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

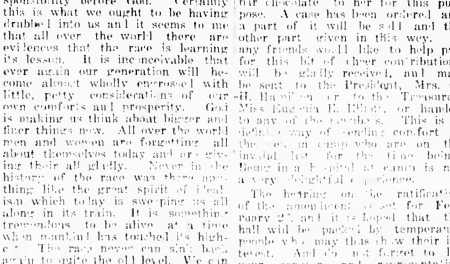

A large box of surgical dressings was sent from the local union last week, the amount of which is due to the care of those who have given at the all day meeting and at other times. The need is still so great that more material and more workers are needed.

The members of Winchester have generously provided three scrap-books to place envelopes for the benefit of the White Ribbon Home at Ayer in them and the results reported so far have been gratifying. The Home is now greatly enlarged, with the dormitory for women full to overflowing every week and the rooms usually well filled with boys in Thaki who enjoy the home-y atmosphere. In this connection it may be well to say that more games could be used in the game room which is always attractive to callers.

Mrs. Eldridge, the house mother, makes frequent visits to the base hospital and has found that the boys are especially glad to have a little candy or other delicacy, especially chocolate, so the Winchester Union is planning to send a supply of the bar chocolate to her for this purpose. A case has been ordered and a part of it will be sold and the other part given in this way. If any friends would like to help pay for this bit of cheer contributions will be gladly received, and may be sent to the President, Mrs. G. H. Blodgett, or to the Treasurer, Miss Eugenia B. Pfaff, or handed to any of the members. This is a definite way of sending comfort to the men in camp who are on the firing line for the time being. Some man in need at camp is not a very forgetful person.

The hearing on the ratification of the amendment is set for February 27, and it is hoped that the hall will be packed by temperance people who may thus show their interest. And do not forget to let your senator and representative know that you are supporting them in their stand for the right on this question.

UNCLE SAM'S FIRST FUEL CONSERVATION SIGN

Dying Villages.

But is it so in America? Is there a village that must be the victim of our civilization, a civilization that perpetually overreaches itself, only to be obliged to surrender again and again to nature everything it has gained. How many thousands of villages forbidden, full of morbid, bloodless decrepitude, villages that have lost if they ever possessed, the secret of self-preservation. Be scattered across the continent! Even in California I use it to find them on long cross-country walks, villages often enough not half a century old. But in a state of essential decay. Come address the traveler into being on the road to extinction enterprise so rapidly we can't say they all signify some lost genius of mankind, a kind that has left humanity high and dry; like the mental fossils in an old painting where the colors, mostly mixed and of perishable quality, have evaporated with the passage of Arts.

THE HEROES IN THE REAR.

The papers sing the praises of the heroes at the front;
Every day you'll read a yarn about a great heroic stunt.
Now I know that they deserve it, but there's one thing that I fear;
They're forgetting all about the poor old heroes at the rear!

There's a shortage here on sugar and we're mighty shy on grease,
And they're passing out the coal throughout the country by the piece;
And the dish that we depended on,
our good old Boston beans,
Can be enjoyed now only by a person who has means.

The soap is getting scarcer as we're running out of fats;
To supply it in the future, they may capture dogs and cats;
And to save the corn and barley,
they are cutting out the booze,
Oh! I tell you mates, it's dreadful,
it's an awful piece of news.

The ladies aren't escaping,—No, the naughty little flirts,
They are lopping off their shoe tops, and they're shortening their skirts;
If they bring them up much higher,
they'll be soon above their knees,
They'll have nothing to protect them from the busy little bees.

Now even in the doughnuts they are making larger holes,
In the restaurants they've taken in the good old sugar bowls.
They are shutting off electric signs to try and save some light,
And they're going to close the movies now at ten o'clock at night.

Cigars are now taxed higher and the poor down-trodden blokes
Will have to dig much deeper to enjoy their little smokes.
The beer glass now is smaller, and they fill it up with foam,
Oh! I tell you mates, it's fearful, it's enough to turn your dome.

For dogs to be alone upon the street
it won't be safe;
If fodder gets much scarcer, they are apt to get a "strafe";
When folks are hungry, one can never tell what they will do,
So I'd keep the doggie in the house, that up if I were you.

If things go on much longer, and H.
Hoover has his way,
We will have to live out in the barn, and I steal the poor cow's hay;
The heroes all are not at war, I think you will agree,
For anyone who lives through this, a hero brave must be!

The above is a correct version of the verse recently published in a Boston paper.

O. B. Merry.

HERE'S A FISH STORY.

Editor "The American Press:"

Dear Sir—As a publisher wishing to serve my country, I would like to protest against the continuous contradiction of the government's position as found in requests sent to the people through the press from the various departments in Washington. Frankly I am puzzled. I don't know what course to adopt. I am not criticising. I am seeking the light. Mr. Hoover tells us we must conserve food. I believe a great deal of harm has come of this continued talk about conservation when seemingly what has been asked of us is substitution of one food for another. But that is neither here nor there. I now find before me a circular sent out by the department of commerce, Bureau of Fisheries, a thing on "Why We Should Eat Oysters." The circular says it is our duty to eat oysters; that they are appetizing, digestible, wholesome, delicious, and that the department is ready to send a cook book to tell us how to prepare them.

Now, all of this may be quite true. Again, I do not know. But I do know that many of our best known food experts have told us time and again that the nutritive quality of the oyster is practically nil, and if we are to be sensible in our consumption of foods surely the government should not begin boosting as food something which is ninety-nine-hundredths water.

Last week I happened to be called to New York on business, and when at lunch, thinking of this government circular I looked at the oyster section of the menu. I found oysters on the shell cost 60 cents and that there were only six to a portion. This is 10 cents apiece. Now, no healthy man could make a meal of six oysters, yet many a healthy man can make a very good meal with an expenditure much less than 60 cents.

What am I to tell my readers to do? Am I to write to Mr. Hoover and say "Bunk!" when he sends me a plea asking me to spread the gospel of food saving, or am I to write the United States Bureau of Fisheries and say "Bunk!" when they tell me to induce the people to eat oysters? It looks as if every government department had its own little fad and was trying to press-agent its own pet ideas regardless of the welfare of the country as a whole. Certainly the situation is puzzling to the men who want to help.

NEW ENGLAND'S GIFT TO OLD ENGLAND.

To friends of Mr. Derby Weston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell M. Weston, 48 Fletcher street, who left Yale College early in June, 1917, to join the New England Saw Mill Unit, having been with them in Sir Charles Ross's estate in Ardgay, Scotland, ever since, the following will be of interest:

The following letter written by Geo. M. Shea to the Middlbury, (Vt) Register, his home town, will without doubt be of great interest to the readers of the News as Mr. Shea made many friends in this section while connected with the Connecticut Valley Lumber Company:

In Skibo forest, owned by Andrew Carnegie, in the Highlands of Scotland, some Vermont sawmill equipment and Yankee lumbermen are doing their bit to win the war. It will be remembered how, early last summer, it was proposed that New England should aid Old England by running ten portable sawmill units and shipping them to Great Britain to relieve the shortage of timber that handicapped the British war preparation. George M. Shea, son of Mrs. E. M. Shea, of High Street Middlebury, who will be remembered by many friends here, is one of the men who went to Scotland with the sawmill equipment last June, and The Register is now in receipt of an interesting report from Mr. Shea of the work the American lumbermen are doing in the Scottish highlands.

Mr. Shea first tells how the mill units, fully equipped with sufficient men, horses, tools and machinery, were assembled in record time last May by the instigation of the Public Safety Committee of Massachusetts, when it was learned that England was experiencing difficulty in securing sufficient timber for her forces in France, owing to the lack of skilled lumbermen, and equipment. Each New England state contributed $12,000 and the balance of the funds was subscribed by the different lumber interests, many of the men interested laying aside their private business entirely and giving their full time to details of the organization.

"How well the work was done," writes Shea, "was indicated by the fact that when the equipment arrived we found that not a single thing was missing to prevent us starting operations immediately. It also shows much credit to American efficiency that in less than one month from the first meeting to consider the proposition in this country, we were ready to embark.

"The ship on which we left an Atlantic port was one of the largest vessels afloat, about 500 feet long and of 25,000 ton capacity. We arrived first at a Canadian port for troops and reached Great Britian on the 4th of July, after a pleasant and uneventful trip. There were stories in America of submarines, but this is an error and hardly fair to the Captain and crew who piloted 6,000 of us safely across. We were under cruiser convoy all the way, and the second night before our arrival we were met by five destroyers. Whatever fear we previously had, vanished when the destroyers came in sight. The very night we got ashore we left by special train for Ardgay, Scotland. We passed through many pretty places in England. The villages were clean and the rural districts displayed an atmosphere of prosperity and comfort.

"The houses were all built of stone, surrounded by either stone walls or hedges, with shade trees and flowers in front. The fields were noticably free from rock or stone and appeared to be in a high state of cultivation.

"Ardgay is a small town in the Highlands of Scotland, about 400 miles from Liverpool. It is on the west shore of Dornoch Firth, Bonar-Bridge being on the opposite side. Both these are about ten miles back from the North Sea and are typical Highland villages. They are surrounded by many large estates. The latter are divided and inhabited by peasant small farmers of whose chief occupation is sheep raising, farming, goose keeping and some fishing. They take great pride in their sheep dogs. It is a very interesting sight on market day to see the intelligence displayed by the dogs in handling their flocks.

"The farms in this district are as a whole not so well adapted to agriculture, as in England, the soil being very poor. They raise enough of the hardy vegetables for home consumption, but little is shipped. Fruit is not raised here except under glass. It is very expensive. Apples at present are selling for a shilling a pound. (A shilling is 25 cents.)

"There is a large amount of waste land in the hills which is covered with white and purple heather and bluebells. These are rivals to the thistle as the national flower. The heather is in full bloom in the fall, and presents a beautiful appearance on the hills.

"A great revival of timber planting is contemplated after the war to utilize these waste lands. The houses here, as well as in the parts of England that we passed through, are all of stone; not a wooden house to be seen. Each house has a fire place, where all the family cooking is done. Some of the better houses and hotels have a range in the kitchen and a fire place in each room, but no furnace. They burn either wood or peat. The style of architecture is different from ours, and the buildings present a rather quaint appearance.

"In the summer months the days are very long; not dark until midnight and light again at two o'clock in the morning. The winters are the reverse, with long nights and short days, 80 degrees above in summer regarded as a very hot day. It was amusing to hear the people tell how hot it was last summer when we thought it was cool and comfortable. In the winter zero weather is very rare; and there is little snow, not enough for sleighing. There is an abundance of rain. On the whole, the climate is much damper here than in New England.

"The railway in the Highlands is rather antique. The trains make very good time while running, but much delay is caused by extra long stops at stations. The cars are much different from ours. Each car is divided into compartments, entrance being on the side. One car has no connection with the other, and one does not see the conductor or train crew at all. Tickets are collected as you leave the train at your destination. When a train enters a station, it is under the full charge of the station Agent.

"Foresty here are not as we are accustomed to seeing them in America, and are in no way primeval, but rather the growth from reforestation. The two lots upon which we are operating; namely, the Strathcarron on the Carron, and the Skibo Forest on the Bonar-Bridge side of the Firth, are owned by Sir Charles Ross and Andrew Carnegie, respectively. The Strathcarron lot has an estimate of 19,000,000 board feet, while Skibo has 6,000,000. The species found here are Scots Pine, Larch and Spruce. The Larch is similar to our Tamarack. The trees at Strathcarron show about 80 years, and at Skibo they show near 100 years of age.

"Logging is also differently operated here, particularly is this true regarding stumps. The Government requires us to cut the trees well down to the roots, whereas at home we cut to the swell of the root. This makes the operating expense higher, but this is offset by high price received for lumber.

"Our men are divided into Units. Each Unit has its foreman, bookkeeper, and cook; its seperate cookhouse and camps. Accounts are kept by each Unit to show the cost of logging, manufacturing, overhead expenses, cost of lumbering on sticks in the yard, cost of feeding the men per meal, cost per horse feed, number of board feet logged, number of board feet manufactured, and cost of each per 1000 feet for comparison. These accounts are at all times in accord with the accounts in the General Office. Statements are prepared at the end of each month and passed to the foreman of the units. This has the desired effect of stimulating production and lowering the cost.

"The American Y. M. C. A. has a branch here for the benifit of the Units; it furnishes books, magazines and papers; and sells light lunches, tobacco, cigarettes and sodas.

"The Government has established a hospital with a competent physician and nurses in charge. The men are well looked after and have adapted themselves well to local conditions.

"The staff is located at the Balnacown Arms Hotel. Mr. McLeod, the proprietor, is a typical Scotchman, and he runs a very good house. Previous to the war his hotel was patronized chiefly by hunting and fishing parties.

"All our men are from the New England States and are doing their share to uphold its traditions, and to be a credit to the organization which was fittingly called New England's gift to Old England.

"The output of our production is mostly squared-edged railroad ties, stringers for trenches, box boards for munition plants, and seantling plank for trench floors and braces.

Yours very truly,
Geo. M. Shea.

HOW TO FIGURE YOUR FEDERAL INCOME TAX

Single Persons of $1000 Income, Families With $2000, Must File Returns by March 1

The Federal income tax reaches this year the incomes of the masses. Income as low as $1000 earned by mechanics, farmers, small merchants, clerks, is this year within the scope of the law.

In round figures, every unmarried man who earned $20 a week for 1917, and every married man who earned $38.50 a week, is affected by the provisions of the new law.

There are two Federal income tax laws in force covering 1917 income:

(1) The Act of Sept. 8, 1916, which applies to incomes exceeding $3000 and $4000.

(2) The Act of Oct. 3, 1917, levies a War Income Tax in addition to the old law, and it is this new law which reaches down into the purses of the average man and woman of New England.

The information which follows is drawn up to show the requirements of the "War Income Tax," which is so far-reaching in New England:—

THE WAR INCOME TAX IN BRIEF.

WHAT

A tax on net incomes for the year 1917 of citizens and residents of the United States. Rates of tax: normal at 2%; supertax on all net income exceeding $5000 at graduated rates of 1% to 50%.

WHO

Every citizen or resident, male or female, who IF UNMARRIED received net income of $1000 or more during 1917; or who, IF MARRIED and living with wife (or husband) received net income of $2000 or more during 1917, must file a sworn schedule or "return" of such net income. Such person must pay the tax if the net income thus reported exceeds the personal exemption allowable by law, as follows:

IF UNMARRIED or WIDOWED; or IF MARRIED AND LIVING APART FROM WIFE (or husband) the exemption is $1000. He or she may claim $2000 exemption if actually supporting one or more persons entirely dependent and related by blood, marriage, or adoption, thus fulfilling a moral or legal obligation.

IF MARRIED AND LIVING WITH WIFE (or husband) the personal exemption is $2000, plus $200 for each dependent child, if under 18 years of age, or if incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective.

WHEN

The returns for 1917 must be filed on or before March 1st, 1918. Payment of tax due for 1917 may be made when return is filed or on or before June 15, 1918, which is the due date prescribed by law.

WHERE

Residents of MASSACHUSETTS must file returns with John F. Malley, Collector of Internal Revenue, Boston, Mass., or any of his deputies authorized to receive same.

HOW TO FIGURE YOUR NET INCOME, which is the basis of Federal Income Tax:

1. Compute the total of all gains profits, and income from
SALARY, WAGES, COMMISSIONS, BONUS;
BUSINESS or PROFESSIONAL RECEIPTS;
INTEREST and DIVIDENDS from INVESTMENTS;
GAINS from SALE of PROPERTY, REAL and PERSONAL;
RENTS and ROYALTIES;
INCOME from FIDUCIARIES (Administrators, trustees, etc.);
PARTNERSHIP PROFITS (whether distributed or not);
INTEREST on BANK DEPOSITS, NOTES and MORTGAGES; and OTHER SOURCES.
(Omit—Salary or wages from state, county, city or town; interest on city, state, or United States bonds*; gifts or bequests not in recognition of your services; life insurance received as beneficiary, or as premiums paid back at maturity or surrender of policy.)
2. Compute the total of your allowable deductions under these items:
NECESSARY BUSINESS EXPENSES.
INTEREST PAID on personal indebtedness;
TAXES PAID (not including Federal Income Tax, or assessments for local improvements);
LOSSES SUSTAINED in business, or through fire, storm, shipwreck, or theft (except when compensated by insurance or otherwise);
WEAR AND TEAR of property rented or used in business (formula: divide cost by number of years expected life of property);
BAD DEBTS of BUSINESS or PROFESSION, actually charged off within the year, if these debts were shown as income on a Federal Income Tax return;
CONTRIBUTIONS to charitable, religious, educational organizations, etc. (to an amount not exceeding 15% of year's net income).

*Interest on Liberty Fours that you may own in excess of $5000 par value is income subject to surtax.

3. The NET INCOME is the amount by which the Gross Income exceeds the Allowable Deductions, as computed by above schedules.

MOTHER GOOSE MELODY, No. 8

There was a jolly miller—lived on the river Dee

(This is the river with wavelets, for it was a windy day.)

He looked upon a pillow, and there he saw a flea.

("Mercy," say you—What are these?" Well, here are the directions. Take one of the pellets on pills and exclaim O! and you have it.)

"O, Mr. Flea, you have bitten me and you must die."

(Meaning the electric chair intended for the flea and waits for the real witnesses, but the miller took the law into his own hands.)

So he cracked his bones against the stones,
And there he let him lie.

(These are bones, not shoes. First bone, eighth; second, vertabrae; third, ankle; next legs, feet, the stingers).

Now if the jolly miller—upon the river Dee
Had learned to send his pillow slips
To our steam launderee
No need would be for gnat or flea
For sanitary we
Do pasteurize all articles
So fine and carefullee

Truly a most comfortable assurance for the housewife. We thank you.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS.

Winchester Boys Write of Interesting Events in War Zone and Elsewhere.

From H. Arthur Stevenson.
Somewhere in France.
Dec. 15, 1917.

Dear Sister,—

I received a package of newspapers today and I presume that they are from home. I wish you would all write more often. I don't hear from anyone at all, except for two or three letters a month. Are they all dead over there or what is the trouble? I know some of them have written, maybe I will get them any time from now on. I can't write very much myself, as paper and time is scarce over here. We drill pretty near ten hours a day.

I am taking out a government insurance on myself for ten thousand. I have also bought two new Liberty Bonds. The old ones I bought before I left were of no use to me as there was nothing paid on them. These last ought to be delivered to you in about 10 months from now. When you write again be sure and send me some writing paper if nothing else, for we have to depend on the Y. M. C. A. for what we get and of course that isn't a great deal when there are so many here. I saw Bob Kronquist about 2 weeks ago, haven't seen him lately, but I guess he is still alive. I also met Mullen a short time ago. His father owned the lunch room in the centre. The boys will know him if you don't. I am not allowed to tell what outfit he is with tho.

You would be surprised to see what a country this is. All the mordern cities are separated by 100 miles. You can ride about 10 miles on a steam train for about 2 cents but there are no electric cars at all except in very big cities. I read in the papers that they were having Liberty Loan rallies over in the States. They are already over here. It is news to us over here. If they only would do something to avoid the scarcity as up again it they wouldn't be so bad and in such things as that. If the enemy were over there instead of here they would be only too glad to buy bonds to chase them out again if that was all they had to do. Just remember that every bond bought might shorten the war a few minutes and in this war the minutes count.

There isn't much more I can tell you but there is lots I would like to tell if it wasn't for the spy dancer and the censor. You know the government has a splendid spy system and they are always waiting to get knowledge from the letters and talk of the soldiers. It is one of the hardest things going to write a letter over here. I have such things as they come to me as I can't concentrate my mind on what I want to say. An idea comes to me I just write it down whether it follows or not. I received some letters the other day and there was only a few lines in each of them, the same as the others I have been getting. When you write, be sure and write a good long letter, no matter what you put in it, a few interesting clippings from the newspapers or magazines would be right. Tell what the kids are doing, what the people on our street are doing, as all such things are interesting over here. These are only a few suggestions and I know it may be tiresome writing to you but it is what I would like. I know you have probably written more letters than I have received so far.

This is about all I have to say now except that I am feeling fine and hope all at home are the same. I have written a lot of letters and I would like to know if they have ever received, so tell Earl to ask those whose names I have written below if they ever got my letters. This is about all I can write so I will close for this time. Write soon and often. From your loving brother,

Letter From Kneeland.

S. S. U. 26, Convois Auto
Par. B. C. M., Paris,
November 14, 1917.

Dearest Mother:—

Since our arrival in this sector I have been kept so busy that little time has presented itself for letter writing.

By the heading of this letter you may be inclined to believe I am indulging in a joyous permission but such is not the case. We have had a shortage of men in the section ever since 26 were taken over, and when our chef was called to go to government training school it was decided no men could be spared from the section. I am not so happy, for the weather has not been severe and no doubt there will be times when I will wish for a permission far more than for the first of November.

Your check for 75 francs arrived in our first mail here, which came after a wait of six days, and I am hastening to endorse it to send it back to Paris that it may be put to my credit. No doubt you think I am using these amounts for dainties, luxuries, etc., but let me inform you that at the present rate the U. S. is equipping the army over here we will not receive our uniforms and all the other paraphenalia which we should have, hence you can see that one must have gloves, underwear, a new uniform (for the other is fading off) and things all too numerous to mention. When driving gloves cost at the rate of $7.50 per pair these luxuries but a necessity you can imagine where the money goes. You understand I think the government is so occupied, clothing the draft army and preparing the many to come over here that it forget or rather puts in the back ground, those who have been re-united here, taking for granted they have enough equipment to serve at least three or six months longer.

Today I took the fatal step and ordered an ambulance uniform in town, which will be made within two weeks at a cost of about $10, while yesterday I made a fine investment and bought a fur coat of goat hair, wool lined, which one of the boys was disposing of because he was getting another and a leather suit.

I am at present located in the dining room in the lower room of the barn where we are cantoned, writing in the same coat and perfectly happy and warm. Last week two new fellows were sent out from Paris to join our section to replace those who have entered other service. Last night one of the boys was giving me his impressions of the war and services before he arrived and his questions gave me an inspiration to answer a few of the questions which must remain unanswered in your mind as well as many others, which is only natural.

You may know that it is never warm here even in midsummer for the nights are always cool. They are more than that now, for the dampness in the air which is always with one, penetrates the very marrow of one's bones hence you can perhaps imagine why fur coats are a necessity and sleeping in our clothing essential.

In midwinter there is never much snow for the dampness causes it to melt as fast as it falls, while at times the fog is so dense it is impossible to see one's hand before the face. Of course it varies some in different sections, but a very little. One hears much of the mud in this country but is inclined to believe it is muddy one day a week while the next week is dry, but I reiterate what I have previously said: such has not been the case since we have been here. A rain coat and boots are the great necessity. Where one is continually walking in the mud heavy "poilu" shoes are the things and all must be bought. I know you will say: "Can't Uncle Sam take care of his army?" Yes, I hope so, but at present he has a mighty big proposition before him—one which he forgot to figure out several months and years ago.

Every day there are wounded to be carried, there are new soldiers to go into the trenches, old ones to come out for a rest, supplies and the thousands of things to be thought of, to say nothing of the many new problems. I don't know whether I have said anything or not for there is such a rumpus going on up above, where the boys are sitting talking about the future, that it is hard to collect one's thoughts but maybe you have gained a thought of what I am trying to give.

We are now in a sector which has seen but little of the devastations which accompanies war and some fifteen kilos away is located a wonderfully picturesque town, although every town is filled with pictures and romance. We have been here nearly ten days, and one week of that time I have been driving the staff car for the chef. It is a most interesting job and one which is envied by many, for we make a trip somewhere nearly every day. Why I should be chosen I know not, for there are many who are far better drivers than I, but I surmise it is due to the fact that I can write and converse many times when we are driving with officers, which is often, for the lieutenant seems to like my singing much, strange to say. Today we went into town where I spent part of the afternoon in entertaining and rest rooms conducted by American women for the poilus and others. For it is a great novelty and delight to be able to talk with real Americans.

Miss Church, the daughter of Fred Church, the famous artist who painted the world famous "Niagara Falls" and the "Grand Canyon," is a most delightful woman and promised to write you a note soon.

I received this morning articles from the N. Y. Sun which were published in October, and also some from the Publishers' Monthly. Miss Spaulding said she was sending you duplicates. Already I have had wealthy returns from my articles in the San Francisco papers, for girls by the dozen I will delete to correspond with a soldier have sent me such things as gum and stuffed dates, and little care I where they come from, as they are most acceptable.

The ink has run out of my pen and everyone has crawled in until eight in the morning, so I must stop, although I haven't said one-tenth of what I wished to.

One of our boys who left to go home to New York some time ago was on England when she was torpedoed, and his lifeboat was overturned, while he enjoyed flonting around for over two hours. He was picked up and reached England, and is again enroute to America.

Yesterday I drove in general all around the country with our French lieutenant, who is a relative, which is all that can be said.

With heaps of love,

Frank.

Dear Div:

Yesterday proved a far happier Christmas than we had expected not so far as it was the first Christmas away from home. The day before I took a couple of the boys, and with the old man went about three kilometers away to a pine forst, where we cut down a small tree and brought in goodly supply of branches, tramping over fields that had been well plowed by shells. Yesterday after breakfast we started in and by noon had the room draped with the trees and greens, and old Glory at one end the tree was placed trimmed with bits of cotton, gray neckties, and anything which might add to the appearance. The best of the afternoon I spent in doing up packages for the grub hunket, which contained such articles as cigarettes, candy, etc., all attached to separate strings. The basket was decorated solidly with greens and small flags, and made an attractive centre piece for the table. At each plate was a small tri-color gift favor in a small package, the gift of a friend of the Dear, beside a place card of a croix-de-guerre. The dinner was served at 6:30 and it consisted of soup, ham and eggs, baked yams, potatoes, a turkey, salad, cakes, nadaria cakes and candies. The cakes were sweet, being decorated in all degrees in chocolate as only a Parisian pate's else patron knows how. When the meal was concluded we found it was snowing to beat the band, and appeared much like holiday weather, only we would much prefer to be in our own country, as we hope to be next year.

From John W. Flaherty.

Somewhere in France
December, 1917.

To The Ladies of The Auxillary,
Dear Friends:

I am writing to let you know that the boys and myself are fine and in the best of health and still think of their many friends across the blue sea. As we have heard of the many things which the ladies of the Auxiliary are doing for us and many more, send them and many more, blessings than I can say. As I can't say much I can tell you about the weather which is very wet but not so cold as the States, the village is one of the finest and the surrounding country is noted for farms and wood in which we get to keep warm also for cooks. Talking about cooks, the ones we got cannot be beat anywhere in France. Last night we got a lot of papers from home in which were some very good news, all about the letters from our folks, in which their good letters brought out many laughs and cheers. We have seen many sights around our country but the sights over here are pretty nice, and the trains run about every 4 or 5 hours in which there are 2 passenger cars and the rest is all freight cars not half as big as our own and only enough room for 40 men in one, but it is all in this life and no one seems to worry. The only thing that seems to get us is the French talk and money, for the money is pretty funny. When the French people start talking to us we stand there as if we understand it, and keep saying, Wee, Wee. They might be giving us the deuce, for all we know, but we can't help that little thing. Well about sleeping. It is very nice, for we got wooden beds, a bed tick full of straw and then a straw mattress and 4 big blankets. When we put them over us they are just as good as 8 blankets, and believe me they are warm. About the only thing that gets cold is our hands and face, once in a while our toes, but the work we do keeps us warm also gives us spirit. It is something wonderful. Today is Sunday and we are going to visit our friends left in G Company. So that is about all I can say, so I wish you and the rest many thanks and a Happy New Year from the boys of Co F. I remain your friend,

Letter from John Flaherty.

Somewhere in France,
On the 24th of Dec.,
the night before Christmas.

Dear loving Mother: I am having a good time and getting about all the mail that is coming over here for me. As this is the night before Christmas we are about starved for a good time, we just got a load of wood for we want a big fire. Our house is all fixed with Christmas trees, but our room is swell. We got the room all fixed with red and green bells, also holly all over the ceiling, say it looks great. There are all kinds of candles and lanterns hanging all around.

You know that walnuts grow over here, so there is plenty of them to get. The fellows are all happy. Some one will say, "Well Jim, where would we be tonight if we were home." "Oh," Jim would say, "some old town," and then they would tell some one to sing. They are all singing just at present. About five-second walk to the Y. M. C. A. and the company mail room and rest room conducted by American women for the poilus and others. For it is a great novelty and delight to be able to talk with real Americans.

Miss Church, the daughter of Fred Church, the famous artist who painted the world famous "Niagara Falls" and the "Grand Canyon," is a most delightful woman and promised to write you a note soon.

I received this morning articles from the N. Y. Sun which were published in October, and also some from the Publishers' Monthly. Miss Spaulding said she was sending you duplicates. Already I have had wealthy returns from my articles in the San Francisco papers, for girls by the dozen I will delete to correspond with a soldier have sent me such things as gum and stuffed dates, and little care I where they come from, as they are most acceptable.

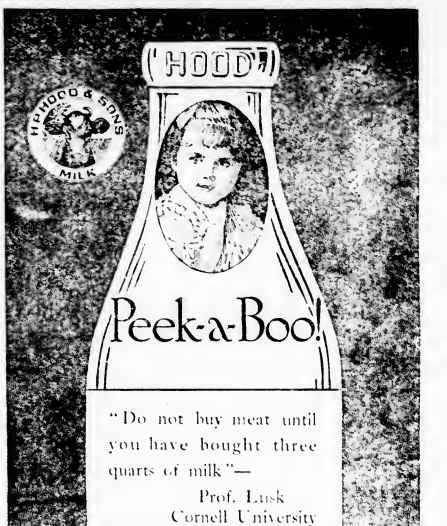

The ink has run out of my pen and everyone has crawled in until eight in the morning, so I must stop, although I haven't said one-tenth of what I wished to.

One of our boys who left to go home to New York some time ago was on England when she was torpedoed, and his lifeboat was overturned, while he enjoyed flonting around for over two hours. He was picked up and reached England, and is again enroute to America.

Yesterday I drove in general all around the country with our French lieutenant, who is a relative, which is all that can be said.

With heaps of love,

Frank.

Letter From George Harrold

Somewhere in France,
Jan. 5, 1918.

Mr. Price Wilson.

Dear Sir: I received your letter today and very glad to hear from you, also to hear that you are sending the STAR, as news is very scarce over here. As there are no other Winchester boys here in this Company, but I see other fellows that would like to read it, I will pass the paper on.

I am clerking for the Police Department, and have to go to the Quartermaster's office to write my letters. I have a chance to meet different fellows. As I was seated at the typewriter the other day, Whitelaw Wright walked in and spoke to a fellow at my side who was very busy and he spied me. Of course, we had a great shake hands. The fellow he spoke to looked up when he heard my name. Well, I was introduced to Sgt. Ted Main of Winchester, so you see we meet the old town every turn. Another incident that happened; I was riding down behind two of our officers and a fellow jumped out from the street or the part of the street we call a sidewalk, and who could it be but John Flaherty of Winchester. I have a great chance to meet different fellows as I am orderly, clerk and about forty other things here, and do a lot of traveling. As we received our horses a few weeks after we were here, we find great pleasure in looking over the old historic places.

I took a ride to one of the most prominent places in the world's history. Where one of France's most noted persons was born. Of course, I cannot mention any names, and as there were many prominent figures in French history, you will be unable to think of the one person I have mentioned. Not long are there was a song written in memory of his girl.

We have been having pretty cold weather here lately. Yesterday morning it was five below zero and this morning four below at seven o'clock. As we are situated on a river it is very damp here and very hard to keep our feet dry. Of course we will be issued rubber-boots, but as yet we are traveling around without them.

Well, I can't think of anything else to say, so I think I will close. Hoping you the best of luck for the coming year, I remain

Yours sincerely,
Geo. W. Harrold.

Letter From William Callahan

Dear friend Frederick:

I have just received your most welcome package and have come to the conclusion that some of the good angels have remembered my address, for it is like a message from Heaven to me. Over here, in this "No Man's Land," it is like a cold brick to get anything from civilization, and you certainly had an excellent idea of what a fellow needs. For instance I usually have to write on the floor, but now that I have this pad, I can write on the "bunk." I didn't have to ask for my turn on the pad tonight, because I have my own.

You see probably interested to know about the conditions over here and I will do the best I can, but by the censor. We sailed from the U. S. on — and had a thirteen day trip. We stayed at a large resting camp for eight days and then had a forty-five hour ride in a train of cars. We finally landed up here in the mountains on and now billeted in the houses of a small French village. The weather conditions are very bad and if it doesn't snow it is rainy and muddy. We are being trained in the modern ideas of warfare, and most of the work is very interesting. We practice the different styles of rifle firing, bomb and grenade throwing, gas attacks, bayonet fighting and trench maneuvres. On a recent trip to the practice trenches we marched all day in a blinding blizzard and had to stay there until 1 a. m. The temperature went down to about zero and it surely was disagreeable. But it takes practice to make perfect, and we expect for a more easy to put a stop to this.

Well, the report just came in for us to get ready for a big "hike" to-morrow, so I must get my pack and equipment ready, and will close now, as

Yours with thanks,
William J. Callahan.

COPLEY THEATRE.

With the coming week at the Copley Theatre, "Inside the Lines" finds itself even more firmly entrenched than ever in the popular favor. It will begin its sixth week Monday.

"Inside the Lines" is a worthy successor to "The Man Who Stayed at Home." Like that play, its sensational moments are interspersed with comedy, and the play is a constant succession of mirth and thrills.

No small share of the success of "Inside the Lines" is due to its acting by the Henry Jewett Players. The play is staged under Mr. Jewett's personal direction, and each character is fittingly cast and expertly acted. Seats are now on sale for the entire week, and they may be obtained at the box office, or by telephone. The prices are from 25 cents to $1.50 and good seats are obtainable in the orchestra for $1.00.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS.

The informal talks on Income Taxes in the Masonic Apartments, Feb. 14th, proved to be most enjoyable and instructive. Both Mr. Barry, representing the U. S. Department and Mr. Dalrymple for the State, were in fine form and both were fully able to answer the many intricate questions which were asked.

The postponed meeting of the Burbland's sewing club will meet at the home of Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Fairmount street, Tuesday evening, Feb. 26, at 7.30.

The Winchester Red Cross rooms at 3 Mt. Vernon street, will not be open on Friday, Washington's Birthday.

So many and varied are the questions asked concerning the aims and purposes of the Winchester Red Cross, it has been decided to have published in a later issue of the STAR a brief history of the Red Cross movement in this town. Don't wait for this, however. Time is the essence. Give either of your work or money, or both.

Notwithstanding rumors to the contrary, Patrick Norman of Canal street is still a candidate for Selectman, which fact will be interesting to those who have been urging him to accept the candidacy for the past few years.

Mr. Norman is one of all a Winchester man. He was born here, worked here, learned his business trade here, and has always made his home here. For 26 years he was employed with the original Bacon Felt Co. of this town, and in 1898 became associated with the Eastern Felt Co. of Canal street, of which firm he is vice-president. Aside from being one of the larger taxpayers he has always been an active and interested citizen where town affairs are concerned and is admirable fitted to take upon himself the duties of a selectman.

Glengarry Road and Grassmere Avenue, Town Ways: The Board viewed the plans in regard to Glengarry road and Grassmere avenue as Town ways, and also the plan for the establishment of a building line on Forest street. The layouts for Glengarry road and Grassmere avenue as Town ways had previously been signed by the Board.

Russell Brook: The Town Counsel reported that he had taken up the matter of the condition of Russell Brook with State authorities and that they had made two inspections and found that the condition was partly due to the seepage from a dump. The Town Counsel stated that he would be able to report further on this sometime in the near future.

CONSERVATION OF CHILD LIFE.

How to reduce infant mortality to its lowest limit, to save all the babies in every community in the State is the keynote of the new movement for the conservation of child life which is being developed by a State Committee recently appointed by the Commissioner of Health, Dr. Allan J. McLaughlin.

This committee with its advisory members is made up of men and women who are experts in their respective lines with Dr. David L. Edsall of Harvard as chairman.

The emphasis of this pioneer public health work is being focussed on the first five years of child life with particular attention to the establishment of sick and well baby clinics and supervision of mothers during the prenatal and postnatal period.

The committee does not expect to establish new agencies for child welfare work except where none exist but to concentrate every effort on supporting existing agencies, thus extending and strengthening the work already begun.

The State Committee is sending into the field eight child welfare supervisors, one into each health district to make a preliminary survey of infant mortality and to learn just what the actual health conditions are in each locality. Miss Elizabeth Robison, child welfare supervisor of the North Midland health district is in Winchester at the present time and in cooperation with the local board of health and all agencies doing child welfare work, is making a study of conditions here.

As this is a state wide movement, every city and town in the State will be surveyed and as each special problem is handled the State Committee will recommend the solution of this problem and suggest ways and means by which the babies in each individual locality can have what they need.

As a result of the intensive methods used abroad the infant death rate has been lowered so noticeably that it is estimated enough lives of babies can be saved, over and above those saved by ordinary methods in time of peace, to replace in a few years the man power lost because of the war.

The needs of the babies are easily found but in order to make it possible for the babies to have what they need public sentiment must be aroused and each locality stimulated to make proper provision for both prenatal and postnatal care. Every effort will be made to interest each locality to provide for its own individual needs either through private or municipal aid.

As far as possible a local child welfare committee is being appointed in every city and town throughout the State, and the chairman of this committee is usually chairman of the local child welfare committee of the Women's Council for National Defense. Thus the State Committee on Child Conservation and the Child Welfare Committee of the Woman's Council for National Defense, both working for the conserving of child life are cooperating and combining their efforts to demonstrate to every community the immediate need of such work.

Mary L. Wren,
Press Chairman, Child Conservation Committee.

WINCHESTER CUT-A-CORD CLUB.

Announcement was made yesterday of the formation of the Winchester Cut-a-Cord Club. This is made possible through the decision of the local Water Board to cut out the trees around the Winchester reservoirs for a space of 30 feet. As the shores of the reservoirs measure over nine miles, a considerable amount of wood is available to Winchester residents.

It has been decided that it is in no way beneficial to the purity of the water to allow the trees and brush to stand so close to the reservoirs. The ground has been gone over by the Board and State Forester Paul D. Kneeland of this town, and the cutting will be under Mr. Kneeland's direction. Already he has marked and supervised the cutting of trees around 30 reservoirs in the State already.

It is expected to start the cutting immediately, and Washington's Birthday will doubtless see a big response to the offer which has been made. Mr. Edward R. Waite, who has been identified with the wood cutting movement in Winchester, is lending his services and endeavors in creating interest in the matter.

He will be at the pumping station at the North Reservoir at eight o'clock Washington's Birthday to take charge and direct. All interested should be at the appointed place or get in touch with Mr. Waite.

The following agreement has been drawn up by the Water Board for the signatures of those who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity:

Agreement

(1) Only such trees as spotted by the State Forester's Agent are to be cut.

(2) All trees must be cut twelve (12) inches or less, from the ground.

(3) Trees must be felled in such manner that they will not damage standing trees not spotted.

(4) All brush from trees must be neatly piled for burning, in such manner that the fire will not injure standing trees.

(5) The signer of this agreement is the only one allowed to cut in section alloted to him.

(6) Fifty percent (50 percent) of all wood cut, is to belong to the Water and Sewer Board; and fifty percent (50 percent) is to belong to the chopper.

(7) All wood to be piled in cord measure.

(8) No wood can be taken from the lot until permission has been granted by one member of the Committee. The chopper will pay all expenses incurred in hauling his wood.

(9) Each chopper to furnish suitable tools for his work.

(10) The subscriber expressly assumes and relieves the Town of Winchester from any and all liability for any injury whatsoever connected with or growing out of this work.

(11) Section ..... has been alloted to .....

VOL. XXXVII. NO. 36. WINCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY. MARCH 1, 1918 PRICE FIVE CENTS

RECEPTION TO MR. METCALF.

Clergyman Receives Gifts and Good Wishes on Eve of Departure.

Rev. Joel H. Metcalf, Minister at the Unitarian Church, who sails for the battlefront in France next week, has been the recipient during the week past of many gifts of esteem and a host of good wishes from his townsfolk.

On Tuesday evening he was tendered a reception by William Parkman Lodge, of which he is Chapialn, at the Masonic rooms in the Brown-Stanton Block. The affair was attended by about 150 Masons, and as a gift in recognition of the esteem in which he is held they presented him with a fine suit case and a service case filled with toilet articles.

The reception was held from seven until eight. W. M. George B. Hayward presided and the presentation was made by Rev. Howard J. Chidley of the First Congregational Church. Following this presentation, Worshipful Master Hayward presented Mr. Metcalf with a Masonic identification medal.

The affair was held in connection with a bridge party, given by the Lodge, and at the conclusion of the reception cards were enjoyed until the closing hour. The prizes for the bridge were won by Mrs. Ernest W. Hatch, who received 10 pounds of sugar, Mr. Hatch, who was awarded a strip of bacon, and Mrs. Hastings and Miss Rachel Metcalf, mother and daughter of Rev. Mr. Metcalf, who each received twelve ride tickets on the railroad to Boston. During the evening rereshments were served.

Mr. Metcalf leaves Monday for New York, from which place he will sail during the week. He will engage in Y. M. C. A. work at the Front, giving travel talks and doing hut work. Rev. Howard J. Chidley will be appointed substitute Chaplain of William Parkman Lodge during his absence.

Last evening at the Unitarian Church, at the annual supper of the Ladies' Friendly Society to the Church, Mr. Metcalf was one of the speakers. He was presented with a purse of money by the Ladies' Friendly Society and by the Metcalf Union with other gifts. The Knights of King Arthur have given him a fine wrist watch.

At the supper last evening there was a large attendance, the affair being in charge of a committee of ladies under the chairmanship of Mrs. Charles F. Maxwell and Mrs. George Goddu. A play was given by a number of young ladies under the direction of Miss Alma Wood, and a White Elephant Sale was held for the benefit of the wool fund, Mr. Harry A. Goddard being the auctioneer. The sale was under the direction of Mrs. George H. Hazeltine, President of the Ladies' Friendly Society. Mr. Metcalf will preach his last sermon before his departure on Sunday.

FAVORS A BUSINESS MAN FOR SELECTMAN.

In voting for Mr. Ogden for Selectman, citizens will express fitting appreciation of his personal success and of his good development in the town, and will secure for the Board a practical business man.

Mr. Ogden came to Winchester sixteen years ago, and for the past fourteen years he has been actively engaged in building and selling residential property. While Mr. Ogden has done this as a matter of business it is equally true that in character of the work and in the selection of purchasers he has always sought to avoid any who might prove deterimental to the town. The result has been the addition of a very large amount of taxable property, both real and personal. Mr. Ogden has thus had extensive experience in the handling of material and labor in construction work, including streets and sidewalks. This work has brought him in close touch with all sections of the town.

HOME GARDENS.

The Committee on Food Production and Conservation earnestly requests all persons who own vacant land which would be suitable for growing vegetables, and which they are not going to use themselves, to allow its use by those who do not themselves own land, for the raising of garden stuff. The Committee believes that such land should be listed with it for distribution to those who desire to plant. Please forward by telephone or mail all tenders of land for the above purpose to Committee on Food Production and Conservation, Town Hall.

James Hinds, Chairman.

AN OMISSION CORRECTED.

To the Voters of Winchester:

Inadvertently my name was omitted from the list of candidates for the Board of Selecmen in last week's STAR. I am the only member of this year's Board willing to serve a second term and am willing to be judged by my record while in office. I am satisfied to leave it to the voters.

My platform is strict economy in every department and win the war at any sacritice.

SALVATION ARMY.

Pioneers in Work in Helping Soldiers at the Front.

Winchester, Feb. 28, 1918.

Editor of the Star:

Will you allow me space to make an appeal for the Salvation Army in its drive for work amongst the boys at the front?

Perhaps it is not known that the Salvation Army are pioneers in this sort of work. They followed the troops into South Africa at the time of the Boer War.

This work at the front today is in no sense a reduplication of the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., or Knights of Columbus, as the appended letters will show. All the organizations, working together, have more than they can do, and every aid is welcomed.

TO THE TAXPAYERS.

Monday, March the fourth, the citizens will select five members for the Board of Selecmen. I have decided to be a candidate for this Board. If elected, I will serve the Town to the best of my ability. In order that all the citizens may know a little more about me, I am going to outline briefly who I am, and why I seek the office.

I live in what is know as the Cutter Village District. This is the section north of the centre running to the Woburn line. This section has not been represented on the Board of Selectmen since 1899, when Mr. Henry J. Winde was elected. This fact should be borne in mind by the voters. I was born in Winchester fifty-nine years ago and have lived here ever since. I was employed for twenty-six years by the Bacon Felt Company of this town and this fact alone should be considered by the voters in my behalf. In 1896 together with my present associates we started what is known today as the Eastern Felt Company. We built up a prosperous and successful business which speaks for itself. The reasons that I might advance for my entering into this contest as follows. First,—in our Town there are as many boys engaged in the war as in any one section of Middlesex County. There are a great many things that I could do in their behalf in the line of information and comfort which would be a benefit to them and a pleasure for me to perform. Further, I have always taken a great interest in the many Town improvements which have been undertaken and enjoyed by our citizens as a whole; some finished and some to be completed in the near future. I am anxious to see them continued, that Winchester may continue to grow and to lead the way for other Towns to follow. I am willing to give my time and experience to the taxpayers and citizens if they desire. I present these facts for their consideration and hope that I may receive their support in this coming election.

First Remember I was born and have always lived in Winchester, twenty-six years of it working for one firm.

Second—Consider twenty years more with the same associates and running the same business. That is why I ask you to elect me as one of your Selectmen for the coming year.

DAVIDSON AND MOVING PICTURES.

Surely it is regretted that in our pretty little town, where we are all neighbors and should all be friends, politics cannot be carried on openly and above board, and without recourse to doubtful tactics.

And up to a few days ago it did seem that our political affairs were in fine condition, but now it appears that they have been most beautifully "camoullaged", and that unless the voters are made aware of the situation many of them will go to the polls next Monday and vote for something quite different from what they think they are voting for.

To my mind the outstanding feature of the political situation is the candidacy of Ex-Selectman Davidson for election to the Board for the fifth time.

This is in itself such a strange thing after his voluntary retirement a year ago, that one cannot help wondering what reasons Mr. Davidson has for going after the selectmanship again, and in the absence of any explanation from him he cannot take the slightest exception if we who are to pass on his candidacy next Monday undertake to find out for ourselves what is his impelling motive. There is nothing personal in this: we simply want to know what! what and we ought to know.

It cannot be said that our town affairs have not been well administered this past year without Mr. Davidson, and there is at the present time no lack of high class men who are willing to do their bit for the town. There is no question but that things will coninue to go on nicely without him should it happen that way. Nor is there any honor in the selectmanship for Mr. Davidson for he has had all of that there is, and furthermore the job carries no salary.

One can easily understand how any public spirited citizen might feet it his duty as well as privilege to serve the town for a while, but to want so much of it as Mr. Davidson does makes us anyhow, a little suspicious.

As no reason for his candidacy appears on the surface let us dig a little and see if we can find one.

In the STAR last week appeared a paid political advertisement signed by Mr. Hovey, enlogizing Mr. Davidson for saving the West Side from a threatened business block. This letter is all the more remarkable when it is shown that this same Mr. Hovey is the owner of a parcel of ground on the same side of the same street which was threatened by the aforesaid business block but located next to the Winchester Trust Co. Within a few months application has been made to the present Board for a license to operate a moving picture show in a building to be erected on this lot, the plans of which are shown above.

This application was unanimously rejected by the present selectmen as being an undesirable location for the best interests of the town for such an enterprise.

However, if I have been reliably informed, Mr. Davidson once voted, not so very far ago to license a picture theatre in this town.

Now it may be that Mr. Hovey and Mr. Davidson haven't talked about moving pictures or anything of the kind, but Mr. Editor does it seem reasonable to you that they haven't?

Doesn't this fully explain Mr. Hovey's letter?

It may be that the people want a moving picture house in Winchester, and have it located mid-way between the Prince School and the Congregational Church, but if they do not want it there they must look how they vote next Monday.

Possibly this may be one reason why Mr. Davidson's friends are paying for his advertising.

It is strange too, that while Mr. Hovey was exploiting Mr. Davidson for saving the West Side from a grocery store he failed to set forth Mr. Davidson's exertions in behalf of Governors avenue so-called.

Probably few people in Winchester know anything about Governors avenue and for those who do not I may say that it is a projected street just north of Park avenue, and parallel to it running from Washington street to Highland avenue.

Through Mr. Davidson's efforts the Town has undertaken, for the gratuitous benefit of one builder who did not originally want it, to build this street almost entirely by general appropriation.

Such a thing has never before been done in Winchester. As no one affected by this street wanted it, in order to put it through, the necessary ground had to be taken by right of eminent domain and then appropriate the necessary money to lay water and sewer pipes and to do the grading and paving.

Mr. Davidson appeared before the Town Meeting last spring and stated that only $1200 was necessary to complete this street, which amount was appropriated and work was begun last fall.

Now the fact develops that after this $1200 is spent some $6000 more will be necessary to finish it up. $400 has been asked for the grading and paving without the water and sewer improvements.

Aside from all this damage suits and legal expenses are piling up against the Town with more to follow.

It does not seem at all likely that the taxpayers in these critical and stressful times will care to spend $6000 or perhaps more on this useless enterprise. But if Mr. Davidson should happen to be chairman that wouldn't make the slightest difference for judging by his previous record he would simply direct the money from some other purpose even if the Town Meeting absolutely refused the appropriation.

Do we want a board capable of such tricks as that? The voters will answer Monday.

But there may be another reason why Mr. Davidson would like to be selectman for it is common talk about town that if he is elected, some way, not yet made plain, will be found for paying him a salary.

However, in view of these apparent incongruities it is for the voters to decide what Mr. Davidson's real reasons for wishing to be Selectman again are and to act accordingly.

HERBERT L. COX FOR SELECTMAN.

About five or six weeks ago the name of Herbert L. Cox was presented as a candidate for the Board of Selectmen. Since then the voters of Winchester have had time to look him up and ascertain what kind of man he is, and his qualifications for the office of Selectman. There are now nine candidates for the office and only five can be elected, and of this number seven live on the east side of the Town, one lives up North Main street, and Mr. Herbert L. Cox lives on the West Side, which comprises two-thirds of the area of the Town of Winchester.

While I believe that every man elected upon the Board of Selectmen should represent the whole Town as well as the district in which he lives, yet I think that a more even distribution of the candidates would be better, but we cannot have that for this election. Mr. Cox has accepted the nomination and filed his papers with the Town Clerk. He is a life long resident of Winchester, well qualified to fill the office, and I sincerely hope the voters from every part of the Town will vote for Mr. Cox on Monday, March 4th, and thereby give to a very large section of Winchester a representative on the Board of Selectmen.

Political Adverisement.

ENDORSES MESSRS. DAVIDSON, OGDEN AND COX.

Eidtor of the Star:

We are most likely to confront in the near future the most difficult problems that mankind has ever been called upon to solve. It thus becomes imperative that we should elect the most efficient men available to handle our expenditures. Of the nine candidates aspiring for that very important office, namely, the honorable Board of Selectmen, only one resides in the Governor's section of the town, the West Side. He is a practical farmer and a large taxpayer. In my opinion if he is elected he will be an asset to this town, as he is at the present time. On March 4, 1918, I shall endeavor to cast my ballot for Messrs. Davidson, Ogden and Cox; as for the other two gentlemen, I shall decide when I ascertain a little more definite information as to their qualifications for this very important office.

I for one, trust that Messrs. Davidson, Ogden and Cox will be elected by an overwhelming majority.

In conclusion I haven't had any controversy with any of the candidates or any political machine, if such a machine exists in Winchester, in regard to this endorsement.

I remain very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell.

THE FORTNIGHTLY.

The Fortnightly met in the Assembly Hall of the High School, Monday afternoon, Feb. 25th. Mrs. Eaton presided. Mrs. Nason and Mrs. Dennett presented reports on the recent State Federation meeting. The entertainment was in charge of Mrs. F. B. Reynolds, Chairman of the Dramatic Committee. Mrs. Reynolds explained that the transference of the club meetings to the High School Assembly Hall, three weeks ago, had necessitated an entire change of plans on the part of the committee. Special acknowledgments, she stated, were due Mrs. W. H. Gilpatric, who wrote for the occasion the sketch, "The Girls I Left Behind." Patriotism was the dominant idea of the program and was illustrated in numbers of attractive variety. Mrs. Reynolds' choice of Bret Harte's dramatic poem, "Miss Blanche Says", was specially timely; Mrs. Gilpatric's clever sketch suggested the reveries of a soldier boy at Ayer; the dance of Miss Braddock and Miss Flinn was effectively presented in red, white and blue costumes; and the music included "The Star Spangled Banner," by a trio, a group of appealing French songs by Miss Symmes, and Mrs. Barr's tender and stirring "Joan of Arc". Thanks are due Mrs. Reynolds and those who assisted her for a most pleasing afternoon.

JONAS A. LARAWAY.

Only Member of Present Board of Selectmen Up For Re-Election.

Through an error, the name of Mr. Jonas A. Laraway, a well know member of our Board of Selectmen, was omitted in our last issue from the list of candidates to be voted upon at the coming election. This was wholly unintentional and the STAR regrets the omission exceedingly, as its every endeavor is always to give to all candidates a fair and impartial recognition.

Mr. Laraway has always given it as his intention to run again for the Board since the matter was first taken up. As he is the only member of the present Board up for re-election, it may readily be recognized how valuable his services will be to the Town in his retention in the office.

CUT-A-CORD CAMPAIGN.

The action of the Water Commissioners in allowing the citizens of Winchester to cut the wood on the shores of our reservoirs for a width of thirty feet or more was brought to our attention too late for us to have anything printed in the last issue of the Winchester STAR, and we desire to say that it meets with our hearty approval. As there is only about another month suitable for wood chopping before we shall be called to the cultivation of the soil, we earnestly recommend that as many citizens as can will join this "Cut-a-Cord Campaign" and secure as much wood as possible so that it may dry out ready to be used another winter in case there is a shortage of coal then. Strike with your axe now and secure your next winter's fuel.

APPEAL FOR WAR RELIEF WORK.

Each group that is engaged in relief work in Winchester is self-supporting and raises its own funds for materials, and since the need grows greater every week of the war, there should be an increasing output from every individual group beside the work which goes steadily on at the Red Cross headquarters in the centre. The work which is done at the Parish House of the Episcopal Church on Fridays is especially in aid of the small hospitals in France which are largely dependent upon the gifts from this country—and the chief source of revenue has been voluntary contributors. Any sum large or small will be most welcome for the purchase of flannel and wool, and should be sent to the Treasurer, Mrs. M. J. Barta, Cabot street. Boston papers have been lauding a Somerville woman, who has knit 80 sweaters. Winchester has a far better record for one generous contributor to this group has completed 116.

LOCAL U. S. MARINE PRAISES SIGNAL BATTALION.

Combining his military duties with an advanced study of electricity which he believes to be equal to the electrical course taught in any technical school, Private Andrew V. Harrold of Winchester, is now a specialist in the work performed by the Marine Corps Signal Battalion at Philadelphia. Harrold's battalion claims the record for mounting and operating a wireless outfit in the field in the remarkable time of one minute and twenty-seven seconds.

Sending and receiving of radiograms, repairing and wiring of electrical instruments and classes in electricity are all in the day's work for the signal battalion. Members are taught to splice cables, operate a switchboard, connect party lines and repair batteries under the direction of a telephone expert.

Private Harrold says that the Marine Signal Battalion offers interesting work for young men who have some training in radio, telephone, gas-engine or other mechanical work. Volunteers who are enrolled for this work will not be sent to a training camp, but will take up their duties immediately with the signal battalion. He advises any local boys who are interested to communicate with him at Philadelphia, or the Marine Corps recruiting Station, Scollay Square, Boston, Mass.

REBEKAHS OBSERVED HOLIDAY.

Victoria Rebekah Lodge observed Washington's Birthday by holding a party appropriate to the season in Masonic Hall on Friday night. There was an attendance of about 125 members and friends, and the party was one of the best entertainments given by the organization for some time.

The program was such as to hold interest for all, both old and young, and included piano selections by Miss Marion Mobbs, a play entitled "A Half-Hour With George Washington," old fashioned songs by a double quartette of young ladies and refreshments and dancing.

The play was especially entertaining. George Washington was personified by Mr. Milton Powers in costume, and as the Father of his Country, he was asked the questions of interest by the young people, also in costume. Those who took part in this feature were the Misses Helen Webber, Olive Seller, Hilda Back, Esther Greenlaw, Evelyn Greenlaw, Esther Green, Gertrude Wilberger, Mabel Mead. Messrs. John Mead, Homer Davidson, Clarence Gates, Clarence Linnus, Francis McMillan, Walter Bergstrom, Clarence Vanner and Guy Wilberger.

A recitation, "The Little Hatchet" was given by Master Guy Wilberger, and the young ladies making up the double quartette were the Misses Florence Jewett, Edith Downer, Irene Dotorieo, Mildred Bartlett, Helen McLean, Frances Powers, Marion Mobbs and Pauline Cutler.

FUNERAL OF STUART G. LANE.

The funeral of Stuart G. Lane of the Marine Corps, who died at the Carney Hospital in Boston Sunday, was held at the residence of his father, Oscar C Lane, on Bacon street, last week Wednesday. Rev. Joel H. Metcalf, pastor of the Unitarian Church, conducted the service. The pall bearers were Edward Thompson, Harold Meyer, Kenneth Park, Kenneth Hilton, George Apsey, William Apsey, Carl Ogden and Ray Rohrman. A guard of honor from the navy of eight men and a bugler formed a double line at present arms, through which the casket, covered with a flag, was carried from the house. The bugler sounded "taps". The body was placed in the receiving vault in Wildwood Cemetery.

PUBLIC INSPECTION.

National Bank Opens New Rooms.

The Winchester National Bank opened its new banking rooms in the Lane Building on Washington's Birthday by holding a reception and public inspection of the quarters. Between five and six hundred people availed themselves of the opportunity to inspect the rooms, many coming from out of town and including men prominent in banking circles in this district.

The rooms were opened to the public from 1 to 9 p. m. An abundance of very beautiful flowers, gifts in recognition of the opening of the institution, were arranged about the various rooms. In fact the display of blossoms was by far the biggest ever seen in this town for any like occasion.

Visitors were welcomed by the officers and directors of the bank and were conducted through its premises, which excited universal admiration and approval. Those who were present in the capacity of hosts were President E. Arthur Tutein, Vice-President Edward S. Foster, Vice-President Francis J. O'Hara, Cashier Harold E. Ball and Directors A. Burnham Allen, William H. Bove, Felix J. Carr, Wallace A. Flanders, William A. Kneeland, J. A. Laraway, Harris M. Richmond, Hollis L. Ribble, Edmund C. Sanderson and Richard W. Sheehy. George H. Lochman, Assistant Cashier, who has worked earnestly in the detail of arranging and opening the new quarters, was unable to be present owing to a severe attack of the grip.

Each male visitor was presented with a gift of cigars, while the ladies were given pinks and attractive shopping memorandums containing an excelling drawing of the new bank on the cover. A group of young ladies presented the souvenirs to the visitors, they including Miss Dorothy Riddle, Miss Linda Bird, Miss Dorothy Laraway, Miss Magdaline Robinson, Miss Helen Bowe and Miss Gladys Marchant.

The bank moved from its temporary quarters in the Star Office and commenced active business in its new rooms Saturday.

WINCHESTER GIRLS HAVE FINE TEAM

By Albert J. Woodlock, in the Boston Globe:

No town is more proud of its High School girls' basket ball team than Winchester, and the organization has been given fine support the past five or six years. In that time the girls have always turned our formidable teams, and the one this winter bids fair to go through its season with a clean slate, so far as High School games are concerned. It has beaten every High School team it has met so far, including Wellesley, Melrose, Swampscott and Natick High girls, as well as the Alumni and Sargent School. Its triumph over the latter was one of the biggest surprises of the season. In the return game at Cambridge, however, Sargent School won.

The High School Girls' team generally meet the Sargent team in two games, one at home and the other away, but these games are not included in the regular record of the teams, because of the fact that most of the Sargent players have played three or four years on High School teams before entering the Cambridge School.

The Winchester High season will be longer than usual this winter, owing to the late re-opening of schools, which will carry the schedule into April. During that month Winchester has two games with the Malden High girls, which should be hotly contested ones. It has another game with Melrose High and Swampscott High, that should bring out some good playing.

The captain is Mabel Gray, and although small, she is considered by coaches one of the cleverest forwards in the girls' ranks. She is elusive, has a great eye for the basket and blocks and passes splendidly. She and Katherine Fairfield, who has been holding down the other forward position, work splendidly together. Elizabeth Armstrong is another forward who can hold her own with the best in Greater Boston.

Lauretta Murphy, the center, is one of the best all-around players on the team. She is fast, blocks finely and dribbles well. Brenda Bond, Sara Keady and Flora Locke are three players who, when called upon to replace any of the regulars, have done nice work.

The guard positions have been held down in admirable fashion by Dorothy Reynolds and Kathleen Morse and that the team has not been beaten in a regular high school game is due in a large measure to their remarkable defensive work. In girls' basket ball the guards are not allowed to try for scores, and for that reason their work is apt to be overlooked.

WINCHESTER HIGH GIRLS BEAT ALUMNAE, 44 TO 10.

The Winchester High Girls' basket ball team swamped the Alumnae, 44 to 10, Saturday afternoon, at the Winchester High Gym. Miss Mabel Gray, Miss Katherine Fairfield and Miss Loretta Murphy did the basket shooting for the school-girls. The fine passing and floor work of Miss Dorothy Reynolds for the winners, was the feature. Miss Gladys Spaulding and Miss Dorothy Bowman played well for the Alumnae. The summary:

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Washington's Birthday was fittingly observed at the Calumet Club by an all-day party containing much of enjoyment for the club members and all the members of their families. From forenoon until evening there was "something doing" and the day proved a feature of notable interest to all.

The morning was given over to bowling, billiards and pool, with a special tournament on the alleys under the head of "blind" rolling and the playing of several matches in the cowboy pool tournament.

The blind bowling consisted of rolling at invisible pins hidden behind sheets hung across the alleys. Some surprisingly big scores were made, it being generally suggested that a continuation of the scheme might aid many of the bowlers to improve their ratings. The first prize, that for the highest three strings, was won by Dr. Orion Kelley, who rolled 103, 123, 111; totalling 337. Second prize, for the highest single string, was won by Mr. Claude M. Crafts, who rolled 132.

Other high strings rolled were as follows:

G. T. Davidson	115	91	123	332
G. W. Judkins	122	95	83	300
W. Thompson	111	112	95	319
J. A. Caldwell	107	83	102	292
G. F. Willey	93	94	95	282
W. Blanchard	90	114	95	256
G. S. Littlefield	81	95	79	256
C. W. Parker	79	89	89	234

The afternoon's entertainment was for the children, a juvenile play, "Golden Hair and the Three Bears," being presented before an audience of 120 children and enough of their fathers, mothers and big brothers and sisters to swell it to almost 300 persons. This production, of a musical and entertaining nature, occupied almost two hours, and at its conclusion the children were formed for a grand march and in charge of Miss Mary Flinn trooped to the card rooms, where welcome refreshments were served.

The grand march was led by Miss Hester Harrington and Master Frederick Clark, dressed as George and Martha Washington in keeping with the day. Gifts of bunting flags and patriotic bonbons were distributed and dancing was enjoyed until six.

An exceptionally pleasing feature of the day was a chafing dish supper served between six and seven-thirty in the billiard room by a number of ladies of the Club. Those who presided over the chafing dishes were Mrs. W. H. Foss, Mrs. H. T. Goff, Mrs. W. S. Wadsworth, Mrs. R. L. Clark, Mrs. W. E. Chamberlain, Mrs. J. A. Maddocks, Mrs. A. W. Pitman, Mrs. R. H. Booth, Mrs. E. A. Tutein, Mrs. M. K. Berry, Mrs. J. H. Taylor, Mrs. G. F. Purrington, Mrs. S. E. Newman, Mrs. I. S. Symmes, Mrs. C. H. Symmes, Mrs. G. B. Hayward, Mrs. D. P. Blaikie, Mrs. G. H. Eaton, Mrs. B. T. Morgan and Mrs. William Hall.

An excellent orchestra was present in the evening and dancing was enjoyed until the closing hour, frappe and teas being served in the card rooms.

During the evening a minuet was danced by Miss Mary Flinn and Miss Dorothy Kerrison in costume, the young ladies being assisted by Mrs. Helen A. Avery at the piano.

The Club House was decorated for the affair with an abundance of United States flags, bunting and the flags of our Allies.

SUPPER TO SUNDAY SCHOOL.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church gave a supper in the church vestries on Thursday night to the members of the Sunday School. There was a good attendance, over 100 sitting down to the attractive tables. Decorations appropriate to the season were used under the direction of Miss Mollie Hodge, and the various classes were seated together with their teachers. Souvenirs of small hatchets were given each one who was present.

Following the supper games were enjoyed for an hour, followed by a program including singing by the School, the reading of stories from the life of Lincoln by Mrs. John N. Mason and the presentation of a play entitled "A Half-Hour With Washington" by the girls of Mrs. Wilberger's class and the boys of Mrs. Hoey's class, all in costume. Mr. Milton F. Powers enacted the part of Washington. A recitation was given by Master Guy Wilberger, and Mr. Darwin Beach sang very acceptably two solos. A dialogue, entitled "Mrs. Mooligan's Ideas on the War" was given by Mrs. Isabel Foster and Miss Mary Hodge.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our thanks to our relatives and friends for their kindness and sympathy in our recent bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Powers.

MID-WINTER TOURNAMENT.

Change in Leaders in Hard Fought Games.

Monday night's matches in the mid-winter bowling tournament at the Calumet saw some interesting matches, all four of the leaders taking part. As a result, team K, holding top place, dropped into second by splitting two and two with D, which still retains its hold in third position. Team I, by a straight win from G, went into first place, and team F, by a like win from C, held its stand as fourth in line. Team K won its first two strings and appeared to have the third well in hand when D broke loose, and when the smoke had cleared the third and total had been lost. Newman rolled 152, Corey 120, Weed 114 and Knibbs 102, making a string total of 572, and I bearing K by over 100 pins. I had an easy time with G, but F just got by, although it was rolling a one man team. F won the second string by three pins and the third by 14.

Newman headed the individual list with 333 on a single of 152. Crafts got 331 with 130, Weed 312 with 114, Taylor 306 with 105, Keepers 305 with 125, Corey 304 with 120, G Eaton 108, Knibbs 102 and W. Eaton 101.

Announcement was made last week of the marriage of a well known young man of this town, Mr. John Soutter, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Soutter of 10 Warren street, and Miss Dorothy Billings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Billings of Coolidge road, Cambridge, formerly well known residents of Glen road.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents on Wednesday evening by Rev. Joel H. Metcalf of the Winchester Unitarian Church, and was attended only by the relatives of the couple.

Mr. Soutter is a member of the Naval Reserves, enlisting shortly after war was declared. He is now stationed at New London, Conn., and will take his bride to that city. He is a well know member of the Calumet Club and both he and Mrs. Soutter were formerly prominent there in the bowling contests.

"THE FORWARD LOOK."

At the Unitarian Church Sunday morning, the Minister, Joel H. Metcalf, will preach his last sermon before sailing for France, to take part in the work of the Y. M. C. A. The public is invited.

Entered at the post-office at Winchester, Massachusetts, as second-class matter.

The town warrant has twenty-nine articles.

Don't forget to go to the polls and vote Monday.

Have you noticed the names of those who have been profiteering in army supplies?

Be sure to vote "No" on the license question Monday. Help to keep Winchester clean for your children.

This terrible and anxious winter will soon be over. And, incidentally, don't forget to lay in the next winter's supply of coal—when you can get it.

Citizens are reminded that they should bring their warrants with them when they attend town meeting, as there will be none for distribution.

The closing of the saloons on Mondays has nearly eliminated drunkenness. Now the question comes up, if closing them for the other six days will not do so entirely.

It is beyond the memory of the oldest inhabitant, we believe, when the Hill District was represented on the Board of Selectmen. Herbert L. Cox, town born, a clean, bright young man, who has always lived in the Hill District, is a candidate. He should be elected to one of the places on the Board of Selectmen.

Congressman Fuller of this State has this to say of methods in Congress: "The President is asking our business men to economize and become more efficient, while we continue to be the most inefficient and expensive barnacle that ever attached itself to a ship of State. Could there be a more appropriate time to initiate economy and efficiency in our Governmental affairs?"

No citizen who has the welfare of Winchester in mind will omit the important duty of attending the polls on Monday and casting his vote for the various town officers. Considerable has been said during the past year of the small vote in other places which have adopted the town manager form of government. Winchester voted against this form of government, thereby showing that it wished the privilege of voting for each and all of its public officers. This will be a comparatively quiet election, but no one should neglect to show his interest.

A FURTHER WORD FROM MR. CRAUGHWELL.

Editor of the Star:

I have read the report of the Finance Committee of the Town of Winchester for the year ending Dec. 31, 1918. I am convinced that it is a comprehensive report based on the sound judgment of 15 men who are taxpayers of this town. They have deliberated early, late and often to help themselves, you and I, to keep our tax rate down and still give us a constructive administration for the ensuing year. They have rendered valuable service to the town gratis.

I for one, believe it will auger well for the voters assembled at town meeting to carry out their recommendations. Unless something unforeseen should arise in the immediate future, now is the time as never before for us to pare down expenditures and conserve our food, preserve our health and help end this raging conflict "over there" across the briny deep.

Let us pay no attention to those flowery orators who are apt to arise from their seats and say, give us this or that; it only means a few cents on our tax rate. In my opinion it is the sense in the head and the cents in the treasury that will bring our boys home victorious from "somewhere over there." The Bay State Street Railway Co., doesn't object to collecting that extra Lincoln copper for the inadequate service it renders to the public. We are not allowed by law to crowd dumb animals in stuffy freight cars; yet the boards of health in the various cities and towns allow us to join the strap hangers, and tell us to watch out for germs and Germany. Inquire of Thomas W. Lawson if he has any objection to save the coppers. Isn't it about time that those fur-coat Percys and barristers who meet in the corridors under the gilded dome on Beacon Hill and exchange greetings with the people, would enact some legislation that would relieve the present inefficient service? Possibly there may be some voters assembled at the town meeting whose vision is so defective that they couldn't see a cent through the eye hole of a needle, or in other words they are so cross-eyed that the tears run down their back and their family physician has to treat them for bacteria.

In conclusion, the electorate is, I believe, called upon to elect on March 4, 1918, a Board of Selectmen, consisting of five members. There are nine candidates for that very important office. I firmly believe that all the candidates who are aspiring for that office are eminently qualified to eventually develop into efficient town officers.

I remain

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell.

Cock and Bull Story.

Cock fighting is still the national sport of the Dominicans, although it is declining in popularity. Under the national gambling laws cock fighting may be prohibited. It may, however, be licensed by the various municipalities, and it usually is, as it yields them a good revenue. While bull fighting is permitted in the Dominican republic it has never been popular in this island. At long intervals a torendor comes here en route from Spain to Peru or Mexico, and a few bull fights are held in the various towns, but they do not attract a large attendance. There are no professional bull fighters among the Dominicans.—Commercial Reports.

WINCHESTER CUT-A-CORD CLUB.

In spite of the short time available for acquainting the public with the purposes and plans of the Club, operations started with a rush at the North Reservoir on Washington's Birthday. The morning air was crisp and the prospective woodchoppers gladly settled down to business as fast as sections were assigned. No complaints about the cold were heard after the axe brigade went into action. Up to Friday noon about fifty sections, or "claims", were given out to choppers by the Club leader, Mr. Waite, and by Saturday night every available site for cutting on the North Reservoir was assigned and work started. As the North Reservoir operation is divided into seventy sections, it is evident that a surprisely good start was made.

Owing to the size of the tract and the unexpectedly large response from choppers, it was decided on Sunday, to supplement and expand the activities of the Club leader by the appointment of the following named choppers, who constitute the Field Committee, N. R. Operation:

Nathaniel M. Nichols, R. A. Smart, L. G. Keyes, John Tansey, C. L. Curtis, W. H. Dotten and J. H. Hedlon.

The members of this Committee are all actively engaged in chopping work, are "on the job", and are ready at hand to give information and help to members of the Club. Any member who wants to learn the best and quickest way to fell a tree should hunt up John Tansey, Section No. 63, and those who want bean poles for their gardens—or their friends—will find Mr. Hedlon helpful.

The work will doubtless prove of much benefit, not only as a conservation of coal for heating, but as a conservation of the health of those participating, and it will also prove of much benefit to the reservoir water by clearing the shores.

Owing to the large response, the middle reservoir was opened up on Tuesday, where 15 sections have already been assigned. Work will be going on here by Saturday, this work being also under the same arrangements as that at the North Reservoir operations.

It will be necessary, however, for active co-operation by all those engaged in the work in sticking to the job and promptly clearing up their claims. If a protracted thaw comes along and the ice goes, the Club may experience some difficulty in getting out their cut, especially in the Middle Reservoir operations.

In cutting the wood all the white pine is left standing, none being taken.

Arrangements will probably be made later for an evening illustrated lecture by the State Forester or one of his assistants on the general topic of wood as fuel, with interesting information as to what is being done by the Commonwealth to increase and conserve the woodlands of the State. It is hoped that all members of the Club and all others interested in the subject will turn out for this event, due notice of which will be given in advance in the STAR, and otherwise.

OPEN LETTER FROM MR. IVES.

February 28, 1918.

Editor of the STAR,
Winchester, Mass.

Dear Sir:—

I have been informed that Mr. P. E. Fitzgerald has protested against my serving as presiding election officer at the annual town election next Monday, which office I hold by virtue of my election as moderator a year ago on the ground that the provision of the election laws to the effect that no person shall be eligible to act as an election officer at an election in which he is a candidate for election, disqualifies me because I am a candidate for re-election.

Lest other people may feel the same way I desire to refer to the case of Wheeler vs. Carter, reported in 180 Mass. p. 382, where the Supreme Court decided that the provision of the election laws referred to does not apply to moderators.

In spite of this decision, I personally believed that, in view of the embarrassment to an honest moderator and the possibility of fraud on the part of a dishonest moderator, when he was presiding at an election at which he was a candidate for a contested office, the law should be changed. Accordingly, when the town decided to elect moderators for a year I myself petitioned the Legislature of 1915 for a change in the law which would require the election or appointment by the Selectmen of a moderator protempore to serve during the election in cases where a moderator was a candidate for office.

The bill stirred up quite a little opposition among certain small towns where it was customary to elect a moderator to other offices besides that of moderator. I was complimented by the Committee on my disinterestedness, assured of my probity and given leave to withdraw.

My conscience is clear, therefore; but I shall take great care at the evening election that the ballots for moderator are counted by other persons than myself, so that my opponent and his managers have really nothing to fear.

Yours very truly,
Frederick Manley Ives.

LETTER FROM MR. JOY.

Editor of the Star:

In the letter which was recently sent by the Red Cross Branch to our town to the householders of the town, asking them for their contributions for the support of the work of the Red Cross in Winchester, it was stated that the Branch was under an expense of $25 a day, and fearing that this statement may have given a wrong impression to some of our citizens, I would say that the only expense which the Red Cross Branch is under is that for room rent and the care of same, which amounts to about one dollar a day. All other moneys are expended by the Branch in buying materials, including gauze, yarn, etc., used in the making of surgical dressings and knitted articles, the cost of which was estimated to be about $29 a day for the work we are now doing at the rooms.

Of course the more material possessions that more money must be expended for the purchase of same and that means more articles must be manufactured and sent to the front, so that there cannot be too many of these. The Branch will gladly spend $30 or $40 or $50 a day if it could be obtained for the work which it is doing, but whatever the sum spent by the Branch, it only spends about one dollar a day for the actual expense of the Branch and this is for the rent and care of the room which it occupies as above stated.

We greatly appreciate the generous response of our citizens to the circular letter sent; not only do we need money, but we need workers at the rooms, and it is our hope and wish that the women of the town may respond more readily than they have in giving their time and labor at the rooms for the work done there.

Fred Joy, Chairman.

SAVING INFANT LIVES FOR THE FRANCE OF THE FUTURE.

"Since the beginning of the war suffering France has paid a terrible toll in the name of motherhood. Pitched at the front, and wherever newly born babies throughout every city and village have died through lack of care.

"Fifteen thousand infant lives every year in Paris alone. Since the battle of the Marne and the stabilizing of the front, more babies have been left to the sole care of the expectant mothers' resourceful wife.

"To help in relieving the deplorable condition Dr. Elina T. Ransom is establishing maternity work, is equipping hospitals in Paris and the neighboring districts for the stricken French mothers.

Dr. Ransom will sail for France in April with an equipment for one year, and a staff of nurses trained in obstetrics. The care of infants will also engage her.

Five thousand bottles have been furnished by the Fathers and Mothers Club and a supply of hospital equipment and medicines will complete the necessities.

On Wednesday March 6th, at 2.30 under the auspices of the Special Aid Society, Dr Ransom will speak at the Winchester Town Hall, and bring the stirring message that has come from women across the seas. Urgent pleas arise from all manner of sources, begging hospitals for the helpless. From babies; baby clothes for little ones, that may be undesired, unloved, the children of German fathers and Belgian and French mothers. A collection will be taken.

At a recent meeting of the French surgeons in New York, Dr Dangon an emissary if his government spoke of the frightful conditions among the mothers. "I have seen," he said, "the women of my country living in shell torn huts, in desolate city garrets, whose only warmth was a few tattered blankets over some beds. Multiply this by eighty thousand, and you have the situation."

So it is to every woman in America that Dr. Ransom will bring her stirring exhortation, and tell of the first hospital to be started in Paris, and the series of branch hospitals to be founded in the needy districts of France.

The Thrift Stamp represents to the children what the Liberty Bond represents to adults. The penny embodies war power just as the dollar,—for pennies make dollars. The Thrift Stamp idea is designed to reach those who think in terms of cents. The power of the penny is shown by the fact that the government hopes to raise two billions of dollars from the sale of these stamps.

Thrift Stamps make a reality of the children's patriotism by allowing them to aid the government with money for war purposes. A child's savings may be a means to shortening this war by days, and every day means the redemption of colossal waste.

Thrift Stamps cost 25c each. Books of 16, with a few cents added, are at any time exchangeable for certificates which will be worth $5.00 in 1923. These Stamps are received as payments on Liberty Bonds. You may obtain them at any Post Office, your mail carrier, and at most stores.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

By time honored custom the March meeting of the Winchester Union is scheduled to be held at the vestry of the Congregational Church, March 8, when the members are one hundred percent enrolled in the W. C. T. U. As usual the meeting will be of a social nature with an entertainment by some of the children and young folk. There will be music and light refreshments, meatless, to be sure, as befits the day. The date is March 8, Friday, three o'clock, and it is hoped that as many members as can will be present. They may bring their knitting but are expected to come prepared to brighten the corner where they are.

Winchester was well represented last week at the hearing on the referendum as this week on the question of ratification. The former hearing was one of the largest ever known and the sergeant at arms, who directed the comers, began to smile broadly when a group of women started toward him. He did not wait to be asked the question, "Where?" but at once indicated the hearing room. One man seeing the crowd coming out said to his companion "What's on? It seems a big crowd." When told he at once began to look serious, shaking his head correspondingly. And that seemed to be the temper of the proponents generally, for the "dry" were decidedly in the majority. To be sure the representatives of the Bar Tenders' Union, the Waiters' Union, the Hotel Keepers' Union—no, Association and others interested repeated again and again that it was not a question of prohibition, only of fairness. Unfortunately they did not bring people known to be disinterested unless the advocate of the bill, Mr. Ammindon, may be so classed. All in all it was an interesting hearing and that on ratification was not less so. On March 6th, the opponents of ratification will have their innings and members are urged to attend.

Miss Christine Tingling national W. C. T. U. lecturer, spoke at the sixth anniversary of the opening of the State headquarters, Feb. 25th. William Shaw also spoke and Mrs. Ella A. Gleason presided, owing to Mrs. Stevenson's indisposition. A sale for the Harriet Tubman Home will be held today and tomorrow at headquarters.

WINCHESTER HAS FAST TEAM.

The Winchester High School basket ball team, which has jumped into second place in the Interscholastic League, is only one game behind Winthrop, the favorite for the championship. The standing is: Winthrop, five wins and one defeat; Winchester, four wins and two defeats.

The sudden spurt of the Winchester team is due to the splendid coaching of Warren C. Johnson, former Brown varsity player, who is now a member of the faculty at Winchester High. He succeeded Ralph Mutterling, who is now at Cornell studying aviation.

One week from Saturday night Winchester expects to square accounts with Winthrop. The teams will meet at Winchester. If a win is scored in this game, Winchester will have a hard task to defeat Wellesley at Winchester March 16, and Natick at Winchester March 29. On March 22, Winchester will go to Winthrop for the game which will undoubtedly decide the championship.

The lineup of the team will be Hevey, and Capt. Salyer, forwards; Raynor, back, and McKenzie and Shaughnessy will alternate at back and center. Donovan is the sub.

The Lynch Snop will be open Sundays. Try our Chicken Pie and other pastries. fe15,1t

THE WINCHESTER EQUAL SUFFRAGE CLUB.

Will hold its regular March meeting at the home of Mrs. Willard A. Bradley, 3 Black Horse Terrace, on Wednesday, March 6, at 3 o'clock. It was hoped that Mary Antin would be the speaker, but she is out of town and unavailable at this time. We shall hope for an address from her later in the year.

The Board has arranged for a special detailed report of the story of the very important meeting of the Massachusetts Women Suffrage Association at Fitchburg, Feb. 26th. This will doubtless give information concerning work already done and to be done in the immediate future, throughout the State, which will be of interest to every member. Food will be on sale.

The Current Events Class of the Club will resume its interrupted lessons on Tuesday, Mar. 5, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon in the High School Library.

SPECIAL AID.

A public meeting of the Special Aid Society was held in the small Town Hall on Wednesday afternoon.

Interesting reports were given by the Chairman of the various committees showing what has been accomplished since October first.

The Treasurer's report shows that $794.80 has been received through various sources. None of especial value is the rent and lighting of the Special Aid Room at the centre, which came as a pledge from friends of extreme modesty, who do not even want us to know their names. The Chairman of the Finance Committee reports $401.35 raised thus far.

The Wool Committee have sent 585 knitted articles to the Naval Auxiliary, 99 to the Red Cross 73 to Special Aid headquarters, 27 to Winchester Red Cross, 111 to men going into active service, 55 sent on special call to Ayer, 28 afghans sent to Special Aid headquarters and their is material for 5 more.

A total of 1015 articles completed.

$147.26 has been raised by the Wool Committee, $825 of which was used for town garments. The Committee on Hospital Bars, Miss Gould, Chairman, reported 495 bags sent out since October 1st, many of which contained a few essential articles of comfort for a sick soldier.

Mrs. E. L. Cummings, Chairman of the Work Committee, reported 61 sets of pajamas, made at request of the Public Safety Committee for Winchester boys at Ayer.

97 gauze bags for the Christmas tree at C. W. Pier, 56 completed garments sent to the American Fund for French wounded, 39 garments not yet completed, 32 Aviator kits and 69 Army kits have been sent. Others are still in the making.

From pieces left in cutting out hospital shirts and vests, quilts are being made.

Mrs. Woolley, Chairman of the Committee on Food Conservation, has given us much pleasure and profit in lectures along this line with more good things ahead.

On Wednesday Mrs. Colin W. McDonald spoke upon "Food and the War," showing us the need of conserving food. She said: Germany can never be starved out, because she has for years made use of what in our country would be called waste lands. There she has raised game creatures and birds, and thus has been able to raise three-quarters of the food used in that country, whereas England raises only one-fifth, France one-third and Italy one-fourth. They rely on the outside producer. So many men going to war has upset the life of the small towns, so at the present time these nations cannot supply even that amount, they are depending upon us to help them out.

It is food shortage that takes the courage out of the people and the soldier also, we must not fail them. It is food famine which is behind the Russian trouble. England has sent one out of every seven men, France one out of six men to war, they are asking us for food for them, and we must deny ourselves the food that can be shipped to them, of which wheat and meats are the most valuable.

Milk and butter must take their place with us, but make soap at home, but send waste fats to the soap maker, because he can obtain glycerine from this as well as soap, and we shall need it in making munitions. We must do without sugar as that is absolutely necessary for the soldiers.

We must educate public opinion to follow the government. To be fair and do what is requested of us by those in authority; above all we must avoid hoarding.

Poor people cannot do this as they have not the money, the rich cannot as the eye of the public is upon them, it is the middle class who are the guilty ones, and must be made to realize that the food we send across to the Allies, is a great factor in the result of the war.

RED CROSS NEWS ITEMS.

Beginning March first no surgical dressings will be made on Tuesdays, the room being given up for the day to sewing. Those who can assist in this work are urgently invited to be present each Tuesday.

Tuesday and Thursday evenings the rooms will be open from 7.30 to 9.30 for the manufacture of surgical dressings.

On Thursday evenings a special table for non-sterile dressings is to be conducted and the men of the town are invited to undertake this work. A monitor to be chosen from the men will be in charge of this table.

The Red Cross rooms are now receiving very liberal working support. From the record that is kept of the workers it is now estimated about 290 are enrolled in this work.

Under the auspices of the Equal Suffrage, Mrs. Susan R. Campbell, No. 10 Sheffield road, has offered to assist the Red Cross sewing by opening her house every week-day except Mondays and Saturdays. Those able and willing to assist in this work are cordially invited to attend.

NARROW ESCAPE FOR BOY.

Robert Munro, 11 years of age, son of Chas. E. Munro of 79 Brookside avenue, narrowly escaped death at the Highlands Station Wednesday morning when he was struck by an express train. The boy stepped from behind the inward train leaving the station at five minutes of eight directly in front of the outward express due at about that time. He saw the approaching locomotive in time to partially turn back, but was struck a glancing blow on the upper leg and tossed to one side.

The police and physicians were called and the boy was taken in the police auto to the Winchester Hospital. It was at first thought that his leg was broken, but after two hours' observation at the Hospital he was taken to his home, none the worse for his experience except for a badly bruised leg.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrh that Hall's Catarrh Cure cannot cure. Send for circulars, free.

THRIFT STAMPS AND WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES.

Winchester Pupils Have Purchased $3337.18.

Upon the recommendation of Supt. Herron and Postmaster O'Connor, the Principal of each school building has been appointed a sub-agent for the sale of Thrift Stamps and War Savings Certificates. The Certificates of appointment are now being received and are causing much interest among the pupils.

The report for the week ending February 21, 1918, is covered below. Attention is called to the following facts:

(a) Almost exactly 50 percent of the pupils have bought Thrift Stamps, investing therefore an average of $4.43 for each one taking part and of $2.11 for each pupil in school not including one Kindergarten, one first and one second grade room, the only rooms in town in which to date no one has invested in Thrift Stamps.

(b) The eighth grade open room at the Walleigh. Mrs. Talcott's is the first room to pass 100 percent membership, and is the greatest total to its credit. The sixth grade at the Prince, Miss Pierce's room, has the highest average amount per pupil taking part, namely $19.36. Excluding one or two pupils in the latter the open air eighth is well in the lead.

Are you doing your part as well as the boys and girls?

REGENT THEATRE.

Pauline Frederick needs no introduction to the patrons of the motion picture theatres and her latest success "Mrs. Danes' Defense" produced by Paramount gives her ample opportunity to display her remarkable dramatic talent. It is an adaptation of the famous stage play of the same name and bids fair to rival it in popularity.

"Fields of Honor" the newest Goldwyn which starring Mae Marsh, is said to be the best play in which this popular screen artist has appeared. Her quaint personality is pronounced and wins for the dainty star new laurels whenever and wherever it appears.

In "Obliging A Million," a very unusual comedy is offered by Goldwyn, who chose Mabel Norman, a star of unusual ability, to play the leading role. Miss Norman already has a host of admirers among the fans of filmdom, and this success of this her latest production adds to the number each time it is screened.

A double attraction is promised when Douglas Fairbanks and Wm. S. Hart appear on the same bill. The versatile Douglas is at his best in "A Modern Musketeer," his latest Paramount production. Stunts and laughs are his mainstay always, and it would be impossible to describe all that are to be appreciated in "A Modern Musketeer."

In "Man Against Man," Big Bill Hart will hold you spellbound by the dramatic thrills which abound in this play.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

"Hamilton," in which George Arliss enters upon his third week at the Hollis Street Theatre, next Monday is a play says the Boston Transcript, out of American history when Philadelphia was the capital of the United States and Washington President, with Hamilton for chief figure, and room for Jefferson, Monroe, Giles of Virginia and other political worthies of the time. The piece yields novel interest, for the theatre, of time, place, personages and narrative; picture vividly and plausibly; moves variously, succinctly, dramatically. Mr. Arliss acts Hamilton not only with his usual acute sense and adroit means of characterization, but with unusual play of ardent feeling and fervent expression.

The matinee Wednesday and Saturday performances are scheduled for 2 o'clock, and the curtain rises each evening at 7.45, in compliance with the city regulations.

62 VOLUNTEERS.

The time for the enlistment of craftsmen in answer to the Government's call for ship builders, will expire this week. Winchester has answered the call to date by the enlistment of 62 of its citizens. The response has been particularly gratifying, as it was hardly anticipated this town could furnish so many.

The first 17 to enlist were announced in our last issue. Those who have enlisted since Friday are as follows:

Robert J. Winton, 650 Main st.
Francis W. Chamberland, 86 Middlesex st.
James Cameron, 49 Salem st.

SALVATION ARMY.

From time to time we have been in touch with your representative at National Headquarters in this city. My associate, Mr. Tichenor, as recently as last week, at Colonel Parker's request, wrote a letter to Commander Evangeline Booth, emphasizing the cordial understanding existing between the Salvation Army and the Young Men's Christian Association. There seems to be, as far as I can learn, not only delightful unity and understanding, but the absence of Duplication.

We have found it necessary to recognize that there are a number of organizations working in the field and it is a great advantage, therefore, to establish general relationships with all rather than to emphasize in written form any special relationship.

I trust most of the excellent suggestions in your letter may be found practical as related to nearly all of the agencies at work in the field, insuring cordial cooperation and unity.

With assurance of my appreciation of your helpful suggestions, I am,

Very truly yours,

(Signed) J. R. Mott.

Headquarters, 1st Battalion,
26th Infantry, France.

Major John E. Atkins,
The Salvation Army.

Dear Major Atkins:

I wish to thank you for the great work you have been doing here among the men of this battalion. You have added greatly to the happiness and contentment of us all; giving, as you have, an opportunity for good, clean entertainment and pleasure.

In religious work you have done much. As you know, this regiment has no Chaplain, and you have to a large extent taken the place of one here.

For myself, and on behalf of the officers stationed here, I wish to express my appreciation of the work you have been doing here, and hope that you have been doing here, and hope that you can accompany the battalion wherever the fortune of war may lead us.

Wishing you a very happy and successful year, I am,

Yours sincerely,

(Signed) Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.,
Major (USR) 26th Infantry.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts Executive Department.

February 15, 1918.

Colonel Adam Gifford,
Salvation Army Headquarters,
Boston, Mass.

My dear Colonel Gifford:

It gives me pleasure to add my words of approval to the very noble work that is being done by the Salvation Army for the men now serving the country. The Salvation Army has for many years been doing very valuable work, and the extension of its labors into the ranks of the soldiers has not lessened in any degree its power of accomplishment. It is in no sense a duplication of work, but working in conjunction with the Red Cross, the Knights of Columbus and the Y. M. C. A., the Salvation Army can render most efficient service. It should be the aim of every one of us in Massachusetts to assist in every way the work that is being done for the soldiers. We cannot do too much of this kind of work for them —they deserve and need it all. I urge everybody in Massachusetts to assist the Salvation Army in every way possible, to the end that Massachusetts may maintain her place in the forefront of the States of the Union who are assisting the work of the Army.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) Samuel W. McCall,
Governor.

It should be kept in mind that all the money raised in this drive will go for army work. The Boy Scouts will leave envelopes for Winchester subscriptions at our homes this Friday afternoon, and will collect them tomorrow, Saturday. It is in the earnest hope that Winchester will not forget the Salvation Army that I make this appeal.

Yours truly,

Howard J. Chidley.

MODERN THEATRE.

Prominent in the list of motion picture stars, possessed of an ingratiating personality which has placed her in the highest regard with picture patrons, Billie Burke stands for all that is best in motion pictures. Each new picture in which she is filmed is eagerly awaited by the great host of her devotees. Thus it is that there is the keenest of anticipation for the coming week's attraction at the Modern Theatre Boston, the beautiful photoplay that is to be the lure of New England's Miss Burke will be shown for the first times in the country in "Eve's Daughter," in which she plays the role of a wilful young girl whose positiveness gets her into a whole net of troubles, much of them humorous. The companion photoplay will be "Huck and Tom," in which Jack Pickford is seen again as Tom Sawyer picturing further adventures of Tom and Huck Finn. Need it be said that there is in store a pleasurable treat to the millions of Huck Finn's lovers? Thrilling as the adventures of these two best loved boys in the world are, any new ventures into romance of theirs has many a welcome hoped to find response. So next week shall be a calm one at the Modern Theatre.

COPLEY THEATRE.

With the beginning of its seventh week at the Copley Theatre Monday evening, "Inside the Lines" will find itself more firmly established than ever in the public favor. It is now the talk of the town.

"Have you seen 'Inside the Lines'?" is now the important and most frequently heard question of the hour, and whoever has not seen it is immediately urged to go to the Copley if he wishes to see one of the best plays of the season. The play is cleverly acted by the Henry Jewett Players, and the cast includes the full strength of an organization of players that is being widely accepted as the best company of its kind ever seen in Boston. The evening performances begin at 7.45 and the matinees next week will be on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 2.10. Seats are on sale at the box office, they may be ordered by telephone, or they may be obtained downtown at Filene's and Jordan's.

WOBURN THEATRE.

Douglas Fairbanks goes to the extremes in his endeavor to obtain realism. As an indication of this he recently took his entire company of fifty people from Los Angeles to Wyoming, in order to get the true background for his new Arteraft photoplay, "The Man from Painted Post," at the Woburn Theatre, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Most western pictures are staged in California and although the Fairbanks' studio is there, the actor-producer spent a week in transferring his producing organization to the real prairies and the exact locale of his story. Not satisfied with this he personally jounced to Cheyenne, where he signed up the champions of a Rodeo meet, in order to get the best effects in scenes showing the branding of cattle, reckless riding and roping of steers.

MIXED TOURNAMENT.

High Scores and Close Matches Mark Week's Games.

High scores and hard fought matches marked the games in the mixed bowling tournament at the Calumet Club during the week. In the week-end games the match between teams 6 and 11 was especially noticeable, each rolling strings over 500 and they being close. 6 held its lead by a win of two points, although it thus allows a first place tie. Team 3 lost its hold on third place by dropping all three to 8. Individual scores, as might be expected, ran high. The list of ladies was headed by Mrs. Snalye with a single of 97 and a total of 176. Mrs. Johnstone rolled 88 and 167, Mrs. Carleton 83 and 164, Mrs. Smalley 95, Mrs. Stephenson 85, Mrs. Crafts 83, Mrs. Brown 81, Mrs. Tucker 81, Mrs. Booth 81 and Mrs. Keepers 80. Mr. Lane rolled a fine game for team 8, making a total of 220 on a high single of 116. Mr. Stephenson also got some good figures, rolling 210 on a single of 115. Mr. Keepers got 207 with 104 for each. Mr. Perkins 205 with 110 and Mr. Hayward also got a single of 110.

WHAT OF SUNDAY?

Present-Day Desecration Due to Lust of Money.

The following sermon, on Sunday desecration, was preached recently by Rev. H ward ' Chidley, D. D., pastor of the Lo Church, and is reported by request:

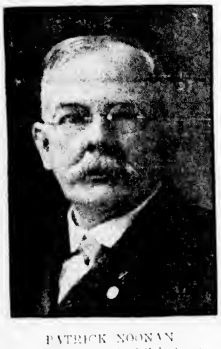

Exodus 2 :8 "Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it holy."

The winds of heaven are blowing upon a land not at all as they may have not spared one of our most ancient usages, Sunday. There is a tendency to revalue the day. The church, by various signs, shows it is not entirely sacred. Jewish and the world is in a not less critical mood. A large, and it seems, increasing section of the population has frankly given the religious interpretation of it the go-by. This is probably partly due to the influx of foreign population with their different ideals. Anything suggesting a Puritan Sabbath is an astonishment to foreigners.

A Parisian not many years ago said that London on Sunday was about as lively as the bottom of a well. And Sunday in some sections of America impresses the foreigner in the same way. But while one side regards our Sunday as being too Sabbatical, the other finds it not Sabbatical enough. Religion in almost every age has deplored its too feeble hold upon the day.

We hear Chrysostom, sixteen hundred years ago, in language that might be of yesterday, lamenting the sparse attendance at church as compared with the crowding at popular entertainments. Again in 1572 we hear Sir Nicolas Bacon, in opening Parliament, asking, "Why the common people in England universally come so seldom to common prayer and Divine Service?" And even back eight hundred years before Christ we find the Jews chafing under the suspension of business on the Sabbath, and asking impatiently "When will the new moon be gone that we may sell corn, and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheat?" You might think you were listening to a fourth-rate Monday conversation.

PATRICK NOONAN
Elected to Board of Selectmen

MRS. PETER SUTHERLAND.

Mrs. Elizabeth Doane Sutherland, widow of the late Peter Sutherland, passed away at her home No. 6 Bruce road, on Monday.

Mrs. Sutherland came to this town from Somerville about five years ago, purchasing the residence on which she died at Symmes corner. She was a member of the Doane Association of Colonial Families, of the Women's Baptist Social Union of Boston, the Winter Hill Baptist Church and other organizations, but it was to her family and home that the best of her life was given.

Through long years of illness she kept up her interest in things for the uplift of mankind, and never in the midst of suffering did she complain. The influence of such a life cannot be helpful in any community, and the world is better today because Mrs. Sutherland lived in it.

Her husband died in Somerville in 1901, and she is survived by three sons—Leander and Albert of Boston and Hansen C. of this town, and by four daughters Louise (Mrs. George S. Colton) of Easthampton, Evelyn (Mrs. Edward C. Amazeen) of Melrose Highlands, and Elizabeth (Mrs. Delbert Estabrook) and Miss Helen Sutherland of this town.

The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon from the residence at 2:30 o'clock and were conducted by Rev. Otis Foye and Associate Pastor Daniels of the Winter Hill Baptist Church. The burial was in the family lot in Woodlawn.

GEORGE M. LIBBY.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Horace K. Libby, 157 Forest street, were grieved to hear of the death of their son, George Munroe Libby, aged 17 years, which occurred Monday morning of pleuro pneumonia, after an illness of 12 days. The young man was a general favorite and attended the Huntington School, Boston, for 4 years, where he entered in all athletic sports and was a member of the Glee Club.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon, services being conducted by the Rev. Mr. Binks of Somerville, and the music was furnished by a mixed quartette. The burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

TOWN MEETING.

First Session Proves Economy the Watch Word.

That the citizens of this town are determined to conduct their municipal affairs this year on a strictly economic basis was ample demonstrated at the first session of the annual town meeting held Monday night. To be sure last year's sessions opened on the same lines, but the reins soon stubbornly to too much broke loose, only to come back into one at the close with even more stringent economy that it started out with. This year, however, it appears that a determined effort prevails to economize right through, as may be realized when it is stated that on Monday night the whole budget of regular appropriations went through as recommended by the Finance Committee with two exceptions; and in the first of these a short fight for an increase of $3500 was killed, and in the second a request for an appropriation of $2100 odd was cut.

Future articles to come up will probably be dealt with in a similar manner, for it appears that the voters are determined in their attitude. The possible exception may be, however, in adding motor fire equipment at Swanton street. This remains to be determined.

The request by the Park Board for $3500 for a swimming place on Wedge Pond was denied, and there was little opposition to the decision, although most of the voters undoubtedly felt the appropriation a worthy one.

FROM THE FIJI ISLANDS.

At the request of the editor of The Inland Printer, the leading technical printers magazine of the United States the management of the STAR provided a description of its system of bookkeeping and forms used for publication last summer. The Inland Printer was sufficiently complimentary to our system to give it considerable space in its issue of last November. This article attracted much attention among printers all over the continent, many letters being received at this office relative to the article. As illustrative of the wide-spread territory which they included, it may be said that publishers from Wareham, Mass.; Livermore, California; Parsshall, North Dakota; Gulf, New Mexico; Elizabeth, Ohio; Juneau, Alaska, and many other places wrote us. This week we received a letter from Suva, Fiji Islands, in connection with The Inland Printer's article and our system, it being from the office of the Western Pacific Herald. We feel highly complimented that our methods have found interest in such a remote quarter of the globe, and were pleased to accord the Herald the assistance requested.

SPECIAL AID NOTES.

In the Town Hall on Wednesday, March 6, Dr. Eliza T. Ransom of Boston, made an appeal to the people of Winchester for aid in her work and the saving of the babies of France. Her plead was "Build up France for the future."

Maternity cases in France are taken care of by what is called sage-femme or "wise women." These women are of the middle and lower classes who are trained for the work and licensed by the government.

Dr. Ransom will open a maternity hospital, probably in Paris, where the "wise women" are to take their patients and under her direction, are taught the most advanced methods of obstetrics and imperative need of perfect sterilization. The future mother will be given care and supervision when her case is first brought to their attention.

One dollar will save the life of one French baby. Dr. Ransom urges us to give, not only of our superfluity, but to deny ourselves that the people of France, who stand between us and the enemy, who have given their lives, their country,—their home, their all for the continuity of France, may be aided in saving the future generation.

80,000 French babies died last year! Dr. Ransom hopes to save 75,000 this year.

Everyone please help. Besides money, blanks and pledges for same are to be had at the Special Aid room, the following list of articles are needed and will be received and forwarded by the Special Aid. These articles will be gratefully received.

Blankets, Towels, Tape, Combs, Talcum, Candles, Candle sticks, Matches, Thread, Needles, Hammocks, Drinking Cups, Straws, Measuring Glasses, Bed pans (Perfection) Soap, Soap Dishes, Pillows, Pillow Cases, Comfortables, Tooth Brushes, Cotton, Gauze and White Stockings.

BASKET BALL.

The Winchester High School Basket ball team plays Winthrop High in the School Gym Saturday, Mar. 9, at 8 p. m. Winthrop holds first place in the Suburban League, Winchester occupying second place, with an excellent opportunity to clinch the league pennant by winning this game.

Our boys are quite confident that they will defeat Winthrop and are hoping to have a large crowd on hand. The people of the town have not supported this team very well and should turn out in large numbers to witness this important game.

Winchester High is represented by a very formidable five this season winning four out of six League games. Although Winthrop has a much heavier team Winchester expects to turn the tables on them.

JONAS A. LARAWAY
Re-elected to Board of Selectmen

MOVING PICTURE THEATRE.

Mr. Hovey Not Interested In Any Such Enterprise.

Editor of the Star :

In the Star of March 1st you published an article marked "Political Advertisement" in which it was pretty plainly implied that I had a corrupt purpose in supporting Mr. Davidson as a candidate for the office of selectman. It was insinuated that in return for my support Mr. Davidson if elected was to use his influence and vote to obtain for me a license for a moving picture theatre. The Rev. Howard J. Chidley gave this article further publicity by referring to it in his sermon Sunday morning and has created a situation which seems to make it necessary for me to set myself right in public opinion.

I desire to say at the outset that I never have been interested and never have intended to interest myself financially nor in any other way in the moving picture business. Some months ago a real estate broker called me to his office to see a picture showing the front elevation of a proposed moving picture theatre to be erected in Worcester and asked for and obtained from me an option to purchase, subject to certain guarantees, of a lot located on Church street, of which I am part owner. So far as I know there had not at that time developed any opposition to the idea of establishing such a theatre in our town. While I do not think there is necessarily anything reprehensible about the moving picture business, yet had I known of any strong objection to having such a place of amusement located here I would undoubtedly have deferred to public sentiment and have refused an option.

By experience I have found that since out of these promotions whereby never live beyond the blue print stage, so after giving option for a sale which seemed very unlikely ever to be consummated I dismissed the matter from my mind. This explains my whole connection with the moving picture business.

I did not know until a day or two ago that anyone had ever applied to the selectmen for a license for this theatre. I did not know that Mr. Davidson had ever voted to grant a moving picture license and I did not know nor care whether if elected this year he would or would not vote favoring granting such a license. It so happens that prior to publishing of the article in your paper last week I had not seen Mr. Davidson, nor held any communication with him directly or indirectly on any subject political or otherwise, for probably at least six months. My letter favoring Mr. Davidson's candidacy was written and published at the request of a gentleman or group of gentlemen interested in good government in this town and who felt that Mr. Davidson's long experience and good record in public office made his election much to be desired.

Now the real author of this misleading and cowardly article in last weeks STAR,—cowardly because it deals in innuendo and insinuations—the writer not daring to state as facts his alleged suspicions,—cowardly also because he seeks to hide behind the obscure identity which signs itself "E. W. Comfort," was willing to impugn my reputation simply to pay off a political grudge against a candidate for office whom I happened to prefer. I leave it to my fellow-citizens to decide whether he has most hurt himself or me.

Yours truly,
Freeland E. Hovey.

TO GO TO FRANCE.

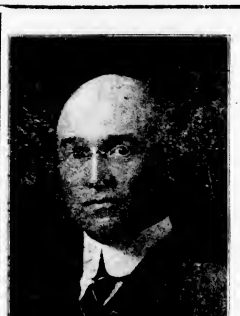

Supt. Herron and Principal Bell Leave in April.

Winchester will lose two of its most efficient school officials this spring when Superintendent of Schools, Schuyler F. Herron, and Principal Joseph H. Bell, head of the Wadleigh School said for France to take up Y. M. C. A. work.

For the past two months these two men have been in correspondence with the Boston Y. M. C. A. committee with regard to this work. Last week they were requested to go to New York and confer with the general committee. As a result they were appointed to the educational work in France under direction of the Association.

They will sail the first or second week in April on a date not definitely fixed, but not before the first of the month. They have signed agreements to serve for the duration of the war, with at least 18 months in France. This means that while they may be able to visit their homes during the war, they will not receive any furlough for at least 18 months.

Supt. Herron came to Winchester in 1907, taking the position at the head of the schools. He came from Mexico City, where he was Supt. of the American School Association. Previous to that position he was located at Northampton. Principal Heffron came here in 1909 from Saco, Me.

SCHUYLER F. HERRON.

The work upon which they will enter will be along similar lines to that which Rev. Joel H. Metcalf, who left last week, will engage in, and they will be presumably with the American Forces now are fighting [illegible] it is presumed that they will [illegible] a leave of absence by the School Committee, although some final action has not yet been taken by that committee.

JOSEPH H. HEFFLON

A FEW WORDS FROM MR. DAVIDSON.

Editor of the Star:

Will you kindly allow me space in the Star to answer the unreserved eleventh hour political advertisement of last week. The writer of that article mentions several things that he claims were against my ability as a public official and I shall try to answer each of them as he gave them. First he intimates that I might be in partnership with Mr. Hovey in a deal to get a moving picture license in Winchester whereby Mr. Hovey could dispose of a certain piece of land on Church street. I never knew until the article of last week that any one had petitioned last year's board for a license; neither did I know that Mr. Hovey had any land on Church street for sale. Although I was in favor of granting a picture license four years ago when conditions were much different, I had not since expressed myself to anyone, and never was even asked about it until last Saturday, after the STAR had been read, when I told several who inquired as to my stand on movies that I was opposed to any being allowed in Winchester at this time.

Second he asks what reason I could advance to justify my election now when I had held for three years the highest office in the gift of the Town. After the majority of last year's board had expressed themselves as not candidates for re-election, I was urged by many of the citizens, representing every section of the Town, to allow my name to again come before the Town for Selectman. They argued with me that this was a time when we should all make sacrifices and that the Town needed now, as never before, men of experience on their governing boards and that although the men who had signified their intention of running were all good men of proved business ability, yet they had with one exception had no experience in Town affairs, and the

FORCES ENTERED.

Thieves Busy About Town This Week.

[illegible] four houses were reported entered during the week past in Winchester. Most, if not all, of the items appeared to have been made on Monday night, and in every case they were in houses either vacant, or where the owners were temporarily absent.

The residence of George G. Kellogg on Church street was found to have been entered by Officer Beardsley Monday night. Glass in the front door had been forced and the door opened from the inside. The family are absent in Vermont, and it is not known at this time whether anything was taken or not, it being reported by the police that nothing was taken, although some of the drawers in upstairs rooms had been ransacked.

The residence of Mrs. F. A. Fultz on Oxford street was found to have been entered Tuesday night by Officer Rogers. This house had been entered in the same way, by the front door, but as it was vacant, there was nothing for the thief to take.

The residence of Charles T. Kellogg on Lakeview road was another place entered. This house was also unoccupied by the family, although the valuables were still left there. The only thing taken so far as is now known was a child's bank, which was broken open by an axe and about $8 stolen from it.

At the residence of Ernest H. Pierce on Central street the thieves got their largest haul, taking a diamond ring and a diamond pin. This house was entered Monday night while Mr. and Mrs. Pierce were at the theatre, the thief climbing a trellis on the outside and going in through an open window.

A [illegible] fact is that in three of the [illegible] such valuable loot was passed by untouched, and that in three of the cases the entrance was effected in the same way by breaking or beating out the leaded glass in the front door, reaching in and opening the door from the inside. Burnt matches were found on the floors in all of the houses.

IRMA MacKENZIE READS.

The war relief concert given last evening at William Parkman Lodge was largely attended by members and their friends, a substantial sum being realized from the affair for the relief work. The feature of the program was the work of Miss Irma MacKenzie, the popular young reader, who donated her services and whose numbers were greatly enjoyed by the audience. During the evening selections of high merit were rendered by the Winchester Trio. The success of the affair was in a large measure due to the energetic efforts of George A. Barron, who headed the committee in charge.

GEORGE C. OGDEN
Elected to Board of Selectmen

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

It is no easy matter for a man to steer a straight and true course through the confused maze which we call life. It is out of the question to do so unless there is at least an honest attempt to see things as they are. Here is where the practical value of vision comes in. In a sense the whole future is staked on every step we take and every choice we make. Wisdom is not, and cannot be the portion of all. But most every man and woman in Winchester can attain to some degree of clearness of vision. It is possible to guard against self-deception, and to maintain a hospitable attitude toward all truth, no matter from whence it comes. There is a form of self-mistrust—Abraham Lincoln had it—that is a great help, as is the beautiful Lincoln humility. It is usually possible not to do a thing, not to form or at least not to act on a certain judgment. Really strong natures have, in great crises, wanted for guidance. The man in a hurry" is a dangerous person dangerous to himself as well as to others.

No Winchesterite can lay out his life with mathematical exactness, for men cannot know the future; but they can know the past, and can pay due heed to the facts that press on them from every side, and to the forces amid which they move. They can be honest in dealing with them, and ever strive to get more light. A listening heart and a teachable spirit are great helps to right living and wise action. Men of true vision have never been without these. It is they who "rise and obey the beck of the Spirit," and it is to such men, and not to the warriors, or the builders of material civilization, that the world has ever looked, and ever must look, for vision. Its reliance must be, as always, on the prophets, philosophers, poets and saints. What it longs for is the supremacy of Righteousness.

It is through vision that one gets a correct sense of relative values. Nothing is more necessary than that. For plenty of men right here in Winchester are confronted every day by choices of the most difficult character. The choice is always between the lower and the higher. Which is the question always is, the more important, which will most helpfully minister to a man's life? It is a case of relative values. Some sort of faith a man must have, and it ought to be faith in the best. He cannot make the right choice unless he sees the best as it is, and the worst as it is. There are all sorts of gradations between them, and often the decision is not easy. Men cannot choose one thing without giving up other things which shall be taken, and which surrendered? It is again, as it always is, a question of relative values. To see clearly, and to act honestly in the light of the knowledge won this is at least a large part of life.

Some forms of failure in truth telling are mechanical in charater. There is no intentional misrepresentation, no conscious dishonesty. Things do not fit together because they have been carelessly shaped. Strict accuracy in angles has not been attended to, and one irregularity sets the whole structure askew. Manual training has high moral value as well as mental and manual benefit. There is no such thing as near right. Things have to be just right or they are all wrong. So while some Winchesterites may be not truthful and yet honest, the effect in both instances is the same. A misplaced switch causes the same loss of life, whether due to carelessness or crime. An inaccuracy may do quite as much harm as a lie. Therefore, Dr. Johnson's famous recipe for the case of the boy who said he was looking out of one window when he was really looking out of another is not wholly out of date. Pain ought to follow, and in some way does follow, the habit of saying what we like because we like it, and of making statments by embroidery rather than by plain conformity.

MILK WAGON UPSET.

While having his nose bag adjusted preparatory to feeding, a horse attached to a milk wagon of the White Farm, owned by E. W. Davis, and driven by Michael McHale of Purlington place, took fright and ran away Tuesday afternoon. The horse was on Thompson street when it started, and in turning into Waterfield road the wagon struck a hydrant and the Telephone Company standing there.

The wagon was overturned and the horse thrown. McHale being able to hold him. The milk wagon was badly damaged and its contents spilt over the sidewalk and street, making a bad mess of broken glass and milk. The horse was slightly cut on one leg also. No damage was done to the auto.

A POVERTY PARTY.

A poverty party for the benefit of the Special Aid Wood Fund is to be held at the Calumet Club on the evening of Friday, April 5th. The affair promises to be a big success and is the first of its kind to be given here in a number of years.

The ladies in charge hope to raise $100 by the affair and are planning an evening which will furnish much enjoyment. An exceptionally fine orchestra has been already secured. A feature of the evening will be the fancy dress of all who attend in evening or street costume, it being the intention to compel everyone to wear costume in keeping with the affair.

TOWN ELECTION.

Result a Surprise to All in Contest For Selectmen.

The annual town election Monday resulted in a surprise to almost every voter in the contest for Selectmen. With nine candidates in the field for five positions, it had generally been conceded that the first four were named previous to the election, the fifth only being uncertain.

The results however, completely upset the calculations. Many thought former Selectman George T. Davidson would head the ticket. No one, hardly, but what placed him at least second. The result of the election did not give him a place, and this defeat put another of the men not previously counted in on the board among the first five.

The board elected constitute Messrs. Jonas A. Laraway, the only member of last year's board to come up for re-election, Herbert L. Cox, the first man to run for town office from the west side hills for many years, Sewall Newman, well known as a real estate and insurance broker, George C. Ogden, prominent as a builder, and Patrick Noonan, a member of the Eastern Fuel Co.

There was a good vote, especially heavy during the early morning hours, a large labor vote, so-called, being cast. The total number of ballots cast was 1019 men and 36 women. Collector F. Nelson Hawley proved to be the most popular candidate, he receiving 740 votes for the office in recognition of his unfailing courtesy and prompt attention to his duties during his few months' service in that position.

Moderator Ives was flatteringly elected, receiving 645 votes and defeating Mr. Tuck. Aside the contest for Moderator and Selectmen the ballot contained nothing except the routine list of officers.

AN INTERESTING INCIDENT

An interesting story is attached to the presentation at William Parkman Lodge last week to Mr. Charles William Morrill of Rangeley of the Masonic identification medal of his son, Charles Warren Morrill.

Charles Warren Morrill attended the Plattsburg Camp, received his commission as Lieutenant and was assigned to the Quartermasters Corps at Fort Strong. Subsequently he went to France.

While in France he lost his Masonic medal. It was found and came into the possession of a French woman. She showed it to an American soldier from Covington, Kentuckey, who purchased it of her and sent it to the Woburn Royal Arch Chapter, from whence it was issued to Lieut. Morrill. His mark was recognized and the medal sent to William Parkman Lodge to be given his father, and it will be returned to him.

Thus the young man's medal, lost in France, will be returned again to him after travelling to his home and back.

CONSERVE THE SUDS.

Editor of the Star:

In these days of high efficiency and competent conservation is it not an almost criminal waste to allow the fine crop of suds under the Main street bridge to go to waste? Is our town to be ranked among the slackers of this Commonwealth? Are we to admit before everyone our inefficiency to utilize one of our largest waste products?

Competent judges estimate the volume of suds would easily fill a freight car each day; if a concentrator plant were erected and the suds solidified and made into briquettes, possibly as high as 100 pounds a day could be realized.

There appears to be no question as to the fact that the suds contain many chemicals of value including much ammonia, largely used in munition manufacture. Indeed it appears impossible that such thick, chocolate brown suds could possibly be analyzed and found lacking in many important elements.

Why not create a town board, erect a suitable plant, employ competent chemists and put this great waste to commercial use. The supply appears to be practically inexhaustible, for two years ago the chairman of our Board of Selectmen informed us that one winter would see its disappearance, and now, with two winters almost gone by, it is still here thicker than ever; in fact it is an important feature of our river, and one which never fails to excite the comments of our visitors.

I trust this matter will receive adequate investigation by our town and a report made, for I feel sure our citizens stand ready to make the necessary appropriation for any plant or apparatus needed in the work of reclamation, or even in the creation of a new town department and force of laborers to carry on the work, especially as this will relieve the munition manufacturers and others, from whose works this valuable material is reported to escape. No doubt they would be glad to pay a proper price for the recovered product.

Let us all work together and prove our efficiency by a constructive and comprehensive program. Let it not be said that Winchester has failed to do her bit.

Yours for efficiency,
Conservation.

OPENING AND CLOSING RULES CANCELLED.

Winchester, Mass.
March 4th, 1918.

We have received the following communication from Mr. James J. Storrow, Massachusetts Fuel Administrator.

On Wednesday morning March 6, all opening and closing rules issued by the Massachusetts Fuel Administration will be cancelled. After this date the only order remaining in effect will be the nine-o'clock order establishing Thursday and Sunday as lightless nights, and we should like you to give such publicity to this fact as is necessary to fully inform your district.

Although these rules are removed, it should be clearly understood that the fuel situation is in critical condition, and therefore, every form of fuel economy should still be practiced that is possible without seriously curtailing business.

I want to thank most sincerely the citizens of our community for their cooperation in observing and making effective these rules which though necessary, certainly have been irksome to all of us. In no other way could we have kept going this winter many activities essential to the general welfare.

Very truly yours,
John A. Peters, Chairman.
James J. Fitzgerald,
Henry A. Emerson, Secretary.

PELLIGRINO RECEIVES LIFE SENTENCE.

The case of Antonio Pelligrino charged with murder of his wife, Louise Pelligrino, in Winchester on January 19, was called at the Superior Court, Cambridge, before Mr. Justice McLaughlin Monday. The defendant retracted his previous plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree. District Attorney Tufts accepted the plea in behalf of the Commonwealth and immediately moved for sentence. Pelligrino was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor at State Prison at Charlestown. This is the case in which the defendant was traced by the local police and officers of the District Attorney's office and finally located and arrested in Patterson, N. J.

The case of Sylvester Parham, charged with murder of Frank Roberts in Winchester on December 23, is now on trial at Cambridge before Mr. Justice McLaughlin and a jury. The defendant is represented by John Schenk and Isadore Fox. District Attorney Tufts is trying the case for the Commonwealth.

MID-WINTER TOURNAMENT.

One Series During Week Makes Little Change.

One series of matches in the mid-winter bowling tournament at the Calumet Club was rolled during the week past, it resulting in little change in the standing. Team A, by a straight win over team B, went into fifth position, and team G, the tail-enders, went up two steps by a like win from team H.

The scores were not large, but the matches were as a whole hard fought and in the cases of A vs B and G vs H were very close. Corey was the only bowler to distinguish himself, he rolling 301 with 119 for high single. Dolben and Taylor rolled singles of 112, Pitman 108, Wood 102 the two Olmsteds 101 each and Bond and Abbott 100.

TOWN MEETING.

The motion to open the southerly end of the street across the pond by a purchase of the Miller property on Railroad avenue was carried, it calling for something over $2400, but this was not voted without a full discussion and on the recognition that it was a long and much needed improvement.

The next session of the meeting will be held on Monday night, at which it very probable that the warrant will be completed.

The meeting opened promptly with Moderator Ives in the chair and a good attendance. The reading of the election results was followed by the moderator swearing in the new officers.

Governor McCall's proclamation asking for support for the war savings campaign was read and Mr. Packhurst read the resolution issued by Robert F. Herrick, director of the Public Safety Committee of Massachusetts, urging support of the Government's war savings plan.

Article 6 was taken up and the Treasurer authorized to borrow money to defray expenses in anticipation of the taxes.

Article 2 was then taken up. The first business under this article was the acceptance of the report of the Finance Committee as printed.

Chairman Lewis Parkhurst of the Committee on Public Safety then offered the following resolution, it being added that a copy should be sent to every man in service by the Town Clerk:

Voted: That we, the citizens of Winchester, in town meeting assembled, send cordial and affectionate greetings to our sons now in the military and naval service of their country, and assure them of our hearty appreciation of their courage and devotion to duty which inspired them to answer their country's call in its time of great peril and to be ready to give life itself, if need be, to save that democracy which is so dear to every American from the utter destruction which threatens it at the hands of a despotic autocracy. Wherever they be, whether in the training camps, upon the high seas, or upon the battlefields of France or Flanders, our hearts go out to them in love and affection and we assure them of our never-failing support, and of our confidence in their ability and willingness to defend the honor of the town, State and nation in a manner creditable to us all.

The above vote was carried unanimously by a rising vote.

Under article 5 the sum of $67,000 was voted to meet the town debt.

Article 4 covered the appropriations. Before taking up the list, Chairman Edward S. Mansfield of the Finance Committee made his report on the conditions and work of his group in compiling their recommendations. Mr. Mansfield's talk was one of best we have heard from the head of a similar committee. He spoke of the necessity of curtailment owing to the war, urged economy as a patriotic duty and touched upon the general aims of the committee in its endeavor to raise salaries where necessary to provide a fair living wage and promote increased benefit through incitement to additional efficiency. He received many compliments upon his speech at the close of the meeting.

The exception to a universal acceptance of the figures recommended by the Finance Committee was the appropriation for Parks and Playgrounds. This appropriation called forth a request for an increase of $3500 over the recommendation of $3315, chairman Alfred B. Carhart requesting the addition for the purpose of providing a suitable place for swimming on the Town's new playground on Wedge Pond.

He stated that this was the only place in town where the children could now bathe in unpolluted water; it had never been developed, although largely used, and was greatly needed.

Mr. Mansfield replied that his committee recognized the advantages to be derived, but felt it to be one of the least essentials in consideration of appropriations and one of the best to curtail. The plan was not adequate and could not be properly carried out with the money requested; the purity of the water was in question, and he felt the matter could wait.

Selectman Laraway followed with considerable oratory and supported the committee's attitude, whereupon Mr. Davidson took the floor, and by means of a plan endeavored to change rapidly forming opposition opinion. He felt the place greatly needed, did not think the water at all harmful, and felt the Town could well afford the small appropriation.

Mr. Craughwell approved Mr. Laraway's ideas and felt the water was not suitable.

The resulting vote was unanimously opposed to the appropriation.

Article 5 brought forth a report from the joint committee on the street across the pond as follows:

The town meeting of March 12, 1917, voted as follows—Articles 26 and 27—Voted, that the Selectmen and members of the Planning Board and Park Board be a committee to consider and report to the town at a future town meeting alternative routes for the extension of the street across the pond to Mt. Vernon street, together with their recommendations thereon; that the subject matter of Articles 26 and 27 be referred also to said committee, and that, pending their report, the street and building line layouts referred to in said articles be laid upon the table.

The Board of Selectmen, the Planning Board and the Park Board met as a joint committee at the Town Hall on December 19, 1917, and after discussion of all conditions and considerations to be taken into account in this matter, unanimously adopted the following motion:—

This joint committee recommends that the town acquire the Miller property and make a connection between Railroad avenue and the temporary path already existing on park land.

The joint committee favors the immediate laying out of a street 45 feet in width, under the Board of Survey Act, to extend from the northerly terminus of Winchester place as now laid out as a public way to the southerly line of Park land about 250 feet, and it further recommends that this proposed street shall not be constructed during 1918.

This report was presented by former chairman of the Selectmen Robert B. Metcalf, who said the committee felt the matter could be left to the Town to decide what action should be taken as best suited it. The report was received and the committee discharged.

Mr. Metcalf then offered the following vote:

Voted, that the board of Park Commissioners be authorized to purchase or to take by eminent domain for park purposes the whole or part of the property now or formerly of Mary H. Miller situated on Railroad avenue and adjoining the north park land of the town; and that the sum of $2,468.75 be raised by revenue and appropriated to cover the estimated expense thereof, to be expended under the direction of said board.

This vote, Mr. Metcalf said, offered a solution to a needed improvement by means of the cheapest method. Mr. Pond of the Planning Board felt that the matter should be laid on the table pending the production of a plan showing the route.

Selectman Laraway favored the vote. He felt the citizens at the north end of the town had waited long enough for this street; now that they had it all but the entrance it should be given them. Mr. Holland wanted it; it had been long asked.

Messrs. Craughwell and Emerson favored waiting, but Atty. J. E. Fitzgerald and Mr. Charles S. Smith asked that the Town grant the request and give the people a long sought improvement at a small sum. Town Counsel Dutch also favored the appropriation.

A vote resulted in the appropriation being granted 214 to 11.

The meeting then adjourned.

CHAIRS WANTED FOR THE RED CROSS ROOMS.

The Kelley & Hawes Company have very kindly loaned the Branch the chairs which it has used since it opened its rooms; this has inconvenienced the Company at times when the chairs were needed for its own use.

We, therefore, ask those of our citizens who may have a chair or two tucked away in their attic, or somewhere else, that they do not need and are willing to loan the Branch while the work is carried on at the rooms, to notify George W. Blanchard & Company on the phone, Winchester 1300, and they will call for the chairs as they have kindly offered to do.

The Branch needs some sixty chairs, and the chairs wanted are those having straight backs with cane or wooden seats, but without arms and without upholstery.

Mark your chairs for identification that they may be returned to you when the work at the rooms is over.

Fred Joy,
Chairman.

Interesting Temperature Comparison for February.

We print an interesting temperature comparison for the month of February showing the difference between 1917 and 1918. The figures are furnished through the courtesy of Mr. William H. Gorham, who for years has kept tabs on the mercury records in Winchester. It is notable that notwithstanding all our cold weather, last year was colder for February than this year—something that most of us would immediately deny without the proof of the figures. Also, most of us would give a three months' comparison much the benefit of 1917-18 with regard to the coldest weather, whereas the difference is only about 67 degrees.

Winchester should go "light" on its appropriations this year. No one can tell what is before the town and country this year. Our needs will be great for the prosecutions of this war. When our injured boys come home we should assist and comfort them.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, in discussing the food question at Ford Hall, Boston, last week, made fun of some of the "substitutes" pointed to cases of unfair discrimination and suggested that flour with 20 per cent substitute be sent to the allies, adding: "If they want to starve, let them starve." This looks to be pretty near pro-German.

It may be good policy for the citizens who attended town meeting Monday evening, to pass the entire list of appropriations without objection or explanation except in one instance. We can imagine a town meeting of twenty years ago doing such a thing. It is true that we are in the midst of a great war, but that should not prevent scanning of all the appropriations and discussion, if necessary.

Postoffice deliveries in Boston are pretty slow and uncertain. A letter sent The day afternoon last week reached its destination Friday morning. A parcel post package containing printed matter sent to West Medford on the same day and time reached its destination Wednesday, this week. The work had to be done over again and a fresh start made. Conditions in the Boston office appear to be very bad, and there seems to be cause for complaint.

Our boys in camp, the trenches and on the seas were not forgotten by the citizens at the town meeting Monday evening. It is well to remember these boys who are fighting the battles for they young and old and the preservation of liberty. But let us not forget them also, when they come back home, no matter what may be their condition. We saw the Blue-coated boys march up State street on the way to the front many years ago since, and we saw only one of them as they came back. We never will forget it. And the State and country has shown their gratitude to them. And such will be the case when our boys come back.

The last obstacle to a street across the pond has been removed. And thus ends an agitation that has extended over nearly fifty years. This street, it was estimated many years ago, would cost $50,000 or more to build and that the filling dumped in would never find a bottom. The result has been that the dirt did find a bottom and that the expense instead of being $50,000 or more, has cost the town about $7,500,—this includes $2,500 for the purchase of the Miller property at the foot of Railroad avenue. And best of all, there has not been an accident from walking on the tracks of the railroad since the street or path was started and people could reach the centre of the town over it.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING.

March 5, 1918.

The new Board elected March 4, 1918, held its first regular meeting at 7.30 p. m. All members were present. The Selectmen's Room was decorated with a beautiful basket of roses, presented with the compliments of a friend to the Board of Selectmen of 1918. It was voted that these roses be sent to the Winchester Home For Aged People.

Selectmen's Department, Committee: The Chairman announced the following committees for the current year:

Accounts and Elections, Messrs. Newman and Noonan; Corporations, Messrs. Laraway and Ogden; Grade Crossing, Messrs. Noonan and Ogden; Police and Licenses, Messrs. Cox and Laraway; State Aid and Soldiers' Relief, Mr. Cox; Street Lights, Messrs. Cox and Ogden; Town Hall, Messrs. Ogden and Noonan; Ways and Bridges, Messrs. Laraway, Newman and Ogden; Fire Department, Messrs. Laraway and Noonan.

A letter was received from Clark C. Griffith, Director General of the Ball and Bat Fund, Washington, D. C., asking for the list of barbers and their addresses, in Winchester. The Clerk was instructed to send this letter to Mr. Bernard F. Mathews.

The meeting adjourned at 10.00 o'clock p. m.

George S. F. Bartlett,
Clerk of Selectmen.

TO THE VOTERS OF WINCHESTER.

The election of the Town officers has come and gone and you have honored me by returning me to membership of the Board of Selectmen. In addition to the honor of being elected by the citizens to the Board, they, my colleagues of the Board have still further honored me by choosing me as their Chairman without contest for the honor.

To me, this double honor is more acceptable than almost any other favor which could be conferred on me. I have been a citizen of Winchester for twenty-seven years and have always borne my level best to appreciate the privilege of being a resident of this glorious country we all love. If it is my good fortune to be another twenty-seven years I shall try to do credit to the confidence you have in my Town. I desire at this time to sincerely thank all those who have so kindly supported me in my several contests for the honor of serving my fellow townsmen and I trust assure them and those who have not voted for me, that I shall strive to the best of my ability to advance the interests of Winchester in every fair and proper way and to see that they get the best value possible for their money expended.

MIXED BOWLING TOURNAMENT.

Teams Closely Bunched at Last Lap Begins.

Week-end games in the mixed tournament at the Calumet Club saw little change in standing. Team 12, tied with team 13, passed the latter six by winning two points from them in a fairly close game, and team 5, holding down second place, retained its position by a win of all three from team 7. The scores as a whole were rather below the previous week. Mrs. Hayward was an exception with her single of 102 and total of 173, which aided team 5 materially. Mrs. Clark rolled 86 and 166, Miss Parshley 81 and 161, Mrs. Perkins 84, Mrs. Booth 81 and Mrs. Bowe 80. Mr. Keepers led the men, making the best single with 104. Mr. Tutein was the only other man to top 100, he making 101.

WINCHESTER, MASS.

MR. FITZGERALD TO MR. IVES.

Editor of the Star:

In last week's edition of the Star, appeared a letter written by Mr. F. M. Ives; the letter was for a two-fold purpose. First, to let the voters know that he was a candidate; second, that I had made a protest, but I fail to see a copy of the protest in his letter. Now if he has any protest, as he tries to make the voters believe, I request him at my expense to have it printed, for the benefit of the readers. I will tell the readers there was no protest, it is the same old story, "Charlie and Public were playing tag" and using the public for their football. In the first place it takes two to make a bargain and most men will give their opinion after hearing two sides of a question; briefly we will see what chapter 835 says. This chapter is the election laws of 1913; section 231 of the above chapter states, that no person shall at a town election be eligible or act as an election officer in a voting precinct in which he is a candidate for election. Now that seems plain and there is only one word in the above sentence which would be difficult for the average man to understand—the word "precinct," taking the dictionary for our guide means the whole territory comprehended within the limits of authority bounds of jurisdiction, in this case means the town lines, as they have been established. When you go to the Town Hall to vote you are casting your ballot in the town's voting precinct. Then no wonder the committee at the State House would say, there is no need to change the law, for it is well understood that no candidate shall be in a position to have the records and votes of his opponent before him, and if there is any dispute in a close vote, to say, that he shall decide the election. Further, the voters should understand that the Edison Light Co. has a contract of over ten thousand (10,000) dollars with the Town of Winchester. The firm of Wardwell, Burdett and the same Mr. Ives appear many times in private as their counsel. When the town will have a few questions to settle with the Edison Light Co. will Mr. Ives appear as their counsel, He appears to be losing some sleep over my managers, as he calls them, and as he believes in preparedness I would advise him to take home with him the pedestal and his gavel, for if things work out right, I will have the honor of presenting a brand new set next year to one of my managers.

P. S. Please call again.

P. E. Fitzgerald.

IMPORTANT COAL NOTICE.

The allotment to be made by the Government of Anthracite coal for the Town of Winchester from April 1st, 1918 to April 1st, 1919, will be apportioned by the average amount used during the past three years. The Fuel Committee of Winchester, hereby ask all those who have purchased coal outside of our local dealers, in order that we may have these figures to add to the amount sold by our local dealers. Our report must be made to the Massachusetts Fuel Administrator not later than March 12th, 1918. It is absolutely necessary that we receive this information previous to that date, so that we may be able to obtain from the Government a suitable allotment of coal to meet our needs during the coming year.

Jere A. Downs, Chairman,
James J. Fitzgerald,
Henry A. Emerson, Secretary,
Fuel Committee, Town of Winchester.

Winchester, March, 7th, 1918.

MR. McKENZIE WANTS INFORMATION.

Editor of the Star:

There will appear in the Legislature shortly a bill upon which our representative will have to vote, and as there are a number of his constituents interested in it we would like to know whether he is going to represent us, or the Sabbath Protection League. Don't bother about "crossing the bridge when you come to it." Lots of fellows fall in when they get there.

Yours respectfully,
Edward McKenzie,
5 Middlesex street,
Winchester.

MRS. STILLMAN NICHOLS.

Mrs. Hannah F. Nichols, widow of Stillman Nichols, died at the Home for Aged People on Tuesday. She was in her 83rd year.

Mrs. Nichols was a native of Lee, N. H., her parents being Stephen and Anna (Kenniston) Durgin. She had made her home in this town for many years. Her husband was an expert cabinet maker and well known as a maker of piano cases. He was a member of the firm of Cowdery, Cobb & Nichols, which purchased the business years ago of Church & Lane, who were the first firm to make piano cases in New England.

Her husband died a little over a year ago, and she had been an inmate of the Home since last September. Her death was due to pneumonia, she being sick but ten days.

She is survived by one son only, Mr. Arthur Nichols of Medford.

The funeral services were held from the Home yesterday afternoon at 2.30 and were conducted by Rev. D. Augustine Newton of Reading. The burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

THE WISHING RING.

The "Wishing Ring," a highly pleasing musical fantasy, will be presented under the auspices of the Pop Concert Committee, in the Town Hall, on Easter Monday, April 1, at 7.15 p. m. This will take the place of the usual concert and will be followed by a ball, during which refreshments will be served.

The "Wishing Ring" is a musical extravaganza and requires a large cast, elaborate costuming and much scenic lighting efforts.

The production is somewhat on the order of the "Blue Bird" and "Peter Pan." It represents the dream of two small children, who wandering through "Story Book Land," make the acquaintance of Simple Simon, Marjorie Daw and many others. The plot is consistent and clever, interspersed with tuneful music and pretty spectacular. The cast will include about two hundred people, representing Nymths, Roses, Daisies, Corn Flowers, Sprites, Snowdrops, Suffragettes and many other interesting creatures of Story Book fame.

These are serious times, and thinking women and girls appreciate the need for their services to fill the places from which the men have been called.

We have good employment for such women and girls.

A FEW WORDS FROM MR. DAVIDSON.

exception had had less than a year in Town office. Feeling myself that the Town at large might disapprove by not realizing how necessary some knowledge of municipal government is, especially at this time when costly errors of judgment made through ignorance rather than intention are deplorable, I refused to become a candidate. Finally three days before the time expired for filing nomination papers I, against the wishes of my own family, allowed those citizens to fill out the paper, which they did. I did not in any way wish however do anything to help my election or urge people to vote for me. Not one penny did I spend nor even take any one to the Polls to vote. Compare this with what my opponents did and then judge if I had any selfish reason for desiring re-election.

Third: he accuses me of putting through Governor's avenue and of thereby putting the Town to an unwarranted expense. Governor's avenue was the result of a development north of Park avenue, and was the plan proposed by the Town Engineer Mr. Hinds, and was approved by the entire Board of Selectmen and entire Planning Board. It was passed on favorably by Mr. D. W. Pratt, who had planned many of our Town ways, and by Mr. Kelloway who planned the development of our waterways. It was submitted to the abutters who were told to submit a better one if possible. They later admitted it could not be improved on. Three times it came before town meetings to be passed on. First in Dec., 1916, when it was tabled until the March meeting. At that meeting it was accepted by the voters assembled. At an adjourned later meeting it was moved to reconsider and after much discussion, when all phases of the layout were thoroughly discussed, it was refused re-consideration and remained an accepted street. Now in all this I acted only as one of the Selectmen; the voters, not I, established the layout. In regard to the cost of construction, the figures used were those submitted by Mr. Hinds and I were all carefully checked up and approved. If the street had been built as proposed they would have been ample. Three times during 1917, representing the Park Board, I asked permission to remove the loam and filling, which we needed for the path around the Mill Pond, this to be done under supervision and at no expense to them. The Selectmen refused and consequently we had to go to the Stone property which was a considerably farther haul and more costly. The reason they gave was that Mr. Ogden had not paid his $500 as agreed. Mr. Ogden told me he was ready to pay just as soon as the Selectmen would give him assurance that the street would be built to rough grade as far, at least, as his property abutted. After considerable correspondence, done through the mail, Mr. Ogden and the Selectmen came to an agreement and the work was started, but too late to be of any advantage. The earth removed was carted on Park avenue along Highland avenue to a point opposite the property of Mr. Comfort. Because the street was not cut to grade, Mr. Ogden was unable to finish four houses which he had commenced and the Town this year loses nearly $25,000 of taxable property sorely needed.

Finally, Mr. Editor, your writer accuses me of being lucky and of diverting Town funds. I have lived in Winchester for over 38 years, which is five times as long as that writer, and I have served the Town as an Official for the last six years. My character and my record as a public official is before the citizens, and, I submit, disproves the accusation. I have given the Town the best that was in me and have sacrificed home ties and many pleasures in order that I could work and help make Winchester the best Town to live in in the State. I have neglected no duty, no matter how distasteful, or arduous, if only Winchester would gain, and within the four years of my service as Selectman the valuation of the Town increased over six millions of dollars.

Now, Mr. Editor, I hold no enmity against that writer or against any who might be implicated with him, as I am not ashamed of my public service in Winchester, but I could not let such manifestly unjust insinuations go unanswered, and I thank you for this opportunity of doing so.

Sincerely yours,
George T. Davidson.

NOT CROWLEY OF THIS TOWN.

The report that John J. Crowley of this town had been killed in France appears to be without foundation. We have a John J. Crowley here, carpenter of Winchester Council, No. 67, residing on Cedar street, but he is safe at home and has not yet joined the army.

Reports the first of the week said that John J. Crowley of Wakefield of the 104th Regiment had been killed in France. Later report stated the information sent to his mother reported that a mistake had been made and that it was John J. Crowley of Winchester. It appears so far as is now known that the officer was John A. Crowley of Charlestown.

At a luncheon on March 7, 1918, in Reno, N. Y., Mrs. Isabelle F. Williams announced the engagement of her daughter, Mrs. Justus Mary, to Mr. Robert Hill Cutting of Oak Knoll.

FOOD! FOOD!

It Will Help To Win This Terrible War.

The Slogan today is—"Food will win the War." Patriotic Americans believe this to be true. If it is true, and there can be no doubt of it, everyone of us must do his or her part in making it possible, not only to win the war, but to win it at the earliest possible moment.

Some of us can and have entered the service of our country and are at the front or are preparing to go. The great majority of us must stay at home and help to make our brothers and sons ready and keep them ready to do the real work of the war, the actual fighting. They, the boys, have the big job on their hands.

Those of us who are to stay at home can and must build the ships, furnish the rifles, ammunitions, clothing and the thousand and one things necessary for modern war fare, and produce and conserve food.

The newspapers and magazines are full of facts and figures as to why we should produce and conserve food. Public meetings are being held in every town and city in our country at which speakers are urging food production and conservation. It does not seem that anything further is necessary in this respect to be set forth to our people of Winchester, but the Food Production and Conservation Committee of our town desire to most strongly emphasize and urge the necessity for keeping on as we began last year and producing more food. We cannot do very much in the way of raising cattle and hogs, but we can do a great deal in raising fresh vegetables for summer use and by canning and otherwise preserving our surplus for winter use. We can produce large, in the aggregate, quantities of staples, as potatoes, beans, corn, squash, carrots, parsnips, turnips, etc., for storage in our cellars for future use. Every pound of food we can produce for ourselves by our own efforts means just that much of some other kind of food for our allies and defenders in Europe.

Let us all take hold and do what we can to help.

At a meeting recently held in the State House for the purpose of more successfully carrying into effect the production and conservation of food, a very able and forceful speaker said that what we needed, as he viewed the situation, was less advice and more service.

Your Committee are willing, more than that, to do every last thing it can, to not only advise but to give service to anyone needing such advice and service in how to produce food.

The first thing the Committee desires to urge on everyone in Winchester is "Plant a garden!" That is our first piece of advice. We desire to put it stronger than that, do it as a patriotic duty. If you need any further reason why you should plant, we tell you plainly "it pays." Make no mistake about it, it pays, and it is your duty as a good American to plant this year and get the habit of planting.

Some of our people have no land of their own for planting, but they should plant just the same.

Some of you can hire land; it won't cost much, and the Committee recommends that a number of neighbors or friends club together and hire a good sized piece of land and farm it together, dividing the expense for plowing, harrowing, for seeds and fertilizer, in some fair way as may be agreed on. To those who have no land, the Committee stands ready to furnish land for planting. There will be plenty of land for everyone.

As to seeds—

The local merchants, Hersey Hardware Co., the Central Hardware Co., Symmes and others have plenty of seed on hand or will have it when you require it.

Don't worry about seed. Place your order now and have it ready when you it. Buy in Winchester. The local merchants are anxious to serve you. They are fair, square men, and you can depend on them.

Their prices will be as low and probably lower than you must pay in Boston or elsewhere. Give them the first chance as a matter of fairness to yourself and them.

Concerning Fertilizers—

Get stable manure if you can. It is very scarce. If you cannot get it, get commercial fertilizer.

The Winchester merchants have laid in a heavy supply for your needs and you can get what you want from them. Place your order now for delivery when you want it.

Get Ready.

The Food Production and Conservation Committee, realizing how very important is this matter of raising of food and caring for it, after you have produced it, desire to most earnestly impress on every citizen of Winchester, that they stand ready to aid them in every way possible, but it desires and asks for the earnest co-operation of all our people in making this year of food raising a success. If you found that you did not succeed as you thought you ought last year, do not be discouraged. Keep it up! Try hard. Do your bit. Feel proud of yourself. Show you are a good American.

The Committee, while it desires to extend all the help it can in advising and giving service to our people, is also looking to them for help and encouragement in carrying through to a successful conclusion the object for which it is in existence, viz; producing and conserving food. Any helpful advice or assistance will be very welcome to it.

From time to time there will appear in the columns of the STAR notices of meetings to be held in the Town Hall at which talks will be given by competent and enthusiastic men and women on ways and methods of how to produce food, and on how to preserve and conserve it after we have raised it.

"FOOD WILL WIN THE WAR."

and Conservation,
James Hinds, Chairman.

100 PER CENT IN THE SERVICE.

Among those who left Winchester for Ayer last week was Thomas W. Conlon, formerly of Woburn, and a resident of this town for the past two years. Besides his widowed mother, of whom Mr. Conlon has always been the main support, he leaves a young bride of a few weeks, who was Miss Frances Noonan before her marriage.

The young man has been in the retail fish business here for the past three years and it is a curious fact that his partner in business, William J. Noonan, Mrs. Conlon's brother, enlisted last May and has been in France since September last. The young men also employed in their business as assistant, Michael J. Wall of Woburn, and last fall he joined Co. G., of Woburn and went abroad with the 101st U. S. Infantry. This places the P. Noonan Fish Co. 100 per cent in the service.

Following is a letter just received from Private Noonan:

"Over here," January 1st, 1918.

Dear Folks:

Well, I haven't written for some time. I can't write anything of interest to you so I get mad and don't write anything at all. I have received quite a few letters and my packages. I want to thank you for them now.

Not much news but that it is cold and snowing here now and that the Marines are living up to the wish, "to be moving, forever moving," as I think we shall shove off from here soon to some place else.

I met Jack Leonard and Sam Smitherman and the other day I met Allie Mullen. ———— I got Pa's telegram about Christmas. It was very thoughtful and I appreciate it very much. I am getting my "Stars" and "Posts" regularly and they sure are good. I don't know whether they took my allotment out or not. I will find out and hurry it along. I have not got the box from Joe yet.

So the ducks are ready to kill and the rooster too. He was a scrapper all right. I can see poor old Bob, my old dog, ducking his head away from the rooster—he must be a big one. And you have a pig, too. Gee whiz, you'll be on a farm soon. I suppose the horse is looking around for me. He was sure a dandy. I'll never forget the day he ran through Library Park and stole second base with the carriage upside down.

Burglars, gee whiz since I have been in the service I slept behind locked doors three times,—when at home on Furlough, at Baltimore and Richmond. We don't lock doors in the service.

I suppose Tom's got a baseball mustache,—nine on a side. I just read that in a joke book.

Well, Dan's account of the Exeter game and the Boston Post's don't coincide, but I suppose that's the way it looked to her. So old "Sea Food" is still there—that's good. So Lake is home is he? Funny, I had a dream about meeting Jimmy Haggerty over here. I see that Henry Blackham is going to come home. I wonder how John is getting along in Russia—kind of scared, I'll bet.

There is a K. of C. Headquarters here now, but there is only one price here. He is from Needham, Mass. I forget his name. He is doing Chaplain work and secretary work and it sure keeps him busy. I was over to see him the other night and will try to go across if I get a chance.

Give me B. Donaghey's and D. Kean's address, also D. Noonan's. I might meet them some time. No, I haven't seen Johnny Marr or Congressman Rogers, although I hear he is here.

Well, I think I will close now with love to all the folks and don't worry about

Bill.

P. S. I am out of ink and had to finish with pencil.

Bill.

———

Jan. 1th, 1917.

Letters still here but perhaps it is better to have one long letter than two or three short ones. I just received a batch of mail today. Posts, Stars, letters and your package with the socks. They sure are fine, send some more—also the joke books.

Too bad I wasn't home to fix the flivver—too bad, ah, too bad. How is Charlie getting along? Can he cut a Haddock yet? Well, we all have our first accidents, don't we? Yes, it is warmer here I think.

I received that "STAR" today and I never knew I wrote so well. Somebody must have edited it. I see Dan Kean's address in it, and I must write him. I wonder where Dickie is. I haven't seen him anyway. Yes, Andy was in luck when he got sent to Philadelphia instead of to Paris Island.

I'm sorry to hear of Jimmy Keany's death. I remember Jimmie was at the South Station the night I left for Quantico, Va. Tough luck, all right.

So Pat or Mike as I called him is doing the Taxi work. I hope he gets along all right. He sure is a good sport for when I was home on furlough he was the only one who refused to take money from me.

Well, I wish Fan a successful year of leadership and hope she will have no troubles to worry her or mar her good times. I will fill out the blanks as soon as I can see Lieutenant Jones.

Well love to all from

Bill.

P. S. I am as healthy as a trout.

Bill.

W. C. T. NOTES.

When last week's notes were sent in to the STAR it was expected that the meeting of the union would be held "according to time honored custom" in the Home for the Aged, and reference was made to the fact that the Home had a hundred per cent membership in the W. C. T. U. When at the last moment because of serious illness in the Home a change was made necessary, word was sent in to change the place of meeting as given in the notes. In the haste of the moment the context was not noted and the rather surprising statement that the First Congregational Church had a 100 per cent membership greeted the readers. It is a pleasure to know the Notes are so widely read for numerous have been the inquiries made as to the meaning of that sentence. So for general information we will say that that percentage is a still unrealized hope, although at the present rate of increase in interest it is not impossible that possibilities and the present members will be glad to welcome all who want to join with that hope in mind.

Winchester and Woburn unions joined hands in a good piece of work recently by making a half case of chocolate was sent to the White Ribbon Home at Ayer to be used by Mrs. Eldridge, the house mother, in her visits to the base hospital at Camp Devens. The boys are always glad to see her and not less so when she carries with her some little delicacies that comfort the inner man. For the sugar shortage has proved conclusively that the male sex is the one that finds it hardest to Hooverize on sweets and the way to many a man's heart is by the sweetmeat route. In this consignment each union shared equally and will be glad to receive contributions toward the cost or for further work in this line.

Texas has ratified the prohibition amendment, making eight states on the right side: Mississippi, Kentucky, Virginia, North Dakota, South Carolina, Maryland, Montana, being the others in the order of their falling in line.

Next Tuesday a luncheon will be given at the Newtowne Club to which are invited a certain number of members of unions in Middlesex County with their friends, the object being to inaugurate a forward movement in behalf of rathications, war welfare, and home service. There are to be interesting after-luncheon speakers and a musical program, after which plans will be given for the union for the coming campaign, as part of a state wide movement. Suffolk County has already had a similar affair and the other counties are to follow in due order. Winchester having a large membership is entitled to nine guests, including some from the union. Two members from Winchester, Mrs. Gleason and Mrs. Tracy, are on the State Central Committee of six, of which Miss Caroline Caswell, of the Frances E. Willard Settlement is the chairman. Mrs. Hamilton, president of the local union, is also on the County Committee of three, so Winchester is fully represented and will be expected to take great interest in the campaign.

WHAT OF SUNDAY?

These men, when the Sabbath came around, looked upon their sons and th ir daughters and their slaves and their cattle drinking, ease, and calculated how much they lost by this fantastic and absurd institution.

I trust then, that you will see, that the question which is "up" in our day is not peculiar to these times, but a perennial discussion. This alone ought to give us courage. But let us get back of the present-day situation to the institution of the Sabbath day itself, so that we may get a true perspective.

In the first place, where did the Sabbath originate? Many ancient nations divided time into periods of seven days. The Chaldeans did it. The Greeks, who at first divided the month into three periods of ten days each, afterwards found it more convenient to adopt the week of seven days. The Romans, who almost to the time of Christ, had a period of eight days, made the same change. The same division maintains in India,—whether under the influence of the Buddhist or Mahometan,—we cannot tell. It also exists, curiously enough, amongst the tribes of Peru.

But this does not mean that these people all set aside one day in seven for worship. That was not true at first, even with the Jews. We must keep distinctly in mind that the Jewish Sabbath was not first instituted as a day of worship, but as a day of rest. The Commandment said simply, this: "In it thou shalt not do any work." The Commandment does not forbid recreation, nor tell us to go to church. From the earliest times, the Jews seem to have regarded the Sabbath as the proper day for family parties and friendly festivals. The early church fathers taunted the Jews with their luxurious and self-indulgent manner of spending the day.

Augustine tells us that it would be better for them to plough on the Sabbath than to dance. If you ask me what the Command meant, then, when it told men to keep the day "Holy," I should say that the word "Holy" meant here what it meant elsewhere in those days, that is, "Separate", set apart.

The Jews were a holy people, that is, set apart from other nations. The family of Aaron was holy, i. e., set apart for priest service. The temple was holy, that is, set apart for service. The Holy of Holies was a holy place, that is, set apart from the rest of the temple. So the Sabbath Day was to be a holy day, that is, set apart for rest. The Sabbath to the early Jew was, then, a singularly beneficent institution. It required abstinence from work. That this should ever have been regarded as a severe requirement is hard to understand, the law was a law which gave freedom instead of imposing bondage. Human life was probably not so hard among the Jewish people during the better periods of their national history as it is among us. They lived more simply, and a great part of their soil fertile. There was a more equal distribution of wealth, and their wants were comparatively few and simple. There were not the large masses of people congregated in great cities, many of them on the verge of starvation, and a vast proportion of the rest defending themselves from the same misery only by incessant and monotonous labor. No clouds of smoke hung over the cities of Judah. No roar of machinery was heard in them; none of them was so large that the people were imprisoned in a wilderness of dreary streets or knew the frantic arithmitic of a modern metropolis.

They saw the sun; olive trees and vineyards were within reach, the mountains were not very far away, near to many of them were green pastures and still waters, and the muse of flowers and the cool peace of lonely glens to give them refreshment and joy. And yet with the Jewish people, as with us, the greater part of life had to be spent in work and hard work at that. Many a back ached during the hour after hour over the vines, and the heat of the corn-harvest and vintage exhausted them. The shepherd had to walk over the rough hills after his wandering sheep. The fisherman got weary casting his nets. And so God took this side of man meanest the inevitable hardships of his lot, and made rest from work one day in seven, a religious duty. The Sabbath was a perpetual witness that it is not God's will that all our days be spent in drudgery, that were made for something better than that,—for peace, for joy, for freedom, and not for perpetual enthralment to the needs of our bodies.

Taken in this way, the early Jewish Sabbath was a "delight," and not a bore. So can the early Jewish Sabbath, then, a day instituted for rest and recreation, and not primarily for worship.

In what relation, now, does this Jewish Sabbath stand to our modern Sunday?

Well, the Christian Sunday and the Jewish Sabbath are absolutely different institutions. Let me show you why. First,—The Jewish Sabbath was founded upon a specific divine Command. We can plead no such Command for the obligation to observe Sunday.

Second,—The Sabbath was to be observed on the seventh day of the week.

Among us, excepting for small bodies known as the "Adventists", the seventh is a common day, and is the first day of the week that we keep.

Third. The purpose of the Sabbath was to commemorate God's power in creation, and the escape of the Jews from the bondage of Egypt.

The Christian Sunday commemorates the Resurrection of Christ from the dead.

Fourth.—Obedience to the fourth Commandment required physical rest and nothing more,—no worship was required.

The Christian Sunday was primarily set apart to secure opportunity for religious thought, thanksgiving and prayer, and says nothing whatever about rest.

Finally,—The penalty for breaking the Jewish Sabbath was death. But there is not a single sentence in the New Testament to suggest that we incur any outward penalty by violating the supposed sanctity of Sunday.

There is only one Commandment in the New Testament to indicate the manner in which Sunday is to be observed, it is found in Paul's Epistle to the Corinthians. "Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him," presumably that he may have money for charity and religion.

Now, the origin of our Christian Sunday seems to be as follows:

Our Lord, Jesus Christ, was not merely a great religious Teacher, but He communicated spiritual life to men. And these men to whom He communicated His spirit formed a spiritual group called a church. And these men found the perfection of wisdom, strength and joy in communion with one another.

This, therefore, rendered it necessary that Christian churches should appoint fixed and frequent times for meeting, and the instincts of Christian men led them to the first day of the week. Christ's Resurrection was upon this day. The most memorable appearances of our Lord and His apostles, after His Resurrection, were upon this day.

Finally, on that day the Holy Ghost descended upon the church in the memorable awakening at Pentecost. But it is clear that Sunday was not at first kept by Christians, Jews or Gentile Christians, as a day of rest, but simply of worship. They met for worship before the day's work began, on Sunday, and perhaps, after the day's work was over.

Finally, Constantine promulgated a decree requiring the closing of the Courts of Law and the suspension of all work on Sunday. There was great liberty, however, in determining how far common business might be interfered with on this day. As a result all questions as was granted farmers to gather in their crops if it looked like rain. Thus was established the Christian Sunday.

With this background clearly in our minds let us approach the subject of present-day Sunday observance. That the day is sadly desecrated at present in America is beyond doubt. More than four million men are regularly employed in labour on Sunday in this country alone. There are business houses wherein Sunday was formerly observed, who consider that the increase of their business has demanded more and more Sunday work.

Steam and street railroads have become large Sabbath-breakers, not merely meeting the needs of the people, but creating needs which they may supply. In many of our cities the street-railways have developed parks at either end of their lines in which they arrange sacred concerts given by reverent brass bands, playing opera airs and hymns on Sunday afternoon, and some have arranged even sacred theatres and railroad collisions in moving pictures. This is a comparatively late development of the charitable spirit. It is done, you understand, with no thought of profit, but only because the people are so sorely bound to their work during the week that they must have fresh air and enjoyment on Sunday.

Our steam railroads have also planned the quiet Sunday by giving reduced-rate excursions which desecrate Sabbath Day. It is purely accidental, of course, that there is some small financial profit in this benevolence. The Sunday newspapers have become increasingly money-making institutions, until they combine more pungency of sensation. In one New York newspaper of the highest class the literary element in the Sunday edition from 1881 to 1893 sank to one-third of its former proportions, and gossip increased four-fold. Sporting news increased from one column to six and one-half, while religious matter sank from two columns to practically nothing. The reason for the Sunday edition of the newspaper is because the public pays the best of all editions.

Finally, our baseball games take up Sunday afternoon, and thus afford opportunity to a great many who work so hard during the week that they need to be in bed in church on Sunday, to get out into the fresh air and breathe in the sweetened atmosphere which surrounds the average company of baseball enthusiasts, and hear their uplifting conversation, in order to fit their souls for their eternal home!

I am putting myself in danger of being thought to trifle with a serious matter when I call your attention to the minor aspects, but I want to call your attention to these features that present-day desecrations of the Sabbath are largely traceable to the lust of money. It is greed versus godliness, and we have need to blush the face before ourselves. We find ourselves away wallowing in the mud of our industrialism, our paupersim, our revolts, with excitement and alcohol for our joys, the press and politics for our activities, with money and appearance for our ideal. And that is the green explanation of Sabbath desecration.

I was asked to speak last week at the hearing before the Senate Committee on the bill to prohibit Sunday baseball for the men in our army and navy. You will notice the title bill does not apply to Sunday baseball within Civil Districts. Over that the State has absolutely no control it is under federal law. This bill is intended to provide for Sunday baseball at the Braves' Field in Boston, if need be, between an army or navy team and a National League team if they wish. The motive assigned for this is that the boys need amusement and exercise,—as if a baseball game were the only peradventure between a man and the Devil, or that seeing eighteen men playing a game of ball gave exercise to the onlookers, excepting in their throats. The real motive was to break down the Sunday ideal, but it was carefully cloaked under the garb of charity, for the advocates of the bill were to give the gross receipts for charity. And I was amazed to find a representative of the War Camp Committee Fund there advocating the bill. It is high time that organizations which come to the Christian Church for moral and financial support should feel honor bound not to ally themselves with those who are trying to break down the institutions for which the Christian Church stands. This Commonwealth was founded on something more enduring than baseball enthusiasm. It was founded on the homely old intergities of soul for which the church stands to lay.

But Sunday is God's day, and that the Son of Man is Lord of it, are overlooking. We ask whether we have not a right to play golf or tennis, to tramp, to go to a baseball game, or automobiling, or the theatre if we want to, and the reply is that we have no right to use God's time except as God approves.

And now let me set before you two reasons which seem to me valid, for keeping Sunday. We saw that the reason for the Hebrew Sabbath was originally physical, i. e., that it might be a day of rest for man and beast. That, it seems to me, is a wise and fundamental reason. Our Sunday is not meant to be a day of mere inactivity or of indolence. It is a day of rest from the employments, yes and from the recreations, that occupy our strength and time other days. It is the time for bringing into play a new set of muscles. It is the divinely appointed break in the grind of life.

Some no compares it to the rachet on the wheel, which prevents its running back when it stops a moment. The Sabbath is meant to change our routine, to break into it, and give us a new angle of vision upon our lives, to bring news from the land of the ideal.

It is monotony that kills. Horses wear out faster hauling loads on level roads than they do on hilly roads; for they have the variety of both hill and down. Farmers' wives fill up an abnormally large proportion of the women in insane asylums, due to the monotony of their lives. Machines wear more than one-seventh longer when they have only one day in seven for rest. The iron integrates again, after the disintegration caused by the incessant pounding of six days' work. So it is with us all. We have sympathy with the man who said he could do a year's work in eleven months, but could not do it in twelve. The statement of Lloyd George of England, that more munitions of war could be made at less expense during six days of the week than in a seven days' schedule has been proved to be a fact in England.

This ought to be sufficient answer to all those who let the week eat into their day of rest.

Let me say a word also to students who think they need to study on Sunday to keep up. I have been a student and I think I am fairly competent to judge. I earned my way through high school and college through seven years of school work, yet I never found it necessary.

And I want to say to you young people in school that it is both poor religion and poor economy of strength to let Friday evening's and Saturday's pleasures or domestic duties crowd out time enough that Sunday must be utilized to get ready for Monday. It is robbing God; it is robbing yourselves, too.

Some of you young people in school are trying to do too much. You are living a social life as crowded with engagements as your parents without their mature strength to endure them. You are staying out late at night at parties, and eating all sorts of indigestible things, and then blaming it on the school curriculum. If your fathers and mothers don't advise you to live more simply you would do well to take the matter upon yourselves.

There are business men also who feel that they must go to the office on Sunday. Why? They must see the mail or run through an important batch of papers in order to get things in readiness for Monday, or they take the day for dentist work.

To all this the Commandment says, "Remember.". You are busy, you have those demands and calls, and tats and that. Yes, yes, all that, but "Remember", whatever the burden you bear, "Remember the Sabbath Day, to keep it Holy", and keep it apart, from the rush of the week.

So runs the argument for Sunday as a day of physical rest. But the final argument is the Christian argument for Sunday, after all, that is, that this shall be a day of spiritual renewal also. It is to be a Sabath unto the Lord, your God. It is a day of renewing our acquaintance with God, in order that the peaks of justice, mercy and love, hid in mists, but always there, may come clearly into view as you commune with Him. The man who leaves God out of Sunday and does not make it a holy day has not observed God's Sabbath, whatever else he has done or left undone.

There are thousands who use the day for a little more sleeping and a little more eating, a day that serves the brute side of them a little more than other days. Here is the organism of many a man with eternal life to live and to prepare for. Sleep until nine-thirty, then get up drowsy and listless or with a headache, and blame it on business. Read a Sunday paper or so, and let a cloud of secular life pour over your soul. Have a heavy dinner at one or two o'clock. Smoke and have a nap. Go out for a stroll, or call on friends. Have supper, and spend the evening with friends or play cards. In it there is no thought of God, nothing to bring Heaven nearer, nothing that sends a man back to Monday's work with a clearer sense of God, nothing that fits a man to face eternity.

Are the things that fill the day wicked things? Are they sinful? Is it breaking the law? All these questions are idle and beside the point in face of the real one. Is he making it a day for his spiritual life? That is the test question. And that is the question about all the things we love to discuss. Shall we play golf, tennis, go automobiling, tramp, call on our friends, read the magazines, play this game or not on Sunday? Each of them involves the same principle: Is this the way to make the day holy unto the Lord? Is this the way to prepare for eternal things?" Is it, in short, keeping us from becoming colored at heart with the dye in which our hands are working through the week?

The question is not: "Shall I by doing this break a law," but "Shall I, by doing this, miss a blessing?" Everything will fall into its right place, and every question receive a true answer, if we put it in that light.

For Sunday is the day in which we declare that we are not merely merchants, mechanics, shop-keepers and lawyers, but men,—children of God and heirs of immortality. It is an Easter Day in every week, a day in which we anticipate the New Heaven and the New Earth in which righteousness shall dwell,—the everlasting Sabbath of the redeemed and glorified Sons of God.

I am sure I can leave the Sunday question in the keeping of your consciences, as Christian people. We have not yet got beyond Carlyle's dictum that a man should indulge in no course of action for himself that he would not like to see practised by the Community as a whole. If you want to see Sunday violated in Winchester, the churches unsupported, religious institutions closed and Sunday made a day of sport, then indulge yourself that way. If you do not wish this for the community you have no right to practice it for yourself. This is a democracy. You are the democracy. Each one of us is. What each of us does reacts on the whole life.

I noticed in connection with the hearing on Sunday Baseball at the State House the other day the advocates of Sunday Baseball said that you wealthy people had your automobiles and your golf Sunday, and therefore, the poor should have their baseball and other games. [illegible] you [illegible] Sunday [illegible] your [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Chief Decourcy gave a most interesting and instructive "fire-talk" to the Girl Scouts last Friday afternoon in the Assembly Hall at the High School. He began by telling the most common causes of fire and how to prevent fires, and then instructed the Scouts in sending telephone calls to the fire station, relating many amusing anecdotes of the way in which an excited person fails to give definite information. Chief Decourcy had with him a fire alarm box and so was able to give the Scouts a very practical demonstration of ringing in an alarm. Finally he taught them ways to escape from a burning building and how to carry one who was overcome by smoke.

LAST TALK TO ART GROUP.

Wednesday afternoon, March 6 at the home of Mrs. Chester Kelly, Miss Sanderson gave her last talk of the season under the auspices of the Art Committee. Many interesting pictures loaned by the Art Museum and different members of the Art Group added greatly to the pleasure and profit of the afternoon.

During Miss Sanderson's talk upon the destruction of beautiful architecture at Louvain, Antwerp and Ypres there was given an account of the sacking of Louvain by the Germans. Louvain was the Oxford of Belgium, with its university of 1800 students. Wonderful treasures of priceless manuscripts—first editions of ancient classics, and mathematical treasures went up in smoke and ashes in 1911 and no reparation can ever restore them to the world.

There followed an arcount of Antwerp Cathedral with Rubens' wonderful masterpiece "The Decent From The Cross;" the location of the city which was favorable for the bombardment, and the pathetic condition of the inhabitants fleeing from their homes by both water and land, and the Germans taking possession of the city.

The old city of Ypres, famous for its market place and cloth hall—and the former desolation were described, then the three great battles where the Allies were finally victorious over the Germans, who left behind them a ruined city.

In closing Miss Sanderson told of "The Lillies and Forget-me-not," sent by an English mother to her chaplain to be placed on her boy's grave on his twenty-first birthday, a touching, tender, pathetic story.

PROGRESS CLUB SOCIAL.

Postponed to Friday, March 22, at 7.15, Prof. Robert H. Burnham Will Read.

At the St. Patrick's Social of the Progress Club in the First Congregational Vestry next Friday, March 22, Prof. Barnham will be the reader. It was necessary to postpone the social one week in order to retain the services of Prof. Burnham. He has coached the High School class plays for the past seven years, and is very popular with the young people.

Talented members of the Club will assist in the entertainment. Young people are cordially invited to attend, in costume or not, as they please.

The annual dues of 25c are due at this meeting.

POP CONCERT.

Pop Concert night at the Regent Theatre, Arlington, was a great success. Besides an unusually good programme, two novelties were introduced: the first the singing of the Star Spangled Banner by a trio of ladies, Mrs. Gilpatrick, Mrs. Frank T. Barnes and Mrs. A. H. Abbott, who were dressed in red, white and blue. This was much enjoyed and made an admirable beginning to the evening. The Monologue Polly at the Circus, given by Miss Marjorie Wallbuyer in her inimitable way was bright and varied from start to finish and brought down the house. A hundred dollars was realized.

ANNAPOLIS APPOINTMENT.

"Ned" Neiley Second in Family to Enter Academy.

Congressman Dallinger announced Wednesday the appointment of Edward Abbott Neiley, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Neiley of Wolcott road, to the Naval Academy at Annapolis. Neiley is the second member of his family to enter the academy, an older brother, George F. Neiley, having previously graduated form Annapolis and is now a Lieutenant. One other Neiley boy, "Dick," who received the appointment a short time ago, was rejected physically owing to a broken bone in his arm received in a football scrimmage. He entered the service at the outbreak of the war and is now an Ensign doing service on a submarine chaser.

The three alternates appointed under Representative Dallinger's examination include a man from Medford Hillside, Medford and Belmont.

Complying with recommendations made by the Boston Chamber of Commerce and generally adopted throughout this section, the express firm of Kelley & Hawes will commence cutting their delieveries to one a day after March 18th.

THE FORTNIGHTLY.

This Popular Club Active in War Work.

At the regular meeting of The Fortnightly on March eleventh, it was voted to take fifty dollars from the philanthropy fund to be used in the purchase of Smileage Books for the Winchester boys at Camp Devens. From the same fund the sum of twenty-five dollars was voted for the use of the Salavation Army in its war work.

Mrs. Eaton announced that she had been requested by Mrs. McCall, who is interested in securing better housing conditions for workmen in war industries, to bring this matter to the attention of the Club so that the members may use their influence in its behalf if they have an opportunity.

The treasurer, Mrs. Apsey, made a statement of the receipts and expenditures of the philanthropy fund since the beginning of the club year.

Mrs. Eaton explained the Victory Drive to be conducted by the General Federation to secure a quarter of a million dollars to found recreation homes for our soldiers in Europe.

Miss Quimby told of her visit to Camp Devens, where she was present at the dedication of the library. She made a plea for more reading matter for the soldiers and sailors, saying that she was proud of the twelve hundred books which Winchester had already given, and that she hoped for twelve hundred more.

Miss Walton, reporting for a Health Conference, which she attended at the Boston public library, outlined briefly the topics discussed, —among them, state insurance, and health conditions in the army.

For taking part in the entertainment of the afternoon much appreciation is due Mrs. Alice Munroe Evans, who contributed three groups of songs. Mrs. Rena Hawkesworth, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Jane Wilson Ricards, gave an interpretative reading, "The Story of a Giant's Garden," artistically ar-

THE LIBERTY LOAN COMMITTEE OF WINCHESTER FOR THE SALE OF THE 3rd LIBERTY LOAN BONDS is now fully organized and will be ready for business the instant the sale is started.

It should be the duty of every Winchester business firm and of every citizen to place the purchase of these Bonds to the credit of Winchester.

In the two previous issues many of our citizens had subscribed in Boston before our Solicitors had called upon them. But it is the earnest desire of the Committee that they receive the support of every purchaser.

Help win the War by purchasing the Bonds, but let Winchester have the credit for the sale.

POP CONCERT ENTERTAINMENT.

What promises to be the most spectacular musical comedy ever staged in Winchester will be presented at the Town Hall on April 1st by the Pop Concert Committee for the benefit of the Winchester Hospital.

Rehearsals were started Monday for the big entertainment with Harrington Adams in charge. Mr. Adams has staged this play, "The Wishing Ring," in more than thirty States and has had recent productions in Arlington, Quincy, Haverhill, Marlboro, Melrose and other nearby places where it was hailed by newspapers and public to be the best amateur performance ever seen in each community.

Many dancing groups will be used in the local production and some very elaborate steps and figures are being given to the Winchester girls as the director insists they are the best dancers he has had this season.

Many of Winchester's best voices will be heard in "The Wishing Ring." The music is catchy and the play is of that nature that allows solos, duets and choruses as well as several lighter songs arranged with "local" verses. The comedy work of the play is in able hands.

Among the cast are Mrs. W. H. Gilpatrick, Miss Gertrude Dayton Nason, Mr. Frank Merrill, Misses Esther Cutting, Marjorie Waite, Marjorie Waldmyer, Elizabeth Ficke, Gretchen Avery, M. Alice Mason, Messrs. William Wyman, Robert Barr, Geo. Willey George Davis, George Ricinius, George Procter.

Seats may be obtained from the following: Mrs. O. C. Sanborn, Tel. 120; Mrs. C. O. Mason, Tel 1065-J; Mrs. H. C. Monroe, Tel. 160; Miss M. Alice Mason, Tel. 568-W.

JOHN T. WILSON DEAD.

Once Prominent Resident and Town Official Passes Away.

John T. Wilson, a former resident and town official, died at his home at Orford, N. H., yesterday morning. He was 77 years of age.

John T. Wilson was born in Boston, October 21, 1840. His parents came of old New England stock and he received his early education in the public schools. At the outbreak of the Civil War in 1861 he entered the army as a private. He took part during his service in no less than 26 battles, besides numerous skirmishes, and was wounded in the left arm, which has been useless for the past four years.

During his service he rose by successive grades until he attained the rank of Captain, serving in that command for the last two years of the war.

JOHN T. WILSON.

When he was mustered out of service he returned to Boston and entered the law offices of a well known firm. This was in 1867, and the year following he graduated from the Harvard Law School and was admitted to the bar. In 1876 he was admitted to the U. S. bar at Washington, D. C.

TOWN MEETING.

Second Session Ends Annual Meeting—Shortest in Years.

The second session of the annual town meeting, held Monday night, ended the business in the warrant, this year being the first in a long time that the Town has finished up its annual budget and appropriations in such quick order. The session, which had been heralded as the scene for a considerable display of fireworks, was very pitiful, calm to dullness at times and gusty at others. To the uninitiated voter many of the speeches were unintelligible at times and apparently dealt with affairs well on the inside. The meeting dissolved without taking action on articles 25 and 27.

A large batch of street acceptances, layouts and building lines, slowed the meeting down early in the evening, and Moderator Ives deserved a vote of thanks for the energy he displayed in reading the endless volume of legal terms and dry phraseology. We doubt if many of those present know today how wide the building lines established at various places are. It speaks well of the confidence of the citizens in the judgement and ability of the Finance Committee in its recommendations to accept this important rubbie on some of our principal thoroughfares.

With the conclusion of thoss weary articles the meeting was ready for almost anything, and the appearance of articles capable of comprehension brought forth some oratory and struck a few snags. W. L. Tuck, absent from the first session, had his eagle eye on the welfare of the workingman and allowed no action to pass unchallenged which he felt might possibly affect his clients.

"Mary Ann," of now historic fame, received another grilling and the Town finally decided to place this old and faithful servant in the discard, for how could it be otherwise, when her staunchest supporter, Selectman Larraway, not only rapped his knuckles on her, but urged her disposal?

The Winchester Hospital again triumphed and the citizens gave it loyal support in the appropriation of $500 a recognition of its worth and value to us all. Many seemed desirous in a matter of minor money, fearing an additional touch to their pocketbook, and the citizens expressed themselves as well satisfied with the present arrangement. This might be likened to a mere ruffle of business on the form of "us citizens," although for a time it looked black for the water bourl.

The mystery of the session was added to Larraway's plea for per-

BAPTIST NEWS.

Prospective plans for a three-room addition to the north side of the meeting-house were presented to the Men's Class on Sunday noon by Dr. Charles H. Tozier for the committee. A meeting of the men of the Church and congregation for the consideration of these plans will be held next Tuesday evening.

A most beautiful and intensely interesting description of the life and customs among the Kentucy Mountaineers was given by Miss Gertrude E. Lingham on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. E. Hodgdon on Washington street. Miss Lingham is a graduate of Winchester High School, Framingham Normal School, and is now home science teacher in the Harlan County Community Life School at Smith, Kentucky.

The Philathea Class has appointed the following officers for the ensuing year: Miss Mildred E. Bartlett, President; Miss Helen McLean, Vice President; Miss Mabel A. Romkey, Secretary; Miss Helena Crawford, Treasurer.

A SUGGESTION.

Are You a Patriot?

Your country is at war with the German Empire—Are you?—You may think you are—but you are not unless everything you do, every word you speak, every thought you have, is to crush the enemy—and win the war.

The United States is at war—but the United States means you—it is not properly or successfully at war without you—the whole of you.

Shall we be patriots, or be enemies of our country? It is not "our country" unless we are doing our part to the limit.

Our boys are giving their lives—They will hold us accountable—what are we doing?

Red Cross service is our great opportunity!

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

There are men here in Winchester who give more praise to their dogs than to their wives. In a quarrel between his wife and his dog, the husband and master sometimes decides in favor of the dog. It is man's habit (or some men's habit) to take his wife as a matter of course, but to regard his dog as a wonder of wonders. The Spectator does not pretend that this indicates man's utter worthlessness or utter selfishness or utter foolishness. Man on the whole is a rather likable quality. He means well, but he is of limited imagination. He pats his dog on the head kindly and says, "good doggie!" (just like that), but gives his wife a grunt and says, "How long till dinner?"

Of course everybody knows a woman like to be appreciated, not for what she has done particularly, but for what she is. Being a woman, she has a woman's nature, and that nature yearns for affection and protection and petting, even a large woman with a little husband likes for him to play like he is taking care of her, and shielding her, even though such an attitude might look ridiculous to outsiders. If a woman is worth marrying she is worth appreciation, and any man who owes his wife appreciation yet fails to pay it is a "deadbeat" a "sponger" who "sponges" upon one whom he has sworn to honor and cherish. It is true The Spectator admits, that some wives are indolent, untidy, and indifferent; but if they were not that way as girls it shows that marriage with a callous, inconsiderate querulous man has brought them to such a state. Just as the child who never gets a kind word grows up with a criminal tendency, so the wife who never eats bread sweetened with her husband's appreciation develops domestic indigestion.

"A Reader of the STAR" writes: "Why ask about having to use dark flour, when it tastes better, looks better and is better than the highly milled flour?"

Say, why ache at the mouth when the directions for flour will save you from aches elsewhere? All good mental men agree that the use of superfine bleached flour is injurious to the health. It resolves itself into a paste in the process of digestion and so gums up the works as to induce interior insurrection. The only legitimate recommendation for fine white flour is that it looks pretty when cooked. Lots of people go mostly by the looks of things, often to their disquietude. Hamet Sarine Dicks says his grandpa was once whipped by a man who "looked like a sand lizard and turned out to be a plain adder."

The pessimist is a moral, mental and spiritual iconoclast. The optimist is a builder where the pessimist is a destroyer. He is morally, mentally and spiritually, yea, even physically, a constructive force. The pessimist is a cloud, the optimist a sun whose bright rays serve to dissipate the cloud. The pessimist shackles and fetters; the optimist breaks the shackles and unfetters discouraged and dejected humanity. Henry Drummond says: "Christianity wants nothing so much in the world as sunny people, and the old are hungrier for love than for bread." This is the fact, and not only are the old hungrier for love than for bread, but in fact the young are also. Love is the sunshine of life and being. It prompts the doing of every good deed, the uttering of every good and encouraging word.

Fault-finding is one of the discouraging habits of the pessimist, and it is his pessimism which induces this ugly and peace-destroying habit. Harsh criticism, disposition to place a wrong construction on one's words and deeds, does a great deal to prevent happiness, not only for the one criticised, but also for the one who is the critic. Indeed, the fault-finder, by the very nature of his sin, cannot be happy. One who cannot see good in others can find little cause for happiness for himself. Someone has said: "Constant fault-finding is like sand in the sugar. It lessens the sweetness of life and sets the teeth on edge." Ill-temper begets ill-temper, just as patience and gentleness beget these beautiful virtues. The pessimist, the growler, the complainer, the criticiser, are forces for the destruction of the peace and joy of the cheerful person. They are wreckers of happiness and peace, the destroyers of contentment and serenity.

Dear Spectator—We used to pick flaws in English as she is spoke and wrote, but after seeing Kipling use "The tumult and the shouting dies," and getting away with it, we have ceased our worries. If the incomparable Kipling says that it is right, then it is permissible to say, "the lions and the tigers roars." However, he had to have something to rhyme with "sacrifices," and used his poetic license to get it.

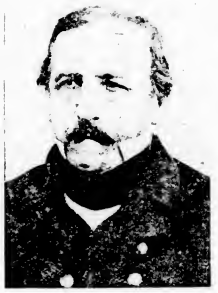

A. R. B.

What is call'd "perfect English" is, as a rule, so call'd by those who don't write it themselves. There is no perfect English, as regards forms, for the reason that there is no supreme authority to prescribe the forms. English remains a vital language because it is a changing language. The English vocabulary enlarges every year, and with the enlargement of vocabulary come changes in style. The English stylists of today are almost as unlike those of the early Victorian era as the early Victorians were different from the early Georgians, and the early Georgians from the Elizabethans. It is only the dead language which remains susceptible to rigid formulæ. The old, cold Latin and the pale, prim Greek. To spend years in acquiring familiarity with Latin and Greek is about as valuable to the Winchesterite who expects to write in English as would be a course in ancient gymnastics for a person who wishes to build ships. Scholastic pride, bleak and barren, lies at the bottom of the Greek and Latin cult. True asserted kinship between the living English language and the dead and gone ancient language is about as close and sympathetic as the memory of the present Mississippians for the Indians who named the big river. Perfect English, if The Spectator may be so bold as to say so, is English which leaves no particle of doubt as to its meaning. Do you get us?

WHY HE SUPPORTED MR. DAVIDSON.

Editor of the Star:

Some folks most likely would like to ascertain the reasons I had for endorsing Mr. George T. Davidson as one of the candidates for that very important and dignified office, namely the honorable Board of Selectmen. I will be as brief as possible in outlining my reasons for endorsing Mr. Davidson. I saw him grow from an infant to an honest, patriotic, loyal American citizen and a resident of Winchester. All his life, with all due respect to his predecessors, I believe he has rendered more efficient service to the town of Winchester than any other one member of any previous Board of Selectmen since Winchester was incorporated a town.

In the year 1850, during his term in office he acted as a call fireman and responded to all fire alarms, thus saving the town four hundred dollars. I have seen him on the roof and in the cellar, here, there and everywhere, lending a helping hand to anyone who was in distress; when some of us were sparing or having happy dreams in dreamland, or sitting down in comfort watching George do it.

When the Superintendent of Streets, Mr. Henry A. Spates severed his relations with the Town of Winchester Mr. Davidson immediately acted as superintendent of streets, until Mr. Spates' successor was appointed—the present efficient Superintendent, Mr. T. Parker Clark. I have seen him at the town stable early, late, and often directing the men here, there and everywhere in various parts of the town, thus saving for the Town of Winchester, the two months' compensation that would have been received by Mr. Spates had he remained Superintendent of Streets.

Under Mr. Davidson's administration our beautiful bridges and the fire and police station were erected, modern motor fire apparatus purchased, our police force re-organized, the border of our mill pond and bridges beautified. When he arises from his seat to speak either in the Town Hall or up at the State House, he has a dignified appearance that commands attention so essential for a town like picturesque Winchester, the Athens of America, that beautiful residential suburb eight miles from the gilded dome, the home of the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the honorable Samuel W. McCall, Lewis Parkhurst and the lamented William D. Richards and the late Samuel J. Elder.

I, for one, believe that the town of Winchester owes Mr. George T. Davidson a debt of gratitude for the efficient service that he has rendered as a town officer for the past six years. I trust that I have made it clear to any skeptics who were skeptical about casting their ballots on March 4th for George T. Davidson. By the way, it looks to me as if we would have an early spring by the way the roses were blooming the other night.

I remain,

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell.

THE FORTNIGHTLY "DRIVE."

To provide homes—real homes, with American home feeling in every corner, the Federation of Women's Clubs is making an appeal to every club member to contribute willingly and cheerfully a dollar, or more. It must be a work which gives concrete evidence of the strength of the organization.

The work of the Y. M. C. A. and Red Cross extends along the trenches everywhere and has been wonderfully supported by the people of the country. Now the women want to offer comfort to the men when they are off duty in a strange land.

The Foulke Commission supports heartily this work of mothers and home makers. $250,000 is needed to put in on a financial basis, and all contributions will be most welcome, although those to whom this work appeals may not be members of any club.

PARHAM FOUND GUILTY.

After deliberating for 10 hours, a jury in the Superior Criminal Court, East Cambridge, early last Saturday brought in a verdict of murder in the second degree against Sylvester J. Parham, colored, of Winchester, in connection with the death of Francis Roberts, colored, of this town, Dec. 23.

The evidence showed that Parham shot Roberts during a row in Winchester in which the former's wife figured. Parham claimed that Roberts attacked him with a revolver when he entered his home and that the latter was shot during the mixup.

UNITARIAN CHURCH.

Field Secretary of American Unitarian Association to Preach.

Mr. Samuel B. Nobbs, who is to preach at the Unitarian Church on Sunday morning is not only one of the best known men in the denomination, but also one of the brightest and most forceful speakers. The Church is fortunate to be able to secure him.

The public is cordially invited.

GENE SMITH MADE TWO HITS.

All Winchester base ball fans doubtless remember Gene Smith, who pitched for the local nine two years ago. Smith is now at Camp Johnston, Jacksonville, Fla. Judge Littlefield, also known as a base ball enthusiast when the bowling game is shelved during warm weather, received a copy of the "Trench and Camp," the Camp Johnston publication, this week from Smith, "just to prove that he could hit once and a while." Smith pitched two games for Block J, winning each of them. He made two hits in the first and one in the second, and drove in three runs.

PATRIOTIC SERVICE.

At the regular meeting of William Parkman Lodge, held Tuesday evening in the Masonic rooms, action was taken upon the application of seven aspirants for membership and the fellowcraft degree worked upon a class of five candidates. Following the meeting a patriotic service was held at which service identification medals were presented to members of the lodge in the service. The exercises included an oration by Hon. Guy A. Ham, W. M. of Gate of the Temple Lodge of South Boston. The music was by Harold S. Tripp, soloist, assisted by William Parkman double quaratette.

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION.

The Mothers' Association will meet in the High School Assembly Hall, Wednesday, March 20th, at three o'clock.

The subject will be: "Child Conservation Under Present Conditions." Mrs. Willard Reed will tell about the "Cambridge Soup Kettle."

All interested are invited to attend this meeting.

SPRING GARDENING STARTS.

A well attended meeting was held on Tuesday evening in the Town Hall under the auspices of the food production and conservation committee of the local committee on public safety, the aim of the gathering being to promote interest among the people in the coming spring gardening.

An interesting and enlightening discourse was given on soils and fertilizers by John B. Abbott of the agricultural department of the Middlesex County Farm Bureau, and William Craig, superintendent of the Faulkner Farm, Brookline, spoke on the home vegetable garden with advice on what to plant and how to plant it.

TOWN MEETING.

mission to transfer article 25, referring to the purchase of a piece of motor apparatus, to the end of the warrant, and then when it was accorded dissolving the meeting without touching it. While his plea seemed very clear and fair, his action later seemed inconsistent, and one wonders—

The oratory was confined to a few and even they had little to say. Selectman Laraway was the most active, guarding the interests of us all at every turn, while Mr. Tuck displayed equal energy, although his effort to take the place of the late Arthur E. Whitney as our reservoir fishing champion met with defeat. We fear no one can ever replace Mr. Whitney in that matter.

The meeting opened with about 85 voters present, Moderator Ives reading the third Liberty Loan proclamation of the New England Committee.

The first session adjourned on Article 5—reports of committees—and in continuing under it Mr. Tuck offered a motion that Gov. Samuel W. McCall be appointed a committee of one to consult with our State Senator McKnight, and Representative Kneeland, in urging them to vote for the prohibition amendment at the Constitutional Convention.

Mr. Rowe moved to substitute the Town Clerk for Governor McCall, and with this correction the motion was carried.

Mr. Tuck then moved that Mr. P. E. Fitzgerald be a committee of one to report at the next meeting on the advisability of allowing our citizens to fish in our reservoirs. He spoke to his motion, urging the permission as a needed "war measure" in aiding in the food supply. Mr. Kendall of the water board told the meeting that not ten days ago his board had received a letter from the State Department of Health ruling that no fishing would be allowed in any reservoirs furnishing water for domestic use. The motion was lost.

Article 7 resulted in a vote authorizing the Selectmen to employ a Town Counsel.

Article 8 granted power to the Selectmen to appoint a Town Engineer.

Article 9 empowered them to appoint measurers of wood and bark to the number of not over eight.

Article 10. The School Committee was authorized to appropriate money from its budget for the transportation of children in the remote portions of the town.

Article 11. It was voted to accept the gift to the Town of a one thousand dollar 5 per cent bond from Frederick H. Prince of Boston, to be held as a fund to be known as the "Norman Prince Fund," the income from which shall, in accordance with the terms of his letter of gift, be used to encourage high ideals among school boys, Chairman Coit of the School Committee read the letter from Mr. Prince. This was published in the STAR of last October.

Article 12 resulted in the acceptance of Glengarry road, and Article 13 provided for the establishing of a 15-foot building line on this way.

Articles 14 to 21 provided for the acceptance of Grassmere avenue and for building lines on Grassmere avenue, Calumet road, Wildwood street, Stone avenue, Forest street, Bacon street and Willow street. All were favorably acted upon.

Article 22 resulted in the Town voting to accept the care and control from the Metropolitan Park Commission of a further part of Manchester Field. Mr. Carhart of the local park board explained that the Town now controls that portion of the field within the oval running track; by the acceptance of the motion it would control the whole field, including the entrances, from Waterfield road to the foot bridge. The motion passed without other comment.

Article 23: To sell the steam fire engine known as "Mary Ann." This second a simple action, but the move was immediately challenged. Selectman Laraway offered the motion, stating that the proceeds would be placed in revenue account. He was immediately challenged by Mr. Tuck, Mr. Davidson and Mr. Holland, and "the piece of apparatus," which "could not be warmed up," came in for much publicity.

Mr. Tuck asked why "Mary Ann's" former champion had deserted her. Mr. Laraway explained that she had passed her days of usefulness, was a burden to the Town, and that he desired the necessary authority to make the sale in case the opportunity appeared without warning, and thus avoid calling a special meeting, otherwise necessary.

Mr. Holland thought "Mary Ann" exceptionally good to pump out trenches for which purpose she had once been used, and in this respect Mr. Davidson likewise thought she excelled, also operating at less cost than a hired pump. He felt the market was glutted with steam fire engines, and that the Town would lose largely by the sale; in fact he stated that the Town always lost by such sale of its property.

His last statement was immediately challenged by Mr. Laraway, who proved to the satisfaction of all that the Town had once made money by the sale of a heating boiler. It was finally voted to allow the Selectmen to sell faithful, beloved, much discussed, old "Mary Ann."

Article 24. It was moved to appropriate the sum of $500 to be paid the Winchester Hospital for a free bed during the year. To this Selectman Laraway spoke. He felt the Town should pay for what it got; if only $300 worth of services was received, why pay $500; if $1000 worth of service was used, pay it gladly. Next year the law would require such action and he felt it best to begin with the ruling now.

Mr. Tuck replied by moving to substitute $1000 in place of the $500 for the Hospital, but this was forbidden under law and he withdrew his amendment. Mr. Metcalf felt there was no good reason for discontinuing the practice of paying the $500 this year, even though it would be stopped next year.

The sum was voted unanimously.

Article 25. This article called for the purchase of a piece of motor fire apparatus. So far as is known the intention was to replace the horse drawn hose wagon at Swanton street, either by a combination pump and chemical there or at the center fire station. Selectman Laraway asked postponement of the article to the end of the warrant.

Mr. Mansfield of the Finance Committee, which board had announced "unfavorable action," asked why the postponement was asked. Mr. Laraway made a lengthy explanation, stating that it was the idea, made under a misapprehension, to adjourn the present meeting until the middle of the week. He desired, if the warrant was not finished (this evening) to defer discussion on this article, adjourn until next Monday, and gave everyone a chance to come down and act upon it. He desired everything fair and square in the matter. If the warrant was finished (tonight) he was satisfied.

This explanation seemed very fair to the citizens, who were quite content that due publicity should be given the matter and that it should be thoroughly discussed at a subsequent session. The request was granted.

Article 26. To create a minimum charge for meter water service. Mr. Kendall of the Water Board stated that the average overhead charge for water service was $6.65 for each family in town. Many were paying less; some more. He proposed a minimum charge of $6 a year and $3 for six months or any part thereof. His board felt it a proper charge, much less than that asked in other places, and the revenue derived would meet the necessary expense.

Mr. Tuck replied immediately in an impassioned speech, declaring that it would place a burden on the poorer people. Selectman Laraway asked how the overhead figures were compiled, admitting that there had been a large expense this year on account of frozen pipes. To this Mr. Kendall gave his figures.

Mr. Laraway felt the best way to conserve water was to eliminate any minimum charge. If people could save money by saving water they would do so; otherwise not. Mr. Kendall explained that burden, if any, would fall upon the well-to-do and not the poor; they were already the largest users of water. The wealthy, who closed their houses in the summer, were the ones with small bills. Mr. Mansfield explained that the Water Board had no desire to force the motion; the bills would be paid by the citizens either way; it simply seemed a wise method to adopt.

Mr. Kendall explained that the average five years per meter for maintenance was $5.50. To this was added the cost of thawing pipes, which averaged $1.15 per meter. This made a total of $6.65. The Town has a total of 2205 water users, paying in last year a revenue $20,117.00. Of this sum $6,619.00 was paid by commercial users and $23-768.00 by domestic users. This made an average cost of $10.80. Of the number of water users, 527 paid less than $6 per year, 246 less than $4 and 68 less than $2. By making a minimum the gain to the Town would be $1111.00. During this winter there were 922 frozen pipes thawed out by the department, and by careful attention, removing meters and running water, a big expense over the cost of these thawings had been saved, as there had been no large mains frozen.

There was much discussion pro and con, a vote by acclamation being taken and doubted. A rising vote rejected the motion 91 to 46.

Article 1 was then considered, and under it a vote of transfer of the sum of $3500 was made from Sewer to Water to care for the increased expenditure incident to thawing frozen water pipes, and an appropriation of $200 made for the Collector's department to provide for the payment of advertising unpaid taxes, this sum to be returned to the Town when charges were paid.

Article 29 was then moved by Selectman Laraway. This provided for the appropriation of some $328 to reimburse the Town of Arlington for a part of the expenses of the local exemption board, the sum being in proportion to the draft percentage here.

Mr. Tuck opposed. All the meetings were held at Arlington and our citizens had to pay their carfares there and back; not even half of the meetings had been held here. The Government should pay any expense. Mr. Laraway asked that Mr. Metcalf be allowed to explain the matter.

Mr. Metcalf said that the bill only included regular expenses, none were out of the ordinary. He read the Arlington letter, which simply opened the matter and left it wholly to the Town whether it cared to pay its part or not. He felt it a patriotic duty to pay Winchester's portion.

Mr. Parkhurst felt the money should be paid, but Mr. Joslin, while agreeing, stated that the Government had furnished rooms to his knowledge in two instances for exemption boards, and he thought all should be treated alike. He thought possible the money might be received later; in that case the money would be refunded.

Selectman Laraway asked for instructions. If Arlington, as a patriotic duty, refused in the future to accept reimbursement from the Government, if it ever decided to make such reimbursement, should Winchester refuse likewise, or demand its share. He was unanswered and the motion was voted.

Mr. Laraway then moved to dissolve. This was met with some astonishment, most of the citizens expecting action o be taken on articles 25 and 27, but nevertheless the meeting closed.

MIXED TOURNAMENT.

But three matches were rolled in the mixed bowling tournament at the Calumet Club during the week past, none of them of prime importance, although team 11 holding third place, took a tumble by dropping all three points to team 14, whereby that aggregation takes a decided rise, going up several rungs in the ladder. The scores were poor, Miss Giles being the only lady to roll a really good game and the gentlemen failing to show any class whatever.

SUNDAY BASEBALL.

Editor of the Star:

Some unthinking men, honest undoubtedly in their own convictions, have inquired of me very recently as to my attitude in regard to playing baseball on the Sabbath. My answer is that I am most emphatically opposed to desecrating that Holy Day that was set apart by the Supreme Master as a day of prayer and meditation. Neither do I believe in working in a garden, unless to save some perishable crop, shooting crap, playing cards, or following the golf pills over the mountain sides and through the valleys.

I believe it will augur well for us all to pause a moment and consider the lives of the twelve apostles, Christopher Columbus at San Salvador, and the sturdy Pilgrim Fathers when they landed on Plymouth shore in that bleak December month in the year 1620, and the Father of our country, George Washington, on his knees at Valley Forge. States, cities, and towns enact their own rules, laws and regulations, and they must be obeyed; if not the offenders must suffer the consequence. It thus becomes imperative if we violate the law of the Supreme Master we will be judged guilty.

One of the laws reads, Thou shall not kill, and yet the German Emperor, William Hohenzollern, better known perhaps, as the Kaiser, is supervising the slaughter of innocent men, women and children, that the Master said "suffer ye little children and come unto me," who were not instrumental in any way, shape or manner in causing this terrible catastrophe that staggers humanity and has merged Christian nations into a death vise deadly grasp. And yet the Kaiser asserts onward with God. In my opinion he will never reach his destination, namely, Heaven, unless he changes his tactics. It is not for me to judge, but I believe he is a full-grown man with a child's brain not fully developed. I can't for a moment believe him responsible for this calamity that staggers Christendom. Think of those words, that were uttered on a United States man of war in the year, 1898, by a Christian —"don't cheer boys they are dying." That is the true American spirit that has been handed down to posterity ever since George Washington took command of the American forces under that historical elm tree in Cambridge, Mass., the shots of Bunker Hill, Concord and Lexington that reechoed all over the world, the State where the sturdy Puritans and Pilgrim fathers celebrated the first Thanksgiving that we now commemorate, the home of American independence, Liberty and Justice.

DECREASES COST.

District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts Shows What Efficient Management May Accomplish.

A comparative statment, relative to the office of the district attorney, for the years 1910 to 1917, inclusive, has been issued by District Attorney Tufts. It is interesting to note that in 1910, when there were but 1067 cases on the criminal docket, the net cost to the county, per case disposed of, was $58.98. In 1917, with 2,132 cases on the criminal docket, the net cost was but $21.44 per case. The table of figures compiled by the district attorney, is as follows:

In 1910, cases appearing on docket 1,067, cases disposed of 797, cases brought forward to following year 270; receipts of office, (fines, etc.) $7,825.50; total county criminal costs, $54,832.89; net cost to county per case disposed of $58.98.

In 1915, cases appearing on docket, 1,957; cases disposed of, 1,011; cases brought forward to following year, 913; receipts of office (fines, etc.), $5,068; total county criminal costs, $82,817.38; net cost to county per case disposed of, $74.17.

In 1917, cases appearing on docket, 2,132; cases disposed of, 1,845; cases brought forward to following year, 287; receipts of office (fines, etc.), $12496.10; total county criminal costs, $52,063.22; net cost to county per case disposed of, $21.41.

WAR-SAVINGS CONTEST.

The Postmaster General has issued instructions to post offices throughout the country authorizing all mail carriers to deliver and sell, War Savings and Thrift Stamps. Mail carriers on rural routes will have these stamps with them for sale at all times, thus bringing the actual securities of the United States Government to the gate of practically every farmhouse in the country. City and town carriers will deliver stamps to the homes upon receipt of an order sent on the free post card, copies of which have been distributed by the local carriers last week. The co-operation of the Post Office Department makes every mail carrier a part of the vast selling organization formed by the United States Government.

In order to further stimulate interest in the sale of Thrift Stamps and Certificates by the Winchester carriers, which has already been shown to a marked degree, a War-Savings Contest has been arranged, cash prizes for which have been donated.

The Contest commenced March 10th and will continue until the close of business May 10th, and is open to carriers at the local post office. The prizes are as follows:

To the carrier obtaining orders for the largest amount of Thrift Stamps and Certificates, 1st prize $10.00

For the 2nd largest amount, 2nd prize 7.50

For the 3rd largest amount, 3rd prize 5.00

Post Office Clerks are not eligible as contestants.

Entered at the post-office at Winchester, Massachusetts, as second-class matter.

At the hearing on the protest of residents against the renewing of the blasting license of the Winchester Rock and Brick Company last week, it developed that the new organization of the company included Gen. George W. Goethals, the Panama Canal builder, as president, and Charles R. Hughes, also from the Canal zone, as superintendent.

Comment has been heard about town since the annual meeting that the Town could not legally dissolve the meeting without taking action on Article 27. This article had reference to the acceptance of the civil service act for the Chief of the Fire Department. From what we can gather it appears that the action was legal, the Town signifying its action by the act of dissolving the meeting. It is said, however, that this act should have been acted upon at the special meeting of last September to have complied with the law, it expressly stating that action shall be taken at the next meeting after its passage. Furthermore it appears that the Town may have the right to act on the provision again if it is so desired.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Miss Constance E. Talpey, School Nurse, will be out on leave of absence during the balance of the year on account of the illness of her mother. Miss Mary H. Lavare, who has been substituting for her since January, will continue in this work.

Miss Helen F. Burt of Arlington, now teaching in Nantucket, has been elected Supervisor of School Gardens to begin her work at an early date. Miss Burt had her preliminary training in Boston University and Amherst Agricultural College, and has had successful experience in teaching regular subjects and gardening at Nantucket. She is very highly recommended by those who know her.

Miss Josephine S. Duncan has been elected to the vacancy position at the High School, in which she has been substituting, and Mrs. Charlotte W. Bartley has been elected Supervisor of Physical Training.

MRS. ALMERY A. HAZELTON.

In the death on Friday of Mrs. Almery A. Hazelton, there passed away a former well known resident of Winchester. Mrs. Hazelton's death occurred at the Ritz-Carleton, Boston, where she was spending the winter with her family, and she had not been a resident of this town for the past four years, when she moved to Pembroke, where her husband purchased a farm, but during the 15 years previous, which she spent here at her residence in Glengarry and on Church street, she made many friends and acquaintances, all of whom sincerely mourn her death.

Florence E. (Lewis) Hazelton was a native of Westbrook, Me., her parents being Charles E. and Susan (Bailey) Lewis. She was 52 years of age, and besides her husband, is survived by four children, Ralph W. of Wellesley, Miss Marcia E. of Pembroke, Mrs. James Wilson (Marion M.) of Wellesley, and Ruth O. of Pembroke.

Funeral services were held at the hotel, Boston, on Monday, conducted by Edward H. Keach, C. S. B., of Newtonville. The remains were taken to Westbrook for interment.

NATHAN H. REED.

Nathan H. Reed, whose business and social interests for many years had been centred at Somerville, died on Wednesday night at his home, 107 Church street, where he had lived the last four years. He suffered a shock about a year ago and had not been well since that time. His death, however, was entirely unexpected.

Mr. Reed was born at Bedford, May 28, 1848. During his 40 years' residence at Somerville Mr. Reed was an alderman six years and chairman of the board of assessors 15 years.

He was president of the Somerville Institute for Savings, a director of the Somerville Trust Company, the Somerville National Bank and the Somerville Co-operative Bank, and president of the Somerville Home Building Association. He was a member of Soley lodge A. F. and A. M., and of Somerville lodge, I. O. O. F.

He leaves a widow and one son, Nathan P. Reed of Somerville, and one daughter, Mrs. Mary R. Butterworth of this town. The funeral is to be held on Sunday at 2 p. m., at his late home, 107 Church street.

ABBOTT—RICHARDSON.

Friends of Miss Erma Richardson will be surprised to learn of her marriage to Mr. Clark D. Abbott of Lewis, Ohio, formerly of Newton, which took place at her home Thursday afternoon, March 14th, 1918, at three o'clock. The Rev. Howard J. Cadley performed the ceremony.

The young couple had planned their wedding for the latter part of April, but owing to the fact that Mr. Abbott expects to be called into Service at any time, they decided to be married at once.

BARONESS HUARD.

Winchester people will have the opportunity which has recently been given to Arlington, Stoneham, Woburn and Medford, to hear the thrilling story of the part played by the War Dogs in the great conflict. The Baroness Huard, who is now in this country for the purpose of raising funds for the relief of the dogs, will speak in the Unitarian church, Winchester, on Monday evening, March 18th, at 8 o'clock. Over one hundred dogs have been trained by the Baroness and her husband, the Baron Huard, and have been used in the work of the Second Aid and Ambulance Corps of the French army. The Baroness has been decorated by the French government for her work in the war.

JOHN T. WILSON DEAD.

He was married in June 1869, to Pleasantine Cushman at Orford, N. H., coming to this town shortly after and taking up his residence at the corner of Washington and Eaton streets, and making his home there for nearly 40 years. About four years ago Mr. Wilson suffered a shock. He remained in Winchester until last year, when he joined his wife at Orford. He had another bad shock Monday and his death was only the question of a short time following. In 1873 he was elected to the Board of Selectmen and later Chairman of the Republican Town Committee, and in 1874 was elected Moderator of the Town, which position he held for a period of 25 years.

He was commander of A. D. Weld Post, G. A. R. from 1872 until 1916, and the Camp of Spanish War Veterans, John T. Wilson Camp, was named in his honor. He was founder of the old Winchester Improvement Association, and was always active and a prominent figure in all town affairs.

He is survived by his wife, five daughters and three sons—Frances (Mrs. Spencer Reaves) of Chicago, Frank of New Mexico, Emily, (Mrs. Addison Fay) of New York, Mabel, (Mrs. Frank Doane) of Summit, N. J., Jane, of Orford, N. H., Pleasantine (Mrs. Fred Hand) of Norwalk, Conn., William, of Orford, N. H., and Earle, a Captain in the 16th U. S. Cavalry.

The funeral service will be held from the Unitarian Church on this Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock, and the burial will be in Wildwood cemetery.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The meeting of March 8, which was planned especially for the entertainment of the women in the Home for the Aged was a great success, although the scene was shifted to the Vestry of the First Congregational Church. Mrs. Fred Wildbarger had charge of a group of young folk from the Methodist Church who presented a patriotic program in which Mr. Milton Powers impersonated the Father of His Country and the juniors, costumed in the style of colonial days, did their parts with great charm as well as enthusiasm. It was a matter of great regret that the ones for whom it was prepared were not all able to be present.

At the business meeting the Union voted a gift of money to the Harriet Tubman Home which is doing excellent work for the colored girls of Boston. A letter was read from Mrs. Eldridge of the Home in Ayer, thanking the union for its gift of chocolate for the boys in the hospital at Camp Devens whom she visits. She said that if the givers could see the delight of the boys they would be amply repaid.

MURDER CASES DISPOSED OF.

The case of Commonwealth vs. Sylvester Parham, charged with murder of Francis A. Roberts on December 23, 1917, which began at Cambridge on March 4, attracted considerable interest in this vicinity, as both the accused and deceased were resident of Winchester. Practically all of the witnesses were from this vicinity. The case went to the jury Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock and their verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree was returned Sunday morning at two o'clock.

Drs. Putnam and Dennett of this town, who were called to the house of the defendant to treat his wife, who was also shot, were called as expert witnesses for the Government. The defendant in the case was defended by Attorneys John Schenk and Isidore Fox, while the case for the government was tried by District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts.

On Wednesday morning, March 13, District Attorney Tufts moved for sentence, and Mr. Justice McLaughlin imposed a sentence of life imprisonment in State Prison.

The case of Antonio Pelligrino, who was accused of murdering Louise Granata on January 19, and to which he pleaded guilty, was disposed of on March 4. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The apprehension and prosecution of these cases by the local police and the District Attorney's office was the subject of every favorable comment by the Court. He congratulated all concerned upon bringing the defendants to justice and disposing of their cases, in less than three months from the date of the first homicide.

tanged with musical setting by Liza Lehmann. The remainder of Mrs. Hayesworth's program consisted of an original essay, a number of humorous stories, and two short poems. The selections were uplifting in motive and only a versatile woman of unusual attainment could have held the audience in such wrapt attention. In graceful repose, simply gowned in soft clinging white silk, her mere presence seemed an inspiration, not a breath disturbing the hushed expectancy.

On Friday, March eighth, the Literature Group met at the home of Mrs. Marion D. Kneeland on Symmes road, to continue the study of French authors by taking up the Life and writings of Jules Sandeau and of George Sand.

The subject of Jules Sandeau was introduced by Mrs. Alfred J. Wallace, who was especially well qualified to do so as she has made complete translations into English of two of his books. One of them, "Catherine," is the only work of Sandeau which has been published in our language. Saying that he has been called the Washington Irving of French literature, Mrs. Wallace read from the opening pages of "Catherine", where the simple pastoral style of the writer is charmingly illustrated.

Jules Sandeau attained his first literary prominence by writing in collaboration with Madame Lucile Aurore Dudevant, better known as "George Sand," one of the famous novelists of the middle nineteenth century. In an exceedingly interesting paper Mrs. Minnie J. Ely described this remarkable woman, emphasizing her versatile talents and the many phases of her character. Her sympathy and compassion for the lower classes was shown, not only in her writings, but in her own life by her loyalty to her mother, a woman of the people, from whom the aristocratic prejudices of her father's family tried to separate her.

She was brought up in the ceremonious home of her grandmother and later sent to a convent school, but the greater part of her education came from the reading and study which she always pursued eagerly by herself, even in her old age. As a child in the country she enjoyed talking with the shepherds from whom she learned the legends which she afterwards used so well in her stories.

An early marriage arranged by her relatives resulted unhappily, and leaving her husband she went to Paris to support herself and her two children. Here she met Jules Sandeau, and under the name of "Jules Sand", together they contributed articles to Le Figaro and published a book, "Rose et Blanche."

This connection suggested to the young authoress the pen-name of "George Sand", which she used in producing her many successful novels. Of these they best known in America is "Consuelo," a romance of music and musicians. "La Mare au Diable" is considered by French critics to be her masterpiece. "Lelia" is a story of herself at a time of passion and despair.

Henry James said of George Sand that she sang like a bird, but better than a bird, for "without twittering, she burst at once into full song."

At the request of those present Mrs Ely read from George Sand, selecting two sketches from her story of her life; one a description of a night in Venice, and the other an amusing account of a school girl escapade.

The Home Economics Committee had hoped to have Mrs. Willard Reed of Cambridge tell about her successful Community Soup Kettle last Monday, but she was unable to be present. Club members will, however, have an opportunity to hear her tell of this work at the next meeting of the Mothers' Association on Wednesday, March 20th.

Fuel Administrator Garfield has advised that under the revised government prices for coal at the mouth of the mine, from 1 to 5 per cent of the mines would be compelled to close operations. He said that this would be counted largely to mines producing coal for coke. Dr. Garfield advises that the government prices would be so advantageous to the greater percentage of mines that the general output stimulated among the latter would more than compensate for the lost tonnage in present. Club members will, however, have an opportunity to hear smaller percentage of mines.

A Man Famine

IN common with other countries involved in the World War, the United States is now suffering from a depletion of its business forces because of the large number of men who have entered the service of the government in the business of war. This condition is likely to become more acute in the near future. Business effort is further hampered by the cancellation of many trains on the railroads and by congestion of traffic.

What is the answer? Conservation!

This is the watchword, the slogan of today—We are asked to save food, coal, materials of every kind, yet but little has been said about the CONSERVATION OF TIME, TRAVELLING EXPENSE, etc., which are also matters of great importance.

The most effective aid to Conservation is the telephone because—

It is the quickest means of communication and thus conserves time.

It enables one man to do the work of many and thus conserves labor.

It is surprisingly effective of results, being equal and sometimes superior to a personal call; it thus increases business efficiency.

It is economical when we consider what can be accomplished by a telephone interview of a few minutes' duration, comprising several hundred words of conversation; it, therefore, conserves money.

Then why not make "Conservation by Telephone" your slogan?

Editor of the Star:

Dear Sirs:—Your letter of January fourth received informing me who the very generous person is who has been sending your paper to me. Already I have received two copies and you may be sure that not a single line of printed matter escaped my eye, advertisements and all.

A newspaper, particularly one from a soldiers home town, is just as welcome as a letter. Boston news is rather scarce in the camp here owing to the fact that there are very few "Bay Staters" here. However I find the fellows from the far parts of the States a fine bunch of companions.

Since my arrival in France last September I have run across two Winchester boys, Leon Tuck and a fellow who formerly worked in Goddu's garage as fireman, Ralph Perrin. Tuck is here at the post I am stationed at for the present. None of us know from one day to the other where we will be the next day.

The cold weather I hear you are having back home has nothing on the French weather. The person who invented the expression "Warm and sunny France" certainly never happened to be here in the winter months. I'll bet on that. During most of December and all of January I don't believe we saw the sun more then twice and as cold and disagreeable and damp as it could possibly get anywhere. Of course the temperature never drops as low as it does at home but it makes up for it in dampness.

The soldiers are very well taken care of, plenty to eat, plenty of warm clothes and blankets and comfortable sleeping quarters. The Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. both do much for the comfort of the boys beside running canteens where the soldiers can purchase sandwiches, hot chocolate, tobacco and such things.

I will do as you suggest, write Mr. Elder and thank him for his very generous New Years gift.

With best wishes for the continued success of the Star, I am

Respectfully yours,
Carlisle B. Elliot.

LETTER FROM LIEUT. MURPHY.

February 17, 1918.

Dear old Fred:

It surely was fine of you to remember me way over in this God-forsaken country and I don't know of anything that we crave more than good cigarettes and American chocolate. My two buddies, Lts. Waller and Cashin of Lowell old 6th Regt. Officers, together with Kinly and myself partook of the good things you sent—we all split our packages from home and all unite in sending their heartfelt thanks for your thoughtfulness.

I am writing George today also. It was a good thought sending cigars and we surely did enjoy them. The package arrived the latter part of last month and the letters a week or so before but I have had to move no less than four times since then so have had no time to write.

We are now at the front and I am attached at present to the 101st Machine Gun Battalion. Expect to get back to my old regiment but can't be definite about anything nowadays. Just saw an aeroplane come down end over end out of the skies. Hope it was a Boche but it was too far away to tell. There is something doing here all the time but as I now write by candle light in my bomb-proof dug-out I feel almost as safe as I would on the front porch of the Calumet Club. At least I know that no one can take my money away from me as I haven't any to be taken.

Hope some day to see you all again but no one knows when that happy day will be. Give my best regards to all the boys. Would like to hear from them. Probably wouldn't be able to write them all individually but could write a "club" letter once in a while. Just missed Murray Dewart by fifteen minutes the other day, but expect to get in touch with him soon. Surely would like to see some-one from home.

Drop a line once in a while Fred. Letters from home are the best reading a fellow can get over here so expect to hear from you again soon.

As ever,
Lt. Edward R. Murphy,

LETTER FROM W. E. CHAMBERLAIN.

Winchester Man Writes of Conditions at Capitol.

Editor of the Star:

Wish to acknowledge your kindness in sending the STAR to me here in Washington.

I am enjoying the work here very much and find there is plenty of it from 9 a. m. to 6.30 or 7 p. m., six days a week. No holidays or Saturday half-days for any of the War volunteer workers.

Some of the smartest and most able business men from the various lines of trade and from every section of the United States are working strenuously without recompense of any kind and paying their own expenses here in Washington to help Uncle Sam win the War, and it is an honor and a pleasure to be associated as I am with them. I thought I had seen men work in a business way before, but the way the capable heads of these committees jump from one problem to another morning to night, day after day, and the mental strain they are under is wonderful to witness and I wonder how they stand up under it.

I was walking up or down (I don't know which) Pennsylvania avenue a few days after I came here and saw a familiar figure cross the sidewalk right in front of me and sung out "hullo." It was our good townsman, "Nate" Taylor, who is spending the winter here with his family, his son being in business here. I went into his son's office and visited with them a few minutes and they invited Mr. Snyder of Winchester and myself to attend a meeting of the Board of Trade a few evenings later at the Willard Hotel Banquet Hall.

We enjoyed the gathering and the addresses, particularly one by Congressman Miller of the State of Washington, who was one of the committee the U. S. sent to Europe last summer to visit the battlefields in Belgium, France and Italy, as well as the governments of England and France. It is most interesting to get descriptions and conditions which exist from one who has been on the ground and seen things that we read about in magazines and papers, because it makes it seem more realistic.

Mr. Taylor looked a perfect picture of health and is as jolly as ever; said he never felt better and he looked it, although he did say he hadn't really been warm this winter, but he also noticed Winchester wasn't the warmest place on the map this winter by reports he heard.

Yours truly,
W. E. Chamberlain.

LETTER FROM THE FRONT.

George J. Barbaro Tells of Conditions in France.

The following is an extract from a letter from George J. Barbaro of this town, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincenzo Barbaro of Oak street to his sister.

Somewhere in France,
February 9, 1918.

Dear Rosa:

Your letter of January 9th was received by me yesterday and it certainly was a welcome one. I suppose you received my two letters written from here a few weeks ago advising you of my safe arrival in France. I am still at the same place, but I suppose by the time this letter reaches you we may be miles away from here.

Tell mamma and dad that I am in the best of health and feeling fine. You see, I am getting used to Army life now, and really enjoy eating my breakfast out in the moonlight and the cool invigorating air at about 5.30 a. m. Of course, when it rains, as it has been doing for the last four or five days, it is a little difficult to swallow down the soup before too much water gets into it, but these instances are real comical and we enjoy them. Then again, we don't have to bother about keeping the furnaces going, for we don't need them now. Most of the fields hereabouts are plowed and under cultivation, neither do we have to be particular about cleaning the mud off our shoes before entering our barracks, as there are no floors to dirty. The only thing that is worrying me now is my clothing. I have gained about 18 pounds in weight since our arrival here and am getting heavier, and my coat and blouse are getting tighter than corsets. I must see the supply officer shortly for new clothes or the buttons will be flying off.

Of course, we fellows over here are not inclined to do much thinking in regard to the conditions of the French people, for if we did, I am afraid some of us would get the blues, but even at that we cannot help noticing the results of this terrible war. During all the time I have been here, I do not recollect seeing one single Frenchman of military age, say between the ages of 17 and 45 years, who was not in uniform. The work of cultivation going on about us, the teaming, and practically everything else is being done by the women, children, and old men, who with very few exceptions, are in mourning for the loss of some near relative. Many a time, as I have looked into the sad faces of the women passing through our camp, invariably wearing a little white cap, the insignia of mourning in this country, I have been forced to realize how thankful we Americans should really be, and how proud, too, now that the good, old U. S. A. has gone into this thing with the purpose of ending it once and for all, thus removing the possibility of anything like it ever happening to God's country and our own mothers and sisters. And this seems to be the spirit of all our men.

Most of the evening here we spend in the Y. M. C. A. Huts, where they get up some splendid entertainments for the boys. The other night we listened to some recitations given by G. H. Southern, and a musical programme which was simply splendid, as those who entertained us were real artists, everyone of them, who would be considered headliners, probably, back in the States. Then we have moving pictures too, and those depicting scenes back home sure do make a hit with the boys, and so do the love scenes, too, which are occasionally flashed on the screens. You know, life gets mighty monotonous sometimes without seeing occasionally the faces of our mothers, sisters and sweethearts, and that is the reason why the little love scenes make the biggest hit with the boys these days.

You would be surprised at the amount of talent that can be dug up amongst the boys in uniform over here at a moment's notice. We have lists, comedians, magicians, card sharps, in fact all kinds of entertainers, and the Y. M. C. A. officials are continually busy getting up programmes. I don't think as people at home will ever realize the wonderful work being done by this organization until the boys will be able to come home and tell about it. It is wonderful and they sure do keep thousands of us from getting the blues evenings when we would otherwise have nothing else to do, but sit in our barracks thinking of the dear ones far, far away.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

SIMPLE SIMON

Simple Simon met a Pieman—

(meaning pies in great variety Simon would like to have tasted)

Going to the Fair

(It was a Country Fair, first two Simon and the Pieman, next Entrance gates, next the Fair buildings last of performing kangaroo (star attraction) that eats kleenware and matches and plays the piano with his tail)

Said Simple Simon to the Pieman—"Let me taste your ware."

(Simon's elongated tongue and eye for pie)

Said the Pieman to Simple Simon—"Show me first your penny."

U U U U U U

(Meaning Simon's empty pockets)

Said Simple to the Pieman—"Indeed I have not any."

! ! ! ? ? " " " "

(Exclamations, questions and quotations of some very plain language the Pieman said to Sim. le Simon).

Simple Simon went a-fishing in his mother's pail

'Twas wash day in the Simon home, which made poor Simon quail—

So fish did he—from morn till night—no wash was done at all—

"To save Ma's strength—I'm not" said he, "so simple after all."

We thank you.

A LAMENT FROM MR. CRAUGHWELL.

Winchester, March 7, 1918.

Editor of the Star:

Away back in the prehistoric age there was a grumbling clown who sat under an acorn tree. He couldn't seem to ascertain how it was that the sturdy oak tree bore such small fruit, namely, acorns, not nuts, and the small plum tree such large fruit. He finally decided to reach for one of the plums, but alas, a small acorn dropped on his cranium. He immediately woke up from his slumber and sat down in comfort and dictated the following epistle.

It certainly was refreshing or gratifying to me when I heard Moderator Manley Ives announce to the vast multitude that assembled in that spacious auditorium, the Town Hall, on the evening of March 4th, 1918, that Messrs. Ogden and Cox had been carried over the top by Coxey's great army of thinking men, or in other words, they decided not to let George do it. But never mind, George, cheer up, I am with you. I for one, appreciate the efficient work that you have rendered to the Town of Winchester. Like General Philip A. Sheridan, you always fought fair and always resided in Winchester, the Athens of America, that beautiful residential suburb, eight miles from the gilded dome; the home of the Chief Executive of Massachusetts, the Honorable Samuel W. McCall, Lewis Parkhurst, and the lamented Samuel J. Elder.

In the year 1638, what is now known as Winchester, was a beautiful water field that abounded with sparkling perch, speckled trout, lumpouts and beautiful lilies of the Aborjona Valley. Your humble servant has craved the sparkling beauties on to a hook several times in the past; like the mighty Webster and the brilliant Joseph Jefferson, strolling along the brooks and streams with rod in hand, "in historic Marshfield and Buzzards Bay, where they used to angle on a bright summer's day." What a vast difference now? Nothing but polluted water, mosquitoes, flies, germs and possibly cooties. How much longer have we got to gaze on this filthy germ-breeding menace?

I refer you to the politicians who snore up under the gilded dome on Beacon Hill. Let them wake up and journey out to picturesque Winchester and ascertain the facts for themselves and not send a couple of substitutes, who couldn't distinguish pure water from a glass of old rye-eye, or in other words, demon booze the assassinator of the human race, that tears asunder happy homes, ruins men's health, sharpens their knives and insures for them a deed for six feet of mother earth in the garden of the silent.

Now, school boys, take warning from one who has been there and knows what he is talking about. I have been there over night and have often been very tight. Now, that I am a total abstainer I can emphasize this curse with might. I know the game like Billy Sunday—from A to Z. Abraham Lincoln's boys remembered the poor trodden slave, William McKinley's sturdy giants of 1898 remembered the battleship Maine, and I trust that President Woodrow Wilson's all-America boys will remember the Lusitania and go over the top with flying colors and preserve what the above secured, namely Liberty, Justice and Freedom, for all mankind. A soldier kissed his wife good-bye, he was going to the war. The tears they trickled down his face, and of the one he did adore. "Be patient and true till I return, my own true love, he cried," But at the battle on no man's land he like a soldier died. He never came back; his sweet face we will never greet, but how happy she will be, when his sweet face she will see, when they meet on that beautiful shore. Let us say a prayer for the boys over there, they are fighting for you and for me. And let us always say, give to us this day our daily bread, and when we are lying on our backs looking up at the roots of the green grass, the Stars and Stripes that Betsy Ross used her needles on, will wave over a free world, or in other words, democracy will take the place of autocracy.

Now let us get up under the gilded dome for a brief period an I compare the dudes with these sterling lamented patriotic American citizens—Daniel Webster, James Otis, Lewis Cass, Sumner, Wendell Philips, Sherman Hoar, Rufus Choate and the great John Boyle O'Riley, who used to make historic Faneuil Hall, the cradle of American Liberty, ring with their eloquence and patriotism. We owe our very existence to George Washington and the martyred Presidents of these United States, Abraham Lincoln and William McKinley.

I saw an assertion in the Winchester STAR of last week's issue in regard to Governor's avenue. Now don't get excited neighbors, that street is going to be built in commemoration of Samuel W. McCall, one of our world war governors, the successor of his predecessor, the great Civil War Governor, John A. Andrews. I believe his name will be handed down to posterity and future generations, and scribes will assert that he was a statesman, patriot and splendid American citizen.

Now for the moving picture theatre. Perhaps in the near future we will erect it on no-man's land and all sit down in comfort and witness on the screen the pathetic scene of Von Kluck, Hindenburg and William Hohenzollern Kaiser Bill, the assassinator of democracy, the man with the chill's brain and the sissies crooked mustache, dancing the highland fling or the sword dance to the tune of St. Patrick's Day in the Morning. For their boys nor I should bore I, hump backed, skinflint of a Hindenburg to tell us Americans that he will be in Gay Paree on April first is a joke or fabrication pure and simple.

Now that we have abandoned the gasometer, let us remove our gas masks and fade away to some occulist who specializes in window-panes.

Now to close, boys, take my advice and don't touch a drop of booze while this war continues. Perhaps we all could meditate or read between the lines the meaning of the grumbling clown's epistle.

I remain

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell.

WAR SERVICE OF AMERICAN LIBRARY ASS'N.

Books For The Men in Camp and Overseas.

On Wednesday of this week Governor McCall accepted for the State of Massachusetts, the library building and books at Camp Devens, from the American Library Association, who were the donors. This building and library is only one of thirty-two large camps, and in addition books and periodicals are being sent to the Chaplains, Y. M. C. A. and K. of C. Secretaries, etc., in smaller camps, as fast as needs are learned.

The Public Library of this town was asked to solicit funds and books for this purpose and through the valuable assistance of The Fortnightly nearly $1,000 in money and about 1,000 books were collected.

The library at Camp Devens is under the direct charge of Mr. Lowe a resident of this town who is the librarian in charge with one library assistant. The librarians throughout the country have volunteered their services, both in camp libraries and in the arrangement and preparation of books before they are sent to the cantonments, fortifications or navy yards and transport.

The total amount of money contributed was more than $1,000,000 throughout the country. Altogether about 1,000,000 books have already been provided.

For the statistics and much valuable information regarding the country-wide installation of libraries and books, we are indebted to the pamphlet published by the library of Congress whose chief librarian, Dr. Putnam, has had special charge of this work.

"The more suggestion that libraries should be provided for the camps would have been derided during our Civil War. But times have changed; the methods of warfare have been revolutionized; books must be within reach; technical subjects must be studied and highly specialized branches must be mastered."

"The training camp of today is not essentially different from a big university. The fellows work and study a good deal harder in the training camps then they would in a university. This war is a highly specialized affair. It is a modern science which the men must learn by studious application to the problems of drill and trench. They acquire the habit of study, of application, in the training camp of today."

"The great demand for every sort of technical books, especially on mechanics, engineering, navigation, architecture, surveying and astronomy, often taxes the library's resources beyond its limit. The convalescent soldiers who are under training in the vocational schools show a great desire to supplement their text books by further reading."

Give a Book

"The War Service administration hopes that for every book purchased, at least five will be presented to the libraries. It has been done in England; it can be done here.

"Mobilize your idle books.

"Give the book you prize the most; not the one you care for least.

"Give your favorite author; the novel that interested you last summer; the volume of poems with a meaning and message for you.

"Give the book that causes a pang at parting, like saying goodbye to an old friend. Ten chances to one it will mean more to some soldier boy.

"Give the book that is still alive but which you and your family have outgrown. It is the one which should be passed on to the Camp Libraries.

"Give your latest war book; you will probably not read it again. The boy in khaki is waiting for it. Reading it will prepare him for conditions over there."

"Give books on technical subjects; there is an insistent call for works on aeroplanes, automobiles, gas engines and engineering topics generally. Don't think that the boys are interested only in fiction.

"Write your name and a message on the fly leaf; it will make the bond seem closer.

PASTEURIZED MILK IS THE IDEAL FOOD.

State and national experts are marshalling forces for a great spring drive to promote the greater use of milk as a food by people generally, and especially by the poor who have greatly decreased its use since the price went up.

The United States Food Administration, through its experts, has just completed a study of the milk question, and now recommends a greater consumption of milk.

Milk inspectors and other experts of Greater Boston will assist in this great campaign of education soon to be launched. Every Greater Boston expert in the land insists that pasteurized milk is the only safe milk—that in case of a contagious disease the source of milk the patient has drunk is the first thing considered. Often the disease traced to germ-filled milk which would have been rendered perfectly harmless by pasteurization.

Maurice Dinneen, milk inspector of Winchester, says: "Pasteurization is the only safe way of handling milk. You can get good pasteurized milk. I don't believe in all this stuff about patent foods. If a child can't have mother's milk you can get good milk with which to feed the baby. Milk is fine and if the baby can't stand it, it can be modified to suit the delicate stomach. Get milk; it is the greatest food in the world."

WOBURN THEATRE.

In "His Mother's Boy," the new Paramount photoplay in which Charles Ray will be seen at the Woburn Theatre on next Friday and Saturday, the popular Thomas H. Ince star will have a part much to his liking,—that of a young fellow who has been brought up in a very small New England town, the idol of his mother, and without much association with other boys of his own age.

This lends him later in life into many strange and unexpected complications and adventures. "His Mother's Boy" is a picturization of Rupert Hughes' story, "When Life is Marked Down."

COLONIAL THEATRE.

One night well have thought from the flood of musical comedy that has been poured into Boston in recent years there could be left little or nothing to surprise the intolerate theatregoer; but the latest production of Klaw & Erlanger, "The Rainbow Girl," now running at the Colonial has proved to be what they call on the "Campus" an eye-opener. Quality is written over every scene, specialty, episode, solo or chorus number, dancing conceit, and the running power of the whole entertainment has been aptly described "The speed limit."

The interior decorations are the fine t example of the art of Joseph Urban, whose genius has revolutionized stage art. The cast also brought forward a new, young singer, Beth Lydy, with a voice sweetly fresh and strong, and who uses it with the grace and charm of an operatic star. The fun is provided by Billy B. Van, whose dry face and method would rumple the features of a graven image. The girls are young and willowy with singable voices, and look and act as if they were having the time of their lives.

COPLEY THEATRE.

Many sensational incidents and much comedy go to make up the plot of "Eccentric Lord Comberdene," the play by R. C. Carton, which will have its first performance in Boston at the Copley Theatre next Monday evening. "Eccentric Lord Comberdene" is in every way the equal of "Lord and Lady Algy" in entertaining qualities, and its presentation by the Henry Jewett Players should draw large audiences.

The story told by Mr. Carton in "Eccentric Lord Comberdene" is a mingling of adventure and romance.

The cast will be made up of the full ensemble of the Henry Jewett Players, and the play will be staged under Mr. Jewett's personal direction. "Eccentric Lord Comberdene" will be followed during the week of March 25th by Israel Zangwill's drama, "The Melting Pot," and on April 1st by "The Cottage in the Air," by Edward Knoblauch, this latter play for the first time in Boston.

MODERN THEATRE.

The photoplay bill at the Modern Theatre, Boston, for the coming week promises abundant enjoyment for the higher class. Pauline Frederick, Boston's own beautiful daughter, will be seen pictured in a screen version of the Victorien Sardan "La Tosca." This French master of melodrama invested his drama with a story which will live forever both in song and on the screen. A companion photoplay will be the Goldwyn production, "The Floor Below," in which the merry and beautiful screen star, Mabel Normand, will be shown pictured in an emotional role. She is a newspaper reporter who is inspired to turn detective to apprehend some jewelry thieves, and she becomes engaged in a number of exciting adventures. It is said to be a thrilling and unusual st ry full of the charm that follows in the train of this gifted star. News pictures and short comedies will complete the bill.

PARK SQUARE THEATRE.

After a phenominal run of an entire year at the Eltinge Theatre, New York, "Cheating Cheaters" Max Marcin's remarkable farce melodrama will be presented at the Park Square Theatre, Boston, beginning next Monday, March 18.

A Woods' hit' is always an event of interest to theatregoers, but the advent of "Cheating Cheaters" ought to be a particularly happy one.

The play is superbly mounted and the company includes a number of notable players including Eileen Huban, a new comer to Boston. Miss Huban has succeeded Miss Ramteau in the leading role, and proves ex the fame magnetic personality of her predecessor. Others in the cast include Edward Ellis, Ann Sutherland, Frank Dorrah, James C. Marlowe, John Sharkey and Gypsy O'Brien. The scale of prices for the engagement range from 50c to $2.00. The system of caring for mail orders at the Park Square theatre is unique adds the Post in Boston, and careful accurate attention is given each mail order, when accompanied by a self-addressed and stamped envelope together with the necessary 10 per cent War tax.

GREATER BOSTON COORDINATION.

George A. Flynn, assistant corporation counsel of the city of Boston, before the Legislative Committee on Metropolitan Affairs urged that a committee be appointed which would supervise and develop the transportation systems of Greater Boston. Mr. Flynn informed the committee that the project has the indorsement of Mayor Andrew J. Peters of Boston. "The establishment of some metropolitan authority to deal with questions of transportation of passengers and freight in the district of which Boston is the center," reads a letter from the Mayor given out by Mr. Flynn, "to coordinate the various transportation agencies and to make comprehensive plans for future development."

Continuing, the letter said: "Whatever policy the Legislature may see fit to adopt in dealing with our local transportation situation, it seems to be clear that there will be great need of a permanent metropolitan transportation authority." The Mayor, said Mr. Flynn, was of the opinion that action to this end should be taken by the committee immediately.

W. B. Clark of Belmont, speaking as a suburbanite, indorsed the project advocated by Mr. Flynn. Geo. B. Upham and F. F. Rumdy, taxpayers of Boston, also favored the measure.

John E. Macy, president of the United Improvement Association of Boston, spoke in favor of another bill similar to the other one, but restricting the appointees to the transportation committee to members of certain civic organizations for the purpose of "keeping politics out of appointments." In this manner, he argued, a more efficient committee could be secured.

This latter bill was opposed by Mr. Flynn on the ground that it would tie the hands of the official with the appointing power.

Charles A. Cifford of Boston appealed in favor of his bill for a Metropolitan Commission of five members and also for a bill to give the proposed commission the right to lease or purchase strips of vacant land in the suburbs beside the steam roads for use of the Metropolitan Commission in coordinating trolley freight and passenger service.

SERVICE FLAG DEDICATED.

Boys Remembered at Impressive Service at the M. E. Church.

A service, flag, bearing 11 stars honoring parishioners in military service, was dedicated Sunday morning at the Methodist Church, Mt. Vernon street, by the Pastor, Rev. C. Harrison Davis, who is a member of the local Machine Gun Company. The Church was filled and the military coloring was given the exercises by the presence of the 12th Regiment, M. S. G., Machine Gun Company.

After the opening prayer and singing by the Church Choir, the pastor read the names of the young men of the Church who have joined the colors. The quartette of the Machine Gun Company sang "Keep the Home Fires Burning." Rev. Mr. Davis quoted from Lincoln's Gettysburg address and preached on: "The War Against War."

The service was of special interest inasmuch as a new State Flag presented to the church by Mr. Geo. C. Ogden was unfurled for the first time, and also a service flag with the eleven stars of the men from the parish in the service of the country was dedicated. The pastor read as a service of dedication the following adaptation of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address:

REV. C. HARRISON DAVIS.
Pastor of Methodist Church.

Seventeen and seven years ago, our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great world war testing whether that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can longer endure. We come here today to pay honor to those who have taken up their arms that that nation may live. To them we dedicate this flag. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate this flag. The brave men who struggle in trench and camp, on sea, on land, and in the air, have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they are doing there. It is for us here, rather to be dedicated to the unfinished work which they whose strugele over there have thus far so nobly carried on. It is rather for us to be dedicated to the great task remaining before us; that from these honored men we take increased devotion to the cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that they shall not sacrifice and toil in vain, that this nation and the entire family of nations shall have a new birth of freedom and that government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth.

Supt. of Schools Schuyler F. Herron and Principle Joseph H. Hefflon of the Wadleigh School, both of whom leave the first of the month to take up Y. M. C. A. war work in France, were remembered by gifts this week by teachers and pupils of the schools. On Wednesday, at the Prince School, at which Supt. Herron's office is located, there was a special meeting of the Teachers' Club, Miss Mary V. Perham, President, at which Mr. Herron was presented with a fine wrist watch by the teachers, Mr. Edward E. Thompson of the High School making the presentation. Yesterday forenoon a sum of money was sent to Principal Hefflon's house by the pupils and teachers of the Wadleigh school. While Mr. Hefflon's gift was intended primarily for the purchase of a wrist watch, it was presented with request that he spend it as he saw fit, and it is said that he will use a part of the sum for the purchase of tobacco and other comforts for the men in service to take across with him.

Mr. Robert T. Scott of Spokane, Wash., has been engaged to fill the position to be vacated by Mr. Warren C. Johnson at the High School. Mr. Johnson leaves next week to accept a position with Ginn & Co. Mr. Scott will teach English and History.

The annual spring vacation begins tomorrow and continues until Monday, April 1st.

Miss Florence C. Jepson, principal at the Gifford School, has been out during the week owing to the illness of her father.

At the Mystic School on Wednesday a program of speaking and music was presented by the scholars to their parents in recognition of the recent gift of pictures to the school. The pictures, all colored reproductions of famous paintings, were presented by a troup of mothers, of which Mrs. William J. Drisko is chairman. The pictures, which are now in place on the walls of the school room, include "Hearing," "Seeing," and "Madonna" by Jessie Wilcox Smith; "Come Unto These Yellow Sands" and Raphael's "Madonna of the Chair." At the exercises remarks were made by Mrs. Drisko and Supt. of Schools Herron.

The School Committee still has under consideration the filling of Supt. of School Herron's position, open through his enlistment in Y. M. C. A. work in France. No action has yet been taken.

HELP THE FARMERS.

We Must Depend Upon Them for Production.

Editor of the Star:

Will you please print in the STAR the enclosed letter received from Henry B. Endicott, State and Federal Food Administrator, and in this connection wish to state that we stand ready to help the Farmers of Winchester as much as possible, in order to stimulate Food Production.

Yours very truly,

Board of Food Administration.
March 15, 1918.

To the Bankers of Massachusetts,
Dear Sir:

Realizing the extreme necessity of encouraging food production for the coming season, I feel that I ought to urge upon the bankers throughout Massachusetts to do everything in their power to help the situation. The bankers are in a position to give indispensable help necessary to insure safety, not only for ourselves, but for the splendid armies that are fighting for us abroad.

The farmer is the man that we must depend upon. He has had plenty of advice but not enough practical help. The banker's support to the farmer will stimulate production tremendously.

I realize that it is he banker's duty to loan money only where he feels he can do so with safety. But the experience of two or three banks that aided us last year was highly satisfactory. Of course their individual loans were small in amount and they made them to farmers who were men of good reputation. This year with careful investigation of each case the banker can loan money even more safely than last year, because it is evident that the demand for farmer's produce next fall is going to be larger than the supply. That means that the farmer will get good prices.

Many farmers have got to have money to purchase seed and fertilizer. The amount will be small, but if every bank in Massachusetts will help, the result will be very large. Some of the banks have picked out a good man and sent him out among the farmers in their sections to inquire as to their needs and to learn the ones to whom loans can be safely made. I know one bank that has allowed such an agent to promise these loans where they did not exceed $100 or $200. Requests for larger loans have come before the Directors to be passed on. Each bank will know the best way to conduct a campaign of this kind in its own territory. I have now appointed a County Food Administrator in each county of the State, and he will be able to give you further advice if you will consult him.

To sum it up, our farmers must feel our armies and our citizens, and materially aid our Allies, and the banker must aid the farmer. By that road shall we obtain security. The State Food Administration stands ready to cooperate with the banks in any way that seems wise. We depend upon you to do what you can to aid in this time of our great need.

Yours very truly,
H. E. Endicott,
Food Administrator.

HOME GARDENS.

The Committee on Food Production and conservation earnestly requests all persons who own vacant land which would be suitable for growing vegetables, and which they are not going to use themselves, to allow its use by those who do not themselves own land, for the raising of garden stuff. The Committee believes that such land should be listed with it for distribution to those who desire to plant. Please forward by telephone or mail all tenders of land for the above purpose to Committee on Food Production and Conservation. Town Hall.

CHARLES N. BACON.

Charles Newcomb Bacon, died yesterday morning at the home of his son, Charles F. Bacon, 31 Grove street at the age of 74 years. He was born December 2, 1843, and was a decendant of the old New England family that originated with Nathaniel Bacon, one of the first settlers of Barnstable, Mass.

He was educated at Chauncy Hall School, Boston, and afterwards engaged in the business of manufacturing felting in this town.

In his business career he followed in the footsteps of his father, John H., and his grandfather, Robert, who began the manufacture of felt hats in Medford in 1825. This business, now known as the Bacon Felt Company, he carried on until 1907, when he retired. He invented many felt specialties, the most important being a solid felt buffer for polishing and burnishing purposes.

In October, 1860, he married Florence Louise Holbrook, daughter of Ridgeway Edward, and Frances L. (Doane) Holbrook of Boston, who survives him. He is survived also by two daughters, Mrs. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Fred S. Smith of Arlington, and three sons, Charles F., Louis A., and Robert, of this town.

MID-WINTER TOURNAMENT.

Matches Ended With Games Rolled Last Night.

The mid-winter bowling tournament at the Calumet Club closed last night when the final series of matches was rolled. The tournament has been under way since the 21st of January and it was a fight from start to finish, with any one of several teams eligible for the honors right up to the last week.

The make-up of team K is T. Price Wilson, Capt., F. A. Parshley, G. A. Richburg, G. S. Littlefield, E. R. Keepers.

Third prize was won by team F, which won 21 and lost 15 points. This team is composed of A. B. Seller, Capt., H. J. Saabye, G. W. Annin, Wallace Blanchard, C. W. Parker, Jr.

Tuesday night's games were instrumental in the final standing of several teams, and A, F, H and K were all concerned. K, by winning all four points, made certain of second prize. A strengthened six held on third by a three in one win, while F and H, tied for fourth position, split even, allowing that prize to remain in question until last night. This result brought the decision of third and fourth prizes down to the last match between the three teams. The matches were close; C won its only point from A by the margin of four pins, and F won one of its points by a similar margin from H. Dr. Olmsted was high man, making a total of 341 on a high single of 125. Hamilton was close behind with 333 on 124, and Saabye got 303 on 115, Ordway 300 on 105, Maddison 122, Taylor 109, Seller 103, Olmsted 103 and Parshley 102.

TO THE RESIDENTS OF WINCHESTER.

On April 6th, the campaign for the Third Liberty Loan will commence. We feel that everybody in Winchester wants the town to make the best possible showing. This can only be done provided the same spirit of cooperation is shown for the town that is shown for the subscription to the bonds. We want everybody who possibly can to arrange their subscriptions so that they go through one of the Winchester banks.

Winchester has only done fairly well on the two preceding Liberty Loans, due largely, we believe, to the fact that no attempt has been made especially to interest people in subscribing through their local committees or banks.

You will be called upon for a larger subscription than you have made before. You will be expected to give more generously, and as residents of Winchester, you should want the credit for the subscriptions you are going to make to revert to your town.

We ask you to bear this in mind and to arrange your affairs so that if possible your full subscription shall be made through Winchester. If it is impossible to make your full subscription through Winchester, at least make a larger part of it through Winchester than you have done before.

Publicity Committee,
Winchester Liberty Loan
Committee.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE BY BARONESS HUARD.

American by birth, the daughter of Francis Wilson, the actor, and French through education and marriage, this now famous lecturer will come to Winchester on Friday, April 5th. Her lecture is entitled, "My Year Among the Fighters," and she will relate her actual experiences when the mobilization in France left her alone in her chateau at Villiers, near Soissons. Her experiences with the refugees, her escape from the invaders—the battle of the Marne, and her return across the still smoking fields of battle, are thrilling indeed, and whether or not you have read her books, you will be glad to grasp the opportunity of hearing the story directly from the lips of this brave woman. She will tell of the bombardment and looting of her chateau, of the emergency hospital in the wilderness, and of her life there, shut off from the outside world.

The slides to be shown are made from photographs taken by Madame Huard.

Tickets of admission may be obtained at the low price of 50c, and a limited number of reserved seats at 75c, through members of the Special Aid, and Epiphany War Relief Groups under whose auspices the lecture will be given.

All the money goes directly to the cause for which everyone is working these days, since Madame Huard earns $100 a day by her lecturing to maintain her hospital in France. Whatever is made over and above this sum will be equally divided between the two groups mentioned above.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM ASPHYXIATION.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Jordan had a narrow escape from death at their home on Nelson street Sunday. A niece of Mr. Jordan called at the house Sunday evening about 8 o'clock and found the morning's milk still on the doorstep, the house closed and no signs of life. Unable to rouse any one within, she called Charles Harrold, a neighbor, who in turn called officers Shea and Kelley. An entrance was finally gained and Mr. and Mrs. Jordan were found in bed unconscious from coal gas fumes. The police lost no time in applying the pulmotor, and succeeded in restoring the couple to consciousness. Mr. and Mrs. Jordan are reported completely recovered.

Interesting matches were rolled on Wednesday night. The two leaders, teams 5 and 6, fought it out, 6 winning the majority and thereby holding its position in first place. The match was close, 5 winning its point by but 1 pin. This still allows other teams to pass these winners in future matches during the next ten days. Team 3 lost an opportunity to better its standing and go into a second place tie by losing two points to team 9. 3 got its one point by the margin of 7 pins. Team 4, by losing all three to 7, still holds the anchor position tied with 10. Mrs. Booth led the ladies with a fine single of 111 and a total of 188. A SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT IN COMMUNITY COOKING.

The Mothers' Association were fortunate in hearing Mrs. Reed of Cambridge tell in detail the method for which the Community Soup Kettle in the Peabody School was started and has succeeded beyond all expectation. As chairman of a committee to extend the use of the use of the schools for the public good, she prevailed upon the School Board to advance $100 for the purchase of the great kettle, which holds 150 quarts and rests near the floor over a gas coil, and utensils necessary for cooking on such a gigantic scale.

The city auditor objected as the object was not considered educational, but when the experiment demonstrated itself to be a really paying business the Kettle was soon paid for.

The school children pay 2½ cents a cup—a good ½ pint for rich nourishing soup of many varities. They carry it home at 10 cents a quart, and when all the little pails and pitchers and jugs have been well filled with hot, cheap, and most delicious soup, about 150 quarts a day being made, it is proved beyond all doubt that many tired and busy mothers are saved labor and expense, and those whose busy days make reading and study of the difficult problem of food conservation impossible are furnished with the best available food and the solution of the food supply question and conservation is at hand. A few facts briefly stated are pertinent.

600 tons of waste bones are taken from the markets everyday. After the fat is removed the bones are sold for fertilizer—the rich nourishment which has been boiled out goes into the sewer. At the Peabody School 200 pounds of bones are purchased at 3 cents a pound. From this 15 pounds of clear fat are removed and used later to fry onions for potatoes or tomato soups. Also 10 pounds of good meat is removed, chopped and returned to the Kettle to add nourishment with the rice or barley to thicken the stock. The bones are sold at 1 cent a pound, and the cost is reduced to $1.00 for over 100 quarts of stock. 1000 quarts of soup were made with $1.00 worth of gas.

The work is spreading in Cambridge and the demand at the branch Kettles exceeds even that at the Peabody School. It is not charitable in any way, but Mrs. Reed's statment that "The time is ripe for community cooking," seems to be proved, but perhaps the most difficult part of the necessary equipment to dunlicate would be Mrs. Reed herself, with her constant supervision of the cook, the Kettle and its contents.

The audience adjourned to the High School Library and were enthusiastic over the cups of Scotch broth which Mrs. Reed had brought with her and crackers made of rye flour and other sweetened corn meal.

Entered at the post-office at Winchester, Massachusetts, as second-class matter.

Spring commenced Wednesday. Thus far it has been pretty cold. Nevertheless the robins are here seeking out their old homes.

We have received an anonymous communication from some person unknown regarding moving pictures in Winchester. This communication fails to find a place in the columns of the STAR, because the author does not give his name. It is the fixed rule of the STAR not to print such communications. The only correct way is to back up your opinion with your name. Don't hide behind "Veritas," "A Visitor," etc., etc.

Officer Cassidy took action in connection with the overloaded hacks and abuse to horses in connection with some of the funeral parties which pass through this town. When he took the name and address of a driver Wednesday afternoon. The hack in question contained no less than seven persons, and its horses had hard work to haul it up the slight grade in front of the STAR office. The driver might have got by had he not lashed the horses, but as a result of this action he will probably be hailed into court. The party was returning from the Jewish cemetery at Montvale. There have been many comments on the overloaded hacks which go to this cemetery, and the wonder is that the police have not acted before.

LADIES' NIGHT APRIL 10.

Preperations are rapidly going forward for the ladies' night of William Parkman Lodge in the Town Hall on Wednesday, April 10th. The committee in charge have now nearly completed the programm for the evening, and although no details have yet been announced, it is under tood that the affair will include both dancing and an entertainment. The Social Committee of the Lodge, which has the tickets in charge, report that the demand has already been such as to secure promise of an attendance which will be a record in similar affairs of the Lodge.

D. OF I. NOTES.

Santa Maria Court will conduct a most unique Mardi-Gras Show and Masquerade in White's Hall Tuesday evening April 2nd.

Two very good prizes will be offered, one for the most beautiful costume and one for the funniest costume, also there will be other prizes given.

The Minstrel part of the program promises to be very clever. It is in charge of Lecturer Mrs. Wm. E. McDonald, assistd by Past Lecturers, Mrs. J. Chris Sullivan and Mrs. Wm. H. Vayo. The musical part of the show is being looked after by organist Miss Mabel M. Coty.

The Court will initiate a large class of candidates on Tuesday evening, April 16th.

COPLEY THEATRE.

"The Melting Pot," which will be acted at the Copley Theatre during the week of March 25th by the Henry Jewett Players, is the work of Israel Zangwill, one of the most famous of modern English Jewish writers. As a novelist, as a story teller, and as a dramatist, his fame is equal. For the past dozen years he has stood at the head of his profession, and a stage presentation of any play of his is an event.

The entire ensemble of the Henry Jewett Players will be in the cast of "The Melting Pot," at the Copley Theatre. The play to follow during the week of April 1st will be "The Cottage in the Air," a comedy by Edward Knoblauch.

POP CONCERT PLAY.

All those who enjoyed Fi-Fi, were glad to read that the Pop Concert Committee were to present another of those musical fantasies, "The Wishing Ring." The date of this is Easter Monday, April first, at 7.45, in the Town Hall. The Committee have decided to have a Public Dress Rehearsal or matinee on Saturday afternoon, March 30, the ticket at 50 cents.

MILK INSPECTOR MAURICE DINEEN GIVES HIS VIEWS ON THE PASTEURIZATION OF MILK.

Editor of the Star:

I regret that my views on pasteurization have been stated incorrectly in the "STAR" and in another newspaper.

"The annual report of the Board of Health of Winchester for the year 1917, contains the following: During the past year there was no serious epidemic and there was less sickness than usual. Up to November there was no deaths from diarrhoeal diseases but early in that month an Italian child living in Woburn was taken sick with enteritis. The mother was going away from home to work every day so the child was brought here to be cared for by an aunt. It lived only a few days, thereby spoiling our clean record. The fact that there was one such death and that a non-resident, must be very gratifying to the Winchester Nurse Association and is an eloquent tribute to the purity of our milk supply."

I coincide with this statement of the Board of Health that the milk supply of our local milkmen is the best obtainable, because of its frequent inspection by the local Milk Inspector, who has a thorough knowledge of the conditions and environment under which it is produced, also its freshness when delivered to the consumer. During my administration as Milk Inspector no epidemic has occurred which could be traced to our local supply. I believe only in the pasteurization of such milk as comes to us by railroad, because the milk that comes to us from long distances is not under the constant supervision of the Milk Inspector and the Board of Health.

Maurice Dineen,
Milk Inspector.

NOTICE TO WOOD CUTTERS.

It is desired that those who have cutting claims on the Town reservoir property in the Fells, and who have not yet finished their cutting, take steps to finish at once, as it is desired to cut and burn the brush.

On the Middle Reservoir it is still possible to get wood out over the ice to the causeway early in the morning. How long this condition will last it is impossible to say. All those who wish to get their wood out before next winter must finish as soon as possible or take chances of its remaining on the ground during the summer.

A few claims are still to be had along the South Reservoir. The Gem has all been taken and pretty well cut over. Anyone taking claims now on the South Reservoir will have to wait until next winter to get the wood out.

THE REGENT.

The feature today and tomorrow at the Regent Theatre, Arlington, is "Stella Maris," starring "America's Sweetheart," Mary Pickford. Little need be said about this favorite screen artiste as her reputation has carried her to the top notch of success.

On Monday and Tuesday a tense drama of love and laughter is to be shown. "Jules of the Strong Heart" with George Beban, the popular character actor in the principle role.

Ann Murdock fascinated Broadway last spring, in "Please Help Emily." Now it is in pictures and comes to "The Regent" next Wednesday and Thursday. That an enjoyable evening's entertainment is in store for those who witness this photoplay is assured by its past success.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

George Arliss will enter upon the sixth and last week of his engagement in "Hamilton" at the Hollis Street Theatre, the run of that piece positively terminating on Saturday, March 30. The Boston press has uniformly been lavish in its praise of Mr. Arliss' work in "Hamilton" and that of his unusually excellent supporting company. The play, of which Mr. Arliss is one of the authors, deals with that most interesting period of American development, the period of Washington's first administration. A love intrigue forms the centre of the plot in which Mrs. Reynolds figures prominently. "Hamilton" has aroused considerable discussion, particularly on the fine points of historical accuracy. The last two matinees will be on Wednesday, March 27th, and Saturday, March 30th.

STONEHAM THEATRE.

"I believe 'Parentage' is going to make picture fans more enthusiastic about films," said Manager Eberhard of the Stoneham Theatre, in discussing this big super-feature which comes to his Theatre on April 8 and 9th.

"It is a different sort of production. It is a message to the public, and I know it will be enjoyed by every one of my patrons, because it strikes the human note so sincerely. It is a genuine story of every day folk like you and your neighbors.

"The theme contains human thoughts that have not been touched upon by producers in the past. The story is a strong, gripping one that will set every mind to thinking hard after they have seen it.

"I believe that 'Parentage' offers more entertaining food for the thought than any production I have seen this season."

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

The Board of Health report the following cases of contagious diseases for the week ending, March 20: Chicken pox 1, Measles 5.

THE ONLY SHINGLE REYNOLD ASPHALT

A Man Famine

IN common with other countries involved in the World War, the United States is now suffering from a depletion of its business forces because of the large number of men who have entered the service of the government in the business of war. This condition is likely to become more acute in the near future. Business effort is further hampered by the cancellation of many trains on the railroads and by congestion of traffic.

What is the answer? Conservation!

This is the watchword, the slogan of today—We are asked to save food, coal, materials of every kind, yet but little has been said about the CONSERVATION OF TIME, TRAVELLING EXPENSE, etc., which are also matters of great importance.

The most effective aid to Conservation is the telephone because—

It is the quickest means of communication and thus conserves time.

It enables one man to do the work of many and thus conserves labor.

It is surprisingly effective of results, being equal and sometimes superior to a personal call; it thus increases business efficiency.

It is economical when we consider what can be accomplished by a telephone interview of a few minutes' duration, comprising several hundred words of conversation; it, therefore, conserves money.

Then why not make "Conservation by Telephone" your slogan?

CHILD CONSERVATION...

Next to the fighting men in the front trenches, war tells most heavily upon the babies. Our men are dying to defend the future of the world. We who are left at home must see to it that the babies live to be that future world for which their fathers die. And not only must they live, but they must have the birthright of full health and vigor which now so many lack. Wherever the fullest measure of protection has been practised the baby deaths are cut almost in two, and fully half of those women who die in childbirth could be saved by proper care.

The safeguarding of the life of mother and child is a high and much neglected duty which in time of peace is all important, but in time of war it is impossible to exaggerate its value, and that country which best protects the coming generation can face the future with the largest hope.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

FROM RUSSIA TO JAPAN.

Winchester Boy's Eperiences Crossing Siberia.

The following letter received in Winchester this week gives a brief insight into present day conditions in Russia. The writer, Mr. John F. Blackham, a well known Winchester boy, who is at present in Japan, spent eighteen months in Moscow, going there in August, 1916, in the interests of a large New York importing house. Mr. Blackham was one of the few Americans in Moscow during the Russian Revolution.

The Grand Hotel, Ltd.,
Yokohama, Feb. 16th, 1918.

Dear Joe:

Received mail here in Yokohama from the bank and I was anxious to get the news from home. Was pleased to hear you are picking up and entirely recovered from your sickness.

Our Trans-Siberian Express was more than five days late crossing from Petrograd to Harbin. From Harbin we went to Chau Chin on the Eastern Chinese Railroad, at which place we connected with the Imp rial Japanese Railroad to Fusan. From Fusan we crossed the Yellow Sea to Shimonoseki, and then the Imperial Japanese Railroad to Yokohama. Believe me it is some long trip, about three weeks steady on trains, but in Russia we had ninety-eight different kinds of delays owing to internal troubles there.

The Imperial Japanese Railroad train from Chau Chin to Fusan is the finest I have seen. It has any train in the States beaten. Perhaps we have better over there now, but you will have to show me. The Trans-Siberian Express was one of the finest trains running, before the War, but not now. Going from Moscow to Petrograd it took twenty-eight hours, and during that time I had no place to sleep. The soldiers are everywhere on the trains and take the best places.

Things are in pretty bad shape in Russia. If they don't stop their fighting before long, half the population will be killed. In Moscow, when I left, the heavy artillery was working on to the city from ten miles away, and machine guns were sputtering right in the streets. There was also trenches (young ones) in the streets. I got caught once in the Hubyansky Ploshad when they were shooting, but I made Arthur Duffey's records look sick for the 100. I'll tell you a few things when I see you.

Received a cable from Jim saying Henry was still in Amritsar, which is disappointing as I thought I would see him here. Have been expecting a cable from Davis. May be he will want me to stay here on business.

Was up to Tokio the other day. It is only fifty minutes from here. It is a very beautiful city and expect to make another trip before leaving.

The 30,000 ton SS. "Empress of Asia" sails from here on the 23rd. Possibly I will connect with it, but I would like to take in Honolulu on the way home.

Hoping to see you soon and with kind remembrances to all

As ever,
John.

LETTER FROM GEORGE HARROLD.

France, Feb. 12, 1918.

Dear Uncle Charles:

I received a bundle of papers today so like a good little man am answering right away. Today is the first day that I have been able or had a chance to write, as part of our outfit left us for further training and all the work that the three hundred had been doing a hundred of us are doing with a whole lot more work attached, so you see we are quite busy.

Aly Mullen was over today and I had quite a talk with him. He looks quite thin but says he is feeling fine. I guess he has seen quite a little of this country. Well I have seen quite a lot of it too. Yesterday morning I visited the birthplace of the Maid of Orleans and also the church that is built on the spot where the vision came to her. There are paintings on the wall that are wonderful. I bought copies of them and I hope some day to get a chance to send them or bring them home. I also got a statue that has been in the house she was born in, for the last fifty years and hope to get a chance to send that home. You are well up in history and I suppose you will know who I am talking about. All the beads and souvenirs I sent came from there, so you or the people at home will have something that is worth while, even if the articles didn't cost a million. Everything is very high in that line here. They soak the devil out of us for the smallest article. If one buys a lighter, costs him five francs, to a Frenchman two or three francs. That is the way they treat us. Well some of them need it others don't but it costs a lot to run places here.

I saw your picture in the Star and as it is the only one I have of anyone in the family I think I will hold onto it.

Well I am writing this in a hurry so that the censor can get it through. Hoping this finds you all in the best of health, I remain,

Your Nephew,
George.

Thanks for the papers. They are the best things I have seen since your last bunch.

LETTER FROM HAROLD M. PIERCE.

South San Antonio, Texas,
March 1, 1918.

Dear friend "Mack":

You no doubt will be somewhat surprised to hear from me at this time but I thought you might be able to give me some inside stuff on the doings in Winchester. You used to give pretty good dope on base ball and I feel you are on the inside of other happenings at home. Speaking of ball must say the weather here at this time is ideal base ball weather. The last two weeks have been as warm as July at home and as we have plenty of room here the old pill is flying around a good deal of the time. The squadron I am in has many Coast League men and the catcher caught for the Rail Lights of Toledo. You may remember them as the team which defeated Detroit last summer in an exhibition game. Most of the games are played Sundays as we have very little time during the week. Kelly Field is about seven miles from San Antonio and is divided into two fields No. 1 and 2. Field No. 1 represents an investment of $5,000,000 for buildings and equipment and covers 700 acres. No. 2 represents an investment of $2,000,000 and covers 1726 acres. Kelly Field No. 2 is an overflow as No. 1 was unable to care for all the men who came here. Field No. 2 is where the famous ground officer's training school is located. The food here is all anyone could wish after you have been assigned to a squadron and we are treated O. K. We expect to leave here soon for Indiana and I hear we are to stay there in an aeroplane factory, but I have learned to believe only half I see and nothing of what I hear. They fly night and day and you can hear a motor anytime day or night and they sure have some good fliers here. Harry Bulmer and Twombly are located here and Bulmer is only a few lines away from me. We were to the bouts together Washington's Birthday and before Flaherty and Hanlon went to Waco, we had six Winchester boys within a few lines of each other and had some good reunions. The athletics are directed mostly by the Y. M. C. A. and if there is anything which gives us a better time than the "Y" I have not seen it yet. I never realized what a great loss we were suffering in not having a Y. M. C. A. in Winchester until now. You have got to hand it to them. I must close now as the boys are rushing to mess and I don't want to miss my chow so I will leave it to you to remember me to my Winchester friends and any inside dope will be welcome.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

In organizing for the campaign to help raise $50,000 for the Woman's Christian Temperance Union war welfare work, the Winchester Union has appointed as members of the central committee Mr. Bertha Hefflon, Mrs. M. D. Kneeland and Mrs. Arthur Gates. For captains of the teams during the drive, April 15 to 27, Mesdames R. M. Armstrong, Mrs. J. C. Adams, Mrs. R. W. Dover, Mrs. Sarah Goffe and Mrs. Bertha Hefflon.

Friday of this week there is to be a meeting of the captains of this district at Winchester when the plans for work will be more fully explained and the methods outlined. Miss Caroline M. Caswell, Chairman of the State Central Committee, will be present to give instructions. At the same time there will be meetings of the captains in three other places in Middlesex County, Newton, Lowell and Concord. The county is taking up the work with enthusiasm, the fact of Ayer being in the county appealing to the pride of those members who might not feel as much interest in something further afield.

In response to a letter from the President of the Union, Mr. William Kneeland, member of the legislature from Winchester, replied that he would certainly cast his vote in favor of the ratification of the federal amendment making prohibition the law of the nation. In so doing he would not only express what he believed to be the wishes of the great majority of his constituents but also his own conviction as to the wisdom of that policy. The senator from this district, Mr. McKnight, has also declared his intention to vote for ratification, so that Winchester may well be proud of its representatives in the Great and General Court of the Commonwealth.

At a luncheon in Newtowne Hall, Cambridge, Tuesday, March 12, the Middlesex County Woman's Christian Temperance Union began a campaign to help raise $50,000 for the state work of the organization, war welfare and home service as well as reconstruction. The White Ribbon Home at Ayer, being in this county, has an especial claim upon Middlesex people but its value has been so clearly demonstrated that it makes a much wider appeal. At the luncheon Mrs. Sydna Eldridge, who is at the head of the home, was one of the speakers and her description of the Home and her experiences in making it homelike for the boys at Camp Devens aroused much interest. Other speakers were Mrs. Susan W. Fitzgerald, who spoke of the need to safeguard the homes left by the soldiers, especially those where women and children are obliged to work; Mrs. Katherine Lent Stevenson, State President, and Miss Caroline M. Caswell, who is Chairman of the Central Committee for this campaign. The special drive in this county will be April 15 to 27 and other counties in the State will follow at other times. Suffolk county begins a week earlier.

The local Union was represented by Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. M. D. Kneeland, Mrs. Sarah Goffe and as their guests, Mrs. Wm. Kneeland, Mrs. Charles Greene, Miss Helen Hall, Mrs. Louis Snyder, Mrs. James E. Corey, Miss Elizabeth Downs.

Early Lessons in Economy

Away with Stygian Darkness in American Homes

A Little Light All Night is RIGHT!

AS necessary to the modern residence as Electric Light itself. Every electric lighted home can now have light all night at fractional cost in Halls, Bedrooms, Nursery, Bathroom and that dangerous turn in the Stairs.

HYLO

the turn-up, turn-down or out Electric Lamp solves the problem. When turned "LO" to 1 candle power the cost for each HYLO burned all night is only ½ cent. This gives enough light to see by and can be changed instantly to a flood of Mazda radiance for emergencies by just a touch of the string.

What Safety, Comfort and Convenience at insignificant cost! Is It's Burglary Insurance, too, for they never touch the lighter' home.

How to Have Economical Turn-down Light Throughout the Entire Home

Use HYLO MAZDAS throughout the house in Sick Room, Bedrooms, Dining Room, Library, Living Room, Cellar Stairs, Garage, Porch, Barn, etc. Each HYLO saves its cost 4 to 5 times over during its life. There is never any stumbling or any fumbling in the HYLO lighted home.

RED CROSS NEWS.

The sewing branch of the Winchester Red Cross are greatly in need of a few sewing machines of the lockstitch type. Those having machines of this type not in use can put them to work in a very useful cause by loaning them to the Branch. Careful care and attention will be given to those machines so loaned.

It might be of interest to citizens of Winchester to know that at the present time 325 Winchester people are supporting the Winchester Red Cross by giving a part of their time each week to the making of surgical dressings. Since the rooms have been open 25,800 surgical dressings have been made. Of course there are many units in Winchester who are making and will continue to make surgical dressings, but the opening of the Winchester Red Cross Rooms means that nearly 26,000 additional dressings have thus been made and sent across for the use of our soldiers and sailors.

In this connection it may be interesting to some people to know that the Red Cross dressings are made to order for the Army and Navy, under the direction of the Medical Staff of the Army. This does not mean that dressings made by the other units in Winchester according to Peter Bent Brigham or any other high standard are not useful since many hospitals and doctors abroad are using these dressings and must be supplied.

To those people who for some reason or other have delayed sending in their donation to the local Red Cross it might be timely to suggest that these contributions are still needed and can be converted into life saving dressings for our Soldiers on the other side.

"TOM SAWYER."

In "Tom Sawyer," which is coming to the Wilbur Theatre next Friday and Saturday, Jack Pickford has achieved one of the best boy impersonations of his entire career. The picture was filmed in Hannibal, Missouri, and shows the very house where Mark Twain lived as a boy and the house where Huck Finn, whose real name was Tom Blankenship, lived. It is all there,—even to the famous fence which Tom was set to whitewash the morning his friends came to beg at him but remained to paint the fence,—for which precious privilege they paid to Tom, do you remember?

Full) but not to turn the lights on in the morning.

George S. F. Bartlett,
Clerk of Selectmen.

ECONOMY—THINK IT OVER.

Editor of the Star:

Town meeting being over, I am wondering if the Taxpapers will be able to see the word "economy", which was outlined by the Finance Committee. Is it economy to raise salaries, and let the streets go to destruction, is it economy to advocate the selling of the fire-engine when it is a reserved piece, and our present insurance rates are based on that proposition. Mr. Davidson was clearly right on this question, there is no economy in keeping a pair of horses in the fire department paying the price that they are demanding for hay and grain, when a motor vehicle would be economy, and an improvement. Some of our citizens go to town meeting and use the word "patriotic," if they are sincere they can show it a little clearer, by presenting it, in proportion to their wealth. The report of the Town Officers is received in town meeting, evidently they accept themselves. I am firmly convinced, and I stated this same thing over six years ago that the books of the Town should be audited under the Gettemy system. Very few towns will allow a man to work for them, and at the same time do business for himself, receive the profits turn them over for his own use, and then have fifteen men say that he should be given an increase in his salary. Every article in Town Warrant should be discussed in the way or the other. No individual should try to defeat the citizens who have gathered for this particular purpose.

P. E. Fitzgerald.

SUNDAY NIGHT'S CONCERT.

The concert given in the Town Hall on Sunday evening for the benefit of the poor of St. Mary's Parish proved a great success. There was a large audience and a generous sum was realized. The program of Irish music, most appropriate for the season, was well rendered and selected.

The artists included Carlos Curtis, harp soloist; Adrian Kenny, reader; Mrs. Margaret Matherson, soloist; Robert Zanes, Catherine Carroll, Miss Mary McShane, William E. Kelley and Miss Isabelle Hayes, accompanists, besides a double quartette.

SERVICE FLAG DEDICATED.

Music was rendered by the regular Church Quartette and also by the Male Quartette of the State Guard.

Taking his text from Joel 3; 9, 10, Mr. Davis spoke in part as follows:

"I am by nature a pacifist. I believe the position of the pacifist is ideally correct. His position can be stated most attractively. Listen to the words of Norman Angell uttered several years ago:

"War is worse than any of the things men fight about. You cannot afford to make men boasts for the sake of any cause. The horrors of the best war are more terrible than the horrors of the worst peace. War is always a process of reasoning in a circle on a grand scale. Wars never accomplish anything. Men fight until they are exhausted and then they fight again. When they are utterly weary reason comes in and gets some things settled. It might as well have done the same without the fighting. War takes the young men and turns them into brutes. It spreads moral devastation over the world. It cuts the nerve of freedom and makes men so accustomed to submit to authority that they are incapable of thinking for themselves. It is the eternal ally of tyranny. It is the eternal foe of liberty. Civilization's most dangerous enemy is that frightful all devouring monster, WAR."

But the difficulty with much of idealism is this—we do not live in an ideal world. The beautiful dreams comes tumbling down around our ears all too often. We must suit our practices for the present to the world as it is—not the world as it is to be in some far-off day, which please God, may be nearer than we think.

The best knowledge of today is that which is experimentally derived. This is the method which discovers truth today. We no longer are deductive but inductive. We go from facts to principles rather from principles to facts. Much of the error in both conduct and thought is do to a reasoning process which assumes that which ought to be proved by facts.

In this matter of war—rhetoric must give place to history. Glowing vision, and glittering generalizations must meet and face the experience of the human race and must stand or fall before that experience.

What Are the Facts?

Civilization has been paid for not in cash but in blood. When the dawning vision of order controlled a stronger hand than that wielded by barbarity, the first victory of law was won and government began. Throughout history government has been the scientific application of force for the restraining of lawlessness. Century after century it has been active force. Sometimes it has been potential force, but force there has always been at the basis of the achieved orderliness of the world.

There has been only one way to build up nations. That has been the application of a force stronger than anarchy. Every fair flower of civilization blooms because age after age men have been willing to fight, and age after age men have been willing to die.

And government once made effective, it has continued to be safe from foes without and foes within only because it has ample resources of force at its command. Review your history. In the two centuries of Roman peace, beyond the river walls of the Rhine and the Danube there was always a great Roman wall. Babies were born in safety. Women went about their work in safety, the whole structure of civilization was built to more splendid form because of the great human wall which stood between orderly life and the deluge. When the human wall grew weak in the latter part of the fourth and fifth centuries, the barbarians broke through and the Dark Ages followed.

Then Christianity began to organize the world into some sort of order. And in the seventh and eighth centuries Mohammedan soldiers full of fierce valor broke upon the world. What if Constantinople has not resisted? What if Charles Martel has not withstood Mohammedan soldiers in the battle of Tours in 732 A. D.? In that case you might be reading the Koran today. In that case there might be harems in our country instead of Christian homes.

When once and again the Turks burst upon Europe, was it an ideal thing that Europe effectively resisted? Was it a meaningless event when the Invincible Armada, the messenger of a dangerous type of civilization, but with ambition to rule the world, was defeated by the sailors of Queen Elizabeth? Was it an idle thing when allied nations resisted the ambitions of Louis XIV at the point of the sword? Was it a meaningless thing when England kept up the long resistance of Napoleon until finally it placed him in Saint Helena? Was it an idle thing when our own forefathers of '76 resisted English oppression and carved this Republic with their swords? Was it an idle thing when the unity of the nation was saved in the sixties, by men who cared more for the perpetuity of the nation than they did for their own lives? Is modern civilization worth so little in your estimation of such small significance, that you may cast them idly aside? In truth nothing which we value, nothing which we prize, comes to us without the mark of the blood of the men who have died that we might possess it.

War is a terrible thing. There is a worse thing. And that worst thing is the attitude of the man who prizes life more than the things that give life value.

The United States has had some hesitation about the whole matter of the use of force. There has been a good deal of sentimental and deftly manipulated thinking which has refused to face the harder and sterner facts of life. But in nineteen hundred and eighteen, confronted by a power which would tear the heart out of civilization itself, America has left the realm of comfortable academic discussions and has seen that there are times when the only thing a self-respecting nation can do is to fight.

This does not mean that we want war, or love it, or refuse to face its terrible and cruel aspects. It does mean that we do not want peace without the victory of righteousness. It does mean that we do not put peace above the whole fabric of civilization, and above the retaining of liberty in the world.

There is a legitimate war against war. There is a legitimate revolt of world peace. And they deserve our careful and sympathetic consideration.

As men develop in character and as nations come to understand the significance of the principles upon which all orderly life is built certain types of war become increasingly impossible. Piracy is crushed beneath the weight of a public opinion that is backed by a force more than can be brought to the support of plundering. Idle wars, careless wars, wars of crass and cruel exploitation become rarer and rarer, because the forces at the disposal of order are greater than those at the disposal of disorder.

But in all this we need to see, and this is the importance of the point that I urge upon your attention—we need to see I say, that this continued series of victories in the attack upon wars of certain kinds of war, is itself the gift not merely of a noble idealism, but of a noble idealism backed by force.

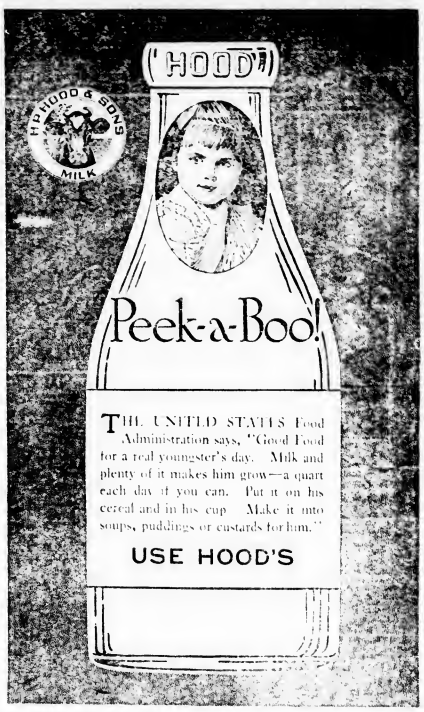

For look! There are plenty of people in the world today who would like to be pirates. There are plenty of people in the world today ready for any sort of atrocity which has ever been committed in the world. Ask Belgium! Ask France! Ask Serbia! Ask Armenia! The only way to be safe from the barbarity of such a group as the Potsdam Gang is to be stronger than they are. The only way to keep the world safe in spite of them is to make them afraid.

This does not mean that you must be using force all the while. But it means that you must be able to use it and the malignant foe you are opposing must know that you are ready to meet him, and that you are stronger than he. A policeman does not always have to be using his big stick. But he does need to be a powerful fellow and he does need to have the big stick ready to use.

Every step in the war against war has been taken through the pushing the forces of evil afraid to fight. And the ultimate peace will come only when the organized forces of law will are so strong, and so ready for the fray, that the forces of ill will simply will not dare to attack them.

There is no path to permanent peace. There is no path to free us from bringing in of a day when our splendid boys will not be left buried in untimely graves on France far off battlefields. There is one process by which we can prevent the recurrence of this evil and hateful tragedy and that which alone is worth shedding blood for is the heart of the world. It is not by listening to the words of the sentimentalists, however they may seek to hide it by appealing to a spurious religion, or by any other device, that we can escape the terrible war.

We are involved in a war to end war, to bring world peace. Let us see to it then and then sit down. The first step on the path to the attainment of God's peace. Such a peace is not to be had by the destruction of all the cream of a world or short cut for the feet of the Tempter. And in the second place, and because of our next must know how far it is we must meet the blazing cannon of a grandly and organized world. It is obvious, potent, and effective must be the mobilized strength of the world that no power will be able to oppose it. Call it League to Enforce Peace, or call it by any other name you wish, the nations of the world must be organized into a federation for the perpetuation of the peace that is to follow the defeat of Germany.

N. E. TEL. & TEL. REPORT.

From the annual report of the directors of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company is clipped the following summary of the report of the Bell system:

"Immediately upon the declaration of war, precedence was established throughout the system for all Government service, and 12,000 toll operators were speedily trained for this work. Precedence was also established at Washington and over the entire country for the maintenance of existing Government facilities, and the construction of numerous additional facilities for communication. Elaborate plans had been worked out in advance, and work was done in a few weeks that ordinarily would have taken several months. War has made new centers and new routes of traffic and the increase in toll telephone service in Washington has been greater than the increase during the eight previous years. To meet this condition, new facilities centering at Washington have been provided and the number of radiating lines increased many times. Important additions have been made to the cables connecting the seaboard cities from Washington to Boston. Five times the toll cable aboard at Washington have been increased and further increases are already under way. To supply departmental and interdepartmental service in Washington, a large amount of underground cable has been laid directly connecting widely separated department buildings both permanent and temporary. Several of the departmental multiple switchboards replaced are large enough for a city of one hundred thousand population."

A LECTURE ON Christian Science

BY

Charles I. Ohrenstein, C. S. B., Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

An audience of between five and six hundred residents of Winchester and vicinity listened most attentively to a lecture on Christian Science delivered in the Town Hall last Sunday afternoon by Charles I. Ohrenstein, C. S. B., member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The lecture was given under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Winchester, the First Reader of which, Mr. Frank W. Jones, introduced the speaker with these remarks:

"On page 570 of Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, we find the following: 'Millions of unprejudiced minds simple seekers for Truth, weary wanderers athirst in the desert—are waiting and watching for rest and drink. Give them a cup of cold water in Christ's name, and never fear the consequences. . . . Those ready for the blessings you impart will give thanks.'

"Christian Scientists throughout the world, by means of these lectures and other activities, are constantly presenting this cup of cold water. This is that living water about which Jesus told the Samaritan woman at the well. Christian Science has brought a wonderful cup of joy and happiness to those ready to receive it.

"Multitudes everywhere are giving thanks for the help received from these lectures and for the better understanding of God given by Christian Science.

"It gives me pleasure to introduce Mr. Charles I. Ohrenstein, C. S. B., of Syracuse, N. Y."

Mr. Ohrenstein said:

In the discussion of any subject it is always desirable and helpful to start with some point of agreement. Notwithstanding all our diversified views and varied experiences, let us see if it is not possible for us to find some such point. One that very naturally presents itself, and upon which all would probably agree, will undoubtedly be found in the fact that we all desire to live. But even if we live, there is not much satisfaction in living without bodily comfort or health; for health is absolutely essential to peace, freedom, prosperity, and happiness.

Were we to ask ourselves the

MRS. ANNIE E. JOHNSON.

Mrs. Annie E. Johnson, widow of the late Henry L. Johnson, aged 87 years, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Harriet L. Hovey, No. 20 Mystic avenue, Tuesday. She has been a resident in this town for the past fifteen years and for many years has been an invalid.

Mrs. Johnson was a native of Cambridge, her parents being Richard and Eliza Ann (Hubon) Burnham. She is survived by one son, Frederick L. Steele of Tamworth, N. H., and in addition to her sister, Mrs. Hovey, she leaves one other sister, Mrs. J. Winslow Richardson of Arlington, widow of our former Postmaster.

The funeral services, which were of a simple nature, were held at the residence yesterday morning and were conducted by Rev. Howard J. Chidley of the First Congregational Church. The remains were taken to Mt. Auburn for cremation.

THE WISHING RING.

In this time of stress and strain every one should improve opportunities for relaxation and amusement. One of the best of these will be afforded on Easter Monday night, when the "Wishing Ring" will be given under the auspices of the Pop Concert Committee. C. Sanborn, Tel. 120; Mrs. H. C. Monroe, Tel. 169; Mrs. O. C. Mason, Tel 995-J; and Miss M. Alice Mason, Tel. 566-W.

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT OPENS.

The Savings Department of the Winchester Trust Company opened this week several days ahead of advertised time. An artistic sign "Savings Department" has been placed over the receiving window near the vault readily seen by patrons entering the bank. The pass books that have been given out have an attractive cut of the Bank on the cover. The town is truly fortunate in having in its centre such a modern, thoroughly equipped and successful banking institution.

LADIES' NIGHT.

The committee in charge of William Parkman A. F. and A. M. Ladies' Night to be held in Town Hall, Wednesday evening, April 10th, announce that they have secured the services of the well known Italian tenor, Savasta. The committee also engaged for that evening Mr. and Mrs. Carl Page, exhibition dancers. Further talent, which the committee believe will be equally pleasing, will be announced later.

The music for the dancing will consist of the celebrated Strachan's Crescent Garden Orchestra, of ten pieces, alternating with a genuine colored Jazz Band, so that those who enjoy dancing will have plenty of music.

This affair is arranged in the form of a Pop Concert with tables under each balcony, and in Little Town Hall. As plenty of space is desired for dancing, the number of tables have been limited to 72, practically all of which have been subscribed. A number of balcony seats can be obtained from the members of the Social Committee of Williaam Parkman Lodge.

PURCHASE OF FUEL.

Rules and Regulations Governing the Purchase and Delivery of Coal for Domestic Use

We have received instructions from Mr. James J. Storrow, Fuel Administrator for New England, regarding the plan of distribution of coal for domestic use from April 1st, 1918, to March 31st, 1919. We have also received samples of order blanks which will be in the hands of the dealers on or before April 1st. Every consumer must fill out and sign three of these blanks, keeping one himself, giving two to the dealer who must give one to the local fuel committee. We quote the following paragraphs from the circulars received. "Under this plan every consumer is urged to place as soon as practicable with his regular dealer his order for his normal requirements for the year ending March 31st, 1919. All orders will have to be made in writing on the form of blank provided by the dealers. Dealers may then proceed to make deliveries on these orders until each consumer willing to accept deliveries has received two-thirds of his normal annual requirements, provided that orders of six tons or under may be filled in full. When all consumers who are willing to accept delivery have received two-thirds of their normal annual requirements, the dealers may proceed to fill the balance of such orders up to normal annual requirements of each consumer. (The provision for two-thirds delivery applies only to Anthracite. With respect to Bituminous for domestic use, dealers may proceed to deliver consumers total annual requirements)."

"Consumers who are unable to place their orders for their normal requirements with any dealer should apply to the Local Fuel Committee, who will endeavor to make arrangements for their requirements. Carload or barge load lots of coal are not to be delivered to a single domestic consumer, or to a group of consumers, except with permission of the State Fuel Administrator."

"Under this plan dealers are compelled to file with the local fuel committee weekly, a statement containing the names and addresses of consumers to whom deliveries have been made during the previous week and the quantity delivered to each."

"It should be especially noted that compliance with these regulations is not optional with either dealer or consumer but is compulsory and any dealer or consumer who violates the regulations is subject to penalties prescribed by the Lever Act $5,000 fine or two years' imprisonment, or both. New England is going to need next winter every pound of coal that our transportation facilities can possibly carry during the spring and summer months if we are to build up sufficient reserves to see New England through next winter."

It will be necessary for every consumer to go to the dealers' office to fill out and sign the order blanks as they are in book form and one is retained in the book.

James J. Fitzgerald,
Henry A. Emerson, Secretary,

MIXED BOWLING TOURNAMENT.

Matches End Next Week When Winners Are Decided.

Monday night's matches in the mixed bowling tournament at the Calumet resulted in one team, 5, closing its games. This team stands at present in second place, its win of all three points from 15, holding it one win ahead of team 14, which also won all three points from team 10. Team 14 now has a chance to win second place, it having one more match to roll in, and a win of two points will place it ahead of 5, while a win of one point will create a tie. The scores on Monday were remarkably low, and there were many bowlers absent from the teams which have lost their chances of winning. This aided those leaders who participated with full teams. Mrs. Harrington led for the ladies, she rolling 161 on a single of 86. Mrs. Wadsworth rolled 161 on 82, Mrs. Simonds 84, Mrs. Willey 82, Mrs. Hatch 80 and Mrs. Blanchard 80. Mr. Maddocks rolled 200 on a single of 105.

This was won by Miss Gladys Marchant. It may also be mentioned that Miss Marchant succeeded in selling one hundred and five tickets for the entertainment.

Our thanks go also to the members of the Machine Gun Co., 12th Regiment, Massachusetts State Guard, for their willingness to take part and help a good cause.

NOONDAY MEDITATION.

A movement has been started in various parts of the country for the purpose of calling forth Divine protection and help for the American and Allied Sailors and Soldiers at the front, and for all others who are working for the freedom of the world.

Every day promptly at 12 o'clock, those in each locality who are interested, are asked to meditate on verses taken from the Bible, the following being suggested: Isaiah, Chapter 15, v. 22; Joshua, Chapter 1, v. 9; St. Matthew, Chapter 28, v. 20.

Men in service will be heartened by the knowledge that those at home, instead of yielding to worry and depression, are concentrating on thoughts helpful to themselves as well as to others.

Suggested to the Special Aid, by Miss Anne Morgan.

FAREWELL PARTY.

Jose V. Obregon, adopted son of Mrs. Henry L. Shepard, will leave for Camp Devens on Friday. On Tuesday evening twenty-eight of his friends gave him a surprise party at Allston. During the evening he was presented with a large white rose and nestling in the centre was a beautiful wrist watch with karki setting. He also received a red, white and blue autograph album containing the presentation speech and the names of the guests present. The decorations were very handsome, all patriotic in color,—pinks and bachelor buttons predominating. Cards, music and refreshments made a pleasant evening to be remembered.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Irene Delorica of Mt Vernon street was surprised on Tuesday evening by a number of her young friends, it being her birthday. A bouquet of violets was given the young lady by those present and concealed in the centre was a very fine fountain pen. The decorations were patriotic in colors and very handsome. Games, dancing and refreshments finished the evening. Those present were Irene Delorica, Doris and Alma Wood, Constance McIntosh, Mildred Bartlett, Edith Downer, Edith Johnson, Virginia Farmer, Ruth Whittington, Lillian Knapp, Edith and Miriam Delorea.

The couple plan to make their home in Athol.

COLONIAL AT CALUMET.

About 50 members of the Colonial Club of Cambridge visited the Calumet Club on Saturday night for the annual meet in various games between the two organizations. Matches in bowling, billiards and cards were played. The event is always of interest to members of both clubs, and the occasion develops into a friendly reunion for those not engaged directly in the sports.

Calumet again came out the best in the tournaments, winning seven of the eight bowling points, two of the three billiard points and all four card honors.

The bowling proved the greatest attraction for the galleries, and the alleys were crowded while the two matches, between first and second teams of the clubs were rolled. Calumet proved its superiority in no uncertain manner. On the first team W. S. Olmstead piled up a total of 352 with three fine singles, he being top man for the evening. On the same team Berry rolled 346, Stephenson 342 and Newman 300. On the second team Henry Weed got a total of 333 and J. E. Gendron 317.

Opposed to these figures the visitors produced but one man on their first team to make a big total, this being Whiting, who got 329. One other man, Bowler, of the second team, made an even better score, he getting 326.

All of the scores were good. Calumet first won all its points, the only string in which it was threatened being the second, which it won 527 to 508. The second team dropped the first string, but won the remaining two by good figures.

In billiards Natt ran off the first string, beating Hermann 150 to 132. Comins was not so fortunate with Nash, he being defeated 150 to 142 in a very interesting and hard fought game after running up 38 to a tie score.

In cards Calumet team won in every instance.

PARSONS—SUTHERLAND.

The wedding of Miss Helen V. Sutherland, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sutherland of Bruce road, and Mr. Lewis Parsons of 7 Park avenue, took place on Saturday at the residence of the bride, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Otis Foye of the Winter Hill Baptist Church at noon.

The couple were unattended. Owing to the recent death of the bride's mother, the ceremony was of a private nature and witnessed only by members of the immediate families.

They will make their home in this town.

SET YOUR CLOCK FORWARD.

On Sunday we will set our clocks forward one hour. The official time for making the change is 2 a. m., but probably few of us will make the shift at that time. On Monday you will get up an hour earlier than on Sunday and all your usual routine will be conducted one hour ahead of the time now set. We are assured that we will not know the difference, but probably some of us at least will be able to detect the variation at the start anyway. This is in accordance with the custom now common in all of the countries on the Continent, and light will be saved during the summer months.

PRESENTED WITH WRIST WATCH

A. [illegible] Co. on Church street, one of the local men leaving this morning for Camp Devens at Ayer with the draft quota, was presented with a handsome wrist watch Wednesday by his fellow workers on the town Water Department. The presentation was made informally, but the gift was nevertheless thoroughly appreciated.

A GERMAN LETTER.

Mr. Snyder Sends Copy of Views on Kultur."

United States Food Administration
Washington, D. C.
March 25, 1918.

Editor of the Star:

Dear Mr. Wilson:—Enclosed letter, (which was forwarded to this country by an Army Officer) which came into my possession today, seems to me to be of much interest, as illustrating a state of mind of a young German woman, and is of such a character that it has special significance at this time. The general intelligence of the person is evident, and her social status is indicated somewhat with the statement that she is a daughter of the State Councilor of Architecture. This gives added weight to her views.

The extent to which they are typical of the average view of the controlling interests in Prussia cannot, of course, be accurately stated, but there is much evidence that this is generally the preponderating attitude of mind of the more influential classes. It seemed to be of sufficient interest to send to you.

Washington is a very busy place. The normal population is said at this time to have increased by 10,000, and the number is increasing weekly. There are some thirteen hundred in this building of the Food Administration. The building itself, so I am advised, was erected, painted, equipped and occupied in 60 days from the time building operations began. Other similar places are in process of erection to care for the rapidly expanding needs of the Government.

The work of the Food Administration with which I am associated, is expanding steadily, and is now handling by 6,000 persons, including the Washington headquarters and the state branches. From my own observation, the entire population of the country, including both the producer and the consumer, is benefitted more largely from the work of the Food Administration than it can be expected to realize. Of course we cannot compare what is with what might have been, but a truer perspective which may be had after the war will furnish some credit upon the accomplishments and activities of the Administration which will be interesting and illuminating.

Yours very truly,
F. S. Snyder.

Frankfort on Oder, 20th July, 1916.

"My dear Louise:

"The contents of your letter would have hurt me had I not known that your thoughts of our glorious war resulted from sheer ignorance.

"You are in a country rendered effeminate by the influence of old-fashioned ideas of liberty, a country which is at least two centuries behind ours. You are in need of a good dose of Prussian culture.

"It is evident that you, a Swiss girl, with your French sympathies, cannot understand how my heart, the heart of a young German girl, passionately desires this war. Speaking of it some years ago, my father said to us: 'Children, Germany is getting too small for us; we shall have to go to France again in order to find more room. It is our fault if France will not understand that more money and land is necessary for us.'

"And you reproach us that our soldiers have been very cruel to the Belgium rabble, and you speak also of the destruction of Reims, and of the burning of villages and towns. Well, that is war. As in every other undertaking, we are past masters of war.

"You have a great deal to learn before you can live up to our standards, and I assure you that what has been done so far is mere bagatelle compared with what will follow.

"As a matter of fact there is but one race worthy of ruling the world and which has already attained the degree of civilization. That race is ours, the Prussians are undoubtedly the lords par excellence among the Germans.

"All other nations and among them, unfortunately, the Swiss, are degenerate and of inferior worth. That is why I have always been so proud of being a true Prussian.

"Yesterday, again, our pastor explained to us convincingly that our first parents, Adam and Eve, were also Prussians. That is quite easy to understand, because the bible tells us the German God created us all after his own image. If then, all men are descended from Adam and his wife, it follows that only Prussians, or at least Germans, ought to exist in the world, and that all who push on and prosper ought to belong to us. You must admit that this logic, and that is why our motto is 'God with us, Germany above everything.'

"You know now why we wished this war. Is it not shameful that other nations, who have no right to existence on the earth, wish to diminish our heritage! We are the divine fruit, and the others are only weeds. That is why our great Emperor has decided to put an end to all these intrusives and to extirpate the weeds. Do you understand now?

"I remain your school friend,
Katie Hamel."

"Daughter of the State Councilor of Architecture."

WIN U. S. BASEBALL.

The High School baseball team defeated the Medford team on Monday afternoon on the Mystic Valley field. The score was 7 to 6. The features of the game were the batting of Hayes and Mack, the latter getting a home run and a three bagger. The game was interesting throughout and was won in the last inning. Hayes struck out nine batsmen, and Mack struck out seven. It looks as though Coach Young has a fine team and we hope they will have some more games with Medford. THE FORTNIGHTLY.

The business meeting, which preceed the entertainment on Monday, March 25th, was of more than usual interest and importance. Mrs. Eaton spoke of the many successes which had been made for Wass in which the Club could devote at least part of its time to war work, and after a strong appeal by Mrs. H. C. Ordway for secretary, service and patriotism it was voted to appoint a war service committee from the floor. Those appointed were Mrs. Hildreth, Mrs. Ordway, Mrs. F. B. Jordan, Mrs. Ely and Mrs. Nichols.

Mrs. Eaton read a letter from Mrs. Young, thanking the Club for the money sent for her work, and telling her own experiences in the recent air raids on Paris.

The report of the nominating committee was read by Mrs. Reynolds, with the following ballot:

For President, Mrs. Geo. H. Eaton; 1st Vice President, Mrs. H. T. Bond; 2nd Vice President, Miss Quaney; Treasurer, Mrs. G. W. Apsey; Recording Secretary, Mrs. H. W. Hildreth; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. F. B. Jordan; Chairman Home Economics, Mrs. Scales; Chairman Civics, Miss Ethel Gleason; Chairman Education, Mrs. Wardaley; Chairman Literature, Mrs. F. W. Cole; Chairman Music, Miss Mary French; Chairman Arts, Mrs. Lindsey Bird; Chairman Legislation, Miss Elsie Walkup; Chairman Drapings, Mrs. Gilpatrick; Chairman Membership, Mrs. Ernest Keepers and Miss Helen Hall; Chairman Finance Committee, Mrs. E. A. Tucker.

It was voted that the polls be open from 1.30 to 3 p. m. The importance of the war work undertaken by the Federation was brought before the Club by the District Chairman, Mrs. Palmer, who was introduced by Mrs. Eaton. She said that the Women's Clubs of Texas were the first to plan this building of homes for our men in France, when off duty, and it was after they had raised $25,000 that the women of the country decided to give it national support. Each Club woman is expected to give one dollar if possible, and after a discussion of the best way in which to raise the $5.50 which will be the assessment from The Fortnightly, it was voted to put it into the hands of the Standing Committee, who will solicit from each member.

Mrs. Barrett Wendell, President of the Special Aid Society, sent in a request for volunteers to march in the Liberty Loan Parade on April 6th, which was read by Mrs. Ely. All who can do so are asked to send their names to 112 Berkeley street. Dark suits, small hats, and heavy walking shoes are requested of all who join in this great demonstration.

A motion was read by Mrs. Bond in favor of prohibition, and recommending the appointment of a committee of three to appear before the Selectmen to express the sentiment of the Club as opposed to a pony license in the town of Winchester. The motion was carried.

It was voted that the President represent the Club at the Convention at Hot Springs, Ark., April 23rd. Mrs. Bennett announced a lecture on April 15, by Miss Helen Holmes on "Thrift and Beauty in Gardens," to be given at the Town Hall.

The entertainment of the afternoon followed when the Kerr Singers were introduced by Mr. Arthur Myers. Miss Ida Keller, organist and pianist; Miss Avis E. Thorp, violinist and Miss Mae Parker, contralto and pianist. The similarity of their names and their charming manners very harmonious effect and their program of pretty and amusing selections was artistically given. Mr. Myers' songs were received by the party clearly pleased. The second part of the program was devoted to Irish folk songs and dances and Miss Keller's violin sounded to have caught the spirit of the old Irish tunes.

AMERICA AND THE NEGRO.

This will be the subject discussed at the regular April meeting of the Winchester Equal Suffrage Club, at the home of the Treasurer, Mrs. Daniel Norris, 63 Parkway, next Wednesday, April 3, at 3 o'clock. Members please notice change of meeting place.

Mrs. Wilson, wife of the well known and influential lawyer, Butler R. Wilson of Boston, will present the subject.

Mrs. Wilson spoke most acceptably before The Fortnightly on Lincoln's Birthday, last year. She is an accomplished woman, thoroughly familiar with her subject, whose life is largely consecrated to her work for the negro. It is certainly a cause which should greatly interest the general public, and the Club is happy in securing her services. We bespeak for her a full meeting, to which members are invited to bring friends.

WHAT OUR ALL'S ARE DOING.

Chairman Committee on Food Production.

APPLICATIONS FOR LAND FOR GARDENING.

The Committee on Food Production is now securing land for use in raising garden produce. This land is scattered over all sections of Winchester and there will be, in all probability, land enough for all to use.

The Committee urges very strongly the planting of gardens by every one, and in order that this sort of effort may be systematized as much as possible, has prepared application blanks on which those who desire to plant may apply for land which will be later assigned, to the applicant.

These blanks may be obtained from the following persons or at the following places:

T. Parker Clarke, Supt. of Streets, Town Hall Building, Miss Mabel Stinson, Town Hall Building, James J. Fitzgerald, Oak street, Thomas Mackesy, Supt. Wildwood Cemetery, James Hinds, Town Hall Building, Police Station and Winchester Star Office.

All those who desire land are urged to make their applications as early as possible so that no confusion may result, and in order that land may be assigned in localities as convenient as possible to the houses of those who desire to use it.

The Committee desires every one to go into this planting of gardens. It will pay you in a money sense, and it will show in at least one way that we all desire to help.

The Committee wishes to emphasize the necessity of securing your seeds now or placing orders for them and for manure or fertilizer. Manure is scarce, but you can secure plenty of fertilizer. Make your applications now.

Secure your seeds and fertilizer now.

Don't delay.

James Hinds,

TEST BLAST AT WOBURN LINE.

A test explosion of two tons of dynamite at the plant of the Winchester Rock & Brick Company at which Mayor Gray and others will be present to witness the force of the blast, will be held within the next two weeks, as part of the agreement made between the Mayor and officials of the company.

The well-drilled system of boring holes now in operation will be practiced during the test, and it is agreed by the company officials that if the explosion should not meet with the satisfaction of the residents of the neighborhood, the well-drilled system will be dropped and some other form adopted.

Two tons of dynamite, the company officials say, is the least that can be set off with good results and if the shock is too great, then some other form will be pursued in the future.

SPECIAL AID NOTES.

SEVEN BREAKS MONDAY NIGHT.

Winchester was again visited by the thieves or thief which on previous occasions has made an appearance here. This time no less than seven houses were entered and while a great quantity of jewelry, silver and other articles of loot was expected, very little was obtained, the total from all the houses visited not amounting to over $65 or $70. It was evident that money was the only thing sought.

The residence of Rev. Abel H. Metcalf, 1 Lawson road was entered as a starting point. A window in the front part of the house was forced open and Miss Mary Richards, 1 Black Horse terrace, and also the residence of Edward D. Van Tassel, jr., at 12 Edgehill road. Entrance at the residence of George G. Tarbell, 5 Ridgefield road, which was as far as nothing was secured and the residence of Frank H. Elliott, 31 Horrack street apparently nothing was taken.

At Mr. Nason Shultz' house, 14 Winthrop street, $3 in cash was taken, and at the residence of Willard A. Bradley, 3 Black Horse terrace, $15 in cash, a fountain pen and a diamond ring was taken.

In all cases but one the houses were vacant, the exception being the Van Tassel residence, where there was a maid at home, but she was not disturbed. The Metcalf residence is about to be vacated and the furnishing were being packed, while at the Tarbell house the family have been absent for some time, since Lieutenant Tarbell left for foreign service. At the Elliott house the family are away also.

The houses were all ransacked, drawers being pulled open and all possible places where money might be concealed searched. It is quite evident that the thieves wanted nothing but cash. The houses were entered either by climbing to the roof of a porch or breaking the glass in a door and opening it from the inside.

SPRING FIRES.

Spring fires have commenced in Winchester with the clearing of the ground of the winter's snow, the alarms thus far all proving of a minor nature as usual. Sunday morning at 8.45 a still alarm was sent to the center fire house for burning grass on Grove st. in vicinity of Bacon Felt Mill, and at 12.40 on the same day box 7-B was rung in for brush on the northwest side of Wedge Pond. Tuesday forenoon at 11.20 an alarm from box 7-62 called a portion of the department to the Border road in the Fells near Winthrop street extension for another grass fire. Wednesday morning at 8.20 a chimney fire in the block at No. 23 Cross street called out a portion of the apparatus. There was no damage.

RED CROSS NOTES.

There are 142 organizations of the American Red Cross in the Boston Metropolitan Chapter. The number of branches doubled in the last 10 months. The district of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter does not only Boston proper, but the territory for approximately 15 miles around the city, including some cities and [illegible] communities.

The branches are united each month according to their needs and in January Winchester started in Surgical Dressings, increasing during the year to the number of different garments shown, during the month of January, 4125. Surgical Dressings were sent to Boston. Winchester, in February, 5025.

The American Red Cross offers an opportunity for service to no nation and the world that has never been equalled, and we urge those who are members in name only to become active workers in these splendid efforts. Guard our fighting men and those who are not yet in camps to enroll at once beneath the banner that bears the Greek Red Cross—symbol of mercy in war and peace.

Don't be a member in name only, your local branch needs you now.

Since the Winchester Red Cross opened on January 2, 1918, twenty-one tons have gone from Winchester, and been fitted out with the aid of the various units in town.

Because of Winchester's generous response to the Red Cross Belgium Clothes drive last week, 2000 lbs. of clothes were sent out, new garments were purchased with the money contributed. Winchester Red Cross committee appreciate the work on the part of all who made the drive a success, including the use of the small Town Hall. Mr. Carmichael's truck and Mrs. Bowen Tufts' care, were generously loaned to convey the clothes into Boston.

DIV. 58 TO GIVE CONCERT FOR BOYS "OVER THERE."

Announcement was made this week of the 4th grand concert, vaudeville and dance of Division 58, A. O. H., of this town. The affair will be held in Lyceum Hall on Wednesday evening, April 17th, and will be for the benefit of our boys "over there."

The evening promises to be one of the most entertaining yet. The concert will be given by a full orchestra, and a talented list of performers will present the vaudeville show to follow. The orchestra will play for the dancing which closes the program as long as there are any dancers remaining on the floor. The committee in charge is an able one, and it is sparing no effort to win a big attendance.

YOURS TRULY WHERE

Entered at the post-office at Winchester, Massachusetts, as second-class matter.

Daylight saving commences April first.

If all the government commissions on war work had labored as hard as have the women of the country, then there would not be the present cry of backwardness in carrying out the program to crush the Hun.

The change in time should officially be made at 2 a.m. Sunday morning, when all clocks should be set forward one hour. Most householders will set their clocks forward at the time of retiring.

Another advertisement is put out by a sugar concern, and objects to the penalty clause in the bill to get sugar which provides that anyone can "be sent to jail for not more than two years." Still, Mr. Editor, the readers are not there just to look their bit.

Mr. Bernstein, general manager of the Fulmer Car Company, defies Congress. He says "Congress can't take my car away from me." It is a case to find out. Then Congress can "take" the car and the passenger and the man who drives it before the courts are finished with the case.

Through the new rule forbidding the inclusion in envelopes containing the addresses of the men on the lists from France, newspaper correspondents almost wholly upon the parents of the boys have found furnishing this important news. Winchester relatives will suffer a large loss by losing such information in the STAR.

From 1913 to 1917, and 1914 to August 15, 1917, there was a total advance of 87 per cent in the retail cost of bread, according to the Department of Labor. In the last few months this has been a decrease and prices are now 46 per cent higher than at the beginning of 1914.

Employers of labor paying officers or business employees a portion or all salaries in such ways during the war period in which they are in the service of the United States may deduct these amounts from their taxable incomes, according to a regulation by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Wakefield citizens are discussing the question of city government and will probably decide Monday evening in town meeting whether they will do so or not. With the many examples of city misgovernment before the citizens of that town there should be no doubt as to how they should vote. Politicians as a rule favor a city government.

And so, if the boys and girls of Winchester desire to learn to swim, they must go to the beach or country, because of the impurities of the water in our ponds. And there does not appear to be any way in which to make and keep the water pure and fresh for bathing purposes of pleasing to the eye. This is one of the greatest problems to solve that Winchester has. Tanneries, a gelatine factory, a munition factory and lesser concerns all contribute copiously to the present conditions. At times one wonders whether these bodies of water are assets to the town, or only a detriment.

That the suburban papers are doing their share in spreading the publicity of the host of war activities, local and foreign, is conceded by all citizens who have had time to allow their thoughts to wander from their own activities and problems. In a section such as this, located in the thickly populated portion of the Atlantic seaboard and fed by the large metropolitan dailies, the local sheets are perhaps called upon in greater proportion than in any other part of the country, and all are responding to the best of their ability. It is, however, hardly possible that with their limited field and means, and in fairly competition with the big metropolitan publications, they can continually escape injuring the feelings of at least a few of their host less list of correspondents, for the old saw about pleasing everyone is still an important factor in our lives. Few, if any, of the local papers have the equipment to expand their sheet at instant notice, and likewise they cannot undertake the additional expense incident thereto without the return of at least a portion of the cost. Each correspondent feel that his or her activity ranks first in importance, and not all take into consideration that the publisher stands all the extra expense for their requests. An example of the extreme amount of space granted and the expense involved may be noted from the issue of the STAR of March 1st. This issue, the last but one to the town election and annual town meeting, may be taken as typical. Aside from reports, it contained no less than 127 inches of matter pertaining to the various war activities and reliefs. At the price figured for advertising as giving a fair profit, this matter footed up to $83.50. This expense was born by the publisher without one cent of remuneration, for it cannot be said that any of the material was responsible for the sale of a single extra copy of the paper, and the space and labor was cheerfully and willingly given. It must be recognized that it sometimes happens that important news and advertisements are received at the last minute before publication, and in such cases the publisher must use his best judgment in the omission of matter when sufficient space for all is not available. All news of the war activities and reliefs are welcomed; the question of their value, from the point of public welfare and patriotism is not open to question; on the other hand it is obvious that occasionally someone cannot be accommodated. The problems of the local papers are many, and all the publishers are doing their best to meet them to the satisfaction of all, but located in the center of each community, it is sometimes called upon to make decisions which may prove a source of dissatisfaction, and in such cases a cheerful recognition of these conditions and of what the paper is doing and has been doing will help matters.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

Last Friday the officers of the town from the union of Middlesex County in the campaign to raise $50,000 for the Women's Christian Temperance Union in Winchester for the next three years, as their part of the drive, which is called for April 16 to 27. Before the officers Mrs. Mary A. Livermore, Mrs. H. Maria Monroe, Mrs. Sara J. Swan and Mrs. Wm. H. Hill Woburn and Winchester were present and were addressed by Mrs. Caroline Caswell, chairman of the Central county for the campaign. Mrs. Livermore was elected president of Southern Club and Lecturer for the campaign. Miss Ella A. Gleason was the speaker, and also spoke on the Civil Committee. The women of the county are taking up the work with good enthusiasm and plan to make Middlesex the banner county of the drive.

The mid year meeting of the executive board of the State W. C. T. U. was held in Ayer last week, being entertained at the White Ribbon Home. The new dormitory was open for the occasion as well as the cafeteria which promises to be very popular. The house is comfortable, full every night and at times is over crowded for the wooden floods of the men in camp who come from a distance and wish to stay over night. With the coming of pleasanter weather the Good Cheer Rooms will also be more in demand as the winter comfort of the roads do not tempt the men to go far afield. It is at present in touch in addition to the camp and aids to the fathers of the men.

BOOKS FOR THE SOLDIERS

The Public Library reports that the people of Winchester have contributed a goodly number of books during the past week for the use of our soldiers and sailors, and that more books are coming in.

It is hoped that every one who has the habit of tossing an old book into the empty will be assured, and a most effective place established where the books will be sent to the boys and depositories.

All books received will be prepared for use in accordance with the goods rules laid down by the Library War Service of the American Library Association, and will be sent to the points as the A. L. A. may designate. The need of gift books are stations in this vicinity will be taken care of first. Most of the books will be shipped to France as rapidly as possible. At least half a million needed there at once, and a constant stream of replacements must be maintained, for fire wastes will be very great. Here's the call for books and more books.

The A. L. A. has built up an organization capable of handling such and thousands that the boys will be forth coming cannot be used.

YESTERDAY'S FIRE.

The Fire Department was called out yesterday morning at 9.45 for a blaze at the factory of the Bay State Saw & Tool Co. on Lake street. A chief's alarm was sent in, followed by an alarm from Box 41.

The fire was caused by an oil tank, used to temper the saws, becoming overheated and blast ignited. Not much damage was done, the ceiling, side walls and window frames near the tank being a little scorched. The fire was extinguished with chemicals, although a line of hose was used for a moment on the surrounding woodwork.

WOMAN'S LIBERTY LOAN COMMITTEE.

In New York State, women's organizations were responsible for the sale of more than $13,000,000 of the second Liberty Loan Bonds. In our New England district, Connecticut is sure of having sold $16,000,000. New Hampshire was able to account for nearly $4,000,000. Massachusetts women can account for but $2,000,000. Winchester is anxious for the honor of Massachusetts, and her own. Let us make a better showing this time. Napoleon said three things were needed for war; (1) Money (2) Money (3) Money. His statement is probably truer today than ever. For what money stands for in material resources will be the final factor in winning the war.

The women of France are ploughing in the fields that the men in their army be fed. The women of England, from the highest to the humblest, are toiling in munition factories to make guns and shells for their soldiers. Should not the women of America lend money to their country that their own fighting men may be provided for?

Our boys are offering their lives as a gift to their country. The women of Winchester in the coming Liberty Loan Drive are urged to offer their dollars as a loan to their country. The following women comprise the Women's Liberty Loan Committee of Winchester: Mrs. Robert Metcalf, Mrs. Laurence McIver, Mrs. Chandler Wood, Miss Mary Irving, Mrs. Joseph Hollon, Miss Rosa Barbaro, Mrs. George Root and Mrs. Harry Sarch.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING.

Legal Department, Town Counsel: After considerable discussion the Board voted on whether or not Mr. Charles F. Dutch nominated March 18, 1918 to be Town Counsel for the year ending March 31, 1919, be appointed. A vote was taken by ballot resulting in a tie, Messrs. Cox and Arden voted to reappoint him and Messrs. Garaway and Newman not to reappoint him. Mr. Newman did not vote. After the result of this ballot was stated by the Clerk, a motion was put by Mr. Newman to hold Mr. Dutch over as Town Counsel until such time as the Board can come to a decision on the appointment of a Town Counsel for the year ending March 31, 1919. This motion was passed.

A letter was received from Mr. Alfred D. Radley of Winchester applying for the position of Town Counsel of Winchester. A dozen or more letters were received from various attorneys and business houses endorsing the candidacy of Mr. Radley for Town Counsel and also eight more letters were received from Mr. Radley himself. These eight letters were from Judges of the State of Illinois and from Illinois clients of Mr. Radley all highly recommending him to any one with whom he might seek to form a professional connection.

Manchester Road: A petition was received signed by Louis K. Snyder and 17 others calling the Board's attention to the condition of Manchester road and asking the Board to authorize and order the regrading of this street. Mr. Lewis K. Snyder appeared before the Board in regard to this petition and stated that the residents of this street had petitioned last year's Board to have this street put in proper condition. The Board informed Mr. Snyder that if it is possible out of the money available for highway work this year, they will have Manchester road repaired.

Granolithic Sidewalks. Prospect Street: A letter was received from Mr. Daniel B. Badger asking what it would cost the estate of E. B. Badger to construct a granolithic sidewalk in front of the estate on Prospect street where the Sargent's live. A report was received from Mr. Hinds in regard to this matter but was referred back to him for further report.

Stone Lot: Mr. Hinds, Town Engineer, and also Chairman of the Food Committee appeared before the Board and asked if the Board would allow a part of the Stone lot to be used for gardening purposes, the same as last year. The Board voted to allow a part of this land to be used for gardens and Mr. Clarke, Superintendent of Streets was authorized to look out for the matter.

Plowing: Mr. Hinds as Chairman of the Food Committee, asked the Board to allow the town horses to be used at such time as could be conveniently arranged by the Superintendent of Streets for plowing garden plots approved by the Winchester Committee on Public Safety.

The Chairman appointed Messrs. Cox and Hinds a committee of two to look into the advisability of having a plowing bee, the farmers to be asked to co-operate in the matter.

Appointment of Town Officers: The list of officers nominated March 18, as printed in last week's Star, were appointed to serve to April 1, 1919.

The meeting adjourned at 5:55 p. m.

George S. F. Bartlett,
Clerk of Selectmen.

MIXED BOWLING TOURNAMENT.

Wednesday night matches decided first place in the tournament when team 6 won all three points from team 7. With one more match to roll, it cannot be defeated for first honors. Of equal importance was the match between 11 and 13, tied for third place. Both finished their games with the match, and 11 won out, taking two points, thus placing it ahead of 13. 14, however, by its earlier win, went into third place.

The final matches have not been productive of high scores, although there were a few good strings Wednesday night. Mrs. Stephenson got a single of 103 and a total of 181. Mrs. Hayward 171 with a single of 88, Mrs. Booth 167 with 84, Mrs. Crafts 161 with 80, Mrs. Abbott 84, Mrs. Johnston 83, Mrs. Brown 82 and Mrs. Smalley 80.

Sergt. Messenger Tells of Underground Life.

"Somewhere in France."
Feb. 19, 1918.

Dearest Mother and Dad:

Censorship rules have loosened up a bit, so perhaps I will be able to get out some letters from now on which will be a bit more interesting. We are all safe and well and the weather is warming up every day. I received your letters of Dec. 29, a day or two ago, but those of Jan 7 and 9 about ten days ago. You see they often come that way. Can you picture me now lying in my "bunk" in my bunk in a cave far underground? Remember Luray? I can barely hear myself think as there are French soldiers singing on [illegible] and Americans on the other. The country is full of caves and dugouts like this and the only way we know whether it is day or night is by a watch. Just now it is 12:30 — 8:30 by French time. We see many thrilling scenes during the day's work. Imagine eight aeroplanes overhead (four French and four Boches) diving, swooping and firing their machine guns at each other. Finally no one hit, they separate and start off in different directions for safety. At once their respective batteries open up from below and shrapnel bursts around them as they dip and race away. Another day an observation balloon goes up in back of us. Soon after a Boche drops down out of the clouds, fires balloon and makes away with shrapnel bursting around him, while the occupants of balloon drop in parachutes to earth. Another day the same thing is tried again, but the raider gets hit and comes tumbling to earth, in pieces. Then we often hear a deep toned whine overhead followed by a crash nearby as a "Boche 155" arrives on the scene. These are all everyday events, and I could rave on for many pages like this, but will have pity on the censor.

We are all happy to say that Capt. Swan is with us again and trust he is to stay.

Lots of love,
Sergt. Guy H. Messenger,
Co. D, 101st Regiment,
U. S. Engineers,
Am. Ex. Forces.

"At the Front," France,
March 6, 1918.

Dearest Mother and Dad:

As you see we are still at the Front, but guess we are due for a short rest before long. I don't know just where I shall spend permission. That will depend somewhat on the amount of cash I have when the time comes.

We are continuing to have the same interesting experiences. I believe I have described to you the usual line of air battles and air raids we often witness. It is some sight to see them chasing back and forth over "No Man's Land" with the batteries peppering away from either side. Then you should have seen the sight one night when "Fritzie" started a "Barrage" over our way and we returned the compliment with interest!

Picture it! We stood on a hill side. On all four sides the French [illegible] with here and there a 175 [illegible] pounded away at the "Boche." [illegible]

I received box of [illegible]

[illegible] time. I have [illegible] my watch [illegible]

pendable. And as we spend a good deal of time underground a flashlight is very handy, so if you can find one with strap on the back I should like it very much. Must turn in now. It is hard to write as there are several French Sergeants singing us a song now. I can talk French well enough to make myself understood. We will be in a rest camp when you get this letter.

Lots of love,
Guy.

Letter From Robert E. Kronquist.

Somewhere in France.
March 8, 1918.

Dear Mother:

It has been quite a long time since I had a chance to write to you, outside of a postal, but tonight I am in a Y. M. C. A. at a town where I am spending the night. Tomorrow morning, I will be able to join my company after a week's absence. This is a pretty little town near the front, and although it has been bombarded a little in the past, is still well inhabited and carries on its business as if it were miles from the war. A number of us are stopping here until morning, and we have quite a comfortable place, in an abandoned house nearby. I have just had supper and as it was still a couple of hours before dark, I started out to look over the town and found this Y. M. C. A., so here I am. When I get back to the company I expect to find some mail awaiting me. Hope so anyhow. Of course, everybody is well and happy at home, because the Kronquist family generally were pretty healthy and happy. As for me, my health never was better. My trip has done me a world of good. Our weather here is wonderful. Here it is, March 8th, and if you didn't know it, you would say it was May. Grass is green, trees budding, and birds singing. When you don't hear the guns rolling, or an aeroplane battle going on in the clear blue sky, you have to imagine some to convince yourself that there is a war going on. Of course, in every town, we see hardly one civilian, all the able-bodied men being in uniform. It sure is a busy life, and there are so many interesting things to see and experience each day. Hardly a day passes but that there is an air-battle going on overhead. Sometimes a Boche gets over the line in spite of the shelling from our anti-aircraft guns and then two or three allied planes give chase and drive him back, and quite often shoot them down. I could write pages and pages of experiences since we have been here, but women don't care much for such things, so I will make it short.

I am getting tired and my letter is pretty long, so I will say good-night. Hoping to receive some mail from you in the morning, and sending you lots of love, I remain

Your loving son,
Bob.

Letter From Whitelaw Wright.

The enclosed letter was received recently from Private Whitelaw Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Wright of 37 Lloyd street, Winchester. Whitelaw is a graduate of Winchester High School, class of 1915. He enlisted in the old Troop [illegible] and [illegible] the Mexican Border. [illegible]

France, Feb. 22, 1918.

Dear, dear little Mother:

I wrote you a nice long letter about four days ago and got it censored and I'll be doggoned if I could remember whether I got it mailed or lost it, so I thought I would write another one just about the same so you would know it anyway.

Well, in the first place, we are now at the Front doing what we can in this great struggle that is going on and we are all doing our "bit" to help humanity and to "keep the old Flag without a stain or blemish" and keep her in the right place, which is above all others.

I must say that all of my friends in Winchester and Dorchester are certainly treating me in the most wonderful way and I do not know whether or not I shall ever be able to thank them enough.

Last week I had the most exciting time: to start with I was out over the Battle Front and that Field is one of the most fought over fields in Europe and it is a sight that I shall never forget. Picture if you can a place or field as far reaching as your eye can travel and fill it full of shell holes that are so close together that there is less than a foot space between the edges of two holes. Then picture a road similar to the Mystic Valley Boulevard and have nothing left of it except holes filled with water and the stumps of trees along the side, where in their retreat the Germans cut every piece of wood, in the growing form, about three feet from the ground to be sure that the French would have no fire wood when they came. Well, that is what the Hun shell fire did to what is said to have once been a mighty pretty part of France and that is what "German Kultur" has done for France. If Belgium is much worse I believe I do not care to see it. There is village after village, some smaller and some larger than Winchester, that have not a wall left standing and all dotted with graves of the boys who have fallen for France and their country, and are buried right where they fell, their last resting place marked only by a small wooden cross with the tricolor of France in the center and across the arms the inscription "Il mort pour la Patrie" (He died for his country). But the French people have either grown used to the war or else they have the best courage of anyone I have ever met in the world, for they are most always smiling and seemingly happy.

Last Sunday there was a regular Fourth of July celebration on our sector; the Allied Artillery all started a heavy "Barrage" at a set time and kept it up for a matter of twelve hours or more and it surely was mighty hard to "hear yourself think." While all this was going on in one place there was a separate battle in another, a battle such as I never had seen and probably never will see again as distinct as I saw that one. A huge Hun airplane came over the line and was supposed to take pictures; it was quite a way behind the American lines when a little French plane dashed out from behind a low cloud and the battle started. They were almost a mile in the air and yet they did not seem to be so very far away; the little plane kept getting above the big plane and would swoop down, using the machine gun and the Hun would turn and chase the Frenchman. This was kept up from a half to three-quarters of an hour and we three who were together stood and watched it as if it were a game of tag or something similar. Finally the little Frenchman went almost out of sight and then started down [illegible] using his machine gun as [illegible] he could. The result was [illegible] the Frenchman [illegible] the Hun, but just then the big plane seemed to pitch [illegible] forward and then swayed [illegible] to side and then shot downward at a terrible rate of speed and about half way down it caught fire and that was the end of the German plane. The wreck of it landed not a great way from where we were, so we hustled over and the two Huns who were in the plane were literally shot to pieces, each of them had at least ten holes in him. I got a very interesting thing from the machine, but I will tell you about it when I get home.

Well, Mother, I think this history is very nearly finished outside of a few notes.

Yesterday I got a letter from Marian and she was sending a box, which I hope to receive. I have not as yet got the one that Dad sent with shirts and gloves in it, and one from Dot is missing.

Well, dear, I must quit now. Lots of love, dear, to you and Daddy.

Budd.

WHAT DOTH IT PROFIT A MAN?

Germany is working by every scheme that ingenuity can devise and money can put into operation, to make American workingmen traitors to their country in its hour of need.

What doth it profit a man if he sends his sons brothers to the battlefields, and after he gets them there he betrays them to the enemy by stopping the industrial home work without which they can neither win nor escape?

The courses of nations—the lives of millions are changed by very small events. Had the Monitor not been ready for the Merrimac exactly when she was, the Union fleet would have been rendered useless and the Civil War might have had a different ending. Had someone then succeeded in making serious trouble in a mine, a foundry, or a shop—had someone then succeeded in delaying transportation while the Monitor was under construction, what would have become of the whole Union fleet of wooden ships which was blockading the Southern ports?

Germany wants us to be unready or confused when a similar crisis comes.

Our whole nation is preparing for the turning point in this war which is to determine whether every man shall have a chance to work out his destiny, or whether he and his country are to become subject to the dictation of a Prussian group.

If we are not fully ready when the test comes it will be easier for German armies and German ships, German submarines and German aircraft, to kill the men that go out from your community to protect you and your rights.

Whoever from any motive delays works bearing directly or indirectly on the war will be an accessory to the murder of his fellow Americans.

Every strike in the United States, while this war is in progress, is a blow in favor of Germany.

What doth it profit a man to increase his wages or decrease his working hours if by so doing he contributes to the victory of a nation that makes slaves of white men and scourges them as they work?

The condition of the blacks in America before the Civil War was far better than the condition of the whites of Belgium who today are carried off like cattle, are overworked, underfed, beaten and, sick or well, must labor incessantly, often under the fire of their own guns.

What doth it profit a man to aid a monarch who in this manner has shamelessly re-established the slavery of white men? The workingman in America who obstructs the cutting of wood, the mining of fuel, the weaving of cloth, the turning of wheels in factories or on rails while this war is in progress he is helping the slave masters, the destroyers of civilization, the murderers of women and children.

What doth it profit a man who has lived in a land of incomparable liberties, of advantages unparalleled in all the history of the world, to contribute by any act, however small, to the success of an autocracy to whom a common man is but a clod of earth?

The workingman who stands faithfully by his duties day by day, allowing no person and no thought to get between him and an honest performance of his work, is rendering the highest kind of patriotic service to his nation and to his family.

What doth it profit a man to sell his manhood, his self-respect, perhaps his soul, for a little selfish gain in such an hour? When life's services are measured up at the end, those who have faithfully labored through the war will be entitled to their credit as well as those who have led the charges in battle.

What doth it profit a man who wants to improve the condition of laboring men of Belgium a little but [illegible] doing orders the slavery of Belgian workingmen, who now cannot gain their freedom but by death, or through the victory of the Allies?

Stand by your work for your own honor and safety, for the safety and success of your fellow countrymen who go forth to fight, as well as for the sake of workingmen who are now in actual slavery beneath German slave drivers.

THE FORTNIGHTLY "DRIVE."

To provide homes—real homes, with American home feeling in every corner, the Federation of Women's Clubs is making an appeal to every club member to contribute willingly and cheerfully a dollar, or more. It must be a work which gives concrete evidence to the strength of the organization.

The work of the Y. M. C. A. and Red Cross extends along the trenches everywhere and has been wonderfully supported by the people of the country. Now the women want to offer comfort to the men when they are off duty in a strange land.

The Fosdick Commission supports heartily this work of mothers and home makers. $250,000 is needed to put it on a financial basis, and all contributions will be most welcome, although those to whom this work appeals may not be members of any club.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

Cleanthes, the old Greek poet, had words of praise for him "who nobly yields unto necessity." Such a one he counted as "skilled in things divine." There can thus be a genuine self-sacrifice even when it seems forced by external conditions. The good people of Winchester in common with all the good people of the whole nation are undergoing a discipline such as they have not before known and the process has only begun. Men may accept the situation so joyously and bravely as to win for themselves all the blessings that flow from a sacrifice that is voluntarily submitted to. More than that, they can go beyond the requirements imposed by authority. If they are asked to take a very simple use, to observe one meatless day a week, there is no reason why they should not keep two such days. No law or regulation can be severe, and no necessity so great as to exclude the possibility of voluntary effort. But even if a Winchesterite simply does what is asked of him he can do it in such a way as to make the act almost voluntary. Everything depends on the spirit that is back of the action. If the right spirit generally prevail's, we here in Winchester and elsewhere will gain from this war a benefit that will be worth vastly more than the war will cost. For if the spirit is right, the discipline will be one imposed, not by Mr. Hoover, but by the conscience of every American citizen—that is, it will be self-discipline. We shall control our appetites and desires in order that humanity may win the victory against its deadliest foe.

Sacrifice has two objects—one being to win the victory, and the other to build up character. Both these prizes are offered to the American people by the present war. The discipline to which we are submitting means the strengthening of the national character. We shall be a sober, more thoughtful and much more closely knit people because of the sacrifices that we are called on to make. It is well that the era of riotous luxury and prosperity should at least be suspended. For we shall learn that life has values of which, three years ago, we did not dream. There ought to be a great development of the intellectual and spiritual life of the nation. Men are to give, rather than gain, to surrender rather than achieve. Just to the extent that self is subordinated will the nation be strong and pure. The fruit of discipline, in other words, is character, and the severer the discipline the richer will be the fruit. It is well to look on the war rather as opportunity than obligation.

We are going through an educational process of the highest value. Years ago Whitman warned us of the perils that confronted us: "The best class we show is but a mob of fashionably dressed speculators and vulgarians. True, indeed, behind this fantastic farce, enacted on the visible stage of society, solid things and stupendous labors are to be discovered, existing crudely, and going on in the background to adjust and mold themselves in time. Yet the truths are none the less terrible.

I say that our New World democracy, however great a success in uplifting the masses out of their sloughs, in materialistic development, products, and in a certain highly deceptive, superficial popular intellectuality, is, so far, an almost complete failure in its social aspects, and in really grand religious, moral, literary and aesthetic results. * * * It is as if we were somehow being endowed with a vast and more thoroughly appointed body, and then left with little or no soul. "Now the speculators and vulgarians" are at work for their purposes, and for those with whom we are associated in this war. Men and women of all classes are being drawn together in a common service in support of a sacred cause, and as a result our country can never again be quite what it was before the war. The realities, rather than the superficialities of life are now engaging the thought and interest of the American people. There is many a man right here in Winchester who used to ask "what is there in it for me?" who is now asking "what can I do for the nation and its soldiers?" There has been almost a revolution in the thought of our people. The discipline of adversity, hardship and suffering has already had its effect. Ideals have become real to multitudes of men and women who used to scout them, and The Spectator can point out men and women right here in Winchester who even sneered at them. That is an enormous gain, and one that will for generations profoundly influence character. We are learning to "bear one another's burdens."

The Spectator.

MUTINY IN THE VIVIAN CAMP.

It is a well known fact that directors are reckless creatures when it comes to realism. Nothing is too realistic for these gentlemen who send automobiles hurtling over cliffs and beautiful girls leaping from trains with the greatest sang froid.

But the latest "atrocity"—according to winsome Vivian Martin at least, was when her Paramount director, Frank Reicher, suggested her removing a part of her beautiful curly mass of hair in order to better take the part of a newsboy in "The Trouble Buster," her latest picture which is to be shown at the Woburn Theatre on next Friday and Saturday.

"It will make it grow, you know," began Mr. Reicher, tentatively—but by that time Miss Martin was safe in the seclusion of her own dressing room whence she declared she would not emerge until she had Mr. Reicher's affidavit to the effect that she could keep every single blond curl.

AMERICAN AND JAPANESE RELATIONS.

The following taken from a Davenport, Iowa, paper, is sent to the STAR by a Winchester lady who says the article will, no doubt, be interesting to readers of this paper:

"The problems that are confronting the two nations bordering on the Pacific—America and Japan—today, seems to exist only in abstract and has nothing concrete in character," stated Dr. Yutaka Minakuchi, the distinguished Japanese orator, speaking before the Davenport Woman's Club in Trinity Cathedral parish house.

Dr. Minakuchi took as his subject "American-Japanese Relations." He made a study of the situation from the American as well as the Japanese viewpoint, and he explained during the course of a scholarly, brilliant and very entertaining talk, the many reasons why a conflict between the United States and Japan would be absurd, impractical and detrimental to the economic development of both countries, especially his native land.

Dr. Minakuchi spoke in substance as follows:

Problems Confronting Nation

"The problems that are confronting the two nations bordering the Pacific seem to exist only in abstract and nothing of concrete character. Owing to the German propaganda, I say this with all due respect to the German people, ominous reports had been circulated among the nations of the earth with regard to Japan's policy in the far East. The innocent public, of course, being ignorant of the actual status of the situation, has been more or less frightened and has become suspicious of Japan's seeming aggression on the Asiatic continent. In order to understand and appreciate the real issue, we must not confine ourselves to any one particular locality, but instead, we should survey the whole situation as prevented in entire Eastern Asia. Heretofore, Japan has been directing her policies and pushing her interests on the basis of self-preservation. So far, Japan has neither violated her open door policy in Manchuria, nor has she ever disregarded her international obligations, especially with regard to America. Some seem to think that Japan has been casting an evil eye upon the Philippine Islands for geographical, economic and psychological reasons. In the first place, the Philippine Islands are situated in the Tropical Zones whereas most of the Japanese islands are located in the Temperate Zones. Hence the Japanese people as a people never do well in the tropical climate. Furthermore the history shows that all the great nations of the earth have always lived and thrived in the Temperate Zones. In the second place, Japan's economic resources are so limited and her national indebtedness is so enormous that she cannot afford to wage warfare with any nation, especially the richest and the greatest nation, the United States of America. In the third place, the annexation of the Philippine Islands of the United States of America has been rather a poor investment, speaking from an economic and commercial point of view. If Japan has money to invest anywhere, she ought to be investing that in Southern Manchuria and Korea, a newly acquired territory where the resources are far bigger and far richer than those in the Philippine Islands. That is the very thing Japan is doing now with what money she has made since the outbreak of the European War. And in the fourth place, the United States of America is the biggest and finest customer Japan has today. Hence, as long as Japan has some sense and good judgment, she will very unlikely pick up a quarrel with Uncle Sam.

The Immigration Question

"Some seem to think that the Japan immigration question is rather an important question to the American people, but to me there is no Japanese immigration question at the present time. In the year of 1908, during the administration of President Roosevelt, the imperial government of Japan and our federal government at Washington, D. C., made a gentleman's agreement, and by that agreement Japan pledged herself to restrict the free entrance of Japanese immigration into this country on her side and not this side. So far as we know, Japan has kept to the letter her pledge and promises up to this day. The fact is that there are more Japanese leaving the Western coast than are arriving there.

"The Japanese question in California is also a question which may be looked upon lightly. According to the figures and the facts gathered by our immigration commissioners at Washington, D. C., as well as by the labor commission of the State of California, the Japanese immigrants are the most law-abiding, the most temperate, and most steady working people among the foreign immigrants. Many of the American farmers and the orchardists are deploring the fact that the Japanese laborers are getting scarce. I don't mean to advocate the Japanese codes in America, nor am I trying to show that Japanese immigrants are better than the other immigrants. I am simply trying to show you that the Japanese immigrants are not detrimental to our civilization, as well as to our American institutions.

"In order to bring about a peaceful reconciliation between the East and the West, we must have two things, viz., one common speech and one common religion. The reconciliation or union is possible only in the sphere of the moral and the mental and not in the sphere of the physical. If the East and the West can think together they can act together, and I believe the origin of common thought and action is the common language. I am glad to inform you ladies and gentlemen that we have already an international language, viz., the world impressing Anglo-Saxon speech. The English language is now being taught in our public school in Japan, China and in India, and is fast becoming the language of the people in the Far East. It is already the commercial language in the Far East. Through this essential medium, the East will come to know the West, and in our intercourse with other nations we must first know them in order that we may learn to love them.

Must Have Moral Principle

"But in addition to the common speech we must have some sound moral principle to guide and direct our actions. There is none better, it seems to me, than the religion which you and I profess today, viz., the religion of Christ. In order to deal squarely and think honestly, and I feel sympathetically towards our neighbors, we must have religion. You may call me an idealist or a visionary, but I believe this age of ours is in need of idealists and the seers who not only look through the present, but who can penetrate even into the unknown future with a certain amount of conviction and certainty. It is a religion which will enable us to think and act internationally because Christianity is a universal faith, and Christ the very core of religion bearing His name is the greatest Humanitarian of history. I do not mean to disregard our material and physical developments, but they are only a means to sum a thing as an end."

CANNOT BE LOYAL TO KAISER AND UNCLE SAM.

Rev. S. C. Bushnell of Arlington says:

"Made up as our nation is of immigrants from over the sea and their descendants, due allowance should be made for a sentimental attachment to one's fatherland. But there are limits beyond which that sentiment must not be allowed to go. If duty to one's adopted country conflicts with sentimental regard for one's fatherland the individual must choose between the two, exalting the one and controlling the other. You cannot serve God and mammon. You cannot be loyal to the Kaiser and to Uncle Sam at the same time. Our forefathers were all Englishmen at first, and America had the same thing to contend with then as now, because a certain percentage of its citizens were Tories, whose sentimental regard for the mother country out-weighed their loyalty to this country. These Tories were thorns in the flesh of the infant republic, snakes in the grass, but somehow the nation managed to survive in spite of their opposition, and when the revolutionary war was over, and America had gained her independence, the Tories gradually saw the error of their ways and rejoiced in the government which they had bitterly opposed.

We can afford to be patient with some people, realizing that they will yet make good and loyal American citizens, especially when we remember that a great section of our own country which today swears by the flag fired on it in 1861 and fought against it for four long, bloody years. The fact is, not every one sees the truth at the same instant, nor can deeply-rooted loyalties be abandoned in a moment. We must be patient with each other, for sooner or later every one will need it at his brother's hands."

CHILD CONSERVATION.

One of the first essentials for the permanent success of the infant welfare work which is being conducted by the State Committee on Child Conservation is the protection of the mother both before and after the birth of her child. One very important means to this end is the Well Baby Clinic, or Conference for Mothers, held weekly in many communities. The importance of these Infant Welfare Stations has been recognized for some years, and it is now understood that this is one of the very best means of reaching the mothers with the expert advice and supervision so necessary to keep the babies well.

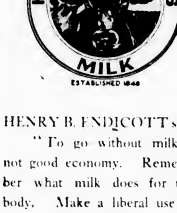

In charge of these Well Baby Clinics is a public health nurse who acts under the direction of a Baby Specialist. Once a week the Specialist is present at the Clinic and ready to give very careful advice to all the mothers who bring their babies there. No happening which affects the baby's welfare is too little or trifling for the doctor's attention. It is interesting and sometimes amusing to see the friendly rivalry between the mothers as the babies are weighed, and one is found to have gained a few ounces more than another's.

The specially educated or trained public health nurse is a most necessary part of this Clinic, because it is, after all, only in the homes that mothers can be taught how to prepare and care for the baby's feedings, and how to arrange the family life so that the baby may be brought up under the most healthful conditions. Upon this intimate home teaching, the baby's life often depends.

Funerals of ten children and one adult who lost their lives at Winchester, Mass., Saturday night in a falling wall from an adjacent building crushed the roof of a moving picture theatre and buried approximately 100 occupants under the debris, were held yesterday. Twenty-two persons are in the hospital. The conditions of four children is serious.—[The Acadian Recorder, Halifax, N. S.

THE LAST POST.

I heard the "Last Post" sounding
Within Fort Massey's bound,
Death's farewell to a soldier
On his last camping ground.

The band had ceased its requiem,
Grief's wild lament was o'er,
As souls sobbed out their sorrow
For him who was no more.

He did not die at Langemarck
Upon that blood-stained mead;
He did not die upon the field
Where Huns were taught to yield.

He did not die in Flanders,
Though wounds were sharp and sore;
But lived to see the homeland
Beside Chebucto's shore.

He lived until the May time
Brought birds with songs of joy.
He lived to see his home-land
And the loved hearts of the boy.

He spoke of a Flanders church-yard
Where his noble brothers rest;
And the violets springing sweetly

A RED CROSS AMBASSADOR.

The last meeting for the season of the Unitarian Men's Club was held at Metcalf Hall last Friday evening, when about 75 persons were interested and thrilled by Dr. Frederic C. Lord's recital of his experiences in Europe as a member of the American Red Cross Committee to Serbia, sent over in August last to investigate conditions and make recommendations as to the greatest needs of that distressed country and to devise means of meeting that need. He told of the fine work the Red Cross is doing in France and Italy by its thousands of self-sacrificing workers, a great majority of them giving their services without pay. He charged the Central Powers with the deliberate pursuance of a policy of exterminating or enslaving peoples whose land they coveted; a policy which had well-nigh extinguished the brave race of the Serbians. He sketched the Balkan situation very clearly in the course of his remarks, which dealt largely with his personal experiences, the difficulties of travel, and the character of the various countries through which he passed and of their people.

Mr. Lewis Parkhurst presided, and introduced the speaker with a brief address, appealing to all present to do their utmost toward a peace based upon right rather than the Prussians' assertion of right.

LETTERS FROM OUR BOYS IN SERVICE.

From John P. Leonard
Somewhere in France,
Feb. 21, 1918.

Mr. Wilson.

Dear Sir: I wish to acknowledge receipt of the STAR to date.

I am very sorry that it cannot be my privilege to thank the donor, the late Hon. Samuel J. Elder, a man who I am sure had the honor and respect of all who knew him.

The STAR will help me to follow the events at home and I get a great deal of pleasure in reading the letters from the boys that are in France.

Wishing you and the STAR the best of success during the year, I am

Respectfully,
John P. Leonard,
Co. B, 504 England's Bri.
Am. Ex. Forces.

From Oscar B. McElhiney

Mr. T. P. Wilson.

Dear Sir: I enlisted in the Canadian Army last October, in Boston. Went from there to Montreal, was in training there until Nov. 23, 1917, when I was called in the third Draft of the 20 Canadian Reserve to go to England to finish training for France. Our Company got as far as Halifax, N. S., was waiting there for a transport when the explosion happened. We were held there for relief duty until after New Year's. We are now in Bramshott Camp, Hant, England, and expect to be in France sometime in May for the big drive. I would like you to send me a copy of the Winchester STAR, as I would like to see some news from my old home town. Over nine-tenths of the boys in my Company are from the States.

Respectfully yours,
Priv. Oscar B. McElhiney,
20th Canadian Reserve,
Bramshott Camp,

GERMAN BOOKS TAKEN OUT OF LIBRARY.

Des Moines, March. German propaganda books have been "weeded out" of the Davenport Public library, according to advices received by Chairman LaFayette Young of the Iowa Defense Council.

The crusade to extract Kaiser Wilhelm's poisonous "kultur venom" from Iowa libraries was launched by the State Council of Defense.

Grace D. Rose, Davenport librarian, outlines the status of affairs there in the following letter to Mr. Young:

"We find we have three books that we know are decidedly pro-German in their teaching. They are Frank Harris' 'England or Germany,' J. W. Burgess' 'European War of 1914,' and Fullerton's 'Germany's Fighting Machine.'

"It would help us and other libraries if you would send a list of known books of this character, as we cannot possibly read or review all the war books we have in a short time. We are withdrawing these from circulation."

In Des Moines, approximately 60 pro-German volumes have been cast into outer darkness.

ADVERTISING PAYS.

Eighty-four per cent. of the business failures of the past year occurred among firms which failed to advertise.

This is the assertion made by the Bradstreet Commercial Agency, which is as unbiased an authority as can be found in the business world today.

Bradstreet compiled this information from statistics—not guess work.

This information is certainly worthy of deep consideration by all of the merchants and professional men.

The importance of advertising as a business element must have been regarded as vital by this great commercial agency, else it would not have wasted the time of hundreds of trained men throughout the nation collecting and tabulating this information.

Bradstreet points the way to one of the elements of business success. The lesson to be drawn from their statistics regarding the advertising merchant is obvious.

PRACTICAL WAR AID.

Christian Science Forwarding Committee Has Sent 29,500 Articles to Enlisted Men and Refugees.

About 29,500 articles were prepared and sent to enlisted men and war refugees by the comforts forwarding committee, conducted by the Christian Scientists of the Boston district and located at 328 Boylston street, during the first three months of the committee's works. Winchester is included in this district. In an article on the comforts committee's activities the Boston Herald of last Sunday said that among the goods forwarded were 16,000 knitted articles and comfort kits, 5,500 articles of new clothing for French, Italian, Belgian and Serbian refugee children, and about 6,000 selected second-hand or re-made articles of clothing.

One American ship has been supplied with enough knitted goods, totaling 3,500 pieces, to equip all the sailors on board. A large number of the knitted garments and other comforts have been turned over to the different war relief associations in Boston, which are in direct communication with the people of their respective countries, notably the British, French, Italian and Belgian associations. Some of the recruits from Boston for the British and Canadian forces were supplied with knitted articles before they left home.

A feature of the comforts forwarding committee's work which has brought splendid results is the "unit-system" of preparing new garments for refugee children. Ten of the Committee were first instructed in the making of a model garment, each of the 10 instructed 10 others, and the latter became captains of teams of 10 others whom they in turn instructed. Two groups of team captains meet at the committee's rooms every day to receive instruction and material for use by themselves and the members of their respective teams, who work at leisure moments at home. Thus 1,110 sewers are banded together for this particular part of the committee's program and they are turning out an average of over 1,000 garments a week. In this work they have been greatly assisted by one of the patriotic manufacturing companies of Boston, which offered and has undertaken to do all the cutting required for these garments.

Before beginning to sew for the refugees of any country, the committee ascertained not only what articles were needed, but also the form and material desired, so far as was possible. It was learned, for instance, that so common an article of general use as a pillow case was, in one country, for which the teams were sewing, very unlike the pillow case of the American home. For knitters, wool is sold over the counter, instructions are given, and the finished garment is returned to the committee's headquarters when ready. In addition, there are four knitting machines in operation, on each of which it is possible to knit a pair of socks in 20 minutes.

Much praise has been given to the comforts forwarding committee of the Christian Scientists by persons associated with other war relief organizations, for the high quality of the articles produced and the systematic manner of their productions. Nearly 500 such committees are conducted by Christian Scientists throughout the United States.

CHILDREN'S TIN BOX FUND.

Bristol, Rhode Island, Feb., 1918.

Editor of the Star:

The Executive Committee of the Children's Tin Box Fund asks permission to bring the following before the public through your columns. This organization has a branch in Winchester, Mass., and the response to the plea on the box signs has been so generous, that the contributors to these boxes are entitled to know something of this Fund and its financial condition.

The Children's Tin Box Fund is an organization with a systematized method of putting tin boxes in public and private houses, for the purpose of securing money wherewith to feed children in distress. The signs upon the boxes read: "THE CHILDREN'S TIN BOX FUND, Headquarters, Bristol, Rhode Island, For the Children of Our Allies in the War Zones. Put in 5 Cents or More, This Will Help to Feed a Child. Not One Cent Put in This Box is Used For Expenses."

Voluntary box openers, who send two references or are known to the committee, receive and open the boxes, paying 50 cents for each box equipped and delivered to them. They send their collections to a Chairman, who forwards the money to the Treasurer, Mr. John S. Codman, 50 State street, Boston, Mass.

In November, 1916, the first box was placed in a shop in Bristol, R. I., and in February, 1918, this organization has over 2500 boxes, is established in twenty States, incorporated in Rhode Island, listed under the first heading of reputable War Charities in the Bureau of Advice and Information, Charity Organization, New York City, has never begged for financial aid or taken one cent collected from the boxes for its expenses. It is dependent on voluntary contributions for the expense fund. There is one salaried person, a stenographer, two or three days a week.

The first seven months' collections were sent to the Commission for Relief in Belgium for Administration. The next four months' collections to the Children of America's Army of Relief, Boston. Since October sixth, the fund has been administered by its own organization, which at present is donating:

25 per cent to the Fatherless Children of France.

25 per cent to the Belgian Children's Milk Fund.

and 10 per cent to each of the following:

The Serbian Families' Fund (A branch of the Serbian Hospital Fund).

The Polish Starving Children's Fund (A branch of the Polish Victims' Relief Fund).

The American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief.

The National Allied Relief Committee—to be used for Italian Children.

The Halifax children made destitute by the explosion.

The Children's Tin Box Fund has secured in fifteen months, $37,959.07.

Boxes in Winchester are placed at the Winchester Exchange, Bowser & Bancroft, Randall's, Knight's and the STAR Office.

Estate of Eliza M. Cosker ; valued at $20,812.81 ; $8187.81 in personal property and $12,625 in real estate.

ETERNAL VIGILANCE IS NECESSARY.

There is one danger to which suffragists and anti-suffragists alike—all women in fact,—should turn their attention and resist with all the power they can muster, and that is the insidious and persistent effort now being made under one pretext or another to abrogate the laws protecting the labor of women and children.

Just now the women of New York are marshalling their faces against the passage of the Brown Bill at Albany, fathered by Senator Eton R. Brown. According to the State Child Labor Commission the force of that bill would be to abrogate all the Child Labor Laws of the State, all the night labor laws and the laws for protecting hours and conditions of labor for women. It gives complete "discretionary power" to the industrial commission to wipe out all the safeguards that through long years of hard, persistent effort have been built up in the interest of women and children.

Intense patriotism may be assumed to be Secretary Brown's only desire for breaking down all impediments to "speeding up" industry, but, unfortunately, he was as much in favor of abrogating labor laws in New York before this country went into war as he is now.

This is a "business" point of view that is animating many capitalists in their efforts to break down labor legislation. Concerning this special effort the "Woman Citizen" says: "In view of federal efforts to keep standards up to the mark and in the face of the sorrowful experience of other warring countries which hurriedly broke down their protective labor laws only to have to build them up again as hurridly, it is inconceivable that New York should be so misrepresented at Albany, as to have foisted upon her Senator Brown's reactionary legislation. It is with a sustaining sense of their new-come political power that New York women range themselves against his program. The question, "What are you going to do about it?" no longer finds them helplessly huddled back on "indirect influence." Not for nothing have New York women been trained in the way of education, agitation and organization. They have but to begin wireless from the greater organization to the less, from the State Party to the election district, in the old suffrage way, to marshal an irresistible force of public sentiment against the proposed legislation. Not for nothing are we backed now by full political rights. It is as full-pledged voters that we make appeal in these later days to Albany. We shall find that the new investiture is far from being a drawback.

Sometime Massachusetts women will be equally effective in fighting the same dangers; now only "indirect influence" is vouchsafed them. But we must be eternally on duty to avert this reactionary tendency.

LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

question, "How may we live, be well, free, prosperous, happy?" there would be nothing new about it, for the question is as old as human questioning. Neither has there been any dearth of answers to this question. Mere theoretical answers are valueless, however, and this has been shown in the experience of the race by the fact that life still appears uncertain, and health, peace, freedom, prosperity, and happiness have been attained by comparatively few, and then only in limited degree. Consequently, the answer to our question would have to be in a system of education or understanding that would give health.

May we not, then, ask ourselves whether any practical system of education exists which teaches how we may live, be well, free, prosperous, and happy? More than this, since the subject we are to discuss is religion, may not we further ask whether the religion of the Bible, and more particularly the religion of Jesus Christ, provides such a system and the correct interpretation of it, the education capable of accomplishing the desired result?

Bible Answers the Question

The first thing needful in a quest of any kind is an acquaintance with that which is sought. If the research is for life and its felicities, the first thing needful is to learn what life is. Now, have any of the sciences through all the research of the ages discovered what life is? Not one of them. This being the case, the generally accepted methods are seeking they know not what. Is such a quest likely to be successful? With all respect for the men who have been and are engaged in such research, and for their devoted efforts, is not this an example of the blind leading the blind, and will it not of necessity continue to fail in its purpose?

The Bible, on the other hand, speaks upon this question definitely and with great authority. In Deuteronomy we read, "He [God] is thy life." Could anything be more definite or concise; and since God is our life, must not the knowledge of life and all that it includes be the knowledge of God and of man's relationship to God? The importance of this knowledge is also shown by the statement, "Acquaint now thyself with him [God], and be at peace," and the Bible is full of assurances that to know God and to be obedient to Him means health, freedom, prosperity, happiness, and all that is desirable.

That the Bible says these things, all will admit; that its teachings are true and binding, all religionists should admit. But the Bible and by this for the present we are content to mean the Old Testament does not satisfy itself by making mere assertions. It substantiates its teachings by citing innumerable instances which prove them. Naaman's healing of leprosy; the providing for the Shunammite woman; the healing and restoration to life of her son; the preservation of the lives of the three young men in the fiery furnace, and of Daniel in the lions' den; the emancipation of the children of Israel from Egypt, their sustenance and healing throughout their sojourn in the wilderness; the bringing of them into the prosperity of the promised land; the proof that death is not inevitable, in the translation of Enoch and Elijah,—these and other instances will recur to all.

Spiritual Healing Reverent

But here our good friends of other denominations may exclaim, "God indeed did these things in the good old Bible times, but to claim such things possible in our time is blasphemous!" Others may content themselves with dismissing these things as mere legends or myths.

May it not be said that if it be blasphemous to expect God to do these good and needful things now, that it was always blasphemous? Again, if these things are mere myths or legends, is not the whole fabric of religious teaching mythical and legendary? Such assertions may furnish easy ways of brushing aside the central and tremendous facts of religious history. Before this is done, before the ancient Bible worthies are set down as either blasphemous or untruthful, would it not be well to consider that possibly these ancient seers and prophets really had some glimpses of a knowledge of God unknown to modern thinkers, which enabled them to prove that God indeed "giveth to all life, and breath, and all things," and that He is in truth the only Saviour?

Glimpses of a knowledge of God! Wonderful as their works appear to us, glimpses are all these men claimed to have, for their prediction was that in the fullness of time one would appear who would reveal God fully; who would be the representative of God and fulfill all righteousness, save, redeem, and deliver, be Immanuel, "God with us." In the fullness of time he came. Did he suit the mighty men, the scholars, scribes, so-called scientists and religious leaders of his time? Not at all. They had pictured their deliverer as a representative of a god of wrath, who would lead them to destroy the nations which had conquered them. He came as the representative of God who is Love, to lead them to victory over themselves, over the sins or mistaken beliefs which always were destroying them. Unregenerate as they were with self-righteous belief, [illegible] of ambition, pride, arrogance, [illegible] and the [illegible] in [illegible] and righteousness [illegible] they could not recognize in the meek and lowly peasant-carpenter as the [illegible] Master, the ideal of their seers and prophets, the "Prince of Peace," the "Light," and the [illegible] of the world.

Jesus' Mission

What Jesus came to do, what he taught, did, and lived, may well be taken as his mission, as the ideal of the prophets,—the ideal Judaism,—and as absolute Christianity. What was this mission?

An ancient custom, still followed among the Jews, is that of honoring distinguished visitors by calling upon them to read from the Scriptures at services in the synagogue. This honor was conferred on Jesus, when at the beginning of his ministry he visited his home in Nazareth. In responding to it, he turned to the book of Esaias and read: "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel [good news] to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the broken-hearted, to preach deliverance to the captives and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised, to preach the acceptable year of the Lord. . . . This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your ears." At another time he announced that he came to fulfill the law and the prophets; and again that he came "to bear witness unto the truth." He also said, "I have come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly;" and defining life he said, "And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God." This may be said to be a summary of Jesus' mission, given in his own words. The statement is again simple, direct, and definite. There is not a word in it that could in any way mislead, be misunderstood or twisted to mean anything else.

Jesus came to preach the gospel or good news to the poor. Did this mean that they should remain poor? He came to heal, to liberate, to destroy the operations of evil of every kind in human experience, to confer abundant life as a result of the knowledge of God which he taught, and to usher in an era acceptable to God, in which God should be accorded all power and reign over all absolutely and completely. Did he fulfill this mission?

Jesus preached very little, but did a great deal. The gospels show this. From boyhood he was about his Father's business, but he preached only one sermon of which a record has come down to us. This business consisted of teaching by example as well as by precept what God is, what God does, and how God does what He does. In providing the wine at the marriage feast in Cana, the tax money, in the draft of fishes, and in feeding the multitudes, he showed that God provides for the most simple and common needs. In healing a few sick people in Nazareth, the nobleman's son of fever, and the case of dropsy recorded in Luke, he showed that spiritual means should be sought and applied not only in extreme cases but in minor ailments. In restoring sight to the blind, speech to the dumb, hearing to the deaf, in healing leprosy, epilepsy, the withered hand, paralysis, and dementia of various kinds, he showed that God "healeth all thy diseases," and that none are incurable to Him. In loosing the woman from the evil which had bound her many years, and the multitudes from sins of all kinds, he showed the emancipating power of God. In disappearing in the midst of multitudes, entering through closed doors, stilling the storm, and walking upon the water, he showed the unreality of matter and of material forces; in raising the ruler's daughter, the widow's son, and Lazarus from the grave, he showed that God does give life, and that He gives it abundantly.

No Miracles

Here again the good Christian may exclaim that Jesus indeed did these things, but that they were the miracles of our Lord, and to look for such things now would be sacrilege; and the great multitude of the unchurched may again content itself with saying, "Legends, myths." While the word miracle originally had the meaning of marvel or sign, in common usage it has come to mean an act setting aside or breaking a law of nature. With this view of Jesus' works, it is not to be wondered at that good Christians look with horror on any attempt to essay such works, and that others, looking upon such acts as never having been performed, consider them impossible.

Jesus gave signs or evidences of his Messianic mission, and these signs were and are marvelous to the human sense of things. He came, however, to fulfill law, and he was not a law-breaker. His acts were contrary to what was and still is looked upon as law, but they were veritable illustrations of law, the law of nature's God; and far from looking upon the repetition of his works as sacrilege, the command he gave to all his followers to repeat them was imperative.

Jesus' Works the Result of His Christian Science

It has been shown that the ancient prophets had given evidences of some knowledge of God, that a complete demonstration of such knowledge was looked for by them, and that Jesus fulfilled this expectation.

Science is defined as the "knowledge of principles and causes." Now, if Jesus did the works which have been cited, and that he did them is attested by those who have been looked upon as the best and most honest of men, men who witnessed them, did he do them through ignorance or mere belief in something, or did he do them because of a specific, accurate, and demonstrable knowledge of their underlying Principle or cause? No rational being would for a moment claim that they were done through anything but such knowledge; and if they were thus wrought through an exact knowledge or science, applied by Jesus Christ, then were they not wrought through Christian Science? That Jesus looked upon his works as the result of this Science, is indicated by that imperial utterance: "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also,"—a definite demand upon his followers for like proofs that they understand and practice his teachings; and his immediate followers, and their followers for three hundred years after them, did as he commanded. The proof of this is historical.

Jesus commanded his first twelve students, or followers, to preach the gospel and to heal the sick. When he sent out the seventy he repeated the command, and at the end of his own ministry he commanded his followers to teach all nations to do whatsoever he had commanded them. These were the first ordination articles of the first Christian ministers; and although the second of these articles, the command to heal, has ceased to be observed by the older denominations, it still remains a part of the ordination articles of the bishops of some of the orthodox churches, an admission that it is still binding.

It has been shown that Jesus did his marvelous works because of his knowledge of their underlying Principle or cause. It will be admitted that this knowledge was the knowledge of God, the knowledge of the reign of the kingdom of God, the knowledge of man and of man's relationship to God, which Jesus came to teach mankind. The question that occurs very naturally at this point is, What is God?

True Idea of God

In the tongues in which the Bible was originally written, two terms and their variants are mainly used to designate God. One means "strength" or power, and the other "the existing one," or plainly, the one and only existence. Other terms are used, but chiefly to avoid the use of the name of God in vain.

It is generally admitted that God is supremely good. Applying this sense of God to the Bible designations, it becomes clear that God is the one and only power, that this power is supremely good, that He is the one and only existence or presence that is likewise good. It is this God that made all that was made, and all that He made He made like Himself, good, "very good." When it is remembered that all that is called intelligence could not have formed the idea indicated by the least primary object, it will be appreciated that the "great First Cause," called God, must be supreme, infinite intelligence or Mind. The Bible further speaks of God as "thy life," and as the "rock," meaning basic reality or Truth, and in the inspired words of the Master's beloved student, as "love," "God is love."

Taking these Bible definitions of God, and they are identical with those of Christian Science, is there any one who does not believe in God, or who would not trust Him? If so, there is some one who does not believe in and would not trust intelligence, Life, Truth, and Love. But, surely, there is no such man, for all not only believe, but by the very fact that they are alive, know that this God is; that He is the supreme and infinite good,—not above the clouds for some one to bring down, but "very nigh unto thee,"—and that each and every one is constantly in touch with and completely dependent upon Him. As an illustration of this important fact, permit me to say that there is no one here or anywhere who could have one right idea without Mind enabling him to have it; that there is no one who could draw a single breath without Life animating him, or have one moment of true peace or happiness without Truth and Love being expressed to him or by him, without Truth and Love governing him.

With this Christian and scientific idea of God, is not the universe seen to be a state in which the infinite and beneficent Mind, Life, Truth, and Love,—"Spirit" as designated by Jesus, "Principle of being" as taught by Mrs. Eddy (Science and Health, p. 25),—reigns supreme? In such a state, recognized, admitted, realized, entirely a state of Mind in which all are the ideas of Mind, it must be self-evident that no sin could be, no misery, strife, want, woe, degradation, sickness, death. In such a state, that only could be which such a God would cause; that only could be which would express His bounty and beneficence, that only which is like Himself, good, "very good."

The Kingdom of Heaven

Religion, rightly viewed, has a two-fold purpose, teaching men to know God and saving them from ills of all kinds. Probably nothing could show this more clearly than the fact that those who were commissioned by Jesus to preach were also commanded by him to heal. Not only did Jesus command the disciples to preach and to heal, but he told them what to preach; and in the light of the Christian Science which he taught, it was plain to them, as it is quite plain to Christian Scientists today, that what he commanded them to preach was intended to and did heal the sick and redeem the sinful.

It is recorded that when the disciples returned from their mission they reported that the very devils were subject unto them. What was it that Jesus told them to preach? Nothing worldly wise, erudite; on the contrary, something very simple. "And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand." The kingdom of heaven at hand! Did this simple statement have the potency to reform and regenerate men, to purify and heal them? What is the kingdom of heaven? All thinking people would probably agree that by the kingdom of heaven is meant a happy and harmonious state in which God reigns.

If we remind ourselves of the idea of God which Christian Science teaches, and which has just been [illegible], and of the universe governed by Him, the only true God, we shall very plainly see that the kingdom of heaven which Jesus commanded his disciples to preach, is indeed at hand, and that we are entitled to the full enjoyment of this kingdom as the Bible teaches, for "in him we live, and move, and have our being." Recognizing this, that the place whereon we are is "holy ground," as holy as God, how many of us would behave unseemly, debauch ourselves or others in any way, lie, cheat, rob, believe that there is something in our environment to injure, infect, or impair us? Would not dis-ease or lack of ease, which is disease of every kind in the making, be banished, and the ease and peace of being in the presence of our Father, God, have possession of us?

Where Truth is, there Christ is, for Christ is Truth even as Jesus said. Where Christ is, there heaven is; and since Christ Jesus said, "Lo, I am with you alway," does not this mean everywhere? Christian Science teaches that it does. Teaching this, it teaches that it is not strange that the sermon which Jesus bade his disciples to preach, should heal; and there will be nothing strange about it if many of you here are healed by learning and remembering that "the kingdom of heaven is at hand,"—indeed, not only at hand, but, as Jesus also said, "within you" within man.

Man

What then is man? How do we, can we, tell what is a man? By how much of God one manifests. Jesus illustrated this. In response to Philip's entreaty, "Show us the Father," Jesus answered: "Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father." Had Philip seen the intelligence, power, Spirit, Life, Truth, and Love manifested by Jesus, and had he not seen a great deal of God and a great deal of man; Jesus showed forth, illustrated the perfect man, but not because of his physique. He said, "The flesh profiteth nothing." Can that which is truly man or woman be shown forth by mere flesh and blood? "And God [the all-intelligent, all-powerful, eternal, immortal, pure, and perfect Mind, Spirit, Principle, Life, Truth, and Love] said, Let us make man in our image after our likeness. . . . So God created man in his own image, . . . male and female created he them."

This godlike man, the man that God created, is the only kind of man there is. Wherever we see a man, woman, or child, we see something of this man,—the figure, the symbol of this man, just as wherever we see a figure four, no matter how imperfect, we see that which stands for, indicates, or represents the perfect and only four there is in the science of numbers.

Matter

If what has been said about man is plain, it must be evident that man is primarily spiritual, as Mrs. Eddy teaches. If this conclusion be correct, then any evidence which would indicate a material man must be changed by the fact presented in order that the spiritual, which is the real, may become more and more apparent.

This does not mean that Christian Scientists claim to have no bodies, as is often asserted, or that by accepting the logical teaching that there is no matter, they claim that there are no such things as sun, moon, stars, earth, trees, flowers, or other phenomena which are called material. They see these things and enjoy them much as others do, and indeed their vision and legitimate enjoyment of them have been enhanced by Christian Science. Still they maintain that there is no matter, and not only is this position impregnable, but so-called material science is fast conceding it to be true. Indeed, philosophers and scientists, although they have essayed to do so from time immemorial, have never been able to explain what matter is, and consequently have never been sure that it is matter. The individuals who are entirely certain that everything they cognize is matter are those alone to whom matter is matter because it is matter.

It has long been recognized that matter is merely the term used to designate all that is appreciable to the physical senses; but the nature of what is called matter remains absolutely unknown. Various theories have been advanced to explain matter, but these have always ended by explaining it away. The atomic theory, which was for a long time believed to explain it, was finally found to be absurd, because the absolute (not the chemical) atom would have to be an indivisible particle, having "an under and an upper surface, a right and a left side," and yet without extension in order to be incapable of being thought smaller. Such minuteness could never be reached by any thought-process. The theory of Boscovich, that matter is composed of points of force, proved just as absurd, as a point of force could not have length, breadth, or thickness, neither could it be matter, and no number of points of force could form the minutest dimensional object. The theory that now obtains most widely, I believe, is that matter is formed of electrons, but no one knows what an electron is.

Thus is it not plain that the nature of the constituent being unknown the nature of that which it constituted is unknown? In other words, until some one can tell us what matter is, no one can by any means know that matter is, and indeed the natural scientists are fast concluding that there is no matter, but they are doing so upon an entirely different basis from that of Mrs. Eddy. They are concluding that there is no matter because there are no tenable constituents that could make it such. Mrs. Eddy, on the other hand, while recognizing that what is called matter must be dealt with in human experience, and that it can be dealt with satisfactorily and successfully only by rising above it step by step so far as possible and having the dominion over it which God gave man, also recognizes and reveals that God being Spirit, and Spirit being infinite and all inclusive, not included by all, there is and can be no matter.

The Cause and Cure of Ills

"Yes," I hear some say, "it is plain that if man is the image and likeness of God, he is like God, perfect, well, able, and never otherwise; blessed or happy, peaceful, intelligent, loving, and immortal; but human experience contradicts this. There are many sinful, sick, incapacitated, suffering, dying, dead. What causes all this?"

Those who have to deal with what is commonly called sin and with what in a vague way is seen and acknowledged to be its effects, sickness and distress in their various forms,—and who is there that does not have to do so?—cannot help asking the cause of it all. Christian Scientists recognize this seeming power of evil, and far from being taught to ignore sin and sickness, they are taught to face them squarely, to analyze them, to cope with them, and not to attribute them to things that do not cause them; indeed, not to attribute them to any legitimate cause.

Until the success of Christian Science healing of all kinds of diseases forced the schools to recognize mental processes as at least a factor in both the procurement and the cure of ills, medical theories attributed sickness almost altogether to material causes and tried to cure it entirely by material means. While there have been changes, many of them not for the better, especially those leading to hypnotism instead of to God, in the main material means are still employed in the more serious or organic troubles.

Not so did Jesus look upon human ills, or treat them. In speaking of sin, which has death for its wages and most frequently with sickness as the hard paymaster doling them out, the Master attributed it altogether to thought-processes: "Out of the heart proceed evil thoughts," and "These are the things which defile a man," said this great Teacher. Again, speaking of sickness, he said, "Not that which goeth into the mouth defileth a man"; nothing from without makes sickness, but the sinful beliefs entertained, finding expression, do so. Another proof that this was the Master's attitude may be found in his statement "Behold, I give unto you [those who truly, adequately understand and practice his teachings] power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy: and nothing shall by any means hurt you."

That Jesus understood what degraded and defiled men was amply demonstrated by the fact that he reformed the most depraved and healed all manner of diseases; and this Christian Science, as a whole, following his methods, has also done. If he was right, and he certainly gave ample proof that he was, and if sin and sickness remain the rule instead of the exception, do not mankind still think wrongly, and are physical punishments for wrong-doing, and material remedies for wrong being, or being sick, likely to cure them?

Individual Application

There are, no doubt, many here upon whom the burdens of the world, and of the flesh, weigh very heavily. Let them remind themselves that to be free it is imperative to know the truth, for that alone is able to emancipate. Let them remember that this truth is, that now there is a God, an infinite and ever present good, and that this God is their God, Spirit not matter, the Spirit that is Love. Let them remember that each and every one is the reflection of this God, having nothing underived from Him and subject to nothing but Him. Let them "judge not according to the appearance" but this righteous judgment about themselves and others, and conform to this judgment in thought and action as far as possible. When they have done this steadfastly, loyally, unceasingly for a week, a month, a year, let them compare their thoughts, feelings, actions, abilities, health, capacities, with those they formerly manifested, and see if they have not improved. Doing this, they will begin to practice Christian Science, the Christianity of Jesus Christ.

It was this life-purpose, this life-mission, so clearly seen by Jesus when only twelve years old, which prompted him to say, "Wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business?" In other words, Know ye not that as man, the image and likeness of God, I must show forth our Father, omnipotent Life, Truth, and Love? It was this reflection of the Father, the divine Spirit, without measure, that enabled Jesus to heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, to be Immanuel, "God with us."

The Discovery and Discoverer

"I am the way, the truth, and the life," said Jesus. It was the recognition of this, the recognition that no man has any other way or truth or life, that no man has any other true mission or purpose than that which Jesus had, which led Mrs. Eddy to her discovery of this Science. [illegible] when at the point of death as the result of an a[illegible] but she did not stop with that. Nothing short of the prospective healing and redemption of mankind could satisfy her loving heart. She proved what she had discovered, healing others and teaching them in turn to do the same. She made clear her doctrine in a text book of this Science, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," a book which has done more for the alleviation of human ills and the reclamation of mankind than any book ever written except the Bible. She wrote other books, [illegible] the church which now stands [illegible] with [illegible] members [illegible] hundreds of thousands who [illegible] and her immediate followers have been healed, many of them of what are called incurable [illegible]. Thousands of these [illegible] this sacred ministry of [illegible] God better known through healing the sick, proving that He is a very present help in trouble.

Mrs. Eddy [illegible] all [illegible] publications [illegible] the Christian Science Journal, a monthly magazine; the Christian Science Sentinel, a weekly; and a daily paper, The Christian Science Monitor, that has taken its place in the front rank of daily newspapers and is the pioneer of absolutely clean journalism. In addition to this, she has given to the German-reading public a monthly magazine, Der Herold der Christian Science. She has also instituted the form of service for all Christian Science churches, issuing the Bible Lessons for this purpose in a Quarterly. These Lesson Sermons are studied daily by Christian Scientists all over the world, and are read in all the churches every Sunday, making the services uniform throughout.

This vast work is due to the fact that Mrs. Eddy was healed through the Christ, Truth, and that she had the wisdom, courage, and unswerving faith in God enabling her to show others the way to be healed and saved according to His teachings, which constitute Christian Science. Looking back fifty years, when the idea of spiritual healing through Christian Science was new to the world, and tracing its progress, one can see, though dimly, the difficulties which this noble woman must have encountered. Through unimaginable hardship, trial, and persecution she bore herself not with mere fortitude, but with a Christlike confidence which will continue to be an ever increasing inspiration to mankind.

Christian Science Not Hypnotism

In the text book of Christian Science, Mrs. Eddy has devoted a whole chapter to the subject "Prayer", and a whole chapter to the subject "Christian Science Practice." If she had written nothing else, done nothing else, her elucidation of these subjects would have placed her in the front rank of thinkers and immortalized her. The careful study of these chapters and of the whole book is recommended to all, and only a word will be said in explanation of these subjects.

All will probably agree that prayer, in its highest sense, is loving and sincere communion with God. Some of the definitions of the word "communion" are, "Sympathetic intercourse; intimate and helpful association; fellowship." Most obviously nothing could have more sympathetic intercourse, more intimate association, or closer fellowship with God than man reflecting God. This reflection becomes possible only by learning to know clearly what God is, what man is, and what constitutes the reign of God "in earth, as it is in heaven." It becomes possible only by learning to bring every thought into obedience to Christ, Truth, through unceasing silent [illegible], or prayer, through [illegible] step by step and in as great degree as possible, into "the stature of the fulness of Christ," until the truth and perfection of God and of man's godliness are [illegible] and expressed by "signs following," the signs of healing accompanied by spiritual regeneration, the healing being incidental to this regeneration in true Christian Science practice.

That this devout method has nothing in common with any other must be self-evident. To charge it with being in any way tainted with hypnotism or so-called mental therapeutics, or any new or old unchristian thought, is to charge it as Jesus was charged when he answered, "If I by Beelzebub cast out devils by whom do your children cast them out? . . . But if I cast out devils by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God is come unto you."

Conclusion

The process leading to this Christian practice is educational. It is not only a higher education, but the very highest; an education transcending the human beliefs called knowledge, as God's thoughts transcend them. This education is Christian and it is scientific; so it must be Christian Science. Who, looking out upon a war and woe rent world, will say that this education is not needed, or that it is not of supreme importance? Who will not acknowledge that not only the supplication "Thy kingdom come" is needed, but the understanding also that God's kingdom is come, and that every man, woman, and child is a sacred idea or state of the divine consciousness, and for this reason to be held inviolate and inviolable?

Mrs. Eddy says, "When the omnipotence of God is preached and His absoluteness is set forth, Christian sermons will heal the sick." (Science and Health, p. 345). It is the higher education, which Christian Science is again bringing to the world, that is dispelling the darkness of both religious and irreligious agnosticism, and thus removing the fears and torments of the not knowing. It rejoices all with the unerring, righteous judgment of Truth and Love, and [illegible], and regenerates [illegible] multitude from all kinds of sin and sickness; and it is done [illegible] preaching, as Jesus [illegible], the kingdom of God [illegible] within; [illegible] preaching [illegible] that all are the children of God, [illegible] only to God, good, [illegible] and that [illegible] is the kingdom of God."

The Messiah or [illegible] who was looked for, [illegible] prayed for by seers and prophets of old, who was not recognized and therefore was rejected [illegible] fleshly for[illegible], as "the Comforter," the Spirit of truth," Christian Science, [illegible]

[illegible] God, good.

THE POWER OF THE PEANUT.

The boll-weevil, as a blessing in disguise, has redeemed the South from the disgrace of being a one-crop country. Cotton is no longer autocrat. He has been dethroned by the weevil and must now take his place as merely one of a democracy, or perhaps an oligarchy, of crops, among which the once humble peanut is rising to unwonted prominence.

In 1908 we raised twelve million dollars' worth of peanuts. A conservative valuation of this year's crop is sixty million dollars. Texas alone has two hundred thousand acres. What is to be done with all these millions of bushels? Surely they are not all to be sold on the street corners to our boys for five cents a bag! By no means. In the first place, the product is of high food value—higher even than wheat. The oil is a better lard substitute than cottonseed oil. It brings a higher price per gallon and can be made in the same mills and by the same machinery that used to turn out cottonseed oil.

And who would ever think of a peanut in connection with our munition plants? They seem as far apart as the North and South Poles. Yet the peanut, in the shape of nitroglycerine, may sleep in the submarine torpedo which is to destroy a great battleship, or it may send a half-ton projectile flying forth from the mouth of a gun.

We now find that the meal mixed with white flour makes a palatable and highly nutritious bread, and that it may be used for crackers and cakes. Peanut butter can take the place of cow's butter, and peanut bread, which is a by-product of the oil, makes the best of stock food.

In addition to the direct profits, the peanuts leave the land better off than when they were planted. For, like many of their cousins in the pea family, they gather and deposit nitrogen in the soil.

In 1914 the United States imported 11,549,789 pounds of peanuts and 1,332,408 gallons of peanut oil from Marseilles, Delft, Hamburg and other ports. The nuts brought $1,899,237, and the oil which was valued at $915,939, went mostly into the manufacture of butterine and other lard substitutes.

On the strength of these things the mill men experimented with peanuts. The results were so successful that the acreage in Texas increased more than 1,000 per cent from 1915 to 1916. In that State the peanuts and cotton, acre for acre, as far as the value of the crops is concerned, are now running neck and neck with the chances in favor of the peanut. The experimenters are raising the latter on the demonstration farms and are producing better results every season.

So surprising has been the success of the experiments that the planters have begun to look for the dark side of the silver linning. The price of peanut products has gone up with all its companion foodstuffs. Will it come crashing down at the end of the war? How much danger is there from over-production?

According to one of our peanut experts, there is little danger of surfeiting the world with peanut oil and cake, because the food value is such that there is a universal market for them. The South abounds in sandy soil that will produce little cotton or grain. If the peanut could submit specifications, it would ask for just such soil. Vast tracts where pine forests have stood may be made useful and valuable by planting them with peanuts. The cottonseed mills have a capacity far beyond the available supply of their raw material and have therefore lain with cold furnaces for a large part of the year. But now that the machinery of these mills, with slight adjustments that cost very little, can be turned into peanut-oil plants as they stand, they will naturally welcome a new industry that will extend figures on the credit side of the ledger.

IN DAYS TO COME.

In days to come for you and me,
May open a way more grand and wide,
Wherein birds sing rare melody
And we in larger joy abide.

Then why into the darkness grope
Among the things now cold and dead?
For us a sweeter, grander hope
Lies in the days that are ahead.

How vain past errors to regret!
'Tis wasting time and nothing less;
With faces toward the future set,
May come to us a large success.

The past is closed and locked and sealed,
No matter what we do or say,
And it to us can nothing yield,
For ne'er comes back a yesterday.

Put to the plow anew your hands,
No buried past can rise again,
Forward and on the order stands
And e'er as watchword should remain.

Over the grave of wasted powers
'Twas worse than folly now to grieve,
Since what is left of life is ours
In which to struggle and achieve.
